RECORD, 2:14.

— SIRED BY —

ANTEROS 6020, dam LILY LANGTRY, by Nephew; second dam Miss Trahern, by Gen. McClellen; third dam Belle Mahone (granddam of Voucher), by Norfolk; fourth dam Maid of Oaks, by Jack Hawkins. Anteros is a full brother to Anteeo, 2:16½, Antevolo, 2:19¼, etc., being by Electioneer, out of Columbine, by A. W. Richmond. Anteros is the sire of Antidote, 2:10¾, Nelly F., 2:13¾, and seventeen others in 2:30 list. Nephew is the sire of twenty-one in the list, and is considered one of the strongest-bred sires ever brought to California. Gen. McClellan 144 sired Dan Voorhees, 2:23¼, St. Helena, 2:27½, etc., and the dam of Beauty Mc., 2:14½, etc. The rest of the pedigree of Dudley rests upon the very stoutest of thoroughbred lines.

DESCRIPTION—DUDLEY is a bay in color, black points, stands over 16 hands, and is one of the most symmetrically-made horses in California. He has the kindest disposition, is level-headed, and as for his speed, it is well known that his record of 2:14 is no mark of him. His progeny in Humboldt County are spoken of as marvelous. One of them, a two-year-old called Trilby, got a mark of 2:32 in a race, scored thirteen times. His breeding is unsurpassed, and with his individuality he should make a great name as a sire of handsome, level-headed horses, fit either for track or road—horses that will sell

HART BOSWELL

No. 13,699. This splendidly-formed trotting stallion was sired by ONWARD, 2:25 1-4 (son of GEO. WILKES, 2:22, and DOLLY, dam of DIRECTOR, 2:17, THORNDALE, 2:21, etc.), sire of 113 in 2:30 list; dam NANCY LEE (dam of NANCY HANKS, 2:04, and DICTATOR WILKES, sire of six in 2:30 list), by Dictator; second dam SOPHY (grandam of Mike Wilkes, 2:15¾, Ira Wilkes, 2:2[illegible]¾, and the sires Adrian Wilkes and Ira Wilkes) by Edwin Forrest 49; third dam Sophronia, by Brown Pilot; fourth dam by Bertrand; fifth dam by Lance, son of American Eclipse; sixth dam by Grav Dungannon. This is the acme of fashionable breeding. In conformation, disposition, color and pure trotting action, HART BOSWELL is perfect. He has never been worked for speed. His progeny are strong-limbed, level-headed and very promising, and are conceded by competent judges to be the finest-formed youngsters in California. Terms $50 for the season. Address K. O'GRADY, Laurel Creek Farm, San Mateo. Splendid pasturage, and mares kept in any manner owners may desire.

ON MOKELUMNE'S BANKS.

What Was Once Only the Home of Seekers for Gold Now a Rich Agricultural District Where Many Fleet Horses Are Bred and Reared.

When the gifted descriptive writers of the future have contributed their long articles on the natural resources of California, it will be noticed that many of the most charming and interesting are devoted to the rivers whose gravely beds were flecked with virgin gold, in fact, they were golden sands. Commencing at Fort Sutter, where John Marshall picked up that famous nugget, all of the rivers which flowed into the Sacramento have been noted for the wonderful deposits. To the banks of the American, Feather, Stanislaus, Yuba and Mokelumne rivers thousands of people from all parts of the world were attracted, and their presence in '49 and the early '50's formed a chapter in the history of this great State, around which a halo of romance will always remain. It was a period that never will be forgotten. The foundation of a republic was laid then, and the hardy pioneers who braved the stormy seas or the dangers of crossing the Indian-infested plains were noted for their loyalty to one another. Their sense of right and exercise of sound judgment was never excelled in the world's history. When the sands of the river bars were sifted and all the "pay dirt" exhausted, these miners laid aside their gum boots, picks and shovels and either moved to the cities to engage in commercial pursuits or left for their Eastern homes; for very few thought enough of the agricultural resources of this great State to take up farms and endeavor to make a living tilling the soil. They claimed there never would be an outlet for what they could raise, and, besides, farming was "such slow work" It remained for the farmers from the East (who were disappointed in not finding "gold" in every bend in the rivers) to fence off land and put in crops of cereals. Prosperity followed, and in a few years they were comfortable, the majority of them becoming wealthy. The valleys were settled first, but little thought was given to planting fruits or vines on the hillsides; in time that was done, until to-day almost every acre of available acre of hill and valley land is under some kind of cultivation.

There is one portion of California, extending from Stockton to Valley Springs, in the foothills thirty-six miles further east, where a stranger would see more to astonish him than in any other portion of this State. A few miles from Stockton the rich adobe lands are to be found, beyond them, to Lodi, Lockeford and Clements, the soil is a sandy silt, as level as the bed of a river; of great depth, and so rich that any seed planted grows luxuriantly. One might travel for miles in every direction and not see a stone as large as a marble. The soil is so pliable that it can be plowed at anytime of the year. The moisture does not seem to percolate through it, hence a failure of crops is unknown.

The Mokelumne river flows by Clements, a small village about twenty miles (as the crow flies) from Stockton. Clements is only about a mile from the Mokelumne Stock Farm, "The Home of Silver Bow, 2:16." George H. Fox, the proprietor, could not, if he tried, find a more desirable place for a home. Its advantages of location, soil and climate cannot be too highly praised. It consists of a little over 100 acres of rich alluvial bottom land bordering on the old Mokelumne river, the dense willows along the banks forming the line of demarcation. Inside the willow border Mr. Fox has alfalfa fields, a three-quarter-mile race track, barns, stables, paddocks, etc. These improvements were made long after the orchard of apple, peach and pear trees was planted, and fill the valley to the "bluff," which is about seventy feet higher than the surrounding country, and on the line of the main county road. On this eminence, is the cosy residence, built after the old Colonial style of architecture. Around its verandahs are vines entwined, and in the garden are palms and rare exotics growing so luxuriantly that it reminded one of some rural retreat in Louisiana. Fig trees and fruit trees are growing around three sides of the house, and looking from the upper verandah the view is one unsurpassed in this country. The river, like a broad ribbon, is winding its way through orchards, vineyards, grain and alfalfa fields. On the table lands above are to be seen the magnificent residences of those who have lived and made fortunes from the large crops they harvested annually for the past forty years. To the west, Lockeford, with its tall church spires, looms up through the labyrinth of fruit and ornamental trees; and to the north the land beyond the river is undulating, affording opportunities for the vineyardists and orchardists to terrace and arrange their vines and trees in a picturesque manner. In the East, like a sentinel overlooking the swift-flowing river, and the rich, emerald-like groves of fruit trees, stands Clements, named after the farmer who first settled in this part of Stanislaus county. Beneath the tall Eucalyptus trees glimpses of white houses with red roofs can be seen. The town hall, church, etc., stand out in bold relief above the town, and further to the north can the upperstructure of the big bridge spanning the Mokelumne river be discerned. In front of the house an entirely different landscape is noticed, for wheat and barley fields extend as far south as the eye can see. Here and there square patches of light chocolate-colored soil appear. These are watermelon patches, for the finest melons in California come from this section. On every side, the farmers' houses are large and comfortable-looking, with their windmills and big, substantial barns and outbuildings and well-kept gardens, so nothing better is needed to attest the prosperity of this section of country.

It was not to describe the country or its resources for horticulture or agriculture that we took a trip last month to this place. Our errand may be easily surmised by every reader of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, it was to see Silver Bow and the mares, colts and fillies which Mr. Fox has bought and bred in his endeavors to make this farm noted for the excellence of its trotting stock.

Silver Bow, 2:16, the game son of the "Monarch of the Homestretch," Robert McGregor, never looked better in his life. Since Mr. Fox purchased him from P. J. Williams he has taken the best of care of this magnificent horse, and he shows it. A two years' rest has produced a wonderful improvement, and should he be placed in the hands of a first-class trainer it would not surprise anyone who has seen him trot in his races to stop the watch on him in 2:10 this year. It all depends upon the work he will get. Occupying an immense box stall, where the straw is up to his knees, he receives his oats and hay regularly and every morning is jogged along the road for a few miles, but never allowed to be speeded. Hence, he is sound as a new dollar and a better horse to-day than he has ever been. Mr. Fox has bred him to a few mares, as he believes that a heavy stud season is injurious to a sire that has to be campaigned. In an adjoining room to the box stall where Silver Bow is kept, his attendant may always be found when his work with the horse is ended. Everything about the place is kept in perfect order, for Mr. Fox is a stickler for having order and system about everything. The neat blacksmith shop, harness room, carriage house, cook house (wherein huge kettles are kept for the purpose of boiling feed for the colts and broodmares throughout the winter), a sulky house where the sulkies and speed carts are nicely put away when not in use, the barn for the feed, and the row of box stalls facing a hollow square, wherein an exercise path for cooling out the horses is made, all show that the comfort of the equines is carefully looked after.

There were only a few horses and mares in the well-lighted capacious box stalls. The first looked at was a large, well-formed light bay mare called Silvery Bell. She is by Silver Bow, 2:16, out of Lolo, a sister in blood to Iago, 2:11, being by Tempest, out of a sister to Eulogy (dam of Iago, 2:11). This is a four-year-old and has the speed of Iago with the vim and determination of Silver Bow.

Daedalion (which means son of Lucifer) is one of the most perfect two-year-olds one could imagine. He is by Diablo, 2:09¾, out of Grace (dam of Creole, 2:15, and Eagle, 2:19½), by Buccaneer. This youngster trots when going slow, but when urged, breaks into a pace that will carry him well inside the 2:15 circle as a three-year-old. In color, he is a deep, dark mahogany bay, and is faultless in conformation, disposition and gait.

Many horsemen would prefer Silvery Bell to the two-year-old filly next led out, but in our judgment we would sooner have this one—Hipponita. She is a chestnut in color, and was sired by Silver Bow, out of Vesper, by Prompter; second dam, Sybil, by Singleton, etc. There are few two-year-olds in California to compare with her, and if she does not make a low record there will be many a horseman disappointed.

A good-looking bay, almost a perfect match for Silvery Belle was shown us. She is also by Silver Bow, out of Park, by Peavine. What a slashing team they would make! Like all Silver Bows, they have plenty of knee and hock action, trot clean, no paddling nor knee-knocking, perfect line trotters, and need little or no boots.

The broodmares in the alfalfa fields next claimed our attention, and although there were only a few, they looked as if the same hand that brushed and curried the rich golden coat of Silver Bow had performed a similar service for every one of the little band of mares that walked around us to be petted, as we tried to get a good glimpse of their foals. Their coats shone in the sunlight, and as for their condition they could not look stronger or healthier.

Venturess, by Arthurton, out of Lady Venture (sister to Venture, 2:27¼) is a blood-like dark chestnut mare and her Silver Bow filly, Kitty Clawson, at her side will make her famous. Venturess was bred by Wm. Corbitt of the San Mateo Stock Farm.

Grace (dam of Creole, 2:15, etc.), by Buccaneer, out of Mary, the best Flaxtail mare Dr. Hicks brought from Keokuk, Iowa, is a typical brood mare and her Silver Bow foal by her side a big, lusty colt, is the embodiment of strength and will make a valuable horse for any purpose.

Grace has a yearling brother to this one in a paddock with a brother to Hipponita that is a good individual, but he has has nothing the best of his companion. Next year they will appear as two-year-olds.

Another really handsome mare is noticed. She is by Alaska, out of a mare by Echo, second dam by Langford. She has a filly by Silver Bow at her side, and when it comes to breed-breeding there are few better or gamer-bred on the place: Robert McGregor, Electioneer, Echo, Williamson's Belmont, American Eclipse.

Mr. Fox has a little bay mare here which is a treasure. She is called Grandma, and everyone in Calaveras county knows her to be the best roadster that ever was driven over the rough mountain roads which are to be found in this mining region. Grandma is here and is used every day. She has only been bred once, and her filly by El Benton is now in the broodmare ranks with a youngster by Silver Bow by her side.

Fantail, by Greenwich 2488, out of Miss Jessie, by Baden Baden, has a Silver Bow colt that, like all the others by this horse, has an individuality about him that shows he comes from the house of McGregor, and outside of this farm and the Silver Bow stock farm near San Jose there are very few of this family in this State.

Mr. Fox bred two Percheron mares to Silver Bow last year as an experiment, and the progeny is more like true carriage horse stock than anything else. Small, well-shaped heads, set on long, arched necks, magnificent shoulders, short backs, round bodies, strong limbs, well set under them, and as for high, quick action there is plenty there.

Silver Bow stamps his individuality on every colt, and there has never been one sired by this horse that has any bad markings; nearly all are solid bays.

Before leaving this paddock we noticed a brown mare and a beautiful foal nibbling alfalfa over near the barn. On inquiry we found it to be Kitty Fox (formerly Bessie Pancoast), by Pancoast, and the filly was by Silver Bow. Knowing the breeding of this mare, for the late G. Valensin bought her dam in the East and brought her to his farm at Pleasanton, where this mare, Kitty Fox, was foaled, the breeding of her filly is worthy of study:

BAY FILLY, FOALED 1897.

- SILVER BOW, 2:16
  - Robt. McGregor, 2:17½
    - Major Edsall, 2:29 ... Abdallah 15 / By Hambletoni'n 2
    - Nancy Whitman ..... American Star 14 / Nance
  - Sadie
    - Hambletonian 10 ... Abdallah 1 / Chas Kent Mare
    - Lady Wyman ..... Wm. Welch 341 / Eleanor Margrave
- BESSIE PANCOAST
  - Pancoast, 2:21¼
    - Woodford Mambr'o ... Mambrino Chief / Woodbine
    - Bicara ..... Harold / Belle
  - Bessie Bowne
    - Dictator ..... Hambletonian 10 / Belle
    - Lady Lightfoot ..... Mambrino Time / By Paddy Burns

This breeding speaks for itself and this youngster of royal lineage is just as good as her breeding indicates. There are others there by Wayland W., 2:12½, and Easter Wilkes which will be handled next season on the three-quarter mile track on this place. Two large wells furnish water for every field and paddock and a prettier or more picturesque place would be difficult to find in California. Mr. Fox is hospitality itself, and his immense bookcases filled with books on every topic, have been gathered by him during the past thirty years, most of them being purchased in New York City, where he held a very prominent position for many years, and which he resigned to come to California to superintend the Coleman Gold Mine at Angels Camp. Here, in the long winter evenings, many happy hours are spent. His collection of books on equine and farm topics is only equaled by the one owned by Jos. Cairn Simpson, of Oakland. Mr. Fox was recently appointed a director in the State Agricultural Society and that he is a valued acquisition to that organization is a foregone conclusion. He is noted for fairness, and the desire to see everything conducted in an impartial manner is inborn in him. Arnaree.

THAT IMPORTANT PERSON, THE PENCILER.

Discussion of the Methods of Some Members of the Guild—Evils That Should Be Eradicated and How to Accomplish It —Some Timely Suggestions.

San Francisco, Cal., June 29, 1897—Editor Breeder and Sportsman: The recent articles anent bookmaking and the totalizator that have appeared in your valued journal were read by the undersigned with great interest, and I think they voice the sentiments of every person who does not wish to see racing sunk to the level of a "bunco game," a level which, I am sorry to say it is fast approaching. And I fully agree with you when you say the cheap bookmaker is the principal cause of the sinking. How could it be otherwise, when you think the matter over? Men are catered to nowadays that were very small fish in the racing pan ten years ago. But now the principal revenue to racing clubs is derived from the sale of the bookmaking privileges, and the minnow has developed, in the eyes of many racing managers, into a regular sperm whale. In consequence the members of this guild are allowed to corrupt jockeys and owners right and left, and as matters look now they will become bold enough after a time to carry out their thieving practices and snap their fingers at the people who pay their dollars at the gate. Evidently they imagine that when they pay $20 per race for the privilege of making book it carries with it a perfect right to fleece the race-goers in any manner they can. Why, some of the best riders in the country are under contract to bookmakers, and in engaging one of these jockeys you have often to explain to Mr. Bookmaker-Turfman your reasons for starting a horse—the chances you think you possess of winning—and give to him many other pieces of information which he can turn to his financial account, information that he could secure only by having first-class riders under contract.

There was a race last winter where a certain bookmaker was credited with stealing (that's the plain English of it) over $14,000. A good bay horse was in the race and he was ridden by one of the crack horse pilots of the country. He opened at about 2 to 1—about the right price, everything considered. There was a lot of cutting up at the post, and this horse, generally a quick breaker, was noticed to be turned from the barrier oftener than he faced it. But before the gallopers lined up at all the horse's price had jumped to 2½ to 1, to 3 to 1, then to 4, 5, 6 and finally to 7 to 1, this penciler spoken of yelling louder for wagers on the particular bay horse than anyone else in the ring—in fact seeming to be fairly dying for bets on ——'s chances. And he got most of the play, too. At length,as the barrier went flying up, the jockey deliberately pulled the horse's head around, and he was left. There was some hooting and howling, of course, but the loud-voiced bookmaker had the money stowed away safely in his strong-box, and he kept it, too—less, perhaps, the sum due to the Mr. Johnny Armstrong that yanked the horse's head around at the "right moment." Does anyone believe, for a moment, that this bookmaker had not had an understanding with that horse pilot? If he had not "fixed things," why would he stand to lose from $40,000 to $60,000 on this race?

The substitution of the totalizator, Paris mutuel or block systems of betting would stop another kind of chicanery, too. If an owner did not want to win with his horse he could not make any "grand stand plays." Who has not observed on more than one occasion an owner go up to one of the big bookmakers and say: "I'll bet you $500 or $1,000 on my horse," and who has not heard Mr. Bookmaker say in tones that could be heard a block off: "You're on, Mr ——! I'll take $1,000 more if you like!" and then the answer: "All right, another thousand goes!" But did it? Not on your life. The kind of thousand-dollar bets that "go" are those where the owner whispers his bet and the penciler keeps the size of the wager to himself, and, as a general thing, rubs out the odds against the horse. And who has not seen in five or ten minutes' time a big commission on another horse come into the ring—from this same owner. And did Mr. Bookie that was supposed to have taken the $1,500 or $2,000 wager from the turfman "get hurt" financially when the sure-enough wagers were made? Not that anyone knows about. Then the natural inference must be that the penciler and the turfman had had a little talk some hours previously—all of which injures racing. Confidence gives stability to any branch of sport or business. Lack of confidence breaks banks. But with the totalizator or Paris mutuel Mr. Turfman can make no "grand stand plays" for the benefit of suckerdom. If he doesn't desire to win with his horse he stays away from the pool-box or else bets actual coin on some other horse. And the one he bet on might not win. See the difference?

Speaking about confidence and lack of confidence, it makes me think of men of my acquaintance who often used to bet $300 to $500 in the auction pools for a first choice. They are still in easy circumstances financially, yet nowadays only bet a $5 piece in the most gingerly manner, and I have heard them frequently remark something like this: "Wonder if they're out to win? If I felt sure of it I'd put on a good bet, but you can't tell these days whether you're on a 'dead one' or not." What has caused this change? Simply the belief that the bookmakers are making horse undertakers of themselves. Suspicion has taken the place of confidence. Therefore, whether or not there are any grounds for the bettor's surmises, there must be a change in the system. The feeling, nearly every time one goes up to make a good bet, that you are making a "blooming sucker" of yourself, that it's two to one that you are going to lose the money wagered through some skullduggery, is what hurts the game. If there was a feeling that all was well there would be three times the money bet on horse races in this section that one sees in these days of suspicious thoughts. With a loosening of the purse-strings, if bookmakers still reigned, would come an increase in the revenues of the clubs, for more pencilers would go on to transact the business of the ring when there was so much more money to handle. Therefore, it is short-sighted policy for racing managements not to endeavor to catch a crooked bookmaker once in a while and throw him over the fence to meditate for a few years. Doubtless about the first thing he would say to himself when he had thoroughly recovered his wits would be: "I ain't as big as I thought I was; I imagined I was as solid as a rock."

Another and very important point that racing managers should consider, too, is: How can they arrange matters so that the many poor women and little boys will lose their infatuation for the game and stay at their homes, which doubtless need their attention? Why, it's pretty easy to do that. Do away with the dollar field book and allow no bet to be taken of less than $5. Then the "mud hen" and the "kid" would be forced into retirement and the game will have a healthier tone. If you will only think the matter over, you will come to believe that more money can be handled in a certain space of time in mutuel boxes or totalizators (which have railings around them that will save a person from being badly bruised or squeezed until suffocated) than by the sixteen or twenty bookmakers that one sees at the race courses in this vicinity. Aside from the ease with which a person could get his money on in one of these booths, you can get paid off quicker than by the system now in vogue, where a cashier has to first figure up every ticket, then find it on the sheet and mark a ring around it with a pencil. Totalizator tickets pay a certain sum, and it is quickly figured out and pasted up just how much two or twenty winning tickets should net the purchaser.

There could be paying booths for every booth where tickets were sold and tickets printed showing in which particular booth your ticket was purchased. This would facilitate matters greatly. Booths could be so arranged that purchasers of tickets could not be seen when buying, and more secrecy could be maintained than under the bookmaking plan. Now a bettor is subject to the whims of a lot of bookmakers. They make a gamble of it these days. They may accept your wager and they may not. It's according to how the horse you desire to play "figures" for them, for be it known that nearly all bookmakers either "figure" on the chances of the various racers engaged or else have some one else "figure" for them. How often have you seen Riley Grannan, Pittsburg Phil and other lively bettors have their wagers refused by a penciler, who rubs out his odds in a most tantalizing way and declares: "Don't want anything on that horse. I'm playing him myself." And Mr. Heavy Bettor strolls through the ring and gets the same deal all around. Now, under the totalizator, block or Paris mutuel system he could wager all he wanted, and while Grannan's play might be heavy Pittsburg Phil's play would be about as strong on another horse and another plunger would be backing still another, making the odds good against anything in the race—better, perhaps, than the figuring, gambling bookmaker offered at any time against the horses they were playing.

I also coincide with you in your views regarding owners of race tracks running horses over their own courses, and would go further and say that if racing managers are bound to remain in the old rut and leave betting affairs in the hands of unscrupulous bookmakers, who nowadays do about as they please, seeming to be exempt from punishment of any sort because they pay $100 to $120 per day for the privilege of making book, they should pass laws making it impossible for bookmakers to own even an interest in a race horse or have any jockey under contract. I would also like to see the racing clubs use the totalizator or block system, the State Government legalizing the same, charging 7½ per cent. commission, the club to receive 4 per cent., the State Government 2½ per cent., the various charities 1 per cent. Then racing would do some real good and would be on a solid foundation. Trusting that the above will have the effect of opening the eyes of racing managers to the state of affairs as they really exist, and that my suggestions may at no far-distant day be acted upon, I am yours truly, Cicero Symmes.

THAT INTERNATIONAL RACE.

List of Some of the Big Australian Stake Events —What It Would Be Necessary to Do to Get the Very Best Great Horses of the Colonies to Compete.

While the discussion is progressing relative to giving a large purse of money for competition, to be known as an International Champion stake, I would wish to explain the hopelessness of counting on a representative of Australia undertaking so perilous a journey to join in such a competition in California. First, because California confines herself solely to a winter meeting, extending from October till May, which will preclude any first class race horse leaving Australia to take part in such meeting. My reason for so stating is based on the contention that the busiest and most prosperous season of racing in Australia extends from September up to April, which includes the Spring, Summer and Autumn meetings, with all the richest stakes for competition,therefore making it almost impossible to expect a turfman to leave all chances of the rich stakes at home to travel thousands of miles, not to mention the danger and risks encountered on the voyage. I would also draw attention to the enormous handicap which is imposed on all Australian horses brought to California. I will first mention that in Australia, in all weight for age races (two and three-year-old classic stakes), a horse foaled "north of the line" has an allowance of ten pounds, thereby helping to balance the penalty imposed on them of an additional year in age. This allowance is given two, three and four-year-olds; after that he has to carry full weight for age.

Say, for instance, a horse foaled in November in Australia leaves for California in May. On the 1st of August he would be a yearling, and on the 1st of January he would be a two-year-old, which would explain the handicap mentioned—unless the horse was allowed ten pounds for being foaled "south of the line" or equator. I will now give a list of some of the handicaps and weight for age events he would have to renounce in undertaking a journey to California for the honor of trying to win one good stake and maybe a few small ones. In September the big Spring meeting of the Australian Jockey Club (four days) is given. I will simply give the weight for age races and handicaps for three-year-old and over, leaving out all the rich two and three-year-old ones, in which from $2,500 up is added.

The Australian Jockey Club Meeting: First Day, Saturday—Weight for age, one and one-half miles, $2,000 added; Epsom Handicap, one mile, $5,000 added. Second Day, Tuesday—Metropolitan Handicap, two miles, $10,000 added; handicap, three-quarter mile, $2,000 added. Third Day, Thursday—Weight for age, one mile, $2,000 added; weight for age, two miles, $3,000 added. Fourth Day, Saturday—Weight for age, three miles, $5,000 added; handicap, one and one-half miles, $2,500 added.

The next big meeting is the October one of the Victoria Amateur Turf Club, two days: First Day, Thursday—Weight for age, one and an eighth miles, $3,000 added; handicap, one and a quarter miles, $2,000 added. Second Day, Saturday—Caulfield Cup, one and a half miles, $10,000 added; handicap, one mile, $2,500 added.

Following this, the next big meeting is that of the Victoria Racing Club, four days: First Day, Saturday—Weight for age, one and one-quarter miles, $4,000 added; Hotham Handicap, one and five-eighths miles, $2,500 added. Second Day, Tuesday—Melbourne Cup Handicap, two miles, $25,000 added; handicap, seven-eighths mile, $2,500 added. Third Day, Thursday—Weight for age, one mile, $2,500 added; weight for age, two miles, $3,000 added. Fourth Day, Saturday—Weight for age, two and one-quarter miles, $3,000 added; handicap, one and one-quarter miles, $2,000 added.

The next meeting takes place December 30th and January 1st, that of the Victoria Racing Club: First Day, Thursday—Weight for age, one and one-quarter miles, $2,500 added; handicap, three-quarters of a mile, $4,000 added. Second Day, Saturday—Weight for age, one and a half miles, $3,000 added; handicap, seven-eighths of a mile, $2,000 added.

Then follows the big meeting in February of the Victoria Amateur Turf Club, two days: First Day, Thursday—Weight for age, one and one-quarter miles, $3,000 added; handicap, five and one-half furlongs, $4,000 added. Second Day, Saturday—Weight for age, seven-eighths mile, $3,000 added; handicap, one and one-quarter miles, $2,500 added.

Then comes the big meeting in March of the Victoria Racing Club, four days: First Day, Saturday—Weight for age, one and one-half miles, $3,000 added; Newmarket Handicap, three-quarters mile, $7,500 added. Second Day, Tuesday—Handicap, one mile, $2,500 added; Australian Cup Handicap, two and one-quarter miles, $10,000 added. Third Day, Thursday—Weight for age, seven-eighths mile, $2,500 added. Fourth Day Saturday—Handicap, one and one-quarter miles, $2,500 added; Champion Stakes, three miles, $7,500 added.

The last big meeting is in April, the one given by the Australian Jockey Club, four days. First day, Saturday—Doncaster Handicap, one mile, $5,000 added; weight for age, one and one-half miles, $2,500 added. Second day, Monday—Sydney Gold Cup, handicap, two miles, $10,000 added; handicap, seven-eighths of a mile, $2,500 added. Third day, Thursday—Weight for age, one mile, $2,000 added; weight for age, two miles, $3,000 added. Fourth day, Saturday—Weight for age, three miles, $4,000 added; handicap, one and a quarter miles $2,500 added.

In reviewing the above it becomes plain to any observer that to obtain the attendance of Australian representatives we should first arrange to have a stake race about October or November, giving horses from the Antipodes time to snip about April, when they can become fairly well acclimatized by the time the race would be run, and as they would then run at their own ages it would do away with the necessity of giving them allowance in a weight for age race, which I think is the only true test of a race horse's capabilities. When he defeats the best with his weight up he proves his superiority beyond peradventure. Hoping I have thoroughly explained the only feasible grounds of bringing such a contest off, I am yours truly, William Sparling.

Answers to Correspondents.

E. E. K., Cleveland, Wash. Please give breeding of the running horse J. M. R., s. t. b. by imp. Kelpie. Did he ever run a mile in 1:41½? Please publish three of his most important races. Is he a thoroughbred? Answer—We find him in Goodwin's Official Turf Guide. There he is given as a chestnut horse by imp. Kelpie, dam Laurine. We cannot find Laurine's breeding, and imp. Kelpie, though he might be a thoroughbred, we believe to be "short-bred" on the sire's side—Claude Duval Jr., an Australian horse. He did not run a mile in 1:41½, at least it does not appear in the Official Turf Guide. His three best races were his third to Geraldine and Al Farrow, beaten a length in 1:01½ for five furlongs; he won at six furlongs in 1:16½ at Portland, Or., beating Jubilee, Tom Daly, Jou Jou and others, and at seven furlongs in 1:32. His best mile was 1:45¾. Could not say positively whether or not he is a thoroughbred. If Claude Duval Jr. (sire of imp. Kelpie) was a thoroughbred and the dam, Laurine, a thoroughbred, then J. M. R. was a thoroughbred.

B. D., City—Did Fanny Trimmer (by Norfolk) have any foals by a thoroughbred horse? Answer—On page 772, volume 5, Bruce, it shows that in 1888 she foaled a chestnut filly by Milner and was bred again to the same horse.

SQUARE RACING. The only hope for the future of the turf is that rewards for rascality shall not be so easily obtained as they are under the present system of wagering. "Lead us not into temptation," is a prayer that all can join in fervently offering, whatever their religious belief, when the bait presented is ever so attractive but the hook sharp and the barbs widely spread. Granting that it is a pleasant mouthful to those who seize it, and there is no bitterness afterwards to people who are only too ready to profit from any kind of rascality when punishment, even if detected, is slight in comparison with the reward for transgressions, the actual suffering falls on others. Expulsion is lightly regarded when the loot is large, and then there are so many chances to escape to one of conviction, and, if that should follow, the sentence may be of short duration.

Those who lose directly by "the job" are only so many dollars out as are ventured, but the eventual big losses are people who have invested in the business, some of them largely,others with smaller capital at stake, and yet, perhaps, just as seriously injured, the loss being their all.

It is estimated that the adverse laws in Illinois has cost the people of that State millions of dollars, and that is not the only result. Every breeder of racing stock—whether for course or track—in all parts of the country, has been injured by the action of the Legislature of that one State, and though there has been partial relief in New York, prohibition is not confined to one member of the Union, and with danger signals flying all over the country.

Until the "English system" obtained a fair footing in this country there was no trouble. In States where there were unrepealed statutes of the old blue law days no one thought of calling for their enforcement, and racing was not interfered with at any of the points where race meetings were held. A popular recreation, and when the American Jockey Club was organized and Jerome Park thrown open to the public there was general rejoicing all over the United States. Up to that time it was the finest equipped race course in the country, and though the track, from its shape, was far from being a model, club-house, stands and appointments marked a new era in which might be termed the gorgeous side of racing.

Saratoga antedates Jerome Park in introducing an approach to the modern system, as in 1863 in the four days, races, four were of heats and four dashes. About the first pool-selling at the North was witnessed at Saratoga in 1863, and that was also the method of wagering at Jerome Park for several years, though the subscription rooms of the American Jockey Club were opened in 1868. Few of those connected with the turf, either as breeders, owners, trainers, writers on the "topics of the turf," who were not well pleased with the new departure, but it is safe to say that had "coming events cast their shadows before," in place of a hearty welcome it would never have been allowed to obtain a foothold in this country. Here it is, however, and the burning question: What plan shall be fixed upon to remove the temptation of a direct reward of rascality, and at the same time do away with the most bitter opposition to the sports of turf and track?

As has been fully demonstrated in former articles, I have great faith in the block system, giving a favorable answer to the above query, and that faith becomes stronger as fuller consideration is given. And I find, too, that others agree with me in the estimate placed upon the new method of racing speculation, and the papers which have paid any attention to the "block" mention it favorable.

Last Saturday's Examiner had a representation of the board and the tickets, and a clearer cut will appear in the next number of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN. The method is so simple that in fact little explanation is necessary to show the workings of the machine, if machine it can be called, when there is so little that is intricate that an ordinary race programme is more difficult to understand.

The cut shows a double board, one side for "straight" betbetting and another for "place," and this part of the bookbetting system will have to stand, although it has been a valuable aid to the robbers in the past. The same objection, however, does not hold as it does in the books, as horses cannot be laid against directly, the winner having to be selected in order to profit by having a horse purposely beaten. To get rid of the "show" is something, and when the California Jockey Club refused to permit show betting, only thorough pools sold for the third place, it was a move in the right direction.

If on thorough trial the "block" is sustained by the public, is satisfactory to the clubs, it will be singular, indeed, if any influence can succeed in having it abolished.

The Examiner states that a trial will be given it at Oakley, but as I understand it, while the agent who was sent to Europe reported so favorably that everything was in readiness for the experiment, the bookmakers protested,and there are doubts of it being used there this season. Therefore California will inaugurate the block, provided that there is enough of the "spirit of '49" to give it a trial. The great opposing force, the army of bookmakers and their dependents,is not in the way of the P. C. T. H. B. A. The constitution, as amended at the last annual meeting, forbids bookbetting, so that auction, mutuals or block pools must be the methods employed to accommodate the speculators. My preference heretofore has been for auction pools, and when the original plan was followed of selling all the horses in the race separately, or a majority of them, and no favoritism shown the buyers, a fairer method is not available.

"The French" gave the small bettors an opportunity, and a reasonable person will not question the statement that when one desires to enhance the pleasure of witnessing the race by the investment of a dollar or two the opportunity should be afforded, and that the block is a decided improvement over the machines is too apparent to be contradicted.

Feeling confident that there is too much conservatism—to call it by the least offensive name—in the association to take it in hand, the Breeders might advertise for bids for the privilege of the poolselling, making a condition that one board at least shall be put up at the opening meeting.

In giving so much attention to the betting question as has been shown in the late articles the charge may be made of over-officiousness, but there are such good grounds for apprehension of prohibitory enactments in the near future, unless there is a change, justifies all that has been published, and a great deal more, to secure proper appreciation of the danger, and endeavors to counteract the evil influences. Already the late tragedies in San Francisco have been connected with wagers on racehorses, and before the end comes there is sure to be a searching investigation, and that may show that the temptation of direct reward for wrongdoing was the starting point of the crime. Do away with that enticement. In place of depending on, "view it and lay the bright temptation down," as Dryden advised, banish the tempter and his glozing words. The Breeders have taken the initiatory step in banishing book-betting effectually by constitutional provisions, and now when an opportunity is offered to provide a system, or, at least, secure a test of that which gives promise of correction, it does seem that there should be nothing in the way of a trial.

I am greatly pleased to report that since the above was written there has been a meeting of the Directors of the P. C. T. H. B. A. and a resolution was carried—without a dissenting voice—that the contract for the pool-selling at the summer meeting should contain a clause making it obligatory on the part of the contractor to give the block system a fair trial, one board, at least, being operated during the meeting.

I have no fears in regard to the general adoption, if the kindergarten stage be properly handled, the utmost confidence that it will be a "general favorite," when its merits are fully known.

At the same meeting of the Board the dates were fixed for the Emeryville, Chico and Willows meetings, and these will be found in the correct advertisement in this number.

OBSOLETE—In cycle contests, pedestrianism, boat-racing, not to take into consideration astronomy and gunnery, measuremen's of time are taken and recorded in minutes, seconds and decimals of a second, though in racing affairs fifths are used in place of tenths.

Not far out of the way then to claim that quarters, halves and three-quarters have become obsolete,excepting when the speed of horses has to be taken and recorded, though the Coney Island Jockey Club (which must be given the credit of readiness to adopt an enlightened course in place of adhering to the old and incorrect method) has made a break which may induce others to follow. Safe to say, however, that the harness-racing magnates will stick to the errors of the past, until, by the force of ridicule, compelled to change. Arguments are of no avail when prejudice bars the way, and a stubborn clinging to an absurdity only overcome by the knowledge that people will laugh, at least smile, at the exhibition.

There may be a few of the old-fashioned chronometers that mark quarters of a second in use for timing races, and when there are three watches in the timing stand and two of them are thus divided, vulgar fractions are in order. Should that be the case, then it would be proper to give the time as the watches have registered, but when the majority of watches, used for the official work, are graded into fifths, these should govern.

Too plainly just to be controverted, and when, in all probability, ninety-five per cent. of modern timing watches mark fifths, it will be rare, indeed, when it will be necessary to use the obsolete figures.

THE PALO ALTO SALE.—It was anything but a pleasureable feeling to be present at the last public sale at Palo Alto and be a witness to the sacrifice of the stock, and, with the fear that the sale of next Thursday will be of the same character, will avoid the tribulation by staying away.

The sale catalogue shows a rare lot when the breeding is considered, so much of the great strains of blood that there is a puzzle to select preferences. Should there be a leaning to any of the sires represented, that favoritism may be over come by the dams, and thus while Whips, Azmoor, Advertiser, Truman, Governor Pacheco, Electricity—not to take into consideration Palo Alto and Electioneer—attracts attention, the get of other stallions are conspicuous, small difference in the sire, and the dams also troublesome to select from, so that without an inspection of the animals one is at a loss to make a choice. That the form corresponds to the breeding is beyond reasonable question. Whether bred and reared at Palo Alto or Vina, it is sure that nothing has been left undone to promote their growth, and the Yorkshire maxim that "half a horse goes down its throat" being the prevailing opinion, this important part in estimating values is in favor of the purchaser.

Everythiug in favor of the buyer, as the prices that will surely rule will make the investment profitable.

PULL TOGETHER.—It behooves everyone that has a horse which is likely to make a good or fair showing in any of the classes which close on Thursday, the 15th inst., to accept the engagement.

So much depends on these earlier meetings being fairly successful, not for this season alone, as the future of harness racing here is also involved, that the most strenuous efforts shall be made to induce owners to help them along. With entries enough to make these earlier meetings "satisfactory," there is little doubt of a longer circuit hereafter, and then the far more profitable business of performing at home, in place of long journeys.

The advantages of a "home market" are so well understood that there is little necessity for arguments on that phase of the question, and hence I look for a satisfactory return.

PERHAPS the report of the race between Norfolk and Lodi on the Ocean House track, May 23, 1865, was the cause of George Wilkes refusing to publish in his paper time embodying fifths of seconds. The report was copied from the San Francisco Bulletin, May 24th, and in the description of the heats the time of the first is given 3:43 1-5, but in the summary it is 3:43 1-8, 3:42 3-5, 3:57 4-5, showing that the office did not have type to represent fifths, and Mr. Wil[kes] was determined to make the "foot fit the shoe" rather t[han] to have a new set forged. The Coney Island Club havi[ng] set the examples even among people who are wedded to present errors, truth may prevail and true reports given in place of falsified returns.

AN "OBJECT LESSON."—Speculators on races may be benefited by the lesson which Oakley set before them on Thursday last. Bookmakers chalked 15 to 1 against Panmure and Pinar del Rio each, winners of first and second races. The block paid on Panmure, $160.25 for $5 invested 32 to 1, Pinar del Rio $230.25 for $5, 46 to 1.

Twelve books were in line, so that it cannot be claimed that the difference in the odds was due to the lack of competition. And yet there will be those who dogmatically assert that the "English system" is preferable.

The ipse dixit of a hundred advocates will "kick the beam" when figures—"which never lie" in a case of this kind—are in the opposing scale.

RANCHO DEL PASO YEARLINGS.

FIRST DAY—MONDAY, JUNE 21.

As was predicted in the New York Commercial Advertiser, the average prices obtained at the yearling sales were excellent, showing that confidence in the future of racing is once more established. J. B. Haggin's Rancho del Paso yearlings that were sold at the Sheepshead Bay paddocks in the afternoon brought a total of $33,200, a grand average of $1,106.66. Following is a record:

Chestnut colt, by imp. Goldfinch—Carina; M. Byrnes	8,000
Brown filly, by Tenny—Darine; J. G. Follansbee	300
Bay colt, by imp. Sir Modred—Ethel: M. Byrnes	3,000
Chestnut colt, by imp. Sir Modred—Glad Eyes; Charles Boyle	400
Chestnut colt, by Fitz James—imp. Harmony; S. C. Hildreth	1,050
Bay colt, by imp. Sir Modred—Hearsa; S. Trowbridge	100
Chestnut colt, by Tenny—Katie Fletcher; J. McLaughlin	400
Chestnut filly, by imp. Goldfinch—Kiss Me Quick; M. Byrnes	5,000
Bay colt, by Salvator—imp. Lady Cardigan; R. Cash	100
Bay filly, by Tenny—La Favorita; W. H. Kerrick	250
Bay colt, by imp. Midlothian—Loleta; S. Trowbridge	1,850
Bay colt, by Tenny—Lorraine; J. Regan	100
Chestnut colt, by Tenny—Loto; W. H. Kerrick	1,000
Chestnut filly, by imp. Midlothian—Mabel; M. Byrnes	500
Chestnut colt, by imp. Goldfinch—Marigold; S. Trowbridge	1,050
Average, $1,106.66 per head.

SECOND DAY—TUESDAY, JUNE 22.

The second day's sale of the Rancho del Paso yearlings was concluded before the races at Sheepshead Bay. In all fourteen head were disposed of, bringing a total of $7,500. A feature was that fillies were not in demand, and a number were withdrawn. Following is a summary:

Bay colt by imp. Darebin—Miss Clay; A. J. Joyner	500
Chestnut colt by imp. Golden Garter—Mollie Walton; J. McLaughlin	650
Bay colt by imp. Midlothian—Napa; J. H. McCormick	500
Bay colt by imp. Sir Modred—Nonage; J. McLaughlin	500
Brown filly by imp. Watercress—Parthenia; D. T. Pulsifer	650
Bay filly by imp. Golden Garter—Patty; D. T. Pulsifer	525
Bay colt by imp. Goldfinch—Poesy; J. H. McCormick	800
Chestnut filly by Tyrant—Probability; R. W. Walden	275
Bay filly by imp. Sir Modred—Prose; J. McLaughlin	550
Total for 14 head	$7,500

THIRD DAY—WEDNESDAY, JUNE 23D.

This was the last of the lot of yearlings from J. B. Haggin's Rancho Del Paso Stock Farm were disposed of. Pierre Lorillard bought a chestnut, brother to Dr. Hasbrouck and Dr. Helmuth, for $4.000, and Jack Joyner got a half sister to Nanki Pooh for $800.

THE PROPERTY OF J. B. HAGGIN.

Bay colt (half brother to C. H. Todd and Sorrento) by imp. Watercress—Rosa B.; W. B. Gilpin	750
Bay filly (sister to Mary Stone) by imp. Sir Modred—Rosemary; Matt Byrnes	550
Bay filly by imp. Watercress—Sabrina; Matt Byrnes	200
Chestnut colt (brother to Dr. Hasbrouck and Dr. Helmuth) by imp. Sir Modred—Sweet Briar; Pierre Lorillard	4,000
Chestnut colt (brother to Simmons and Gold Dollar) by imp. Sir Modred—Trade Dollar; A. J. Joyner	700
Chestnut colt by imp. Golden Garter—Trophy; Goughacres Stable	600
Chestnut filly by imp. Sir Modred—Tyranny; W. C. Hayes	650
Bay colt by Salvator—Vandalia; W. H. Karrick	425
Total for 14 head	$10,450

FREDERICKTOWN, O.

J. B. HALL—Dear Sir: Have you forgotten me? The "Formulas" were "O. K." I have prepared and used each of them. They are fine and will do just what you claim in every respect. Thanking you many times for your kindness to me, and wishing you success, I am yours very resp'y,

C. H. SHERMAN, Fredericksburg, I.

ARTILLERY, the Musket horse now at Rancho del Paso, is well represented at home (we see by the last mail) by the brown four-year-old gelding Belligerent, who won the two big handicaps at Ashburton—the Autumn (one mile and a quarter) and the Ashburton Racing Club (one mile).

TURF AND TRACK.

THE SULKY.

Vinmont, 2:21½, will be seen on the California circuit.

Do not fail to attend the sale of the Palo Alto trotters next Thursday. See advertisement.

Derby Lass, sister to that great campaigner, Derby Princess, 2:12, has been a mile in 2:17½.

Who wants to buy a splendid broodmare? At the Palo Alto sale next Thursday several will be sold.

Anna Belle, 2:27½ (dam of La Belle (2), 2:16), has a chestnut filly at foot by Hambletonian Wilkes.

Pathmont, 2:09¼, by Altamont, won the free for-all pace at Anaconda, Wednesday. The Altamonts will be in it.

The P. C. T. H. B. Association has decided not to allow bookmaking at any of its race meetings this year. Good!

John Tilden won the free-for-all pace with Ella T., by Altamont at Geneva, N. Y., on June 18th. He had to step in 2:19 only to win.

Send us in the news from your farms. It will aid us in getting up a better paper and at the same time is the best kind of advertising for your stock.

Wm. Murray, owner of Diablo, 2:09¼, says that he has had more mares sent to his stallion this season than he has had any year since he owned him.

Dixie, by San Diego, out of Cora C., 2:24, by Whippleton, was bred to Altamont, Monday last. She belongs to H. W. Crabb of Oakville, Napa county, Cal.

Sunolo Boy, 2:29¼, pacing, by Sunolo, son of Electioneer reduced his record and won a good race at Geneva, N. Y., June 17th, in 2:26¼, 2:27 and 2:30.

Harry J. Agnew has a large number of very fine horses and mares, most of them speedy enough to be given records, which he will dispose of at very low prices.

Racing at Walnut Grove, Rocklin, Sebastopol and Hollister to-day. These races will be between light-harness horses and a good time is expected at all these places.

May B., by Altoona, leased from Hiram Corey by Van Bokkelen and Dawson, won the 2:27 class trot Monday at Anaconda. This was her first race for the season.

Are you thinking of getting a first-class, royally bred filly, one that will be valuable on the road or in the breeding ranks, then attend the Palo Alto sale next Thursday, in this city.

F. W. Loeber, of Napa, after an absence of twenty years, left for his old home, Baltimore, Monday, on a visit to his aged father. He expects to return to California in the course of a month.

We have not heard of a trotting horse in California being named after James Budd, but there is a Jack in Stanislaus county that is named after his excellency. How the mighty have fallen!

Without the race track we could not have bred up a breed of horses like the American trotter; and without the race track the American trotter would soon depreciate in value and quality.

Jas. Rea of San Jose says: "We will hold a race meeting this year and expect to see the largest list of entries we have ever received. The track is in perfect condition and we will see many records broken on it this fall."

Julius A. Trescony has placed in the hands of James Dwain, at the Salinas racetrack, to be trained, his speedy trotting stallion, Robin, 2:22. Robin is a son of Director and has the gameness of the Dictator and Nephew families.

A contract has been placed on record by which Walter Williams is to erect a stable for Mrs. Phœbe A. Hearst on the place near Pleasanton, to cost $9,935. The stable is to be completed within seventy working days from June 10th.

Judge Vanderhurst, of Salinas, has a yearling filly called Diablita by Diablo, 2:09¼, dam Salinas Maid, 2:30, by Junio, 2:22, second dam by Carr's Mambrino. Diablita is a pacer and gives every promise of developing into a crackerjack.

John Nay and James Dustin, have formed a partnership and will train together this season. They have a large stable of horses at the Readville track. Mr. Nay will attend to the business of the firm and Dustin will do the driving.

The proposition has been advanced that the Santa Rosa meeting be devoted to light harness horse races, and the Stockton meeting to the thoroughbreds. The Santa Rosa meeting will be held on the same week claimed by the Stockton people.

Out of the eight harness horses horses that left Irvington track, Portland, Oregon, for Montana, there was not a single trotter. The pacing horse breeders of Tennessee had better keep a weather eye open, for Oregon may prove a pacing horse breeding State also, and prove a dangerous rival

Geo. Coolidge, the well-known harness and horse boot maker, is at the Anaconda race track. He carries a fine line of John A. McKerron's celebrated boots and horse goods. We take pleasure in recommending to horsemen Mr. Coolidge, as well as the goods he is agent for.

Woodburn Farm, Kentucky, has in training the handsome five-year-old chestnut stallion Alcatraz, by Alcantara, out of Miss Russell, dam of Maud S. He is fast and should trot to a record of 2:15 or better. His famous dam, now 32 years old, says the Turf, Field and Farm, is looking vigorous.

Star Pointer is at Charter Oak Park, having arrived there from Baltimore. He worked the easiest sort of a mile at the latter place recently in 2:09, and the spectators were so favorably impressed they almost unanimously agreed that he could have knocked the nine seconds off had it been asked of him.

We have received a copy of Tuttle & Clark's catalogue of turf supplies and believe it to be the finest work of its kind ever issued. Messrs. Tuttle & Clark have in Detroit, Mich., one of the largest establishments of its kind in the United States and are good advertisers. These books are sent for 25 cents to any address.

John R. Gentry recently worked the last quarter at Charter Oak in 30½ seconds to a high-wheel sulky. He will probably be the Tewksbury starter in the great July 5th event, although the "Flying Scud" pony, Robert J., is also working well. Both, especially the champion, Gentry, are in finest possible fettle.

Palon, which won the 2:29 trot at Mystic Park on the 17th, beating a field of good ones, including the well-bred stallion Judge-at-Law, by Heir-at-Law, 2:07½, is by Palo Alto, 2:08¾, and Palo Alto's dam was the thoroughbred Dame Winnie, a sister in blood to Dame Gourley, the second dam of Blizzard (sire of Crete, 2:14½).

Henry Sanders has put in a great deal of work with Derby Princess this season, getting her ready for her stake engagements. She did not come on as early in the spring as last year, but she is rapidly getting into form, and will be right when the bell rings. On Tuesday, she stepped a mile in 2:17½, one of the quarters in 32½ seconds.

The little bay mare Tuna, 2:18½, by Ethan Allen Jr., 473, dam Fortuna, by Almont, bred and formerly owned by the late Gen. W. T. Withers, of Louisville, won a five-heat race at Denver, Colorado, June 12th, taking the last three heats in 2:21, 2:25, 2:23. Tuna is now eleven years old. She is owned by Walter S. Hobart, of San Mateo.

From all points the Charter Oak management are receiving advices which indicate a monster attendance on Independence Day, probably the largest that ever attended a trotting track in the country. It would be the proper time for the advent of the two-minute horse, and that is the record that is expected "on that great day."

The demand for fine roadsters that have size, color, style and speed is increasing and will do so from this time on. The Palo Alto sale next Thursday includes many valuable ones. Some may prove as great as Azote, for they are just as well bred and as promising as he was. Come the day before the sale and inspect these horses, then you will be better able to judge.

Orrin Hickok's stable arrived at the Cleveland track recently. The string consists of eight head, but Hickok has only two, Benzetta, 2:06¾, and a three-year-old sister to Constantine, 2:12½, which he is keeping in the Splan barn. M. McManus, formerly of California, has the others in stalls of the Cleveland Driving Park. His lot includes Besure, 2:06¾, Miss Rita, 2:08¾ and Eleanor, 2:11.

George Lodge, the well-known conveyancer and builder of Philadelphia, has purchased through trade the Penn Valley Stock Farm of H. S. Henry, at Morrisville, Pa. The deal consists of the real estate, farm implements and the entire breeding stock, including the stallions Anteeo and Barnhart. What disposal Mr. Lodge intends to make of the establishment has not as yet been made public.

There can be no doubt that the Australian trotter, Fritz, is a real flyer. At the Bathurst Show recently Mr. Buckland gave an exhibition with him, and the horse fairly electrified the spectators. A galloper was sent out with Fritz, but the latter lost him in half a mile, and although the track was only half a mile in circumference, while the ground was loose, the trotter cast the mile behind in 2 min., 18 sec.

Manager Fasig says: "The chance of seeing almost any other sport comes many times in every season, but the opportunity of witnessing the champion race comes but once in a lifetime. In fact, a fellow is lucky to have it even once, for since the advent of light harness racing—essentially an American sport—millions have lived and died without that chance. It will be a satisfaction to witness the first two-minute record, and, barring unfavorable conditions, that limit is about certain to be reached in the race."

The fixed events of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association have filled remarkably well, though it is a little early to ascertain the exact number of entries received. It is said, however, that the entry list exceeds that of any previous meeting of the popular association. The number of entries will amount to between 500 and 600, which is greater than that of any meeting in the history of the association.

The stake entries for the fall meeting of the Louisville Driving and Fair Association shows a total of 467 entries for the fifteen events. This is much the largest number of entries ever received by a trotting track in Kentucky. The amount to be distributed is said to be $15,000 in stakes and $15,000 in purses. The meeting begins October 18th, and continues ten days. Entries for the purse events will not close until October 6th.

We have just received from Secretary R. G. Watson, of the Terre Haute Trotting Association the official list of entries to the Seventeenth Annual Meeting, which takes place September 27th to October 2d. The stakes, seven in number, have filled well, and the prospects are very bright indeed for a great meeting at Terre Haute this fall. To the seven stakes there are one hundred and seventy-seven nominations, an average of a little more than twenty-five to the stake.

Guy Wilkes will pay for himself this year. Twenty outside mares have gone to him at $100 each, and twenty of the choicest brood mares at Two-Minute Farm have been bred to him. Among the last named are several of the most perfect and most speedy daughters of Russia. The cross should produce a high rate of speed.

H. N. Bain, proprietor of the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie, is the owner of a very promising three-year-old colt by Advertiser, out of Quaker Maid, by Nutwood; second dam Quaker Girl, 2:49 (a record made as a four-year-old in 1876), by Henry Clay, son of David Hill 857; third dam Old Squaw (dam of Brown Mac, 2:30½, made in 1872). This colt can step a 2:20 shot now, and is as steady as a clock.

Two minutes? Yes. Among the many prominent personages who have signified their intention to witness the great race at Charter Oak on Independence Day is the veteran C. J. Hamlin, who says: "I used to think I'd never live to see a two-minute record in harness, but I've changed my mind and expect to witness the feat at Hartford on July 5th. That's why I'm going from Buffalo to see the big pacing race." The three nominators to the great champion race—Messrs. Tewksbury, Murphy and Rubinger—will each choose a judge for the event. The choice is subject, however, to the approval of the Charter Oak officials. Mr. Alex. Harbison will be the official starter.

A Vienna cablegram of the 17th recounts the sudden death by apoplexy of the American trainer, Dan McPhee. He had won a trotting race and was leading his horse to the stable when stricken. Dan McPhee was one of the best-known drivers of trotting horses in Europe, and had few superiors in buying high-class horses in this country and campaigning them in France, Austria, Italy and Russia. Among the many good horses he bought in the United States was the Kentucky Wilkes stallion Bravado, 2:10½, with which he beat the cracks of the European turf last year. Only a month ago John Splan, of Cleveland, purchased for McPhee's account the fast horse Le Simmons, 2:15½, by Simmons. McPhee came originally from Canada and drove Johnny Gordon and several other old-timers on the half mile track through the Canadian circuit. He married in Austria and was quite well to do.

We are assured by numerous turf writers that trotting horse breeders quit experimenting with fresh infusions of thoroughbred some years ago. This being the case it is somewhat remarkable that so many of the prominent winners of the present season have the thoroughbred cross close up. Crete is one of the fastest of the trotters that have entered the 2:30 list this season. She started without a mark, has already won four good races, and her record is now 2:14½. Her sire is Blizzard, and her dam is by Chicago Volunteer. Blizzard is by Onward, 2:25½, son of George Wilkes. The dam of Blizzard is by Scott's Thomas, out of the thoroughbred Dame Gourley, by Planet, son of Revenue. Dame Gourley's dam was Flora G., by Lexington, and the dam of Flora G. was Fanny G. by imported Margrave. Fanny G. was the second dam of the two famous trotting broodmares, Alma Mater and Dame Winnie.

Elf, 2:22½, by Steinway, 2:25¾, out of Bertha (dam of Diablo, 2:09¼; Ed Lafferty, 2:16¼, etc.), by Alcantara, won her first pacing race at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 17th, in straight heats, defeating a field of eight. Time, 2:21½, 2:15¼, and 2:15½. Elf is a bay mare bred at the Oakwood Park Stock Farm, and was sold as a two-year-old to B. C. Holly. G. Valensin heard she was a good one and on seeing her and studying her bloodlines purchased her to breed to Sidney, 2:19¾. Mr. Valensin dying, and the mare not proving with foal, she was sent East and sold, the late John A. Goldsmith buying her and soon after gave her a trotting record of 2:22½. After Mr. Goldsmith's death she was sold to close up the estate and the well-known road-driver, Mr. Fred Steinway, of the Steinway Piano Company of New York City, purchased her. As soon as he got her he noticed she could pace fast so he gave her to John Daly, his driver, to train, and the ease with which she captured this race shows she will get well inside the 2:10 list before next November.

In some sections of this State horses are greatly annoyed at this season of the year by many kinds of flies. These pests are often so troublesome that the space between the jowls, the under side of the neck, the chest and other parts are made raw by their bites. The animals are so tortured by these bites that they often lose flesh in pastures where there is an abundance of feed. It is not only for the pecuniary interest of every horseman to protect the animals in his charge from these annoying pests, but it is his duty to do so. A cheap preparation which is very distasteful to all kinds of flies can be made by mixing crude carbolic acid with fish oil in the proportion of two tablespoonfuls of carbolic acid to one quart of oil. This should be applied freely with a flat brush every two days to those parts most frequented by the flies. The carbolic can be obtained at any drug store, and if the fish oil cannot be found at the country store, ask the storekeeper to send to some oil dealer in the city for a supply. This preparation should be applied to the young foals as well as the brood mares. Ask for crude carbolic acid, as the solution usually sold by druggists is too weak to prove effective. The same preparation answers equally as well for protecting cows and other bovines as for horses.

Geo. H. Morris, the artist, before leaving California visited the Oakwood Park Stock Farm and this is what "The Horseman" of Chicago says of the illustration he forwarded to that journal: "The subject of 'The Horseman's' cover page illustration this week is the brood mare Tone, dam of the joint championship three-year-old pacer, Agitato, 2:09¼. Tone is quite a young mare and bids fair to bring yet more fame to the Oakwood Park Stock Farm, California, where she is owned. She won the blue ribbon in her class at the last San Francisco horse show and has been pronounced by William B. Fasig (who certainly can judge a trotter as well as any man living) the finest specimen of a trotting-bred mare, everything considered—style, gait, speed, disposition, conformation and action, that he had ever seen. She is really a wonderful mare and one whose place in the history of light harness horse is already assured. Oakwood Farm is the home of Charles Derby, 2:20, sire of Derby Princess, 2:11, etc., and Steinway, 2:25¾, and on it a mighty lot of speed is annually produced. The sires named have been singularly successful, but not more so than should be anticipated when one takes into consideration the quality of the stallions, the unsurpassed merit of the brood mares and the intelligent manner in which the mating is ordered."

THE SADDLE.

SUGARFOOT, of Barney Schreiber's stable, has become a "bleeder," and will probably not amount to much as a racer in future.

A SUGARFOOT won a six-furlong race at Kansas City last Monday, the track deep in mud. Suppose this was Barney Schreiber's gelding.

BOOKMAKER GEORGE ROSE and crew of clerks left last Saturday night for the East. He was not certain where he would book when he departed.

KITE FOOT won the Foam Stakes for McCafferty at Sheepshead Bay, June 25th, defeating a fine field. She's about the best two-year-old filly in a bad lot.

AT Sheffield, June 24th, the horses of Tully Coulter (Gnome and Redskin) won races, L. A. Legg's The Deuce was victorious, also Cella & Sippy's Doctor G.

SUTTON, the brother of Diggs, beat Dr. Sheppard, Yours Truly and others in a most impressive way at Sheffield, Ind., last Monday, going the seven furlongs in 1:27 flat.

CELLA & SIPPY'S good black sprinter, Siegfried, died at Joliet, Ill., on the 24th of June, and the firm on that day sold old Simmons, the Sir Modred horse, to W. Hough.

CHARLEY SLAUGHTER did some great riding at St. Louis on June 25th, riding The Kitten, Botanic and Montgomery first past the post, winding up second on Moch and third on old Hawthorne.

FERRIER, ridden by H. H. Hunn, won the gentleman's race at Sheepshead Bay last Saturday, mile and a sixteenth on the turf. The big chestnut had 156 pounds up, but was a 3 to 5 favorite at that.

BY HOLLY'S recent purchase of A. B. Spreckels (Daylight) won a seven-furlong race at Anaconda last Monday, with Lady Hurst second and little Mollie R. third. Tuesday Daylight won again with ease.

CLIFFORD and Arch Duke, nearly full brothers, one being by Bramble the other by Luke Blackburn, both from Duchess, won races at Sheepshead Bay June 22d. Tod Sloan rode both, and they are owned by R. L. Rose.

HER EXCELLENCY and Giveaway, both by imp. Esher, won races at Highland Park, Detroit, on June 24th. The California-bred filly, Elsie Ferguson, won a six-furlong race with top weight up (115 lbs.) on the same date.

A COLT named Wenlock (after the famous St. Leger winner) won a four and one-half furlong race at Higland Park, Detroit, on the 22d of June. It was the youngster's first start. His breeding is given : By Courtown—Rosabelle.

WILLIAM S. HUGHES, the hotel man of this city, has engaged Charley Macklin to ride. Mr. Hughes owns Miss Remsen and several other two-year-olds, and, being wealthy, is likely to become quite a factor on the California turf.

SUTTON, the brother to Diggs, has turned out a better performer than the latter. The three-year-old recently beat Tony Honing and Yours Truly by a small margin after a terrific drive, running the six and one-half furlongs in 1:22 flat.

GAME little Sir Walter carried 126 pounds to victory in a mile and a furlong handicap at Sheepshead Bay last Saturday; time, 1:55 flat. He beat a big field, which included Cromwell, Renssalaer, Free Advice, Challenger and Lincoln II.

THE Fleischmans, of Cincinnati, recently gave $12,000 to to the Graves Bros. for George Keene, a kingpin two-year-old by Onondaga—Bessie Hinkley. This is about as good a price as has been paid for a racer of this age during past two or three years.

MINNIE I., Red Top and Choctaw, the property of H. Montagne, have arrived at Lakeview, Or., where they are to take part in the July races. John Simmons has two horses there that belong to J. M. Ines. Arthur Smith is training one galloper, Foster Bros.' Susie D. was expected to arrive any day.

THE clever light-weight jockey, Clawson, who rode for Atkin & Lottridge here last season, took a turn last Saturday with the crack riders at Sheepshead Bay. He was successful in landing the Fleischmans' Wolhurst second, a horse that was 5 to 1 in the betting, but was not so fortunate with Sam Hildreth's Lincoln II.

AT the recent Belle Meade yearling sale at Sheepshead Bay track a bay filly by imp. Loyalist (sire of Lissak), out of Duchess (dam of Clifford) brought the top price, $2,225, W. L. Powers securing her. A chestnut colt by Iroquois—Toribua, and a bay colt by Longstreet—Brunette, fetched $1,000 apiece, the next highest prices.

THE Anaconda and Butte racing officials are : Edward C. Hopper (the Latonia Secretary and also Secretary of the American Turf Congress), presiding judge of the running events; Major P. P. Johnson (President National Trotting Association), presiding judge of the trotting and pacing events; D. P. O'Connor, third judge of the running races; Frank P. Kinney, third judge of the harness races; James B. Ferguson, of Kentucky, starter of runners, trotters and pacers.

THERE were 20,000 people at the Fair Grounds, St. Louis, last Saturday. They saw Ornament (127 pounds up) win the $12,000 St. Louis Derby (one and one-half miles) with ease at six lengths, Belvidere (125) second, Typhoon (125) third. Time, 2:51, showing that the track was deep in mud. The story goes that the owner of Ornament, Charley Patterson, observing that the best going by far was on the outside, had his colt take a position on the outside when they had gone about half a mile.

THE will of the late Byron McClelland, the famous horseman, was probated to-day. He leaves $5,000 each to two brothers and one sister, and to Frances McClelland, his adopted niece, $10,000. His wife is made executrix without bonds. His estate will aggregate something like $400,000.—Lexington, Ky., dispatch, June 28th.

FIND OUT, a recent winner at the Fort Erie, Ont., track, is owned by Covington & Kent and is by John Happy from Lady Leinster. Charley Ballard rode the horse, who was at as good as 10 to 1 in the betting. One the same day Our Johnny, by Fresno—Jess, won at a mile and a sixteenth; time, 1:49. This is a pretty good showing for California for one day.

CAPT. THOMAS B. MERRY ("Hidalgo") predicts a great future for San Antonio (one of the Baldwin colts recently shipped East), by imp. Clieveden—Orange Leaf. The Captain evidently thinks he will be a better three-year-old than a two-year-old, for he says : "If no bad luck overtakes San Antonio he will be one of the famous horses of America next year."

GOETHE, who was beaten a head by Bertha Utiger at St. Louis last Monday, is a full brother to Shiller, and was ridden by Charley Slaughter, Barneo Schreiber's jockey. Macy beat Barney's Aquinas in a seven-furlong race, but Greyhurst, after cuttting up at the post and causing Full Hand and Senator Morill to get crazed and throw their riders, went on and won, this being at seven furlongs also.

BILL MCGUIGAN has returned from Canada. Before leaving the Queen's dominions he made quite an extensive deal in horseflesh. He sold Mr. McLean, a member of Parliament and the editor of the Toronto World, eleven fivers, including Brown Girl, Algro and nine two-year olds. "I had just twenty-two horses when I went to Canada," he said, "and I sold eleven of them. It is a better market for racehorses just now than the United States."

LAST Saturday at Sheepshead Bay, after Blueaway, ridden by Charley Thorpe, had won the Zephyr stake and bets had had been paid a protest was lodged with the stewards that the colt should have picked up a five-pound penalty for winning the Manhassett stake on June 23rd. On investigation the protest was sustained, and Lou Elmore's youngster disqualified, the stake going to the Sensation stable's Mont d'Or, with Varus taking second and Fxed Star third money.

THE following flashed over the wires from St. Louis last Monday : " The test case made against the pool-rooms under the new breeders' law has resulted in a victory for the pool-sellers. Late this afternoon Judge Murphy ruled that the Supreme Court had held such playing not to be in violation of the laws. It is expected that all the pool-rooms will reopen to-morrow." This will be a hard blow at racing in Missouri, for the keeping open of these pool-rooms means the keeping away of a thousand or more persons from the races each day.

THE telegraphic reports from Anaconda indicate that 7,000 people attended the races on the first day, which was last Saturday. By Holly, of Flosden, Cal., is reported to have made a big clean-up on Howard, who was coupled with Montallade in the betting. California-bred horses were very much in it, Stam B. winning the 2:12 class trot, Searchlight the 2:35 class pace, 'Ostler Joe the mile run, and Howard the six furlongs. Marcus Daly won the two-year-old race with Tammany Hall, and the fleet Northwest Territory mare, May W., won the half-mile dash in 0:48¾. The track was slow.

THE stewards of the Jockey Club during the afternoon held a meeting and passed the following resolution: "Resolved, That hereafter all jockeys shall be required to report their engagements to ride to the clerk of the scales not later than 1 P. M. on each race day, and that all engagements made subsequent to that hour must be reported promptly to the clerk of the scales." It was further resolved that the clerk of the scales shall keep a complete record of the jockeys and their engagements and hold the same subject to the inspection of the stewards.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

BEN BENJAMIN, the popular sporting writer, for years identified with San Francisco's big dailies, has gone to Anaconda, Mont., as has "Professor" Louis D. Newman, the well-known mimeographer, reporter and ex-track official. Mr. Benjamin will "do" the racing for Marcus Daly's Standard while in Anaconda, and beyond a doubt it will be a feature of that enterprising journal. The "Professor" will, we understand, be the official handicapper at the Anaconda and Butte tracks, and as he is an old hand at the racing game, ought to do well.

AFTER an eight years' trial the Coney Island Jockey Club has concluded that the Futurity Course is not popular with the public. In accordance with this view, beginning with the June meeting, the short distance races, except in cases of two-year-old stakes wherein the conditions specify the Futurity Course, will be run over the main track. The present Futurity Course is 170 feet short of six furlongs. It was devised as a special track to accommodate the monster fields foreshadowed by the creation of the Futurity Stakes, and it was inaugurated in 1888 by the running of the first Futurity.

IT is remarkable how successful the descendants of Doncaster have been in the Derby. He won it himself in 1872, starting at the long odds of forty to one. Later his son, Ben d'Or, won. In 1886 the latter's son, Ormonde, was successful, and this year his great-grandson, Galtee More, was first past the post, the sire of the latest winner being Kendal, a son of Ben d'Or, It is wonderful also how the members of this family have sold. Robert Peck bought Doncaster from Mr. Merry after his Derby victory for £10,000, and resold him to the Duke of Westminster for £15,000; the latter sold his grandson, Ormonde, to Don Juan Bocan for £20,000, and his other grandson, Kendal, both bred in the same year, to Mr. Gubbins for £1,000. Don Juan resold Ormonde to Mr. McDonough for £30,000, and Mr. Gubbins sold Kendal to the Bruntwood stud for £35,000. Besides Ormonde the family is represented in this country by Rossington and Order, the latter promising to be a greater success at the stud than his more distinguished brother.—Chicago Inter Ocean. According to the above, Kendal was sold for $175,000. We never heard of it. Perhaps the horse brought £3,500 not £35,000. We did not think Senor Bocau paid over $70,000 for Ormonde either.

FOUR men have had the honor of owning four winners apiece of the Epsom Derby, as follows: The Duke of Grafton, Lord Egremont, Mr. Bowes and Sir Joseph Hawley. The Duke of Grafton's winners were Tyrant (1802), Pope (1809), Whalebone (1810), and Whisker (1815). Lord Egremont's Derby-winners were Hannibal (1804), Cardinal Beaufort (1805), Election (1807) and Lapdog (1826). Another Lord Egremont owned Assassin, the winner of 1782. Mr. Bowes owned Mundig, winner of 1835; Cotherstone, 1843; Daniel O'Rourke, 1852; West Australian, 1853. Sir Joseph Hawley's Derby-winners were Teddington (1851), Beadsman (1858), Musjid (1859) and Blue Gown (1868). Lord Grosvenor and Sir F. Standish had the honor of owning three winners of the great English classic, while several owned two winners of the event, among the number Sir C. Bunbury, Mr. O'Kelly, Mr. Thornhill, Lord Jersey, Lord Falmouth and Lord Rosebery.

THE following appeared in the Examiner recently : "June 11th and 12th were given over to horse racing in Honolulu. The best blood of the islands and some excellent Coast stock afforded two days of amusement for the sports. Sympathet- a 'dark horse' from California, took two of the principal purses. Rudolph Spreckels of San Francisco made a big winning of Kalakaua dollars on the races." Sympathetic's Last a dark horse! Yes, in color, but in that only. The people of "the islands" ought to read the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN closer, and then they would have known all about the brown gelding. We chronicled his departure for the land of the Kanaka. Sympathetic's Last has been an excellent performer, and ran six furlongs over Bay District track in 1:13¼ a few years ago. After that he won many good races, and was known at Denver and Chicago before coming to the far West. In all, the gelding had started 154 times before leaving this country, winning 37 races, running second 22 and third 21 times. This is his tenth season on the turf.

ANY person at all enthusiastic about California and her racing can ill afford to be without the beautiful souvenir issued this week, entitled "Racing in California." It has forty-eight pages of matter interesting to every lover of racing on the Pacific Slope, and especially interesting will it prove to those who have only heard of California racing through the meager reports telegraphed. There are excellent cuts of the men prominent in racing circles, equine celebrities of the turf, some pretty scenes about the courses of the C. J. C. and P. C. J. C., pictures of our more celebrated knights of the pigskin and trainers of thoroughbreds, the history of the two big racing clubs, "California in a Nutshell," by Ben Benjamin; an article on " Pioneer Racing in California," by Capt. T. B. Merry ("Hidalgo"); "California Horses in the East," by Ralph H. Tozer, and other reading matter that will doubtless be appreciated by all admirers of the land by "the sunset sea." These souvenirs of racing in the Golden State will be sent, post-paid, to any address in America on receipt of fifty cents. Address the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, 313 Bush street, San Francisco, Cal.

TAMMANY HALL II., the colt that defeated Los Prietos, Barney Schreiber and others the first day of the Anaconda meeting, is by Tammany from imp. La Trappe, by Hermit, therefore is a half-brother to Trappean and Ft. Augustus. Others in the Daly string trained by J. J. Moran are: Grand Sachem, by Tammany, out of Belinda; Hiland, by imp. Inverness, out of Slow Dance; Afghan, by imp. Inverness, out of Affinity, Open Doors, by imp. Inverness, out of imp. Close the Door; Trade Mark, by Tammany, out of Avenue; Air Top, by Iroquois, out of Air Light; imp. Black Cap, by Royal Hampton, out of Oriole; Palfiena, by Tammany, out of Palfina; Shellac, by Monana, out of Shagreen; Belle d'Nuit, by imp. Inverness, out of Belle of Butte; Carness, by imp. Inverness, out of Carrie G. With the single exception of Black Cap, a half sister to Ogden, all of the horses in the string were bred and raised on the Bitter Root Stock Farm. The youngsters are all said to be quite promising and there is great likelihood of them reflecting new honors upon the stock farm. Jockey Hamm will do the riding.

THE recent sale of yearlings by imp. Order must have been exceedingly gratifying to J. B. Haggin, who bought the sire last year and now has him at Rancho del Paso. Following were the details of the sale: "At Sheepshead Bay to-day (June 26th) the owners of the Beaumont stud offered at auction, in the paddock, a number of yearlings the get of Order, the sire of the great colt Ornament. Most of the youngsters brought good prices. Ornament's full brother was first offered. He went to J. S. Curtis for $10,100. The sale included the following: Ch c, by imp. Order—Coots, James McLaughlin, $1,500; br c, by imp. Order—Fancy, James McLaughlin, $1,000; b c, by imp. Order—Hannah, James McLaughlin, $500; ch f, by imp. Order—Miss Saxon, W, N. Powers, $1,500; ch c, by imp. Cavalier—Herschel, J. H. McCormick, $700; b c, by imp. Order—Nokomis, J. B. Haggin, $400; b c, by imp. Order—Victorine, J. S. Curtis, $10,100; br f, by imp. Order—Londalette, J. McLaughlin, $1,000; ch f, by imp. Order—Fonsetta, J B. Haggin, $5,500; ch c, by imp. Order—Gladiola, J. M. Johnson, $6:0; b c by imp. Order—Aunt Betsey, J. S. Curtis, $1,000."

IN a battle with a vicious stallion, near Petaluma, on Friday morning, Cornelius Frederickson, a young man employed upon the ranch of W. A. Lewis at San Antonio creek, came near losing his life. At the Lewis ranch there are several San Francisco horses, among them being the running stallion Zoolein, now owned by Jules Gamage, Mr. Lewis' son-in-law. The animal appeared gentle as a kitten, but the owner had warned the farm hands that he was subject to vicious spells. However, he appeared so docile that the warning was forgotten. Friday morning Frederickson saddled the animal and took him out on the road for an exercise gallop, another farm employe named C. Meyer riding another horse. Frederickson returned to the ranch first and blanketing the horse, led him around to cool him off. Just as Meyer rode up Zoolein reared and his blanket slipped. As Frederickson reached to adjust it the horse plunged at him, caught his arm, and, shaking as a terrier shakes a rat, threw him to the ground. Then the vicious beast commenced to paw the prostrate man with his front feet, keeping a good hold on the arm with his teeth, endeavoring to kick him and biting him fearfully, lacerating the flesh in a shocking manner. The cries of the victim attracted Meyer, who drove the animal away, and the injured man went to Petaluma, where Dr. Ivanovitch dressed the wounds. It will be some time before he will be able to resume work.—Santa Rosa Evening Press, June 26th.

Why Entries Should Fill.

It is of the utmost importance that every owner of a trotter or pacer in California should carefully read the programmes of races offered by the Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders Association for the four meetings which are to open the California trotting circuit of 1897, entries for which are to close July 15th.

The first meeting, to be held July 31st to August 7th, will be at the new track at Oakland, which will be placed in first-class condition; everything about this magnificent course being at the disposal of this organization, thanks to the generosity of Thos. H. Williams, Jr., and the California Jockey Club. Fifteen events have been decided upon and the purses range from $300 to $600. One of the conditions is, five per cent. to enter and five per cent. from money-winners. All purses divided into four moneys. Besides these events, a number of novelty races will be introduced; if satisfactory arrangements can be made. There will be trotting and pacing races to saddle, races for tandem teams, single roadsters, double teams and four-in-hands. The committee of arrangements appointed to take charge of this portion of the programme will have its report ready in a few days.

The week following, all the horsemen and their horses will proceed to Marysville, thence Chico and Willows. At these two last-named places the same programme has been adopted, and entries will close on July 15th, also. There will be district races, and for these owners may make entries who do not belong to the P. C. T. H. B. Association. The people of these two progressive cities of the north are determined to give these meetings all the support they possibly can, and as the committee appointed to confer with the officials of the Southern Pacific Railroad will, no doubt, be able to get very low rates for horsemen and their horses throughout the entire circuit, commencing at the Breeders meeting, everyone who makes an entry for this meeting should do the same for every other on the circuit. There is another fact which should not be lost sight of—nearly thirty per cent of the very best horses of all classes are now at the Anaconda meeting, so owners will have a better opportunity of winning with their horses than if they had to meet those which are battling for money and glory in the big mining town of Montana.

The only way to increase the value of a trotter or pacer is to have its speed developed, and these meetings seem to have been arranged for this express purpose. The fact has been demonstrated in the East this winter that holders of records sell for three times the price equally as well-bred ones do that have never been on a race track. It is for this purpose alone that the P. C. T H. B. Association has been organized, and on that account it should receive encouragement from everyone interested in light harness horses in California. In giving these three meetings it has shown its readiness to step right in and bridge the chasm made by Jimbudd, "Old Junk" Martin Kelly's bosom friend, when he did his best to destroy the greatest and most profitable industry our farmers are interested in. Let us all do our best to get horses ready for these races.

The Champion American Racer.

It is passing strange that the name of Kingston is not brought up oftener when the careers of crack race horses, real champions of the turf, are under discussion. To our minds he was a champion of champions, defeating the best in the land at all distances from five furlongs up to a mile and three-quarters, making faster average time than almost any horse that ever raced in any country, carrying greater weights, racing for nine seasons and retiring to the stud of Milton Young, of Kentucky (McGrathiana), as sound as the proverbial dollar. He was one of the many celebrities owned by the Dwyer Brothers (after the dissolution of partnership by M. F. Dwyer), but the name of Luke Blackburn, Hindoo and Miss Woodford, owned by the famous brothers of the City of Churches, are somehow oftener mentioned as world-beaters than the brown son of Spendthrift and Kapanga.

It will be noted that Kingston was "out of the money" but ONCE IN HIS FIRST SEVEN SEASONS ON THE TURF! We have looked the matter up, and found in his first 97 starts he was unplaced but this once, a record that will probably never be equalled again. Several times he ran second to his stable mate, Hanover. In his eighth season on the turf he was unplaced thrice in twenty-five starts, in his ninth year of running he started ten times and was unplaced but twice. Kingston's speed at the different distances was also remarkable, and the only horses that approached him in this country were Racine and Hanover. Below we give a number of his really excellent performances in tabular form:

Time.		Time.
5½ furlongs, 118 lbs	1:05 1-5	1 mile, 132 lbs	1:42
¾ mile, 130 lbs	1:12 2-5	1 3-16 miles, 102 lbs	2:00 4-5
⅞ mile, 127 lbs	1:26 1-5	1¼ miles, 126 lbs	2:07½
⅞ mile, 130 lbs	1:26¼	1¾ miles (3 years), 110 lbs	3:04

*170 feet short of six furlongs.

The above goes far to show that Kingston's "best distance" was seven furlongs, though there are several wonderful performances of his, from a time and weight-carrying standpoint, at six furlongs and at a mile and a quarter. Below will be found a table—compiled by William Sparling—showing the achievements of Kingston every year during his unusually long career on the turf, and it will doubtless prove exceedingly interesting to those who love a truly great race horse:

Fortunes to Be Won at Coney Island.

In this issue we print the conditions to three stake races to be given by the Coney Island Jockey Club, and if anyone can be fortunate enough to land any of these stakes his fortune is made. We refer to the Annual Champion, $25,000, for three-year-olds and upward, a continuous event, to close each year on July 15th, distance two and one-quarter miles; the Lawrence Realization, for the spring meeting of 1899, $5,000 added, yearlings to be entered by July 15, 1897, and the Lawrence Realization for the June meeting of 1900, $5,500 added, foals to be entered by July 15, 1897.

The Annual Champion $25,000 stake will be one of the great races of the country, beyond a doubt, and the winner will indeed be a champion, being asked to carry weights that will test his race horse qualities and go the "cup route," perhaps the most popular of all distances with the race-going public. Many of the generally-accepted champions of the past fifteen years (over a distance of ground) have come from California, including Mollie McCarthy, Lucky B., Volante, Silver Cloud, Emperor of Norfolk, Tournament and Sir Walter, but such a stake will go far to prove which among all our horses is really the champion race horse of America, and we shall look for a long entry list from California. All our breeders should realize the importance of entering their foals in such a stake, for when the sale of their yearlings comes on, if they enter everything in such events, their value is increased about three-fold, simply because the earning capacity of the various horses entered is likely to be increased to such a marked extent. It will be noted that it costs but $5 to enter a foal of 1897, and surely breeders will be short-sighted not to enter every one of their foals of this year. This $5 carrys the colt in the stake to July 15, 1898. The conditions are exceedingly liberal, as will be seen at once.

The Lawrence Realization is the great Realization with the name of its originator, the beloved dead President of the club, added. The stake has been for years the richest of all three-year-old events in America, and a California bred horse, Tournament, won it in 1890, the second year it was run. The year Salvator (now at Rancho del Paso) captured the plum it was worth $84,000, and in Dobbins' year, 1894, it was of a value of $33,400. Besides Tournament's victory, California-bred ones were "in the money" in '91, '93, '94, and the winner of 1895 (Bright Phoebus) was owned by a Californian, W. S. Hobart. Thus we have two winners of the great stake in the State right now, while a third (Tournament) is at the stud in the East. Montana (by Ban Fox) ran second to Potomac in 1881, Sir Walter (by Imp. Midlothian third to the Sunbeam colt and St. Leonards in 1893, while Rey El Santa was third, finishing behind Dobbins and Hornpipe in 1894. Considering that such a comparatively small number were entered from the Golden State, we can well feel proud of the showing made. Let us hope for a better representation from this time forth, so our breeders will please read the advertisement in this issue and act thereon at once. Entries close July 5, 1897.

The Work Started.

With the good news received of the enthusiasm aroused at every point where light harness horse racing is held in the East, there is every indication that the interest that was on the wane for the past three years is being revived in a way that speaks volumes for the breeders of trotters and pacers, and everyone interested in the noble sport.

Nearly 5,000 people is the average attendance at Anaconda since last Friday, and Secretary Ed Tipton is being congratulated on all sides for this work in getting up programmes and purses which attracted the largest number of fine horses ever seen in that part of the world. That is not all. Mr. Tipton's work to have the track in perfect order, new stalls built for the increased number of horses and his determination to have none but the most capable officials in charge, has won for him the praise of everyone—visitors at the track and those who are many miles away from there, but are taking pride in the work going on at Anaconda.

In Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Medford, Mass., Geneva, N. Y., McKee's Rocks, Penn., and at a large number of smaller cities in the East where good races have been held, the public interest was at fever heat. There are dates claimed for over 400 meetings in the East commencing July 1st; and this surpasses anything ever dreamed of by the most enthusiastic horseman. The class of horses is faster, the animals being trained better, and everything points to a most successful season of campaigning. The wave of prosperity in the horse business is rapidly coming from the East, and before three months elapse we shall feel its effects here.

The bottom has not dropped out of the trotting horse business and it never will. If all the horses, should die for want of use this saying might prove true, but the good horse will always be useful and valuable, and despite bicycles and steam electric carriages he will fill many a position they never can.

Sale of Royally-Bred Trotting Stock.

There will be a sale in this city next Thursday well worth attending—that is, if you desire to purchase a standard-bred trotter, a roadster gelding, a mare or stallion. We refer to the Palo Alto Stock Farm sale, booked for that date at Killip & Co.'s salesyard, corner Van Ness avenue and Market street. Fifty-one head from the famous farm are catalogued, by such stallions as Whips, 2:27 (sire of Azote, 2:04¾); Nutwood, 2:18¾ (sire of Lockheart, 2:08¾); Dexter Prince (sire of James L., 2:09¾; Azmoor, 2:20½ (sire of Azmon, 2:13¼); Palo Alto, 2:08¾; Truman, 2:12; General Beverly, 2:21½; Will Crocker, 2:25½; Liberty Sontag, 20,079; Electricity, 2:17¾; Clay, 2:25; Lottery (son of Electioneer and Texana); Hugo, 2:24 (by Electioneer—Helpmate); Alfred, 5328 (sire of Langton, 2:21¾); Alson (son of Alfred and Sallie Sontag, by Toronto Sontag); Piedmont, 2:17¼ (sire of Loreta, 2:18½); Boxwood (by Nutwood—Belle Patterson, by Williamson's Belmont); Bernal, 2:17; Langton, 2:21¾; Governor Pacheco, 21,244 (brother to Palo Alto, 2:08¾); Advertiser, 2:15¼ (sire of Adbell, yearling, 2:23); Sport, 2:22¾; Millard, 2:23 (by Gen. Benton—Daisy Miller, by Electioneer); Electioneer, 125 (sire by Arion, 2:07½); St. Clair, 656; Mohawk Chief,

The dams of those in this offering are by Nutwood, St. Bel (2:24½), Mohawk Chief, Electioneer, Wildidle, Shannon, St. Clair (656), Thorndale, Norfolk, Woodnut, Gov. Sprague (2:20½), Messenger Duroc, Pat Malloy, Will Crocker, Piedmont, Toronto Sontag, Gen. Benton, Ansel (2:20), Signal (3327), The Moor (870), and other celebrities, so that there should be some track performers and roadsters in this consignment much above the average. At the conclusion of this sale Easter Wilkes (by Guy Wilkes—Zeyhyr, by Nutwood) will also be offered. He's a royally-bred horse. Remember the date—Thursday, July 8th—and be there.

The Marysville Fair.

Great preparations are being made at Marysville to receive the horses and horsemen who will come from the Breeders meeting to take part in the meeting there. The track is in splendid condition, ample stalls have been provided, the best of hotel accommodations are to be had and the enthusiasm of the people who are expecting our horsemen there knows no bounds. Nineteen races are to be given, and good purses are offered for every one. The managers will endeavor to arrange the programme so as to allow horses entered in the several events to start in each by placing such classes as they are entered in far enough apart to permit of them starting, giving them plenty of time between the events to be rested.

Remember, entries for this race meeting will close July 15th, on the same day selected for the closing of entries to the Breeders' meetings at Oakland, Chico and Willows. This notification will only appear once more, so horsemen should not overlook it.

THE recent sales of yearling thoroughbreds at New York, where very many of the fillies were withdrawn on account of no demand for youngsters of this sex demonstrates that something must be done by jockey clubs throughout the country. That something is the institution of more stakes exclusively for fillies and mares. It being proven year in and year out that there are more than twice as many good racers of the male persuasion as of the female, turfmen nowadays, having not as much sentiment as they once had, ever looking out for flyers that can earn the almighty dollar, refuse to buy a filly as a general thing, and when they do purchase one pay but a small sum. Therefore the only salvation for the breeder is to urge upon the various racing associations, with all the eloquence at his command, the necessity of giving stakes for two, three and four-year-old mares. This would make a mare worth nearly as much as a stallion and bring prices for yearling fillies up with a bound. Then we would hear of a Firenzi, a Miss Woodford or La Fleche oftener than we do in these days when female racers are spurned and sent back to the ranch to become stud matrons, their abilities as racers unknown through lack of interest and lack of development.

THE State Fair race programme appears in this issue and will be read with pleasure by every horse-owner in California, and in fact on the Pacific Coast. The races have been well arranged, purses are very liberal and the conditions differ from those of former years. The races will alternate this season. One day will be devoted to light harness horse races, and the running horse races will be held the day following. The track will be specially prepared over night for these events, a large force of men and teams being employed for that purpose Entries will close August 1st.

THE dead king of stallions, Palo Alto, 2:08¾, has now to his credit eleven in the 2:30 list that average better than 2:20—a very remarkable showing for a horse that got but forty-four foals in all, four of which were injured so they could not be handled, while many of the others are yet undeveloped. There are several of his get that have shown speed that have not appeared in public, but authenticated trials of speed of these, added to what the public have seen, place the "half-thoroughbred" son of Electioneer and Dame Winnie in a class by himself.

RACES (trotting and pacing) to saddle, tandem races, races for four-in-hands, single roadsters and double teams may be arranged as special events for the opening meeting of the P. C. T. H. B. Association. Has anyone any suggestions to offer in regard to novelty races? If so, if they will send them to this office on or before next Tuesday at 9:30 A. M., they will be appreciated, and if considered and adopted, credit will be given to the persons who introduce them.

AT the last meeting of the Board of Directors of the P. C. T. H. B. Association it was decided to forbid bookmaking at the meetings to be given under the auspices of this association and adhere to the old style of betting, i. e., auction pools. It was also voted to give the block system a trial. This new method of betting has been described quite often of late in the columns of this publication.

SANTA ROSA will, it is believed, hold a race meeting the week following the State Fair. This will conflict with the race meeting at Stockton, but if they offer bigger purses for harness horses and give no running events they may do very well. The idea of giving a meeting there, however, is not finally settled.

OUR correspondent in Montana failed to send us the reports of races promised, but next week this will be remedied, for we will appoint someone else to attend to this important work.

STOCKTON falls in line this week. Have you seen the programme?

ANACONDA RACES.

SATURDAY, JUNE 26.

There was a great crowd at the first day's racing here, fully 7,000 people being present. The features of the programme was a mile dash, which brought Ostler Joe, Imp. Butte and imp. Paladin to the post. Ostler Joe was a slight favorite over Marcus Daly's imp. Butte, while imp. Paladin was not greatly favored. Thousands of dollars were wagered on the result of the race. Ostler Joe was piloted by H. Brown, while imp. Butte was ridden by Lamley. Ostler Joe came under the wire an easy winner in 1:45¼, beating Butte three lengths. The track was slow.

The fifth race, a six furlong selling event, created quite a sensation, the largest field starting that Montana ever had. It was an ordinary selling event, but the excitement was keen and the betting brisk. By Holly, the Vallejo man, must have gathered in a few shekels, as he backed the winner, Howard, who sold coupled with Montallade against the field of twelve.

The Oregon Stakes, pacing, 2:35 class, brought out a large field. Searchlight was the favorite before the first heat. He sold at even money against a field of eight. The first heat went to Louise M., and the second to Brownell's Jib, who paid $58.55 in the mutuels. Louise M. then sold in the auction for $11, and the field, with Searchlight went at $20. Searchlight took the third, fourth and fifth heats and race in a very impressive manner, although Jib might have made a race of it had not his bicycle gone to pieces in the third heat.

California is well represented in Montana with some of her best horses, both harness and bang-tails. The indications are that this will be the best meeting ever held in the Northwest. The purses are large, and the horses of high quality are plenty.

HOOF-BEATS.

THE attention of our readers is called to the advertisement of the State Fair race meeting.

SALLIE CLICQUOT won again at seven furlongs from Green Morris last Wednesday at Fort Erie. The track was very heavy.

SALLIE CLICQUOT won the Mansion House Handicap, $590 added, at Fort Erie (seven furlongs) on the 25th of June. Her win was of the easiest description.

CONNOISSEUR, by imp. Sir Modred, and Kilkenny, by imp. Darebin, won handicaps at Sheepshead Bay last Wednesday, the latter going two miles over the jumps.

GALTEE MORE won the Sandringham Cup at Sandowne Park on June 25th. This race is for three-year-old colts, £500 in plate or specie added to a sweepstake of £200.

J. STOREY CURTIS, who paid $10,100 for the yearling brother to Ornament last week in New York, is the first of the South African millionaires who will set up a racing establishment in the United States instead of in England.

IMP. ORDER, now at Rancho del Paso, is the sire of two of the best three-year-olds in the country this season—Ornament and Paul Griggs. Both are Derby-winners and Griggs recently ran six furlongs in 1:12¾ over a circular course.

MARCUS DALY denies that he offered $125,000 for Galtee More and says he cannot imagine how such a report could have originated. He says that surely Mr. Gubbins would not care to dispose of a horse capable of earning him $100,000 before his racing days are over, while after that, when at the stud, Galtee More's fees would be equal to the best now asked for and received in England.

THE following was telegraphed from Cincinnati Thursday night: "The new betting system—the Paris mutuels—was introduced for the first time and the betting public patronized it liberally. Panmure, in the first race paying $160.25 for an investment of $5, and Pinar del Rio $230.25 for $5 in the second, were features of the play." This system is the "block," spoken of in these columns lately. The odds against Panmure on the books were 15 to 1, Pinar del Rio, the same.

LATE BRIEFS.—Lord Rosebery's bay colt Velasquez won the Princess of Wales stakes, 10,000 sovereigns, at Newmarket on Thursday, Knight of the Thistle second and Golitta third.——E. J. Baldwin's string of fourteen arrived at Saratoga Thursday.——On the same date Don Fulano won a seven-furlong race at Oakley, Joe Piggott up.——Little Johnny Woods rode Marzella in a winner in the Missouri Selling stakes last Thursday at St. Louis.——The winners at Anaconda, Mont., on Thursday were Tom Keating's Searchlight (who made a pacing record of 2:13), Stam B., Lady Hurst, May W. and Tommy Tucker. The first three were bred in California.——Jennie June, a winner at Fort Erie, on Thursday, is a half-sister to the well-known racer, Joan.

White Topaz.

Beautiful stones to be seen at THE DIAMOND PALACE. Every day in the week and every hour in the day, one can see crowds around the show windows of "The Chicago Diamond Palace." The cause of it all is the now widely known White Topaz. White Topaz or carbonated diamonds have come to be recognized as the nearest thing on earth to Genuine Diamonds; so near indeed is it that the proprietors of THE DIAMOND PALACE do not hesitate to place real diamonds in their windows amidst their display of White Topaz and allow the public to pick them out at the selling price of the Topaz.

The latter stones have all the lovely brilliancy of the diamonds, sparkling steadily and with wonderful fire. The thousands of these stones in the windows form one of the most gorgeous displays, and has proven an attraction which is one of the features of Chicago.

In order to find out the advertising medium best suited to their business, this enterprising concern offers to send a genuine White Topaz to all those who will cut out and send them their advertisement which appears elsewhere in this paper, together with 25 cents in stamps.

THE DIAMOND PALACE, like all successful institutions, has many imitators who endeavor to sell cheap rhinestones and other pastes, claiming they are Topaz. We caution the public to be careful, as THE DIAMOND PALACE, American Express Bldg., Chicago, are the sole importers of this stone.

NOTICE TO ANGLERS.

Every angler is invited to drop us a line occasionally, telling us of the condition of the streams they have visited and the killing lure; of the number and size of the fish caught, or any other item of interest to anglers.

The San Francisco Fly Casting Club.

The tenth regular Saturday and Sunday contests of the San Francisco Fly Casting Club were held at Stow Lake, Golden Gate Park on Saturday and Sunday last. The wind was very strong and gusty on Saturday but on Sunday the weather was quite favorable, though by no means calm.

The judges on Saturday were Col. G. C. Edwards, E. A. Lovett and W. D. Mansfield. Mansfield won all three events.

The judges on Sunday were: Dr. E. N. Lowry, E. A. Lovett and C. G. Young. Dr. E. N. Lowry made the excellent cast of 103 feet with an eight and a half ounce rod but the fly was lost on the previous cast. He won the event with 99½ feet, Mansfield losing on his handicap. W. D. Mansfield won the distance and accuracy event with 89 2-3 per cent and Dr. E. N. Lowry the delicacy and accuracy event with 80 1-3 per cent. The percentages in this event were very close. There was less than 7 per cent difference between the highest and the lowest and the five highest men were only a trifle over two per cent apart.

The scores in detail were as follows:

Saturday Contest No. 10, held at Stow Lake, Golden Gate Park June 26, 1897.

Fly Casting in Chicago.

The Chicago Fly Casting Club held its regular medal contest on Saturday afternoon, June 19th, at Garfield Park. F. N. Peet won the four medals, and the casting was remarkably good, considering that a strong puffy wind handicapped the contestants. The scores follow:

Long Distance Fly Casting—F. N. Peet, 95 feet; B. W. Goodsell, 90 feet; G. A. Murrell, 78 feet; C. G. Ludlow, 73 feet; I. H. Bellows, 73 feet.

Distance and Accuracy Fly Casting—F. N. Peet, 90 1-3 per cent.; C. A. Lippincott, 89 per cent.; B. W. Goodsell, 83 2-3 per cent.; F. B. Davidson, 80 2-3 per cent.; W. H. Babcock, 79 2-3 per cent.; H. A. Newkirk, 70 per cent.; I. H. Bellows, 65 2 3 per cent.; J. E. Strong, 65 1-3 per cent.; C. G. Ludlow, 59 2-3 per cent.; G. A. Murrell, 49 per cent.

Accuracy and Delicacy Fly Casting—F. N. Peet, 91 11-12 per cent; B. W. Goodsell, 91 1-4 per cent.; I. H. Bellows, 89 5-12 per cent.; C. A. Lippincott, 90 1-6 per cent.; W. H. Babcock, 88 1-2 per cent.; C. G. Ludlow, 88 1-2 per cent.; F. B. Davidson, 86 per cent.; G. A. Murrell, 84 5-12 per cent.; H. A. Gewkirk, 81 per cent.

Bait Casting—F. N. Peet, 96 3-5 per cent.; I. H. Bellows, 96 3-5 per cent.; B. W. Goodsell, 95 2 5 per cent.; F. B. Davidson, 94 3 5 per cent.; H. G. Hascall, 94 per cent.; G. A. Murrell, 89 per cent.; H. A. Newkirk, 80 2-5 per cent.; C. A. Lippincott, 79 per cent.; C. G. Ludlow, 79 per cent.; C. H. Chadwick, 78 3-5 per cent.; J. E. Strong, 60 3 5 per cent.; M. D. Smith, 68 1-5 per cent.; E. D. Letterman, 64 4-5 per cent. Messrs. Peet and Bellows tied, Mr. Peet winning in the cast off.

H. Clark, who resides on the San Joaquin some three miles below Herndon, and who was instrumental in causing the arrest of the three men who were recently held over by Justice St. John to answer the charge of using dynamite in the deep holes of the San Joaquin, was in Fresno last Saturday. Mr. Clark states that dynamite is being used continually in the river above his place. Last Thursday he stood by the river which passes his house, and counted hundreds of dead fish as they floated by him. These dead fish ranged from the size of a minnow to fish weighing eight and ten pounds. Among them were suckers, catfish, carp, river trout, minnows and an occcasional salmon. All bore unmistakable marks of having been dynamited. None of them were fit for food. Mr. Clark stated further that within a few weeks he had heard the dynamiters using the explosive above his house. Intelligent action, he thinks, would result in the capture of the law-breakers. A more encouraging report is brought by the gentleman respecting black bass. Within the week he has seen two fair-sized bass pass his place. If the streams cannot be protected, however, he states that it is a waste of time to plant the fish.

The fish hatchery of the San Francisco and North Pacific Railroad at Gibson canyon near Ukiah is completed. It has a capacity of several million eggs and the output this season will be nearly two million. There are 300 streams with a total length of 6000 miles of water in the country traversed by this railroad—Marin, Sonoma, Lake and Mendocino counties. Elsewhere, under Government direction, or private enterprise of country clubs, hatcheries have been maintained and streams stocked with fish, but nowhere has a great railroad company adopted, as an indirect means of bringing its attractions before the public, a plan which will benefit the country at large in a much greater degree than the company itself can hope to be benefited. The numerous catches in Mendocino, and adjacent counties have already attested the value of the work heretofore accomplished, and with increased facilities now afforded the section will ere long prove a veritable paradise for the sportsmen. There are few men and women who do not take delight in fishing for the gamey trout of our mountain streams, a pastime exhilarating and bracing in its effects, acquainting one with the hidden and half-understood beauties of mountain, wood and stream.

Col. S. W. Scott made the banner catch of trout for the season last Sunday week. Col. Scott is a practical fisherman and knows the nature and habits of the trout perfectly and it is a foregone conclusion whenever he starts for a trout stream he will return with all the fish he can carry. Saturday afternoon he left for the upper Cedar river equipped with the necessary outfit to do great execution and he did it. Col. Scott caught 110 trout all told and 83 of them weighed 80½ pounds, he gave away twenty-seven of them before he had a chance to get the combined weight of the catch. The largest trout he caught was a Rainbow and it weighed 4 pounds and 14 ounces. Col. Scott was wearing a pleasant smile Monday, in fact, it has continued to cover his good-natured face all week. The partial reason for this continued smile is that several of his friends were out and failed completely in getting a life-sized bite.—Seattle Argus.

Told at the Fish Liars' Club at Tillamook—Ex-Governor Bowers said he was certain that there was some dynamiting being done. Some days ago he was seated on a log overlooking a pellucid pool in Horn creek. He saw a trout about 12 inches long engaged in the somewhat difficult gastronomic feat of swallowing a mud cat. He had swallowed the cat fish, tail first, as far as the protruding fine, and had just placed the cat fish's head against a rock, preparatory to pushing it down. Just then came the explosion. It hit the trout's tail, and drove the cat fish down its throat, but with such violence that it split the trout in three pieces, endwise. The cat fish emerged at the tail end of the trout, and after shaking itself together, proceeded immediately to swallow the trout. He said that if dynamite and mud cats proposed to stand together he was feminst the whole business.

The California State Fish Commission has liberated in Fallen Leaf Lake, Cascade and Lake Tahoe 1,000 two-years-and-one-year-old Loch Leven trout, averaging eight inches in length, which were hatched at Caledonia, N. Y., from eggs brought from Scotland, and the fry shipped to the Sisson hatchery when three months old and reared there. We hope the anglers will be broad-minded enough to liberate these fish should they catch them when angling for the other varieties, and give them a chance to propagate.

The trout have stopped rising to the fly in the McCloud, and can only be taken now with salmon roe. The salmon are running up the river in great numbers, and fine, large rainbow trout can be seen on the riffles waiting for a detached egg to come floating down their way. Dr. Hibbard, who came down from Sissons on Monday, states that it rained for seventy-two consecutive hours last week and the mountains are covered with snow again. The fly fishing will be good again in September and October

W. A. Bouder, A. W. Inglesbee, F. W. Moore, O. A. Barker, Paul P. Austin and John Clayton, all of San Jose, will leave on the 10th for the headwaters of the Kern, Kern Lake and Whitney creek for three weeks of hunting and fishing. They will pack in from Mineral King ranch, sixty miles from Visalia, with an eight-mule pack, two packers and a cook. That they will enjoy royal sport in that region goes without saying.

On Thursday of last week, Harry Baum, Ed. Dais, Bernard Augonet and I. Phillipson drove to Lake San Andreas and on Friday the party caught about 75 fine fish, one of them a two-pounder. On Sunday the weather was all that could be besired but A. H. Kennedy, Geo. Hinckle, E. Price and Dave Walton only caught 15 or 20 fish, and the majority of the baskets were small.

It is claimed that Ohio Chief Game and Fish Warden Reutinger is about to make arrangements to seine the Tuscarawas river and the neighboring streams to exterminate the carp; that the fishes will be given to the poor who apply for them, and sold to farmers for fertilizing purposes; and the war will be carried on throughout the State.

Willis E. Bacheller, a well-known member of the San Francisco Fly Casting Club caught 17 salmon at Monterey on Monday, weighing 274 pounds. This is the record catch of the season. Emanuel Duarte officiated as guide. One of them was on exhibition at Clabrough, Golcher & Co.'s and another at E. T. Allen Co.'s.

Dr. W. H. Shaw, Dr. H. Fleissner, Gus Fleissner, Dr. H. G. Young, Dr. E. Keeffe, Dr. W. Ellis and Dr. Saw have made up what they call the dental angling party and will leave the city to-day for Point Arena. They will go about 20 miles up the Garcia for a month's fishing and hunting.

A party of four—Messrs. Freiberger, Larsen, Hensley and Provost—went to the Landing yesterday, says the Woodland Mail, and succeeded in catching about 400 cat-fish. They came home about half-past 4 o'clock, so they fish but a small portion of the day.

J. T. O'Conner and F. E. Sawyer leave to-night by boat to Stockton thence over the valley road to the end of the line at Primero, from there they will walk 60 to 65 miles into the Yosemite fishing and hunting.

During the past season 49,405 000 pike and 3,075,000 mascalonge fry have been planted in the various waters of New York State by the Fisheries, Game and Forest Commission.

Several parties fished the Alameda lagoon Sunday for striped bass. Al Newman hooked another shark that cleaned him out, but no bass were seen.

The sportsmen of Phoenix, Arizona, are calling upon the territorial officials for trout fry for the Salt, Gila, and Verde rivers and their tributaries.

Black bass fishing in the Russian river commenced last Thursday. The fishing should be good from Guerneyville to Duncans Mills.

A. B. Finch, a member of the Fly Casting Club left on Wednesday night for a six weeks' outing on the Truckee.

Dr. David Starr Jordan has competed his third volumne of the Fishes of North America.

W. R. Moore is fishing the Kern river with Jonn Broder of Visalia as guide.

Black bass may be caught now. The season opened on the 1st.

The fishing at Aurora Springs continues fine.

The Kings river is yet very high.

THE GUN.

Coming Events.

July 4—Encinal Gun Club, Birds' Point, Alameda.
July 4—Monterey Wing Shooting Club's open-to-all tournament, Monterey, Cal; C. H. Rodriguez, secretary.
July 4—Golden Gate Gun Club Pacific Tournament grounds, Alameda Junction.
July 11—Reliance Gun Club, Webster St., Alameda.
July 11—Empire Gun Club, Alameda Point.
July 11—Olympic Gun Club (blue-rock), Ingleside.
July 18—Lincoln Gun Club, Alameda Point, regular club shoot and open to all cash prize shoot.
July 18—California Wing Shooting Club, Ingleside.
July 25—Empire Gun Club, Alameda Point.
July 25—Olympic Gun Club (live bird), Ingleside.

NOTICE TO SECRETARIES.

If secretaries of gun clubs will send us the full scores of their regular monthly shoots we will be pleased to publish them; but we must receive the copy on Wednesday to insure its insertion that week.

The Game Law.

The open season for shooting quail, doves, deer and wild duck as fixed by the State law is as follows: Doves, 15th July to 15th February. Mountain quail and grouse, 1st September to 15th February. Valley quail, wild duck and rail, 1st October to 1st March. Male deer, 15th July to 15th October.

The clerks of all the Boards of Supervisors have advised us that no changes have been made this year, but the ordinances passed last year hold good if they do not conflict with the State law. The following counties have not passed any ordinances that alter the open season as provided by State law: Alameda, Amador, Butte, Los Angeles, Marin, Modoc, Mono. Mendocino, Mariposa, Nevada, Napa, Plumas, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Joaquin, Santa Clara, Sacramento, Solano, Tehama, Yolo and Yuba.

Alpine—Deer. Sept. 2 to Oct. 15.
Colusa—Deer, Aug. 15 to Oct. 15.
Calaveras—Deer, Sept. 1 to Oct. 15.
Contra Costa—Deer, July 20 to Sept. 2. (Use of dogs prohibited).
El Dorado—Doves, July 20 to Feb. 1.
Lake—Deer, Aug. 1 to Oct. 1.
Madera—Market hunting prohibited.
Monterey—Deer, July 15th to Sept. 1st.

Trinity—Deer, Sept. 1 to Oct. 15.
Tulare—Deer, Sept. 1 to Oct. 15.
Ventura—Deer, July 15 to Sept. 1. (Market hunting prohibited).

MONTEREY, June 30, 1897.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—The members of the Monterey Wing Shooting Club are making ready for their grand bluerock tournament on July 4th. All the arrangements are now completed, and the wants of the visiting sportsmen and their friends will be strictly attended to, and care and pains will not be spared to make this occasion one long to be remembered by the visitors. Our motto is: "Come once, come again." From eighty to one hundred shooters will face the traps. Two sets of traps will be used, and the equipment electrical throughout. Competant and experienced referees and judges will be in attendance; in fact, all that is required for a well-arranged tournament has been attended to by "Papa Carr" and his able assistants. The shooting will commence promptly at 8 A. M. This is absolutely necessary in order to finish the several events in the day.

The Railroad Company will issue excursion rate tickets to Monterey from all over the State from July 2d to July 7th inclusive, thus enabling all the shooters wishing to participate to secure reduced rates.

The most sanguine and enthused member of the Club is "Papa Carr," and the handicap cup has completely captivated him and no doubt he will make the effort of his life to win it. Perhaps there are others in the same boat. I wonder!

The programme of events has been arranged on the most liberal basis possible, and no doubt some of the crackerjacks of the State will be present and take part in the several events. C. A. R.

[The Monterey Wing Shooting Club has arranged a programme for its initial tournament that should please every one and draw a big crowd. That it will be well managed and that the boys will be well entertained goes without saying.

Two sets of electric traps will be used and as in the State tournaments, the score will be on large sheets of paper in full view of the shooters.

There are seven scheduled events and the total entry fee will be $7.50 for 120 birds. The added money amounts to $200 and the handicap cup is valued at $50.

There will be a very large attendance from this city.]

Chilled vs. Soft Shot.

To begin with I will say that I am one of those ordinary mortals whose desires are beyond my means. I am obliged to use the same gun at the trap and in the field, just as many of my brother sportsmen have to do, and I was quite a long time in deciding what that gun should be. I finally reached a decision and ordered my gun with both barrels full-choked as the greater part of my shooting is done at the trap, where the very quality of the gun to be considered (assuming, of course, that the gun is of standard make) is pattern. We all realize, and I think "Recapper" will concede the point without discussion, that we can get a better pattern with hard shot than we can with soft, because in passing through the choke of a gun the hard shot do not become dished as soft shot do, they retain their shape and consequently hold together better. The point of penetration "Recapper" has already conceded, so the first advantages I claim for hard shot are pattern and penetration. "Recapper," however, qualifies the point of penetration by saying that hard shot do not give the same shock that soft shot give. Now let us consider a moment: If by using hard shot we can get ten pellets in a live bird at forty yards against, say six pellets with soft shot, we have the advantage in the number of "shocks" from the effect of the load; now I wonder if friend "Recapper" ever saw a chilled shot flatten out or stop when striking a bone in a bird? No, but on the contrary, he has seen it break everything before it, and produce more of a shock than soft shot was ever capable of producing. Neither you nor I have ever seen a soft shot flatten out simply from the effect of passing through the flesh of a bird; no, but we have seen them flatten when striking a bone where a hard shot would break the bone and produce a wound or shock that would stop it right there; for this reason ninety per cent of the live bird men are using hard shot today, many of them having used the same pair of barrels thousands and tens of thousands of times and still continue to use them. Dr. Carver, for instance, has shot more from his Cashmore gun in the last few years than an ordinary shooter (such as myself) would do in a lifetime, and he is ready to convince anyone who has the money that the choke is not all shot out of his gun yet.

This leads to the question "Recapper" bases his argument on, viz, the life of a gun. How long will a pair of barrels last? With my short experience I am unable to answer the question, and will have to leave it for some of my older brethren to answer. Have you ever worn out a pair of barrels? How many times have you heard of its being done? Now, we all agree on one thing, and that is that the average sportsman takes better care of his gun than he does of himself, not because he expects his gun to last a lifetime, or that it is the best gun in existence and could not be duplicated (if he wore it out) but because he takes more pride in having and using a good gun than he cares for himself. Now, I do not know of but one man who has used the same gun for more than twenty years, in fact, there are very few men who have used the same gun for this length of time, or for fifteen years or even ten, so that there are very few of us who have been able to test the life of a gun with hard shot except the men who follow the traps, and we cannot rely on what some of them say because they are agents for the gun they shoot.

I honestly believe that the use of hard shot by the ordinary shooter will not make any perceptible difference in the choke of his gun, not as long, at least, as he cares to use the same gun, for with the wonderful advancements being made in the art of gunmaking a man wants a change after a few years, if he can afford to do an extra amount of shooting with the gun, then he can afford a new gun is he does shoot the choke out.

Now, I believe "Recapper" can put up a good argument on this subject, and I trust my brother sportsmen will not decide for or against the hard pellets until after he has expressed himself. I shall continue to use hard shot until I am convinced that I am in error, either by "Recapper" or some other experienced sportsman.—"Amateur" in American Sportsman.

The Shipping of Game.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Riverside have passed the following ordinance relative to the shipping of game out of the county:

ORDINANCE NO. 42.

An ordinance amending Section 2 of Ordinance 10, prohibiting the shipping of quail for market from Riverside county, Cal.

Every person who shall transport or carry out or procure any other person to transport or carry out of the county of Riverside any Bob White, partridge, quail, grouse or dove, or any wild duck, wild geese, pheasant, snipe or rail, the same having been killed or captured in the county of Riverside, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the County Jail not less than thirty days, or punished by both such fine and imprisonment at the option of the Court.

This ordinance shall take effect and be in full force from and after the first day of November, 1896. JOHN SHANER,
Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, Riverside County, Cal.

A. J. CONDEE,
Clerk of the Board.

The Anaconda Tournament.

The general average prizes at the late Anaconda four days' tournament were as follows: First prize, $25 and the association medal; second, $40; third, $37.50. The rest of the 16 prizes were graduated from $35 to $5.

The following synopsis of highest averages of shooters who shot the entire programme shows the award of prizes in the order named:

The individual live bird shoot for the championship of Montana was shot on the fourth day. M. Wright, of Butte, held the championship medal and 60 per cent. of the entrance money went to him. Conditions: Fifteen live birds, entrance, $10; three birds out. There were 20 entries. J. New, of Philipsburg, and Wright tied for first place with 15 straights apiece. Twenty more birds were flown and each man pulled down his 10. On the next 10 Wright missed two and New made a clean kill of 10, running up a score of 35 straight winning the medal and bringing out great applause from all on the ground. The others scored as follows: Michols, Smith, Rockefeller, Waters, Tuttle, W. New, 14; Jones, Trudgeon, Walker, Conley, D. D. Twohy, 13.

Washington Gun Club.

The bluerock shoot of the Washington Gun Club was largely attended on Sunday. There was a good attendance and some of the scores were fairly good. The Yolo lads are improving, and by another season there will be several good shots among them.

The Olympic Gun Club.

The regular monthly live bird shoot of the Olympic Gun Club held at Ingleside last Sunday, brought out an excellent attendance, and the birds were the best lot trapped this year. There were no straight scores. The scores in the regular club match were as follows:

The Pelicans.

Only a few members of the Pelican Gun Club showed up at the live bird shoot Sunday. Three of them shot a twenty-bird match, with the following result. The birds were strong flyers:

Ruhs aller, Jr.	1111011111110011111 1—17
Gerber, John	1110111101101 011111—16
Gerber, W. E.	1101111101101 1101111—16

Reliance Gun Club.

The following scores were made by the Reliance Gun last last Sunday.

10 birds—Olsen 8, Nauman 9, Klevesahl 7, Feudner 9, Vernon 6, Young 5, Bekeart 7, Webb 8, Kleinenbroch 4, "Trombone" 8, Mitchell 8, Muller 8, Mendenhall 8, Sears 7, Young 6.

20 birds—Olsen 19, Nauman 19, Webb 20, Trombone 16, Bekeart 19, Young 18, Mendenhall 12, Kleinenbroch 6, Feudner 15, Mitchell 14, Vernon 12, Klevesahl 17, Muller 16, Edg Foster 18, Sherrock 10, Eug Foster 16.

20 birds—Feudner 13, Nauman 17, Mitchell 15, Trombone 18, Bekeart 18, Olsen 14, Vernon 15, Young 10, Webb 15, Dusing 15, Klevesahl 17.

Fourth, $20 added money—Mendenhall 14, Nauman (first money) 20, Olsen 18, Trombone 13, Bekeart 14, Young 16, and Mitchell 16 (divided fourth money), Klevesahl 17, Seaves 15, Ed Foster and Webb 17 (divided third money), Muller 16, Feudner 19 (second money), Dusing 14, Edg Foster 11, Burns 15, Vernon 12, Sherrock 9.

The Empire Gun Club.

The regular semi-monthly shoot of the Empire Gun Club held at Alameda Point last Sunday was fairly well attended. The regular monthly medal was won by F. W. King with 24 out of 25. The score was as follows:

F. W. King, 24; H. Duprey, 23; A. Palmer, 22; E. Kerrison, 22; O. Fisher, 22; H. Justins, 21; E. Huie, 21; C. M. Fisher, 19; C. Sinkwitz, 17; W. Andrus, 17; T. Lewis, 14; D. Gamble, 11.

The Magautrap Cup event was won by F. W. King. The scores were:

F. Vernon, 14; A. Webb, 14; F. King, 14; Andrews, 14; T. Gamble, 14; Daniels, 13; Bekeart, 13; F. Feudner, 13; Klevesahl, 13; Mitchell, 11; Duprey, 10.

Sportsmen's Protective Association.

The Sportsmen's Protective Association gave its second annual picnic, June 30th, at Schuetzen Park. While the attendance was not large, the affair was thoroughly enjoyable. The races for prizes were spirited and resulted as follows:

Race for young ladies—Nellie Burns first, Agnes Williams second.

Race for boys—Otto Smith first.

In the bicycle race, G. Rischmuller was first and Treasurer Horstmeyer second. Horstmeyer lost control of his machine and run into the crowd at the finish. No one was injured.

There were about twenty couples entered for the dancing prizes. They competed in the waltz, polka, shottische and mazourka. Gus Leiser and Miss E. Burns received first prize, George Gibson and Miss M. Mohoney taking second.

CARTRIDGE AND SHELL.

Will you be at Monterey to-morrow? If not, why not?

W. H. Skinner represented the California Powder Works at the Anaconda tournament.

Wm. B. Pringle, of Oakland, killed a fine mountain lion on the banks of the Eel river last week.

The Merced Gun Club and Fresco Gun Club will shoot a team match at the Merced tournament to-morrow.

Geo. B. Ellis of Redlands won the last shoot of the Redlands Gun Club with the fine score of 24 out of a passible 25.

At the Red Bluff Gun Club's bluerock tournament to-morrow one of the features will be a team match between Shasta and Tehama counties.

A camp of skin hunters and many carcasses of deer were found recently near the boundary of Humboldt and Trinity counties in Hettenshan valley on the Van Dusen.

We notice that F. Lipp of Marysville broke 20 straight at the last shoot of the Marysville Gun Club. This is the young man that shot so well at the State Tournament.

E. W. Runyon offers a silver cup for first prize in a 15-bird bluerock match and a gold medal for a 5-bird live bird match at the Red Bluff Gun Club's tournament this week.

The regular monthly shoot of the California Wing Shooting Club has been postponed from the 4th to the 18th to enable the members to attend the tournament at Monterey to-morrow.

On Thursday the law prohibiting the killing of deer before July 15th was violated in San Mateo county. Three persons killed a fine deer upon the Spring Valley lands and removed their prize on horseback and in a wagon without the least difficulty or molestation.

"Colonel" Lovejoy, who cleans the floating refuse from Stockton channel and McLeod's lake, saw a band of beavers under the tannery bridge on El Dorado street recently. The "Colonel" is a 49'er and remembers the time when it was no unusual sight to see beaver in the channel, but none have been reported for many years.

A possibility of the near future is a team shoot at live birds between three men of the Olympic Gun Club of this city and an equal number from Stockton. Should the match be arranged it will call for three races at fifty birds a man, one race to be shot here, one at Stockton, the place of shooting the third race to be determined by lot.

The Globe Trophy, one of the numerous trophies shot for at the recent Anaconda tournament, is shot under the following conditions: Ten singles, known trap; ten singles, known traps, unknown angles, reversed, use of both barrels; ten singles, known traps, known angles; ten singles, known traps, known angles, reversed; five pair doubles. A. Kimball of Tacoma won it with the excellent score of 44.

The Grass Valley Sportsmen's Club has fixed July 24th as the date of the club's annual dove stew. The gathering will be held this year on Van Dyke's farm, near Indian Springs. Visiting sportsmen who come a day or two earlier will be treated to a dove shoot in the surrounding country. The dove shooting about Marysville and Grass Valley is the best to be found in Northern California. No less than 1,500 doves found their way into the dove stew kettle last year, and at the coming meet it is proposed to greatly increase this number. Many San Francisco sportsmen propose to attend.

There is a marked increase in the sale of 30-calibre rifles using smokeless cartridges and soft-nosed bullets this year. These rifles have many advantages over the 40 60, 40 82 and 38-55. They are much lighter (ammunition ditto), have greater penetration and longer range; the point blank range is ten times as great and consequently there is much less danger of miscalculated range. For ordinary deer shooting, the sights need not be changed from dawn till dark. The soft-nosed bullet expands and the shock is as great as that of a 45-90; consequently your deer is dropped in his tracks.

A party of five young men from Oakland, who recently returned from a month's camping trip to Mendocino county, had a rather unfortunate experience at Ukiah. They had camped in a part of the county where game was so abundant that they were almost compelled to shoot eight deer in self defense, and of course dried the venison and preserved the antlers as trophies. They were driving home and in the vicinity of Ukiah encountered a game warden of inquisitive turn of mind who investigated their load and placed the entire party under arrest. They were taken into town with the prospect of seeing the inside of the county jail, for the combined assets of the crowd would not suffice to pay a nominal fine. They pleaded that it was a first offense and by reason of their youth and innocent appearance the authorities simply confiscated their venison and permitted them to depart with the warning never to be caught killing game out of season again.—Oakland Tribune. [We wish the Tribune would publish the names of these men. They should be made examples of.—Ed.]

THE KENNEL

Coming Events.

BENCH SHOWS.

Dec. 1-4—State Poultry and Kennel Club's second bench show, Sacramento; Matt. Coffey, secretary.

COURSING.

Oct. 13-16—American Coursing Club's twelfth annual meeting (American Waterloo Cup), Davenport, Iowa. H. G. Nichols, sec'y.

Nov. 8—Interstate Coursing Club's annual open meeting, Merced. I. F. Halton, secretary.

Still More Hot-Shot.

Mr. Johnson, Kennel editor of Turf, Field and Farm does not let up on the "mischief maker" for a single issue. The last copy at hand contains the following:

"Having cooked the dog shows in California, Payne is now playing for the field end of the game and suggests employing a judge from the East for the purpose of showing Californians how trials should be judged by the spotting system. Of course, Payne does not mention who should be invited to the slope for this worthy purpose, as it is not yet time to show his hand, but it's odds on that his axe is already on the stone. Payne could find no merit in Eastern judges at dog shows, other than those he personally desired, and it is not likely that he will be reconciled with a field trial judge not of his choosing. A field trial judge from the East would undoubtedly add interest to the California trials, but the nominators will do well to make sure that judge has no favorites and should look to the clubs to give them a man whose decision they can endorse. There are few men of this class east of the Rockies who could no doubt be induced to go to California without the aid of the manipulator."

"If H. T. Payne's English Setter bitch is really a good one why does he publish a picture of her that is faked from nose to tip of stern—a picture that resembles in many respects a canine celebrity of years ago? Fake measures, fake methods and fake pictures are as distasteful to honest Californians as they are to the decent end of the fancy in the East."

" 'Quite laughable' is 'Mortimer's report of the San Francisco Show according to Payne. Quite capable is the verdict of the fancier sportsman. Rich in his own conceit, the endorser of broken contracts cannot see that his light does not cast a very large shadow, but those without prejudice can in the language of the small boy, 'see his finish.' "

"The kennel humbug and toy sportsman of the Pacific Coast offerred to bet a few dollars that his Setters would not scoop in the specials at Oakland. This showed that the egotistical manipulator considered the judge, Mr. Mortimer, both capable and honest."

"Modesty is at last becoming a feature of the Oracle's composition. In an article with the caption 'Who the Dog Shows Help.' We fail to find the name of Payne."

Even in far away England the Kennel editors are disgusted with the "mischief makers" vile ravings. The English Stock-Keeper, of June 18th, contains the following:

"The savage and unbridled attack upon Mr. James Mortimer in the columns of an American paper has provoked an outburst of indignation from all its contemporaries. Mr. Mortimer's awards at the Oakland Show are described as 'brazen faced trickery,' 'we will not call it guessing, for guessing implies honesty, and neither was in evidence,' and so on. One journal recommends Mr. Mortimer to arraign the writer before the American Kennel Club, but if there is a law of libel in the United States he will probably prefer to give his assailant the chance of proving his words on oath or paying for them. If such an attack had appeared in England, the paper publishing it would have been served with a writ in twenty-four hours. If Mr. James Mortimer is a dishonest judge and a trickster he should be deprived of public esteem and confidence; if the writer of the attack has falsely accused him, he should be drummed out of the ranks of the Kennel world and all honorable men."

St. Bernards Improving.

You state that St. Bernards were going backward, and in proof of that, you name a number of imported dogs, the best the world ever saw, says I. W. Comey in the American Stock-Keeper. I agree with you that the imported St. Bernard is going backward, and I don't believe that in the English shows to-day, the equal of those you mention exist, as a class at least. In those days, the American breeders had nothing to show—they could not even get into the money, theirs were "yellow dogs." But the American bred of to-day is a great improvement over those shown at a time when we had the best collection in the whole world to run against.

I don't think that England, before or since, had such a crack lot as was in America at that time. We know that Alton Jr. came nearer winning over Sir Bedivere than any other imported dog ever did.

I don't "except" any litter. Our smooths are as much American bred, and a source of pride to those owning or breeding them as roughs, are to their owners, and a rough dog is sometimes the sire of good smooths. When in the past have we been able to show such dogs of American breeding as Sir Ethelwood, Ch. Duke Wadsworth (a champion at two years), Ch. Altoneer, Albron, Col. Strong, Hellgate Defender, American Cæser, Grand Master, Prince of Salem, Sir Hugh, and Demetrius for dogs; and Miss Mattie, Royal Duchess, Miss Anna, Ch. Io, and a great many others among the rough-coated class? For smooths, take the Alton-Judith litter, Rex and Victor Watch, Rex Bute, Pandora, Lady Hannay, Eulalie II., Lady Silvia, Notre Dame, Cathedral, Lady Fernmore, and so on; (I know very little of the Western cracks.)

Now, for twenty years past the American St. Bernard breeders have been working in the face of obstacles, and when we look back and see what has been accomplished by those who have given the matter close attention, I think we have much to feel encouraged over. Young breeders and fanciers should have confidence enough from the improvement that has been made, to take hold of the breed, knowing their efforts will be successful. There is no breed of dogs which holds its own, year in and year out, as the St. Bernard, and there are no entries in any show, but what they are among the most numerous. As for their drawing power, no comments are necessary.

While, as you say, we are weak in bitches, I think the American bred is coming up strongly, especially when the sons and daughters of American breds are winning over the get of imported stock. If there is any one thing that is a drawback to breeders, it is the cost and trials of shipping to and from shows. And it takes a very "sandy" breeder, as well as one of wealth, to attend all the shows. The St. Bernard is the only large breed that is acceptable to the public in the long run, and it is useless to cry them down.

The Mastiff Club.

The Pacific Mastiff Club was permanently organized on Saturday evening last. The officers elected are: President, Dr. F. W. D'Evelyn; Vice-President, C. A. Spreckels; Treasurer, J. V. Geary; Secretary, J. P. Norman.

A committee was also appointed on rules and regulations, the members of which will embody rules in its report on the standard of the breed, etc. Several applications for membership were received from ladies, as well as gentlemen, who are interested in the future welfare of the mastiff on the coast. The next meeting will be held on July 10th.

DOINGS IN DOGDOM.

There will soon be more specialty clubs in California than in the East.

Hugh McCracken, of the Presidio Kennels, had hard luck this week with Empress Juno. She whelped 4 finely marked large puppies, all dead.

J. M. Avent thinks that the pointer bitch Elgene is the greatest all-round, everlasting, staying pointer in America, not excepting that great old dog Rip Kap.

Paul Kingston, of this city, has lost by distemper, contracted at the recent show here, the Irish Water Spaniel, Phil Sheridan, winner of 2d, Oakland and 2d, San Francisco, 1897.

H. A. Wegener has purchased of F. E. Miller the winning cocker puppy, Dufferin Pastime, by Viscount—Polly Pastime. This is, in our estimation, the most promising puppy ever raised in this State.

Judge Davidson will judge the International Field Trials at Mitchell's Bay, Ontario. This is the man the "Mischief-maker" says does not know an English setter dog either in the field or on the bench.

Mill Valley in Marin county can fairly claim the distinction of having more English pug dogs than any place of like population in this country. Apparently every family possesses one or more of the bred.

W. R. Lewis' (Honolulu, H. I.,) fox terrier dog Devastation, by Defender—Dulcenia, has sired his first litter of pups, the bitch Trix, owned by Captain Smyth, having whelped on Day 31st three dogs and two bitches by this dog, all of which are beautifully marked.

Frank Richards, the veteran handler, is now close to Manitoba with a string of dogs belonging to the Del Monte Kennels, Waverly, Miss. He has had some good ones during the past, but he never had five as good as Sam T. Tick's Kid, Tick Boy Jr., Minnie's Girl and Fury.

No doubt the following will astonish some of the Easterners who doubt the gameness of the fox terrier, but as we know it to be true, we therefore give it space in our columns. The fox terrier bitch Gyp and her daughter, Lathrop Monkey, recently killed a coyote in San Joaquin county.

The entries to the Pacific Coast Field Trials Club's annual Derby number nearly, if not quite, as many as last year. On Thursday afternoon, as we go to press, there are over twenty, with the mail to hear from, and it is proverbial that dog owners always wait until the last gun is fired before they enter.

Chas. Dresser brought us for inspection on Wednesday Dr. Fuller's Great Dane, Bill Nye, one of the largest Danes we have seen in California. The market for some breeds of dogs may be poor just at present, but this does not apply to Dresser's Danes, as he has the entire prospective litter of Belle II and Prince already sold.

If the Oakland Kennel Club does not commence to work pretty soon, we have it on good authority that charges will be brought against them. The merchandise prizes have not even been awarded, let alone the medals and trade bills. There is no excuse for this; the club either made money or lost but the merest trifle, and the affairs of the show should have been wound up long ago

A beautiful cocker spaniel, owned by R. E. Weeks, of Portland, Oregon, was recently caused a great amount of suffering through the thoughtlessness of one of its master's friends. The person was in Mr. Week's store one day, and was playing with the dog, which is a favorite of his. He happened to have a small rubber band in his hand, and, after trying to slip it over the dog's nose, as it was sitting up on its haunches, he finally slipped it over the animal's foot, and went off, supposing that the dog would at once pull it off. The band sank in among the hair, so close to the skin that the dog could not get its teeth under it, and there it stayed. In a day or two the dog began to go lame, and kept getting worse and worse, and finally a raw sore appeared around the base of its foot. The poor animal licked the sore, and whined, and Mr. Weeks, who knew nothing about the rubber band, coulk not imagine what was the matter with it. At last the sore became so painful that the dog could not eat or sleep, and cried all night. So Mr. Weeks sent for a veterinary surgeon. In his examination and probing of the wound he discovered the rubber band, which had cut through the skin and was down to the bone, with the wound healing over it. It was impracticable to remove it, so it was cut, and the contraction of the rubber caused such intense pain that the dog could not be held. Just whether the wound will heal with the rubber under the skin or whether it will be sloughed out remains to be seen, but the cutting of the band has given the poor dog great relief. The person responsible for the dog's torture felt very, very sorry when he learned the result of his thoughtlessness.

2:13 CLASS, PACING, PURSE $500—To close September 2d.

Additional TROTTING and PACING races announced later, including a 2:10 PACE and 2:10 Trot.

Conditions.

All trotting and pacing races are best three in five unless otherwise specified; eight to enter and three to start in all trotting and pacing races, but the Board reserves the right to hold a less number than eight to fill, by the deduction of the entrance money from the purse for each horse less than eight. In record-bar races eight must stand after the barred horses are out. Same right reserved to start less by deduction as above.

Entrance fee in all purses, unless otherwise specified, 5 per cent. with an additional 5 per cent. from winner of money in classes where number of entries is eight or more. In 3 in 5 classes where there are less than eight paid up entries, 5 per cent. additional will be required from starters. Five per cent. of entrance money to accompany all nominations or satisfactory security required. Trotting and pacing purses, 3 in 5, divided at the rate of 50 per cent. to the first horse, 25 per cent. to the second horse, 15 per cent. to the third horse and 10 per cent. to the fourth.

In heat dashes, unless disqualified, all entries are entitled to start in the first three dashes, but in the fourth dash only non-winners of first money shall start. If less than three remain eligible to start in the fourth dash, it shall be declared off.

A horse not within 100 yards of the winner (except where 8 or more start, then 150 yards) in any heat shall be declared disqualified from starting in any subsequent heat of the same event, but shall not forfeit money previously won. The time between each heat shall be 25 minutes. One-half the entrance money in heat dashes must accompany nominations.

A horse winning a race is entitled to first money only, except when distancing the field then to first and fourth moneys.

The Board reserves the right to change the hour or date of any race, except when it becomes necessary to ante-date a race, in which instance the nominator will receive three days notice of change by mail or address of entry. Right reserved to declare off or postpone any or all races on account of the weather or other sufficient cause.

Entries not declared out by 5 P. M. the day preceding the race, will be required to start, and declarations must be in writing and made with the Secretary of Course at the Track. Any horse not declared out and failing to start will be fined $50.

In all races riders and drivers will be required to wear caps and jackets of distinct colors, which must be named in their entries.

If less than three horses to start, the Judges may declare the race off. A lame or disabled horse barred from starting in any race.

Right reserved to alternate heats of any two classes to finish day's racing.

Any race that may be started and unfinished on the last day of the meeting, may be declared ended and money divided according to rank of horses in the summary.

When more than nine declare to start in any race, the Board reserves the right to divide the starters into two fields by lot, and to start them in a trial heat, one mile dash. The first four horses in each trial to compete for the purse, which shall be decided by mile heats, best two in three.

A horse making a walk-over entitled to only the entrance money paid in. Horses whose gaits have been changed not eligible to classes more than five seconds slower than their record at either gait.

Otherwise than specified in these conditions, National Trotting Association Rules to govern trotting and pacing.

Notice to Horsemen

Having advertised "Formulas" for the preparation of "Eight Different Horse Remedies," including "Kitchel's Liniment," "Wind Puff Cure," etc. in all the leading turf and stock journals, I want any and all persons who purchased "Formulas" from me and did not find them just as represented in every respect to make it known in this paper, as I wish to know "openly" how the public appreciate my efforts to benefit them, as I have mailed these "Formulas" to every State in the Union. Now, I have been in the horse business 20 years, and have in my possession three "Formulas." One for the prevention of masturbation in stallions, a perfectly harmless remedy that may be taken by man; it makes a stallion strong and ready to race; no shield s ever used. Another "Formula" is to prevent a mare from coming in heat during the racing season; it keeps her strong and ready to race. The other "Formula" is a stimulant, making a dunghill quitter last like a game race horse. They blow out quickly and stay up every heat. These remedies can be prepared at a moderate cost by anyone, and I will gladly furnish testimonials from some of the best horsemen in the world that have used them and are glad to recommend them. If any reader of this paper wishes either or all of these "Formulas" I shall be glad to mail any one of them for $2.00, or the three for $5.00, with full and complete directions for preparing and using them. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded. Address,

VIVA LA

BY WHIPS, SIRE OF AZOTE, 2:04 3-4, COBWEBS, 2:12, AND SEVERAL OTHERS IN THE LIST

FIRST DAM—JOE VIVA, by Joe Hooker.

SECOND DAM—LADY VIVA, by Three Cheers (dam of Electioneer Rex, showed when a two-year-old quarters in 36 seconds.)

FOURTH DAM—LADY LANCASTER, by imp. Monarch. The dam of Malcolm Regent, Ontario and several other winners. Marion, the dam of Emperor of Norfolk, El Rio Rey, Yo Tambien, and several other high-class race horses, is by Malcolm, and the breeding of Viva La-Electioneer, combined with strains of thoroughbred which have shown adaptability to acquire trotting action, is now greatly fancied by intelligent breeders.

VIVA LA is sixteen hands high, a rich seal brown in color and more than usually handsome, combining muscular power and quality in an eminent degree. He was trained a little in his yearling form and showed a 2:40 gait and was improving rapidly when his training was suspended. He can scarcely fail on the right sort of mares to get fast trotters, and with nearly a certainty of securing good-sized, fine-looking horses which even in these times are in demand.

LIMITED TO TWENTY-FIVE MARES.

ALTAMONT is the champion sire of 2:10 performers, being the only horse living or dead with six to his credit. He has taken a leading position among the foremost trotting sires of the country under such conditions that phenomenal ability alone has saved him from oblivion. A very small proportion of his progeny has been trained, and an extremely small number of these by competent men. As a partial illustration of his meagre advantages, it may be stated that he has never produced a colt from a pacing-bred mare, or from one with a fast record. Nor has he ever yet been crossed with a descendant of George Wilkes, Electioneer, Dictator, Sidney or Dexter Prince. Oregen and Washington have produced seven 2:10 performers, and EVERY ONE of these are ALTAMONTS.

ALTAMONT is a horse of iron constitution, and at twenty-two years of age is in the full vigor of his prime, a sure foal-getter, and, except for his blindness—the result of an accident—is without blemish. He has never sired a sorrel, all of his colts having been solid colors—bays, browns or blacks. He is now located in Alameda, at Herbert's Stables, on Sherman street, between Santa Clara and Central avenues. Alameda local S. P. and Narrow Gauge trains from San Francisco, stop within two blocks of stable, and Oakland and Alameda electric cars, half a block away. Residence two doors from stable.

No stallion of his age and record has such a showing for early and extreme speed. Four three-year-olds with records better than 2:15. Out of 73 mares bred to him in 1896, 70 have proven with foal.

McKINNEY 2:11 1-4 was foaled June 12, 1887, sired by the great Alcyone (son of George Wilkes, and Alma Mater, the famous broodmare by Mambrino Patchen), dam Rosa Sprague, by Gov. Sprague, 2:20½, he by Rhode Island, 2:28½, out of Belle Brandon (dam of Amy, 2:20¾, Gov. Sprague, 2:20½, Wilmar, 2:29¾), by Hambletonian 10; grandam Jenny, by Young Bacchus (thoroughbred); great grandam Worden mare, by Exton Eclipse (thoroughbred). The second dam of McKinney was Rose Kenney (dam of Messenger Chief, sire of sixteen in 2:30 list) by Mambrino Messenger, one of the strongest-bred Messenger studs in the Registry. Third dam J. I. Kenney mare, dam of Gen. G. H. Thomas (sire of seven in 2:30) by Mambrino Chief 11. Fourth dam Jesse Bryan mare, by imp. Napoleon (thoroughbred). Fifth dam by Tempest (thoroughbred).

McKINNEY 2:11 1-4 is 15.2½ hands, weight 1140, and is one of the most perfect-made horses in America, having plenty of bone and substance. He started in twenty-eight races and won twenty-five of them. His reputation as a game and consistent performer is world wide. As a sire the few of his progeny that have been handled for speed have demonstrated that they inherit all his extraordinary good qualities.

☞ In case mare does not prove with foal, I agree to give a return service free next season if the horse is in my possession. In case he is not, I will return one-half the money paid. Mares shipped to 16th Street Station, Oakland, will receive prompt attention. The best care taken of mares, but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. Pasturage $5 per month. We defy the Experts

We have demonstrated, experts admit, and every one is convinced that Genuine White Topaz cannot be detected from real diamonds. White Topaz is the stone you have read so much about. The one that has fooled the pawnbrokers. Place them side by side with genuine diamonds and no one can tell the difference. We have sold thousands of these stones at from one to ten dollars, but in order to introduce them quickly as well as to find out the advertising medium best suited to our business, we make this

We will send you a beautiful, brilliant, genuine White Topaz, which can be mounted in a ring, scarf or necktie pin, stud, cuff buttons, locket or pair earrings, like any article in this border on receipt of.....
These stones are exactly the same as those we have advertised at one dollar.

This Offer for a Few Days Only

Cut out this advertisement and send it to us together with 25c. in coin or stamps and we will send you a White Topaz by return mail; a stone that you can be justly proud of and one that positively cannot be detected from a real diamond. In ordering, be sure and state whether small, medium or large stone is desired. NO ORDER FILLED UNLESS ACCOMPANIED BY THIS ADVERTISEMENT.

GENUINE WHITE TOPAZ

bears no relation to other so-called imitation diamonds no matter under what name they are advertised. They are the hardest of semi-precious stones, impossible to detect from real diamonds and warranted to retain their brilliancy. All others pale to insignificance when compared with White Topaz.

OUR GUARANTEE:
We warrant each and every Topaz to retain its brilliancy and the mountings to give perfect satisfaction.
We will give you One Thousand Dollars if you can show that we have ever refused to replace a White Topaz that was returned as unsatisfactory.

DIAMONDS DUPLICATED IN WHITE TOPAZ.
Royalty and the four hundred who own celebrated and costly diamonds set in necklaces, tiaras, brooches, bracelets and girdles, keep them in burglar proof vaults, while they wear in public the exact duplicates in White Topaz and no one ever detects the difference.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME..... Don't Miss It.
Send us Twenty-five Cents in coin or stamps and you will be delighted with the White Topaz that you receive.

MONEY REFUNDED IF GOODS ARE NOT SATISFACTORY.

A Plea for the American Trotter.

[Written for the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN]

In the face of the present critical times and the fact that horses are still being imported to meet the demands of certain classes, it becomes the duty of every lover of our trotting stock to inquire into the causes of the decline of public interest in the breeding as well as the development of our native trotter and to seek measures which will reinstate him in the esteem of the general public.

An eminent French authority, in speaking of that wonderful race of Percheron horses, says "the horse is as much, and more, the son of the soil upon which he is foaled and reared as he is of his sire and dam." And elsewhere he states that the national traits of a people become indelibly imprinted upon the character of their horses. It is indeed the immediate contact with man that makes a horse a noble animal.

European authorities may have hesitated to acknowledge the native trotter as a distinct type, but of late the exportations to Germany, Astoria and France have aroused the people there to the fact that this nation is well adapted mentally and morally for raising a superior type of horses, remarkable for swiftness, intelligence and courage. Our country is indeed old enough to boast of a characteristic breed of horses, a breed which, being not only the result of climate and soil, but also of the innate love of the native for the the horse, is best fitted for the requirements and habits of the people. The American trotting stock is a feature of the nation's life, and no importations from abroad can ever supplant its usefulness.

The development of the trotter has indeed surprised the whole world, and no nation has ever before applied as much thought, labor and perseverance to such a subject. Owners, breeders, trainers, harness-makers, boot-makers and horseshoers have vied with each other in attaining the best possible results, and each has contributed a large share of thought to the grand total, at present seen in our best trotters.

Yet, strange to say, the breeding and racing of the trotter has declined in importance and volume. No greater harm could perhaps have befallen the cause of the trotter than the mad desire for speed which possessed every owner and breeder, and which culminated in the fabulous prices of stallions and service fee, some years ago, regardless of size, action and weight. Without studying the deep problems of proper-mating, everyone bred every mare to the fastest stallion with the longest pedigree. It was virtually pedigree and time breeding. The result of this promiscuous breeding is felt to day by the presence of a large quantity of nondescript horses, too small for use and too slow for racing.

Low prices have taught a great lesson, and a reaction is noticeable. The demands of Europe, where size, weight, action and beauty is highly prized, and the presence here of so many undereized and useless horses have awakened breeders to the necessity for greater development of individuals with size, strength and uniform conformation.

If there is one quality which the originators of the trotter had continuously in mind, it is his utility. It was the aim of the old school trotting-horsemen to rear a safe and staunch horse, strong enough to pull a load at speed and tough enough to measure long distances in good time. And so long as this policy was pursued the horsemen proper were encouraged by the farmers and their united efforts gave the breeding interests a great impetus. But when in time all other considerations, save speed, were thrown to the wind, and when the horses became lighter and less useful for ordinary purposes, and when by crosses with the excitable thoroughbred the safeness of the trotter became impaired, the farmer and the horsemen proper parted company. And to-day we lament the indifference of the agricultural classes toward the trotter, and find to our great "financial" sorrow the attendance at speed trials is very, very small. The aversion of the farmer to racing is manifest and it behooves us to bring about a reconciliation.

At bottom of all horse-breeding establishments stands the small farm. The small farmer, and not the wealthy breeder, is the bone and sinew of all breeding interests; and if the American trotter is to fulfill his mission of becoming a distinctly national type of a horse, known and loved everywhere for his intelligence, his strength and beauty and his utility, some way must be found to enlist the small breeder in the ranks of the trotting-horse men, and encourage the farmer in every possible way to remain true to the breeding within well-established trotting blood lines. We must give him such inducements to breed the heaviest trotters that not alone his interests are promoted, but those of the native breed likewise.

Owners and trainers of fast trotters should not so readily assert the opinion that only rich men can raise the trotters successfully. They may be better able to race them, but they cannot raise them as well. Great horses, like great men, spring from lowly surroundings, where work and activity impart vim to the offspring, and where the unremittant care and personal attention of the owner and a colthood free from pampering, build up the absolute confidence, the health and energy of the horse thus raised by hand. It is the mental influence of the man himself that shapes the individuality of the horse, before foaling as well as afterwards. The most intelligent and courageous horses are often made so by early and close contact with a kind, yet firm, master, and no large breeding farm can possibly bestow as much care upon each colt, nor can it imbue him with that bold confidence which only a master and owner can impart. The numerous large breeding farms must and will disappear before the trotter can be recognized as the useful and stout horse he was intended to be by his advocates. Great horses, like great wines, can only be raised and made in small lots. What wealth cannot do the small breeder can, for it is not the means but the talent that sells.

The owner's mind and disposition must, as it were, be stamped upon the character of the colt, and thus only will it grow up to be kind, patient, plucky and willing.

The point of utility entering so largely and justly into the breeding of the trotter makes it possible, or should make it possible, for the farmer to accept him as the type of a horse fit for his own purposes and the demand of larger towns. But there is a gulf between the tiller of the soil and the so-called horsemen, a gulf which the mad desire for speed and speed, regardless of size and vigor, seems to have so widened. Something must be done to reconcile the two classes in their common interest. While on the one hand the praiseworthy efforts of the trainers of the fast trotters should be recognized and appreciated, on the other hand, the man who raises the oats for them should not appeal in vain to the sense of the breeder for a more useful and less nervous class of horses. Upon this broad ground of common interests rests not only the support and attendance of the agricultural classes but also of the respectable inhabitants of town and village.

In this republic we should uphold the democracy of the trotting trade, the sport should be "of the people and for the people." The wealthy breeders can not, so long as our democratic institutions last, and the trotter remains the pet of the nation, make trotting a pastime of their own; and the time is now, if it ever was, when the journals devoted to the industry should not, as has been done, warn the farmer against the raising of trotters, but should advise them to remain true to these blood lines in all their breeding ventures.

The key to the whole problem of interesting the farming classes as well as the town people in harness contests lies in the re-classification of our trotting stock.

The farmer ridicules the 2:30 "standard," and moreover is apt to denounce racing as corrupt and immoral, because to his mind it is mere sport without an element of utility. Of what use is a horse to him, he argues, whose only distinction recognized in the stud book is his record and pedigree, and whose weight-pulling capacity is taxed with no more than a 35-pound sulky and 150-pound driver? He considers his own needs first and gives no thought to the moral and mental development of the trotter under an honest and intelligent trainer's management. While he insists on size and weight, he should not disdain the efforts of the trainer to test the courage, the vigor and the constitution of his charges. For every truly useful horse combines size with vigor, intelligence with endurance and weight with elegance. And though the course pursued by the farmer and the trainer are apparently opposite in purpose, they are one in intent. Upon a proper combination of their interests rests the future of our trotting stock, and not until standard registration ceases to be based on the 2:30 mark will our breeding interests receive popular support and recognition.

While for the light and fast trotter 2:30 is too slow a mark, it becomes a great feat for the heavier classes; and simple justice to all breeders demands that size and weight should be made part of registration, so that the student of the register could get readily a better idea of the merits of the individuals under discussion.

A large horse is sadly handicapped by a small one in point of speed, and the idea of utility is so relative that the only possible way out of this confusion is to classify and register the trotters not only by their ability to go a mile in 2:30, but by their weight and size as well. This plan, it seems, should meet with approval from all breeders, both of the light and the heavier trotting stock, and such an agreement alone can put the breeding of our trotter on a firm and lasting basis. The three-fold division into light, medium and heavy trotters with corresponding marks of speed, would not only satisfy public opinion but would facilitate judgment and relection. This sensible and judicious classification alone is the salvation of the trotter, for it will reunite the agricultural classes with the trotting horse men proper. It will lead the way to better endeavors on the part of small but gifted breeders to remain true to trotting bloodlines, and the tracks of the land will be able to offer exhibitions and prizes that will attract throngs of people while now the attendance consists mainly of owners, trainers and professional betting men. The American trotter for utility, and instead of being the rich man's pet, like the irrascible and nervous thoroughbred, he will become the poor man's staff. The gates will not be flung open in vain and women and children will grace the exhibitions with their delightful presence, and the over-strict business men will become less critical in their judgment of legitimate trotting racing.

There is, to my mind, no other method by which the interest in our native type of horses can be so fully revived and so fully sustained hereafter. In France such action would readily be taken by the Government, but here in our great republic, where paternalism is so much tabooed, a private enterprise, such as the American Trotting Register, could accomplish a great deal of lasting good for the breeding interests.

Why should horses be still imported to this land of ours? Is it not extensive enough to supply all wants? Are not its citizens intelligent enough to meet these demands by selection from native stock? And if there is anything wrong with our trotting stock, why can it not be so classified and its proper breeding be so encouraged as to satisfy all classes, save the Anglomoniacs?

I once saw a teamster, before starting a very heavy load, go up to the head of each of his six horses and stroke and pat them caressingly. He seemed to say a few words to each, and when he resumed his seat and had taken up the lines slowly he called each horse gently and assuringly by name, and they responded grandly. Their confidence in their master was absolute, and the load was started at the first steady strain. So much can kindness of disposition on the part of man bring about with horses. This teamster was surely a genuine horseman, such as, it may be justly claimed, this country seems to have brought forth many. From such a type of men has sprung our trotter, and the time will come when the American trotter in all his shades of conformation, weight and size in the different sections of this great republic will possess the marked characteristics of mildness, patience, honesty, courage, endurance and intelligence.

May the day also come, and that soon, when the trainer and the farmer will not work in opposite directions, but will recognize their common interests. Such a harmony of action can only be effected by the abolition of the 2:30 standard and the re-classification of trotters aceording to speed in connection with size and weight. This alone will guarantee a safe as well as a bright future for our American trotter.

FIDELIO.

DR. C. G. BULL, I. L. Borden, Charles S. Neal, Judge Ellsworth and Secretary Gardiner composing the executive committee of the Alamada Driving Association met recently in H. P. Moreal's real estate office. Considerable business was transacted. Four members were elected to membership. Provision was made for the admission into the association of honorary members. A great many gentlemen drivers live at distances from Alameda which does not permit them to enjoy the use of the track and they merely desire to join the association for the honor of it. Hereafter these horsemen will be admitted into the local organization upon the payment of $20 initiation fee. They will not have to pay one dollar a month dues as do the regular members. Horsemen racing in Alameda, Oakland, Fruitvale or Berkeley cannot take advantage of this rate. Further arrangements were made for the race meet which will take place next month. The date was fixed as July 17th. There will be two races—a trotting and pacing race. Others will be decided upon at the next meeting.

ANACONDA RACES.

MONDAY, JUNE 28.

The heavy downpour Sunday and this forenoon made the track a veritable sea of mud, but the prevailing conditions did not upset calculations to any alarming extent, although it affected the attendance.

The winners were Ruby Messenger, May B. Shellac, Daylight and Vitringa. It was another gala day for the backers of favorites, and it was not until the fifth race that the unexpected happened. The wise division could see nothing but Quicksilver and the peculiarly-named I Don't Know, as both enjoy a great reputation as sprinters. Vitringa furnished the surprise and beat out Quicksilver in a fast race, considering the muddy condition of the track. This was a sensational win, not only on account of the long odds, but for the fact that Vitringa started for the first time yesterday. He is a dark-brown three-year-old colt by Child of the Mist, and carried the well-known copper and silver sleeves of Marcus Daly. Another feature of the day's sport was the win of the first Montana youngster to face the barrier. Montana was a great race horse in his day, and annexed many of the classic events of the American turf before he was retired to lead the stud at Bitter Root Stock Farm, and it was exceedingly gratifying to the admirers of the hero of many a hard fought battle to see Shellac gallop in a winner in the two-year-old race. Shellac is a racy-looking filly, and proved herself to be a true mud lark, and is certainly destined to add fame to Montana as a breeding State.

TUESDAY, JUNE 29.

The admirers of harness racing in Montana saw perform the fastest pacer ever hitched to a sulky in Montana. Kate Medium would justly be accounted a sensational performer on any track in America. Over a course four seconds slow to the mile the pacing wonder from Colorado stepped a third mile in 2:13½, and many good judges expressed the opinion that the world's pacing record for mares will be lowered before the present meeting is over.

The talent had the 2:17 trot sized up correctly. There were nine starters, but Chris Peterson was an even money favorite all over the field. The favorite made a bad break in the first heat which was taken by Caryle Carne, the gray gelding in Andy McDowell's stable. He was not fancied to any extent and, in consequence, the mutuels paid $23 75 straight and $9.25 for the place.

The third, fourth heat and the race was easily taken by Chris Peterson, who had speed and stamina to spare.

The fields in the three running races were not especially well matched, except perhaps in the three-furlong dash. The one and one-sixteenth mile race proved a gift for Daylight, the 1 to 2 first choice. Sylvester went out in the lead, but distance is apparently not his forte. When Ames got ready he cut Daylight loose and he won in a romp from the old steeplechaser, Mestor.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30.

Portland, Butte and San Francisco hooked up in the free-for-all pace out at the track to-day. The event furnished a most decided upset, and when the last heat had been paced victory perched on the banner of Pathmont, the slowest of the three starters, but the one possessing the most stamina. The three-year-old trot served to introduce the most promising filly Improvidence. She clearly outclassed her field and trotted the second mile in 2:20 flat—quite a performance for a young miss in her first essay on the track. She is a handsome appearing filly by that young sire of extreme speed, Prodigal, and is destined to get down well in the teens before the present meeting is over. The winners of the four running races were Barney Schreiber, Ostler Joe, Jim Bozeman and McPryor. The attendance is picking up with each succeeding day, while betting was active all the aiternoon, considerable money changing hands on the day's sport. Fellfare was a strong favrorite in the free-for-all pace and sold for $25 against $12 for the field. Towards the close of the betting the field took an upward jump and finally brought $20 and $25.

THURSDAY, JULY 1.

The free-for-all trot was not as interesting as it was expected it would be. The old favorite Klamath was beaten easily in very poor time, for him, as 2.21 and 2:16½. Klamath broke badly and Stam B. scored a victory that was not hard. The first race, the 2:29 pace, was a surprise in being much better than was expected. Keating's Searchlight won three straight heats, and much to Mr. Keating's annoyance his horse got a mark of 2:13. That Searchlight was not a favorite is shown by the fact that in the first heat mutuels paid $61.75.

SATURDAY, JULY 3.

Two accidents had a tendency to mar the sport out at the track this afternoon, but fortunately neither resulted fatally. The winners were American Jay, Lena N., Open Doors, Isador, Butte and Mestor. Pre-eminently the greater part of the sport was the debut on the American turf of a high-class colt who is destined to figure in some of the classic races of the year and who gives every promise of carrying the copper and green of Marcus Daly in the Futurity of 1897. Reference is made to Grand Sachem, who finished second to his stable companion, Open Doors, in the Ogden Stakes, at five furlongs. A Tammany ran first and second, but the race left no doubt as to the merits of the two youngsters. Grand Sachem could have won by fully eight or ten lengths if he had not been eased up at the finish to enable his stable companion to win on the post by a head. The grand showing made by Grand Sachem is a matter of congratulation, as he was foaled and bred in Montana. He is by Tammany, son of Iroquois, the only American colt to win the classic English Derby, while his dam is Belinda, by Kingfisher, a son of Lexington, dam Bellona, by imp. The Ill-Used.

The first accident was in the second heat of the 2:12 pace. The sextette were sent off on very even terms, but Lena N., who is lightning away from the judges' stand, paced out in the lead. As the sidewheelers were about to negotiate the first turn a cry of horror went up from the grand stand, as they saw a bad collision. Pathmont, Ophelia and Kate Medium were almost abreast, with Ophelia in the lead in the center, but towards the outside of the track. Ophelia broke some part of her harness and stumbled over, Kate Medium crashing into the wrecked bike. Colburn was thrown forward with great force and was badly injured Johnson, the driver of Ophelia, miraculously escaped without injury. The injured owner of Kate Medium was sent to the Montana Hotel in a hack. Lena N. and Bill Frazier naturally had the heat between themselves. Harry Wise's mare held her lead to the end, although Bill Frazier got up dangerously close at the finish. This gave the race to Lena N.

Mutuals paid: Bute, $6.85 and $5.90, and Jim Blackburn, $7.25 for the place.

Ryan Bros.' b g Mestor, by Falsetto—Woodlark, 135 pounds	Martinus	1
Mmma Mc, 132 pounds	Swift	3

Time—2:06¼.

Won easily by twelve lengths. Twenty lengths between second and third. J. M. B. fell after taking the last hurdle, when only one and one-half lengths behind Mestor.

Mutuels paid: Mester, $9 85 and $5.65, and $8 for J. O. C. for place.

FRIDAY, JULY 2.

This was a decidedly off day at the track. The afternoon was raw and cold, while scratches weakened one or more of the events. The sport was almost featureless, still a fair crowd stayed out the afternoon for the sake of speculating a few of their simoleons.

SPECIAL DEPARTMENT

EDITED AND CONDUCTED SOLELY BY

JOSEPH CAIRN SIMPSON.

"DEMON OF PROGRESS vs. ANGEL OF CONSERVATISM." } "Peter Parley" gives an account of a hot battle in which the contending forces were named as above. The vital question whether a church should be warmed by heat, artificially engendered, or the people permitted to follow the old custom of shivering it out. Foot-stoves were allowed to old women and invalids though it was held evidence of worse than effeminancy for the hale to use other methods than zeal and fervor to keep them warm. The demons won. The arch-angel, as the leader of the conservatives may be called, fainted during the service, and when she was carried out of doors so that the "eager and nipping air" of a winter day in New England could revivify her, and consciousness returned, she complained that the heat of the demon stove was the cause. Assured that the iron was cold, and that assurance confirmed by personal examination, she was still an unbeliever, though when a real winter came, and the contrast between comfort and suffering too vivid for denial, the demons were allowed to pursue their course with only occasional bickerings from those who could not be forced out of the old ruts.

Parable or true history—though from the well-known integrity of Mr. Goodrich the truth of the story is well nigh verified, it can be taken as an illustration of many kinds of obstinate adherence to old habits, euphoniously called conservatism.

Though comparatively new in this country, "bookmaking," "betting around," or whatever the system may be called, is the most ancient of all the methods of speculating on races, excepting direct wagers, viz, the backing of one horse against another, or one to win over the field.

In sweepstakes, or in races when a number of horses were engaged, it was readily understood that a person who betted against all of them, many chances to win, one to lose, had the best of the bargain, but when there was competition there, as in all other kinds of business, to secure patronage it was necessary to offer inducements to backers beyond "even money," and betting as a science received careful study and close attention. "Tattersalls'" was established in 1780, and became the headquarters of racing speculation.

But a volume, and not a small one at that, would be required to give a history of betting from the time of Queen Anne, when Tregonwell Frampton who, according to a writer of the period, "was the oldest, and, as they say, the cunningest jockey in England; one day he lost 1,000 guineas, the next he won 2,000, and so alternately. He made as light of throwing away £500 or £1,000 at a time as other men do of their pocket money, and was perfectly calm, cheerful and unconcerned when he had lost a thousand pounds as when he won it."

Plenty of "plungers" during these years, and no lack of bookmakers in England, at least, and a short sketch of the doings of the most noted of the "layers" and "backers" would entail a "heap" of research and "lots" of space to present even an outline

It is sufficient for my purpose to state that the evils attendant on book-betting are generally acknowleged.

By far the greatest evil, in my opinion, is the direct reward for fraud, and could that be eliminated individually there would be little objection to the system.

Different, however, from the controversy over heating the church in which the issue was clearly defined, there are other objections which people urge.

"A gamble," says the purist, "and all gambling must be stopped." "The world is a stage and all the people players," or something like these words are accepted as an axiom. With just as much truth I can say, the world is a gaming table and all people are gamblers. The propensity almost as widely spread as that "ruling passion" which leads to far worse results than the heaviest gamble. Eradicate one, and in a century or so the world would be depopulated; extirpate the other, and a few centuries would witness a relapse to barbarism Laws cannot be made that will keep these passions entirely within proper bounds, though they may assist in preventing gross infringement of the moral law. The Seventh Commandment is direct, "the statutes" formed on that foundation are direct, and yet in the case which has attracted so much newspaper attention within the last few days, legislative enactments may be ineffectual. But my most serious ground of complaint against book-betting can be removed without intervention of statutes, and the danger of prohibition in a great measure averted.

ABOLISH THE SYSTEM.—The abolition depends on jockey clubs mainly, on trotting associations incidentally. What the opposition? Bookmakers, of course. "The ring" powerful. It exerts a force which is difficult to overcome. A dictator that for many years has issued ultimatums that have been accepted, an autocrat with a pencil so red as to give every ukase issued a color that has compelled compliance. Acquiesce or take the consequences has prevailed on so many occasions that its confidence has never been shaken or its equanimity disturbed. The proposition to the jockey clubs has been so much money in hand, and that an amount which covers all expenses, obviating any risk, however large the expenditure in race courses, buildings and grounds, a sure return for the outlay.

Although in some instances, Illinois and Wisconsin, the offer was similar to that made by the "arch-enemy" of the whole world when he had not the title to a single acre, the present has prevailed over the future, the huge discount being hidden, millions sacrificed to gain a few thousands.

"I am far from being a pessimist. An abundance of faith that the good sense of those who are so largely interested will recognize the necessity and act in time to escape impending disaster.

Were the danger restricted to the two magnificent racecourses, built and equipped to be an ornament to the vicinity and in which the whole State can take pride, it would be enough to warrant vigorous efforts to insure them prosperity for many years to come. That on the eastern shore of the bay especially, as for twenty-three years I have admired the natural beauty and adaptability of the location for the purpose, and never lost heart that eventually others would appreciate it as well, and when in the last year "form and comeliness" kept growing and increasing, it is safe to state that not one of those who had so many thousands of dollars at stake had a greater interest or took more delight in witnessing the transformation, or rather, "to perfect nature by the subtility of art," in Newcastle's words, as the work progressed.

But great as the investments have been in these two modern equine curriculums, and in the many other fine tracks in California, even then, from a pecuniary standpoint still larger, by far, the amounts that have been put in the "horse business" by the breeders and others connected with horses. And apart from the dollars that are in jeopardy, a still greater incitement to labor for the "good of the cause" is the fervent desire that the "sport" shall be sustained, that in place of horsemen being a term of reproach it will continue to be an appellation that anyone need not shirk, and when attention is called to the many great and good men, in the past, and those of the same stamp who are still active and prominent in the "horse world," generations who follow may enjoy the recreation and include a like element in the supporters of the turf and track.

When jockey clubs resolve to get rid of this counterpart to the "old man of the sea," the work of purification can be said to be accomplished. Quite true that a small proportion of the bettors, for a time at least, will grumble at not being allowed to sit in the cold church and heartily curse "the demon of progress," though when the contrast between shivering with fear at being robbed, either, directly, by the temptation to fraud, or, indirectly, through higher percentages, and the warm comfort of "square racing" and the prerogative of fixing the odds for themselves, there will be praise, horns, tail and cloven foot rubbed out of the pictures of the innovators, and if wings are not substituted, the image of Minerva, admitted to be the proper symbol, the wisdom of the change warranting the transfer.

The "object lesson" from Oakley, presented last week, and evidence of the same kind which will be introduced hereafter, will show that the chance to win is greatly improved, the differences in percentages being a potent factor in increasing the credit side of the account. Small bettors will surely be better satisfied with 32 to 1 and 46 to 1, which the block paid, than the 15 to 1 of the bookmakers. Large bettors who, as a rule, support favorites will also find the "tote odds" more liberal than book quotations, and in place of being refused when the book is said to be full on the horse wanted there will always be tickets to purchase.

The jockey clubs in the section of Australia where the totalisator has replaced the books, have, without any question, received much larger returns. This has been thoroughly proved, as can be learned from Australian journals, though conditions there are different from what they are here.

Very little received from Antipodean bookmakers if my information is correct, and therefore a parallel cannot be drawn, but admitting that at first it is not likely that the receipts from the block will equal the sum that the books pay, the difference will be more than counterbalanced by other advantages gained.

THE 15TH OF JULY—Closely at hand the date which is quite important to harness-horse folk. Thursday next, four intervening days and after the fifth day closes it will be too late to make entries for the Emeryville, Chico, Willows and Marysville meetings. There are very many reasons why owners of harness horses should make entries, and if their horses are not of the class to make a certainty of winning "first moneys," if even there is nothing more in speed shown than a chance to get a portion of the purse they will be benefited. The inducements, when properly understood, are enough to warrant the most strenuous endeavors to "fill" all the purses. The consideration which I regard of the greatest importance is that on the success of the meetings antedating the State Fair depends a longer circuit for 1898, and in place of harness racing in California being practically confined to September and October, two additional months, and it may be that there will be a continuous repetition of trotting and pacing from June to November, should it be apparent that horses will be ready for the engagements.

The direct inducements to take part in the meetings mentioned are certainly attractive. Liberal purses and an arrangement of classes which gives a chance for horses of both harness gaits and with figures which range from 2:13 to 2:40 for the trotters, and from 2:10 to 2:25 for the pacers. Colt purses in addition, and at Chico, Willows and Marysville purses for district horses. Highly important that every one of these meetings meet with hearty support from owners. If a good showing is made at the opening meeting the effect on future harness racing in the vicinity of San Francisco will be immensely beneficial. With the exception of the harness racing meetings at Washington Park, never a gathering of trotters and pacers that performed on so grand a stage. To be in keeping with the surroundings, to vie with the spectacles presented at the race-meetings proper, there must be good fields to contest; there must be an approximation, at least, to race course methods and as little to mar the harmony as it is possible to accomplish. This is a matter, however, which can be noticed hereafter; the main work now to be done is to fill all the classes. Fill them to overflowing if that can be done, for with entries sufficient it is a "foregone conclusion" that there will be big success. And the assurance that hereafter entries can be depended upon for races, which are to be decided prior to the State Fair, will give an impetus to this class of sport, and in place of their being a dread to offer purses for pacers and trotters there will be a readiness to offer sums of magnitude enough to keep many of our horses at home which now seek other fields of adventure.

That the entries for the upper country meetings will be on a par with those named for the Emeryville purses is reasonably well assured. In fact, with a very good chance of longer lists. Not much doubt that a large proportion of the horses engaged at Emeryville will make the trip to the North, not only allured by the chance to make money, as a race a week, and still more work for some horses will be just the thing to finish the preparation for the hard battles of the State Fair, and those of a later date. Then it is probable that some of the Northern horses will be held for home contests, preferring the "fling for fame and fortune" where friends and neighbors will applaud. Years have elapsed since I was present at the races and fairs at the places which are named in the advertisement, but if the interval was twice as long, and recollection not entirely destroyed, those would be remembrances of a "real royal time." Unlimited hospitality, geniality, everything necessary to insure enjoyment, and a person who does not make the up country trip a pleasant one is wrongly constructed in some way.

The Chico and Willows meetings are managed by the Breeders, that at Marysville D. E. Knight has control. Those who know Mr. Knight are well aware that the highest encomiums would be none too high, when the merits of this gentleman are the foundation of the picture. Adjectives could be multiplied without using one that would be derogatory. So many good qualities that I am puzzled to know where to begin, and if a beginning were made at a still greater loss to know when to end.

In addition to the characteristics which insure love and respect in all departments of life, Mr. Knight is well informed in everything relating to harness horses.

Quite a large breeder, trains and trots his horses in races, ready to give money; and, what is of greater value to a man of so many large business interests, willing to sacrifice his time when it is necessary, as has been shown by his attendance at the meetings of the P. C. T. H. B. A., of which he is a director; few indeed, the instances, as the minutes will testify, when he was not present, coming all the way from Marysville to San Francisco when that was his sole business.

It would appear, from the number of horses in training, and which are still in California, that there will be a liberal response to the invitation to make entries, and I anxiously hope that the result will be in accordance with the desire.

THE BEST.—One who has been connected with race course speculation for thirty years, prominent as pool-seller, connected with bookmaking, thoroughly up in all pertaining to Paris mutuels, was in the office the other day, and while signifying his unwavering opinion that book-betting was prejudicial to the continued prosperity of racing, and that he was in favor of substituting pool-selling, whichever description thereof was the best, he held that "The Block" was not so good as "The French."

His main objection that there was danger of separating more tickets from the pad than the number called for and that it was not so expeditious.

Until there is a full report of the trial at Oakley, nothing will be known of the practical workings of the new method in this country. Even with favorable reports from Cincinnati the trial here may not be satisfactory, as it is well known that what is approved in one locality may be condemned in another. But from the favorable report of the agent sent to Europe to examine critically the methods of race speculation in vogue on the Continent, and from what can be learned from drawings and "word pictures," the test ordered is abundantly justified. That fairly done will designate whether the machine or the board will be used in the future.

SETTLED.—By the publication of the programme in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN of last week it has been definitely settled that Stockton will have a Fall racing meeting.

And a very good bill it is, trotters, pacers and gallopers being provided for. Still more in the way of novelties in the shape of "heat dashes" for certain classes of trotters and pacers, and the dates for the closing of entries are arranged so as to meet the wishes of those who are so much interested in that part of the show.

As the entries do not close until August 1st and September 2d, there will be plenty of time for comments.

JOS. CAIRN SIMPSON.

Veterinary.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN—Dear Sir: I should be obliged for advice in the following matter. I have a three-year-old mare that raced last season and this spring. From the appearance of her feet she has at some time, before I got her, had laminitas. Her feet are ringed, do not grow at all, especially at the toe, and the horn is very thin and brittle. I have just blistered her round the coronets and turned her out for a month. At the end of that time she must again go into training, so I cannot blister her again. She is not actually lame, but goes stiffly, rather more so on one leg than the other, and no doubt her feet are sore. Is there anything that could be constantly applied to the feet, such as neatsfoot oil and Stockholm tar, vaseline or glycerine, that would promote the growth of horn? Would standing for a day in clay and water have any good effect? SUESCRIBER.

Answer—Have mare shod on fore feet with thin heeled shoes, so as to give frog pressure at the heels. The point of the frog should not come in contact with rough ground, therefore have the shoes made rather thick in the center, or what are termed rocker shoes. If the soles of the fore feet be very flat, or slightly convexed, great care must be taken to prevent the inside edge of the shoe pressing on them. The inside edge must then be bevelled or concaved so as not to come in contact with the sole. Leather soles lessen concussion and help to prevent the soles (if flat) from being bruised. Apply a little of the following mixture, daly, around the front of the coronet, NOT at the heels or quarters. Should this application cause too much irritation from repeated applications, discontinue its use for a few days, or a week, and again repeat as before:

Cantharides, 2 drams,
Oil of tar, 4 drams,
Vaseline, to make 4 ounces.

A Great Success.

Col. George W. Jordan, a prominent horseman at Hawkinsville, Ga., writes: "With Quinn's ointment I have made two tests, one of which removed a saddle gall that I considered removable only by the knife. The other was an application to a small tumor two or three inches above the nostril of a favorite horse, and this also disappeared after a few applications. I consider the remedy invaluable." For Curbs, Splints, Spavins, Windpuffs and all bunches, try it. If you cannot obtain it from druggist or dealer, address W. B. Eddy & Co, Whitehall, N. Y. Price $100 per package, small size 50 cents.

Leg Wash Receipt.

Add 1 oz. ABSORBINE to 2 quarts water or Witch Hazel' This wash strengthens the muscles, removes inflammation, and a horse will not take cold or sore up. It also keeps down Puffs by making the joints strong so they will stand work. 1 bottle ABSORBINE makes 6 gallons Wash. Order it of your dealer, or send $2 00 for a bottle to W. F. Young, P. D. F., 34 Amherst St., Springfield, Mass., who will forward it, ex. paid.

TURF AND TRACK.

THE SULKY.

Stella Wilkes, 2:17¾, has been bred to Altamont.

Have you noticed the advertisement of the State Fair?

J. D., a pacer, by Alexander Button, got a mark of 2:24½ in a race he won at Crystal, N. D., June 21st.

The novelty races to be introduced at the P. C. T. H. B. Association meeting promise to be very attractive.

Jas. Dustin has taken Hodges' place behind C. A. Winship's horses. The change took place at Denver, Col.

Guy Baron, by Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼, won a good race at McKee's Rocks, Pa., and got a mark of 2:26¾ in the fourth heat.

Boodle, 2:12, has been a little "off" since his departure East, but is rapidly rounding to, and will be heard from later on.

Remember entries to the Marysville meeting close on the same date (July 15th) with the Oakland, Willows and Chico meetings.

Every man who owns a trotter or pacer should try and have him prepared for the race meetings to take place in California this year.

Searchlight, 2:13, won again at Anaconda last Tuesday. Searchlight is owned by L. Crellin, one of the most popular young men of Pleasanton.

Wm. Cunningham's Gladys defeated Thos. Hallinger's Margaret H. at Kapiolani race track Honolulu, June 2d. Time, 2:51, 2:32½ and 2:35½.

It is of the greatest importance to every horse-owners that a good list of entries be made to the meetings which are to close next Thursday, July 15th.

A writer on "The Horse Review" speaks of Monroe Salisbury and says he is an Irishman. He was born in the western part of New York State.

We heartily endorse F. W. Covey, Superintendent of Palo Alto Stock Farm, as starting judge, and earnestly hope he will find it in his power to accept.

John Rodgers has a good string of trotters and pacers at the Santa Rosa race track, and when the bell taps he will be in readiness to get some of the money.

A. L. Nichols of Chico was a visitor to this city last Monday, and reports the race track at Chico being put in splendid condition for the coming meeting.

Hazel McKinney, by McKinney, lowered her record at St. Joseph, Mo., to 2:15, and was close to the winner, Rilma, in the other two heats in 2:17 and 2:14½.

C. A. Winship was very successful at the St. Joe, Missouri, meeting, winning with Hazel McKinney, 2:15; Agitato, 2:09¼; Boydello, 2:18¼, and second with Lady Waldstein.

Railroad rates for horsemen who intend to race their horses on the California circuit have been reduced lower than they have been for any other class of live stock in this State.

The young KcKinneys and Boodles at the Palo Alto Stock Farm are magnificent individuals, and a credit to the judgment of the managers, who bred the dams to these great trotting sires.

Jas. Sullivan has the best string of horses ever controlled by a driver in California. He has eight that has records between 2:10 and 2:20 and a number of others that will join this inner circle this year.

Hon. Thos H. Tongue, of Hillsboro, has leased from Sam Elmore his fine stallion, Vinmount, 2:21, by Altamont, dam Venetia, dam of Althaia, 2:27½, by Almont 33. He will be used for breeding purposes on Congressman Tongue's Stock Farm.

Pacing Johnnie fell at Napoleon, O, and broke his neck. He paced without sulky, harness or driver and also pulled a sulky without reins, guided only by the voice of his owner, and could go below 2:20. He was owned by W. H. Barnes, Sioux City, Ia.

Wilton is the most successful sire of the year, three of his get having invaded standard lists this season. They are Wilton Boy, three years, 2:27¾; Volante, 2:25¼; Rubber, 2:25, while Clara G., 2:16¾, and Walter King, 2:19½, have reduced their marks from 2:17¼ and 2:24½.

At Combination Park, Medford, Mass., July 6, Marion Mills, the wonderful guideless pacer, lowered her record of 2:07½, made last year, to 2:05½. The little mare bowled around the track without driver or sulky, and few who saw her realized that she was making such good time.

Electant Belle, by Electant, got a mark of 2:27¾, at Louisville, Ky., June 18th. Electant, 2:27, was sired by Electioneer, out of Mano (dam of Monaco, 2:19½), by Piedmont, grandam Mamie (dam of Memento, 2:25¼), by Hambletonian Jr., etc. This is another sire to Electioneer's credit.

Dick Tilden has been engaged to train and campaign the Alamita Stock Farm horses, property of Clinton H. Briggs, Omaha, Nebraska. Tilden arrived in Omaha from Denver ten days ago and at once entered on the discharge of his duties. He will have a small string out later in the season.

Agitato, 2:09¼, by Steinway is a wonderfully fast pacer. At St. Joseph last week, where a band of twelve 2:17 pacers were pacing miles slower than their class, this four-year-old stepped a third heat in 2:10¾. He had to go in the middle of the track, the pole being deep with mud, and still finished the last half in 1:03¼.—American Sportsman.

We wish to call the attention of our readers to the firm of live stock auctioneers, Messrs. Street & Cresswell. Their business is increasing and such remarkable success can only be attributed to the fact that they are conducting their business on a "live and let live principle." They have facilities for handling over 300 horses at each sale. Sale days every Tuesday.

E. A. Colburn, who owns the fast pacing mare, Kate Medium, takes a great interest in sulky racing. He made a fortune practicing law at Colorado Springs and is indulging in the racing game for the love of the sport. This is Mr. Colburn's first trip to Montana. It should be also stated that Kate Medium's record of 2:10¼ is the second fastest made this year.

In the article published last week on the Mokelumne Stock Farm "The Home of Silver Bow," the El Benton-Grandma foal was quoted as being by Silver Bow. We are informed that it is undoubtedly by Touchet, 2:15, as this stallion was bred to this mare April 15th. The foal resembles him more than it does Silver Bow. The dam is safe in foal this season to the last-named horse.

We have been asked the pedigree of Constantine. He was a dark bay horse foaled March 28, 1882, sired by Steinway, 2:25¾, dam Kitty, by Speculation; second dam, Kitty Mills, by Burr's Washington; third dam, Lady Almack, by Almack, a son of Monmouth Eclipse. Constantine was bred at the Oakwood Park Stock Farm, his dam being purchased at the S. B. Whipple sale, June 29, 1880.

Henry Rogers writes: I have just traded my yearling colt by McKinney, 2:11, dam Beulah, dam of Lou Lane that paced second to W. W. Foote in 2:18 at two years. Beulah was sired by Altamont and is a sister to Chehalis, 2:07½; Del Norte, 2:08; Touchet, 2:15, and Coquela, 2:30. I received one colt two years old out of the same mare, and a son of Guy Wilkes and $180 in cash. The McKinney colt is very promising and will be shipped to Montana for development.

Chas. A. Riggs, the wide-awake secretary of Santa Ana, writes: The Directors of the Orange County Fair Company to-day (June 20) decided to hold the usual race meeting this October, the date depending to some extent on the action of the associations at San Jose and Salinas. If, as seems possible, San Jose and Salinas do not decide to give races, this association claims the week of Oct. 4-9. The exact date will soon be determined upon and the speed programme published.

The pacer Brino Tricks, 2:13¾, who perished in a fire which destroyed Higgins Bros.' stable at Missoula, Montana, June 13th, was in training for the Montana circuit. He was bred by Henry Pierce, San Francisco, California, and was nine years old, but still a thorough race horse and faster than his record. He won two second and two third moneys in the five races he started in last season and forced Del Norte to pace a third heat in 2:13½ over the slow Helena track.

Charley Jeffries, who drove Ruby Messenger to victory at Anaconda, is a Montana reinsman. He drove Ottinger at Stockton last season when the four heat record of the West was smashed to smithereens. It will be remembered that Iago won the first heat, but Ottinger captured the second, third and fourth in 2:09¾, 2:10¼, and 2:09¾, respectively. Jeffries has given records to Ottinger of 2:09¾, Brino Tricks, 2:13¾, Antrima, 2:16¼, Sady R. E. D., 2,16¾, Montana Wilkes, 2:17, and many others.

Horsemen begin to "wink the other eye" when they see all the big bicycle concerns in the county ordering agents to cut the prices of bicycles forty per cent. below their former selling price. The demand for the silent steed has decreased that much on this Coast and many of the highest-priced ones can be purchased almost new for $30. Bicycles may not go out of existence but owners tire of them very quickly, and when they get so cheap as to be considered "common," the reaction will soon take place.

At a sale of stock held at S. Hordern's Retford Park, Sydney, N. S. W., last month the following were sold. It will be noticed they brought very fair prices: Br c Grand Duke, by Duke Countess, $270; br c Duke Byron, by Duke, $300; b g Belford, by Judge Belden (son of Elmo) $125; b g Geo. Hall, by Startle Tertius, $100; b m Dukate, by Duke, $100; b m Dukelmos, by Duke, $90; b m Dukeford, by Duke, $155; b f Lady Dudley, by Duke, $125; blk f Ella Duke, by Duke, $185; br f Lily Duchess, by Duke, $75.

Bells Beauty is the name of a black mare at Palo Alto. She is by Electricity, 2:17¾, out of Beautiful Bells, 2:29½. Having never been developed for speed, so last year she was bred to Advertiser, 2:15½, and as a result has a very bloodlike, handsome colt at her side. His bloodlines are hard to beat. Twice to Electioneer through his sire and Electricity, and once to The Moor, Geo. Wilkes and Pilot Jr., Green Mt. Maid twice, Beautiful Bells once, Lulu Wilkes once and Midnight once. What a sire of good ones he should be?

C. C. McIver, of Irvington, has a team of bays 16 hands high, by Guy Wilkes, 2:15½, out of Daisy by Nutwood, that are destined to be the crackerjack pole horses of California. He has a three-year-old Directum, out of a mare by John Nelson, that is also hard to beat in any country. Mr. McIver is the owner of Director Prince that is now with the Salisbury-Griffiths string, and although the horse has not done much so far, strong hopes are entertained that he will return to California with several good victories won in fast time.

Edward de Cernea, of New York, last week bought of Wm. Murphy, of Cape Vincent, N. Y., the six-year-old brown stallion Belbel, by Stamboul, 2:07½, dam Mabel, dam of three performers, and sister of Beautiful Bells. Belbel won a record of 2:26½ last year, which he reduced to 2:19½ in a winning race at Watertown last week. He is regarded by those who have seen him as one of the best of the Stambouls, and his rich breeding would certainly justify high expectations. The price was $2,000. Mr. de Cernea placed the horse in the hands of E. L. Harris, of Watertown, who will campaign him through the Central New York Circuit.

Tom Keating, the veteran reinsman who has piloted many a horse to victory over the local track, cut loose a a three-year-old wonder in the 2:29 pace recently, at Anaconda, Montana, when Searchlight, by Darkness—Nora Mapes, defeated a field of all-aged horses and stepped a mile in 2:13 over a track acknowledged to be fully three seconds slow. Horsemen who witnessed the performance were of the opinion the brown colt could have completed the circuit in 2:09 on a fast track. He will probably set a new mark for three year-old pacers before the season has closed. Searchlight will probably be seen on our local tracks this fall.

J. M. Nelson has a splendid string of trotters and pacers at the Alameda track. Silver Bow, 2:16, is taking regular work and will no doubt lower his record this year. He has two Silver Bow fillies here that are doing well. When he got them they would lug on the bit in a manner that made him think they had no use for traces, but by a little patience and kindness he has them so that they can be driven with one hand easily. He has a Diablo colt, out of Grace (dam of Creole, 2:15), that is as promising a two-year-old pacer as there is in California for the work he has had. He was trotting two weeks ago but has lately taken to pacing.

In Umatilla recently, 240 horses were loaded for shipment to the Linnton horse-meat canning concern, near Portland, says the Pendleton East Oregonian. These were a part of the 2000 lot of the Switzler horses which were sold a few days ago to the Linnton firm at these prices: For two-year-olds and over, $2.50; for yearlings $1.50. The average for the 2000 was $2.00 The Wednesday shipment comprised about 30 cars, a full train, and the full 2000 will make eight or nine trains. The price paid is near that which was paid two or three years ago, when the Linnton company first went into the horse-canning business, and perhaps is a trifle below the price paid then.

In sending the copy for the Stockton race meeting C. E. Doan writes: "I hope this will settle definitely the question of whether or not Stockton is going to have races, and that others who have been thinking of claiming our date will select some other time. There is room enough for all places that want to give meetings and I hope there will be no clash on dates. All privileges will be advertised and sold to the highest responsible bidders, and from the fact that our pool-selling ordinance will be repealed, as well as the ordinance which for years has kept side shows off our streets, and everything inside the limits of the law allowed to go, we anticipate a big crowd and good prices for the privileges. Our advertisement for bids will be out in a few days. Our track is in splendid condition and many horsemen are training over it."

The Derby two-year-old colt belonging to Jos. Cairn Simpson, which was noted in this column a few weeks ago, has not been emasculated. His owner thought him worthy of being kept entire. First his breeding: Charles Derby the sire and he goes back to the great celebrity for long distance trotting the thoroughbred mare, Fanny Wickham, then on that side of the house, Steinway, Strathmore, et. al. The dam of the colt by Antevolo, second dam by Whipple's Hambletonian, third dam by Cornplanter, sire of Wm. H. Seward, a noted long-distance trotter in the days of gold. Four strains of Hambletonian, two of Electioneer, Bonnie Scotland, Trustee and other thoroughbreds of high repute. Like nearly all of the get of his sire, "Derby Day" is a very handsome colt, and his style and action could not be bettered. Altogether a "good prospect" and should there be speed in keeping with breeding and form it will be well that he is kept entire.

Quoth the Boston Journal: "For a man who has made his living and reputation out of the light harness turf, Budd Doble makes at times some very serious breaks. At one time Doble was at the head of the harness trainers, and things came his way like a landslide; but of late years he has not been so fortunate in having kings and queens of the turf in his stable, and two years ago retired from the game. Doble got into print frequently as an opponent of the box and helped carry the constitutional amendment which nearly wrecked the horse industry in New York State. Then he got out of the business and went to Europe, where he posed as the first man to ever drive in a race with a bicycle sulky. This was not in accordance with the facts. But to cap all, he lately came out with an article in which he, by inference, throws doubt on the record made by Alix, 2:03¾. He drove Nancy Hanks, 2:04, to her record, and the fact that his mark has been wiped out seems to rankle in his breast. It would hardly seem necessary that a man like Doble, who owes his all to the turf, should now try and pull down the institution which made him because he is now no longer on the top wave."

Dr. Ira Barker Dalzell has been performing some remarkably successful operations in equine dentistry. His latest cases were Kitty L., a mare once owned by Lord Talbot Clifton, and a gelding owned by a prominent attorney of San Mateo. The operation was similar in both cases. For weeks there had been a yellowish discharge from one nostril and the animal was unable to properly masticate food Dr. Dalzell made a careful examination and concluded that the last tooth on one side of the upper jaw was diseased at the root, and the crown being so badly worn it was impossible to draw the tooth with the forceps so he concluded to drive it down and out. In order to do so the animal was led out to a large enclosure adjoining his dental office on Golden Gate avenue, and, with the aid of an assistant it did not take five seconds to throw the suffering animal and place its head on a pillow of straw. About two inches below the eye an injection of cocaine was made and the skin about the size of a twenty-five-cent piece removed. Then an augur similar to those used in trepanning was inserted and a hole bored to the root of the tooth. Strong antiseptics were used, and the wound kept free as possible from all foreign substances. Inserting his finger, the doc or found the point of the root and decided as to the best method of dislodging the offending molar, so, using a blunt chisel and a hammer, he tapped the root and in a few moments had it so loose that he inserted his hand in the horse's mouth and pulled the tooth out with his fingers. The root of the tooth was found to be badly diseased, the bone all rotted away. The orifice will be treated every day and in a month the horse will be able to work, for all the injured parts will be healed. These two animals complete a list of thirty which Dr. Dalzell has successfully treated during the past five months.

THE SADDLE.

CAVALRY, a winner at St. Louis last Saturday, was ridden by little Johnny Woods.

LADY HURST won a mile race at Anaconda on Wednesday, Cogent second and Cherry Leaf third.

YEMEN, with H. Martin up, beat a good field at six furlongs last Monday at Coney Island, time, 1:14 4-5.

LITTLE BUCK, a three-year-old brother to Buckwa, won a five-furlong race at Latonia on the 29th of June.

GREEN B. MORRIS' good horse, Lobengula, won two races at Fort Erie last Wednesday—a mile in 1:42½ and a mile and a sixteenth in 1:47¾.

WOODFORD FILLY, a winner at Sheepshead Bay July 1st, is by Salvator from Miss Woodford. She beat a field of ten and carried 112 pounds.

GALLANTE, a recent winner at Latonia, is by the famous Californian, Volante, from imp. Maori, the first racer to beat 1:40 in a race in America.

LOGAN won a seven-furlong race at Fort Erie on the 2d of July, making the seventy-fourth victory, according to Goodwin's Official Turf Guide.

GREEN B. MORRIS, the veteran Missouri turfman, has been doing very well at Fort Erie, winning some good races with Sallie Clicquot and Midlight.

THE St. Louis judges last Monday declared all bets off on the Friday race won by a horse called the Little I Am. The officials proved that the gelding was a "ringer."

CENTRAL TRUST, another son of imp. Meddler, captured the Pansy Stakes, six furlongs on the turf track at Coney Island, on the 1st inst. He won by six lengths in a big gallop.

THE St. Louis Fair, noted throughout the country, will be held this year from October 4th to 9th inclusive. It is always THE fair of the continent, and St. Louisans are proud of it.

I. E. LINNELL is schooling Viking over the jumps in Montana, and the son of Herald promises well. Sylvester, who also raced down this way, is also being sent "over the sticks."

Telemeter, a bay three-year-old colt by Artillery—Adventuress, won the Provincial Handicap, one mile and a distance (250 yards), carrying 110 pounds, at the Dunedin (N. Z.) meeting.

IMP. CANDID should make a great broodmare in this country, for her half-sister, imp. Paloma, is a rare good one, being the dam of Armitage, Palomacita, Don Clarencio and Miss Rowena.

A YEARLING filly by Niagara (son of Anteros and Frailty), out of La Belle (dam of the famous Marvel, Wangannella and Blarney Stone), sold at auction in Australia recently for $1,250.

DAMOCLES defeated Aquinas last Monday at St. Louis in a six-furlong dash, time, 1:14½. Imp. Skate established a record of 1:46½ for a mile and a sixteenth at Fort Erie track, near Buffalo.

PRESBYTERIAN, a two-year-old son of imp. Prestonpans, won a five-furlong race at Sheffield, Ind., on the 2d of July, Kinsella second and Dousterswivel third. Babe Murphy ran second to Sullross.

BROADHEAD, the fast sprinter Barney Schrieber used to own, won a four and one-half furlong race at Kansas City last Saturday. Broadhead is an own brother to Victorine, dam of the great Ornament.

LIGHTWEIGHT CLAWSON piloted two winners at Sheepshead Bay last Saturday—Wolhurst, at 5 to 1, and Nosey, at 3 to 1. "Captain Tod" Sloan also put two over the plate first—Voter and Blarneystone.

LITTLE I AM, the St. Louis "ringer," proves to be Wang, and F. H. Hazenfeld, the alleged owner, has been ruled off for life. Besides, under the Missouri laws, he is likely to get a term in the State penitentiary.

MARTHA II., Tommy Griffin's fast filly, 1 to 4 in the betting, was beaten by Lillian Belle at Oakley on the 2d of July. Ed Corrigan's The Bachelor ran second to Orinda in a mile and seventy-yard race the same day.

AMONG the good horses that will be barred from running on account of the brevity of their pedigrees are Dunboy (for whom $2,500 was refused last year) and Barney Schreiber, a winner in California and recently victorious in Anaconda.

SEVERAL of the crack amateur riders complained that H. H. Hunn was not in reality an amateur and would not start their horses in the Stirrup Cup, won by Mr. Hunn's Ferrier. The Jockey Club decided in favor of the trainer, however.

BROMLEY & Co. have secured second call on the services of Jockey Fred Taral. During the remainder of the season, when the imposts will admit of his doing so, and is not needed by Marcus Daly, Taral will carry the "Canary and Black."

J. B. HAGGIN has arranged with C. Littlefield, Jr., to break and handle about forty yearlings at Monmouth Park, If Mr. Haggin continues at this rate he will soon have a thousand thoroughbreds on his hands.—N. Y. Spirit of the Times.

SUPERB, own brother to A. B. Spreckels' mare, Candid, won the Doncaster Handicap, £20 to start, 1,000 sovereigns added, at Sydney, N. S. W. Cremorne ran second and Adoration third. This is one of the big races of the "Sydney Cup" meeting.

PRIME MINISTER, who is by Westminster or Vespasian from Stockdove (dam of The Australian Peer), and who was bought during his racing career by Messrs. Proudfoot and Fletcher of 2100 guineas, was sold in Sydney the other day as a stud horse for 42 guineas.

THE third dam of imp. Maxim and the fourth dam of Rey Alfonso was Espoir (by Liverpool), a mare that was never defeated, winning ten races in England. By the way, Rey Alfonso is again in training, being in the stable of R. Hughes, of this city.

AT St. Louis last Wednesday, Horseshoe Tobacco, ridden by little "Dugan" Woods, won a seven-furlong race. Slaughter rode two winners and Stevens one. Barney Schreiber's Sorrow won at five and one-half furlongs. At Oakley the old Wildidle horse, Booze won a mile selling race.

WE are in receipt of the following from a prominent racing official: "There will beyond a doubt be a running meeting at Nevada City and Grass Valley August 9th to 14th, five races a day. Provision will be made in the programme for short-distance races in addition to usual running races."

THE Detroit Jockey Club is offering a special race for stake winners, to be run in August. The distance is to be one mile and a quarter, and Ornament, Buckvidere and Typhoon II. have been secured as entries. No horse is eligible except a winner of one of the important stake events.

ON the first day at Oakley Panmure's opening and closing price was 12 to 1, highest 20. The $5 mutuels on him paid $160 25. Pimar del Rio, in the next race, opened and closed at 15 to 1 (was 20 to 1 once). Mutuels on this colt paid $230.25, or 46 to 1. Still some claim it is best to wager coin with a bookmaker.

WE acknowledge receipt of the Bitter Root Stock Farm catalogue of Marcus Daly, one of the handsomest affairs of the kind ever gotten up, containing pictures of a number of celebrities of the turf and harem as well as tabulated pedigrees of all the animals on the farm and those that are racing in Montana at present.

J. G. FOLLANSBEE'S bay colt Murillo, by Morello—Snowdrop, won over the Futurity course at Sheepshead, last Wednesday, with 108 lbs. up and ridden by Thorpe. Lincoln II., also ridden by Thorpe, won a mile and a quarter handicap and Waltzer by imp. Darabin—Sly Dance, won the two-mile hurdle race. It was one of his first essays.

HAMBURG, J. E. Madden's brown colt by Hanover from Lady Reel, by Fellowcraft, second dam Mannie Grey (dam of Domino), by Enquirer, easily won the $20,000 Great Trial Stakes at Sheepshead Bay last Monday, carrying 122 pounds. Previous was second with 129 pounds up and George Keene third with 122 pounds. The time was 1:12 1-5. Firearm, the favorite, got away poorly.

AL ("PEBBLE") THOMPSON, the lightweight jockey who rode at the local tracks last winter, will never be seen in the saddle again. His left leg was so badly crushed by a sprinkling-car at Sheffield track recently that amputation was necessary, the limb being removed at the ankle. In the accident his left arm was also broken in three places and the scalp taken off one side of his head.

A VICTORIAN paper is responsible for the following: "Nalta, dam of Larnook, has this season thrown a foal to the Goldsbrough horse Goldreef, whose first-born progeny at the Bacchus Marsh Stud are said to be of a particularly promising order. By a strange freak, Nalta slipped a foal about three months previous to dropping her surviving pledge of affection to Goldreef."

THE sale of yearlings at Sheffield July 1st was a success. Some of the sales were: B c by Kingston—Boabdil, M. F. Dwyer, $1,000; b c by Kingston—Lady Ballard, M. F. Dwyer, $1,600; br c by Kingston—Forethought, M. F. Dwyer; $700; ch c by Kingston—Bogota, M. F. Dwyer, $1,100; b c by Kingston—Ella Blackburn, M. F. Dwyer, $1,000.

AT the fourth day's racing of the Newmarket First July meeting, July 2d, the Lorillard-Beresford stable's five-year-old gelding, Dolabra, by Emperor out of Dolinka, won an all-ages selling plate of 103 sovereigns. J. R. Keene's three-year-old bay colt, St. Cloud, won the Water Beach welter handicap plate. The race is of 500 sovereigns. The distance was one mile.

JOE MILLER, with Tod Sloan up (92 pounds) won a mile and three-quarters race on the turf track at Coney Island, establishing a record of 3:02 2 5. Lincoln II. (ridden by Clawson) was second and Counsellor Howe third. Havoc (108 pounds up) won the Sheepshead Bay Handicap, one mile. Ben Brush (128 pounds) did not get a place, likewise Ferrier (115 pounds).

ON the first day of the South Australian Jockey Club meeting (Adelaide) $75,835 passed through the totalizator. Five per cent. commission would have netted the club $3,791, but there 10 per cent. commission is charged. It is therefore easy to see how it is that the horsemen of that country are in prosperous circumstances, for all moneys over actual expenses go eventually to the turfmen in the shape of new stakes.

ANY breeder of thoroughbreds in search of a thoroughly experienced man to act as foreman of a stock farm (one who knows how to feed horses to the best advantage and make youngsters grow big and strong, who can care for the sick, in fact, do anything around a breeding establishment) can secure the services of such a person for a reasonable sum by addressing "W. S.," this office. He's had experience on three continents.

THERE is a project on foot to start another new race track in the city of Buffalo, in New York State. The names of the promoters have not yet been divulged. The plan is to form a stock company capitalized at $200,000 and to build a first-class race track. The intentions of the organizers may be all right, but the tendency to once more overdue racing is to be deplored. The Jockey Club will hardly look favorably on the plan.—N. Y. Com. Advertiser.

THE judges at St. Louis, after investigation, have ruled Jockey Frank ("Doc") Tuberville off for life. The same course was pursued in the case of Jockey Leigh. Tuberville began riding in California about five years ago, and ranked high as a horse-pilot, riding for Marcus Daly last season and winning the rich Futurity for the Montana millionaire with Ogden. The many friends of the lad in California will be sorry to hear of such a really good rider going to the bad.

FRANK MCDERMITT, owner of Walter J., writes us from Sacramento: "Wish you would be kind enough to state the fact in your paper about my horse being stolen at the Sacramento race track, June 11th." McDermott accuses one Hennessy of stealing the colt, but we are informed that this was the original owner of the horse and that there was some trouble over money matters between them. We are not prepared to say whether McDermitt or Hennessy was in the right, our information in the matter not being of the best.

ON the 24th of June, at Vancouver, B. C., W. Goudy's Belle S. won the Juvenile trot, half-mile heats, in 1:31, 1:34½, Stormont Jr. second. M. S. Rose's Primero won the 2:33 trot or pace in 2:31¼, 2:31½, 2:32½, closely pressed by R. B. Dixon's Maude Belle. J. J. Botger's Black Alder (by Three Cheers) captured the half-mile heats in 0:52½, 0:51, with 116 pounds up; Reciprocity took the second heat in 0:55. Wag was third. Woodrow and Williams' Catalogue took the six-furlong race, with J. J. Botger's Rain Drop a good second, Jim Murphy third.

AT the recent Hawkesbury (N. S. W.) meeting Mr. S. Hordern's Maldon (by Nordenfeldt—Idolatry) won the Nursery Handicap, for two year-olds, and the next race (the Hawesbury Autumn Handicap) was won by his three-year-old sister, Adoration. Hindoo, still another of Idolatry's foals, won at the meeting. The dam of these was bred when but two years old. Her dam is imp. La Trappe, now owned by Marcus Daly. One of La Trappe's foals, Tammany Hall II, won at Anaconda, defeating Los Prietos, Barney Schreiber and others. Trappean and Ft. Augustus, foals of La Trappe, are also winners.

ORMF, the famous son of Ormonde, is reported (says the London Sportsman) to have suddenly developed signs of madness at the Eaton Stud. He was fairly quiet yesterday, but it is understood that the Duke of Westminster has decided that he shall serve no more mares. Madness in horses is not a very uncommon thing, a recent case in point being that of M. R. Lebaudy's bay horse Prince Simon, by St. Simon out of Rosy Morn, who was sent to France last summer to be sold as a stallion to the Government subsequent to his victory in the valuable Clarence and Avondale Stakes, but developed such symptoms of mania that he had to be destroyed

THE Sunset Photo Engraving Company is entitled to no end of credit for the splendid work performed on the engravings contained in "Racing in California," issued late last week. From first to last the pictures are first-class. The articles on racing and the two clubs by Ben Benjamin, Luke Weatherly, Capt. Merry and others are interesting to lovers of "the sport of kings" and altogether this beautiful volume of forty-eight pages speaks volumes for California and also for those that are responsible for "Racing in California." These souvenirs are for sale at this office at 50 cents per copy, or will be mailed to any address for that sum, if sent in advance.

VOLUME XVIII of the English "Stud Book," which is just out, contains some valuable statistics anent horsebreeding in England. There are 5,239 mares registered in the volume. The export list is greatly increased, 707 mares being recorded as sold to go out of the country, principally to France, Germany and the United States. Fifty-four horses and 150 mares are credited to the United States, prominent among them being Ormonde, Gold Finch, Meddler, Ormalz, Quicklime, Order and Martenhurst. The largest stock farm in England is the Yardley stud, near Birmingham. It is owned by Messrs. Graham and includes 108 mares. Isonomy and many other cracks were bred there.

JOE TERRY, the well-known Sacramentan, generally called "the young Sacramento millionaire," who came into the racing game about two years ago with an excellent string of gallopers, has retired for good. Mr. Terry was fairly successful during his short period of racing, winning many events with Fleur-de-Lis, Summertime, Bueno, Caliente and others. It is a pity to lose such a wealthy patron of the sport, but his business interests are such that he cannot spare his time to see his horses race, and does not care to maintain a stable without seeing its occupants perform. Ab Stemler has always trained Mr. Terry's horses, which either ran in the name of the Fleur-de-Lis stable or that of Stemler.

THE reigning Grand Duke of Luxemburg, admittedly one of the richest sovereigns in Europe, is indebted for the major part of his fortune to the percentage paid to him by the farmers of the public gaming tables of Wiesbaden, the capital of his former duchy of Nassau. Whatever fortune his sister, the Queen of Sweden, possesses has the same origin. The reigning family of Baden, too, derive all their great wealth from the profits which they receive as landlords and proprietors of the famous gambling tables of Baden-Baden. Then there's the Prince of Monaco, whose only revenue comes from the gambling done in his little principality, which, however, is the heaviest known anywhere.

THE largest winning owners at the spring meeting of the Brooklyn Jockey Club, which closed on Saturday, June 19, are as follows: August Belmont, $16,800; P. J. Dwyer, $15,000; M. F. Dwyer, $13,500; Bramley & Co., $2,500; W. C. Daly, $4,700; L. Elmore, $2,4500; C. Fleischmann, $3,900; Graves & Co., $3,280; R. C. Hall, $2,500; T. P. Hayes, $3,300; A. J. Joyner, $3,600; J. R. Keene, $3,000; Kensico Stable, $2,500; J. E. Madden, $1,400; C. D. McCoy & Co., $1,500; A. H. & D. H. Morris, $8,000; F. L. Parker, $2,000; G. E. Smith, $9,700; L. S. & W. P. Thompson, $1,300; A. White, $1,800; W. B. Sink, $2,500; W. A. Chanler, $2,000; Hayman & Frank, $2,000; James Shields, $1,300; C. W. Stanton, $1,600; Henry Strube, $1,500.

WE notice with pleasure that Mr. Tom Willis, who contributes to Sydney Truth under the pen name of "Delaware," and to The Australasian as "Belelie," has undertaken to publish a comprehensive book of reference and an elaborate index of prominent race horses and sires, with Lowe's numbers attached, from the first volume of the English Stud Book down to the present day. "Delaware" revels in such work, and by circular he is asking for information concerning mares, sires, or race horses for insertion. A limited number of pedigrees will be inserted at a charge of £1. The published price of the work will be 10s 6d, and Mr. Willis promises that it will take in all Australian-bred, imported sires, and English-bred horses of note for the last two hundred years. Such a work should be of interest and value to owners and breeders.—Auckland (N. Z.) Sporting Review.

The Last Call for Entries.

There are two very important dates each year to every owner of a good horse. One is the date when entries close and the other when the races comes off. The former is ofttimes overlooked while the latter is never forgotten. In the history of trotting on this coast,during the past ten years,there has seldom been a date of greater importance than next Thursday, July 15th. On that day, entries will close for the four opening meetings of the California Circuit viz.: The P. C. T. H. B. Association at Oakland, Marysville, Chico and Willows races, and besides these, entries will close for the 2:10 class pacing, purse $600, for the fall meeting of the P. C. T. H. B. A. Blanks have been sent to every horse-owner and applicant on the Pacific Coast, and as the absent ones in Anaconda have taken away about thirty-five per cent. of the very fastest trotters this is a rare opportunity for the "home talent" to give records to their horses and at the same time earn a goodly share of the purses offered by these associations. Looking at it from this point of view,these are very important matters to owners and breeders, but there is still another view to take of this. The light harness horse breeders and all interested in this great industry have had a hard battle ever since that poor,pusillanimous, weak-minded shyster, Jimbudd, became Governor. Like every industry in California, which he could not handle for all there was in it, this one has received a set back, but he is not to hold any office in the gift of the outraged people of California after his term expires. That's a consolation.

Light harness horse breeders are noted for gameness, their staying qualities have many a time been tested and they have never quit at the quarter pole, so they determined to hold race meetings in 1897 and 1898,and when the candidates for Governor appear, if there are three in the field they will have to pledge themselves to restore appropriations to district fairs or be defeated. We want no Budds of promise; they wither and become too offensive. We have had one. Until that glorious election day comes every horse-owner, breeder and trainer in California is determined to keep up the standard and fame of our California trotters and attend the meetings, and do all they can to call the attention of the whole world to the superiority of our light harness horses. This year, the leading associations have united to give meetings, and, relying upon the support of men who desire to see the value of their horses enhanced, they have advertised the meetings comprising the California Circuit and are anxiously watching to see if the four first meetings will receive the requisite number of entries next Thursday; if so, the success of the whole circuit is assured.

The Southern Pacific Co., also appreciating the hardships our harness horse brigades have gone through, and taking into consideration the immense increase in travel, occasioned by the various meetings to be held, has announced to Secretary Kelley, of the P. C. T. H. B. A., that it will grant a transportation reduction of twenty per cent on all horses entered at the meetings on the circuit. The reductions are of course made with the express understanding that all horses shall be shipped throughout on its lines, and not by water or on other competing roads.

The Horse Show people will hold an open air show during the first meeting of the P. C. T. H. B. A., and the members and directors have promised to assist in every way to make the meeting a grand success.

As especial attractions outside of the regular programme, a committee of the P. C. T. H. B. A. has arranged for eight novelty races, which should greatly increase the attendance at Oakland.

First on the list of novelties is a time handicap. In this race all of the horses will be lined up and started from a standing start. The starter will have a list of the horses' records, and start them accordingly, giving them their time advantage. For example, if the slowest horse has a record of 2:40, the next slowest 2:35, and so on, he will start the slowest and his watch at the same time, when five seconds have elapsed he will order the next slowest, and so on until all have gone. The winner will be the one who gets to the wire first in proper style.

A four-in-hand race against time, the driver coming the nearest to six minutes, winning the prize, provided he does not break up too often,is among the specials, and there will also be a tandem race; a double-team race; a gentleman race for members of the Alameda Trotting Club, bicycle sulkies to be used, the same race and conditions for members of the Golden Gate Club, and a slow race. In this, each contestant will drive some one else's horse. This race is similar to the English donkey races that are so popular.

There will also be a special race for the sporting butchers, who generally have a speedy trotter or two around.

Remember entries for the events as advertised in this issue will close next Thursday, July 15th.

The Mistakes of Many Breeders.

Not within the remembrance of the oldest race-goer has such a number of mediocre racers contested for the rich stakes offered by the great racing associations on the other side of the Rockies as during the season of 1897. In the ranks of two-year-olds not one really high-class performer has as yet made its appearance. Firearm is the best of that division, and he failed to run one-two-three in the Great Trial Stakes, won by Hamburg. The latter had previously met with an ignominious defeat. And so it goes. When two-year-olds beat one another it shows conclusively that there is not much of the article termed "class" about any of them. In the three-year-old brigade Ornament shows out in bold relief. He is the one race horse of the year. Yet Tillo, in receipt of five pounds, ran him to a head in the Oakley Derby. In the "all aged" division we have no Hindoos, Hanovers, Henry of Navarres or Salvators either. Ben Brush won the Suburban Handicap with 123 pounds up, but the next time out failed to get "a chalk mark" when five pounds was added. Howard Mann, the winner of the Brooklyn and Parkway Handicaps, is apparently only a "mud horse." Judging this pair, by their wins of the two great all aged events, to be the best of the older lot, we are certainly "short" in our supply of high-class race horses four years of age and upwards.

The question naturally arises, Why is there such a dearth of good racing material? The answer is not to be made with ease, but we think there would be a vastly different state of affairs if the following suggestions were acted upon: Have racing associations abolish a number of the two-year-old stake races and give fewer purse or selling races for horses of this tender age. Our young racers get too much racing. What proportion of the high-class two-year-old performers turn out as well as three-year-olds or four-year-olds? A very small proportion, surely. Sensation, Tremont, El Rio Rey and French Park, unbeaten as two-year-olds, never appeared as racers when three years old and upward, and hundreds of excellent youngsters were "knocked out" in their infancy. Take our "iron horses," Barnum, Kingston, White Nose and Logan, and how many times did they engage in races when two-year-olds? The first named not once, Kingston thrice, White Nose and Logan twice. Is this not a strong argument against excessive two-year-old racing? It stands to reason that the really two-year-old, if raced to excess, will not be of much account in after years. There are, of course, a few instances of horses running twenty or more times at two years of age and racing on in a useful way until they were six or seven years of age (Blitzen being one), but they are very rare.

Outside of this ruinous racing of two-year-olds (a very important matter to turfmen, surely), another reason can be advanced why such a small number of high-class performers fail to make an appearance. That is: Lack of science among many of our breeders, failure to sufficiently study such a complex matter as breeding race horses, rushing into a business that they know little or nothing about. That failure should result in most cases is little to be wondered at. The most successful breeder in the world was Lord Falmouth, of England, and he was a great stickler for individuality. That, then, should be the breeder's first care—to see that every stallion and every mare is a first-class individual, free from any sort of disease that was transmittable, sound as the proverbial dollar, and having height and "substance." The "weeds" should be cast aside. Too often have we seen horses put to the stud of the weediest description possible, but "he was a good performer," and that was sufficient in the mind of the breeder. Another important matter not often considered, and which results in a weakly race of horses being brought into the world; that is, the using of stallions and mares for stud purposes which have been raced up to within a few weeks or months of the breeding season. Their muscles have not had time to relax. Their form is still that of an athlete. It is a notorious fact that wrestlers and prize-fighters who have in training for years, and who are married while still in their prime, very seldom become fathers of families. The same, it naturally follows, would apply to stallions and mares in training for years and who are placed in the stud before their muscles have been relaxed. Lord Falmouth only bred his mares every other year, believing that by this method the foals were stronger and consequently were started on life's journey better equipped to stand the wear and tear of a turf career. Besides, he would not allow the youngsters to be weaned until they were twelve or thirteen months old. His success proved the correctness of his theory.

Consideration of blood lines should come after individuality. The great trouble in years past, in America, has been that "you cannot get too much of a good thing." The result was that the veins of our horses contained an excess of the blood of the two great race horses and successful sires—Lexington and imp. Glenoe—both of the Herod male line. There have been cases of in-breeding resulting in the production of good performers, but they are quite rare. In some states laws are enforced prohibiting the marriage of first cousins—of the human species. Doctors consider the result of such unions with disfavor. Therefore it was absolutely essential that a complete outcross should be secured. Sensible breeders are now getting stallions with as many Eclipse strains as they can procure, and the result will doubtless be a vastly superior race of horses. Ornament, the best turf performer now before the American public, is one of the results of judicious outcrossing. His sire is imp. Order (son of Bend Or and Angelica, by Galopin, second dam St. Angela, by King Tom). Bend Or, Galopin and King Tom trace straight away in the male line to the unbeaten Eclipse. Victorine, dam of Ornament, was by Onondaga, an Eclipse male line horse, while his second dam was Maria D., by Lisbon, a grandson of King Tom, of the Eclipse male line. The third dam of Ornament was Crucifix (by Lexington—Lightsome, by Glencoe), therefore an own sister to Salina, dam of Salvator. His fifth dam was Levity, "the Pocahontas of America" so that he is bred to perfection. Imp. Order's sire is Bend Or,the Derby-winner and sire of the unbeaten Derby-winner Ormonde, his dam a sister to the unbeaten St. Simon. Onondaga's dam Susan Beane (also the dam of the unbeaten Sensation) was by Lexington from Sally Lewis, by Glencoe, another great brood mare. As Ornament has two Stockwell crosses and two of King Tom, he traces no less than four times to the great Pocahontas, by Glencoe, and his pedigree shows the names of more famous stud matrons than almost any horse whose breeding we have ever run out. Though Ornament has two Lexington crosses and six of Glencoe, he has enough Eclipse blood to make a neat division, and if breeders will have nothing but good individuals on their farms from racing families,and breed intelligently, observing the "happy nicks" that have been effected, they will attain more than a fair share of success, but under their present way of doing,good race horses from their farms will be few and far between.

Great Coney Island Stakes.

Breeders of thoroughbreds should enter their foals liberally in the great stakes of the Coney Island Jockey Club advertised in this issue. To neglect this is to be penny wise and pound foolish. A colt or filly entered in such rich events is worth at least twice as much when it comes to a sale as if it were left out. Besides, $5 carries the foal in the Annual Champion ($25,000) for one year, $10 in the Lawrence Realization for the same period. If a horse is not entered in great stake races its earning capacity is so greatly reduced, and, no matter how good a performer it may turn out, it is not worth a tithe of the sum to the owner that it would be were it entered liberally in such events.

The winner of the Annual Champion will not only put $20,000 to the credit of the fortunate owner, but will be a real American champion, for the horse is asked to go over a good distance of ground and carry plenty of weight. The winner of this race can undoubtedly be sold for $25,000, too, provided it is a stallion or mare, and thus a fortune is in sight if a breeder can be fortunate enough to rear the victorious one in the stake.

The Lawrence Realization for 1899 and 1900 will probably be worth even more from a monetary standpoint, and the conditions framed are of such a liberal character that they at once appeal to every sensible breeder of a thoroughbred in America.

Entries to these three stake events close July 15th, next Thursday, and we hope to see California well represented. If she isn't, then our breeders are short-sighted, that's all. Address all entries "To the Clerk of the Course, Coney Island Jockey Club, corner Fifth avenue and Twenty-second street, New York City, N. Y."

The Block System a Success.

"The French mutuel system, judging by the brief trial given here, is destined to become a success. Two machines were placed in the betting ring and given in charge of men who understood the system thoroughly. They explained the method or betting to the public, and circulars were also handed around giving a complete description of the system. The bettors seemed to take kindly to the machines, and the attendants were kept busy during the entire day. The advantages claimed for the machines were demonstrated in a practical manner. In every race but the third winning and place tickets paid more than the odds laid by the bookies. The machines will be furnished with an additional number of attendants to-day in order to facilitate the betting. It looks as though they have come to stay."

The bookies look with alarm at the introduction of this system, for they foresee due disaster to their thrifty calling should they be as successful here as they are in Paris. Associations will make more money, and the "sport of kings" will be taken out of the hands of bookmakers and their allies, and the breeders, owners and trainers will see the game placed on a higher level than ever.

The Stockton Fair.

The Driving Club of Stockton deserves great credit for the splendid manner in which it has formulated a programme of races for the meeting which it is to give at the famous track at Stockton. The advertisement speaks for itself. It leaves nothing to be explained, and we look for this club to receive as many entries to every event as the State Fair.

The track has been plowed, harrowed and rolled, and will be in fine shape when the races are called. For years this course was considered the "fastest" and "safest" in this State, and Mr. C. E. Doan, the track superintendent, says it will sustain that reputation this season. Entries will close August 1st.

WE desire to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Marysville race meeting to be held the week following the Breeders' meeting at Oakland, for which entries will close, July 15th. There are nineteen races in all and as the railroad offers a very low reduction in rates to all horsemen and horses this year, it will be easy for them to place their horses on the cars at Emeryville in the morning and be at Marysville that afternoon; there will be no delays on the road. From there, the same cars will convey them to Chico, Willows, Woodland, Sacramento, and on through the circuit. There are plenty of races for the slow classes and as the track at Marysville is one of the best in California and ample provision will be made for the stabling of all horses that will go there, there is not a horseman in California who can afford missing this meeting. Mr. D. E. Knight and Secretary G. R. Eckart will devote all their time to this meeting and the people of Marysville and surrounding towns will be their in large numbers, so its success is assured.

THE sale of Palo Alto horses took place Thursday and very fair prices were realized, considering the fact many of the animals were young and unbroken. The Dexter Princes brought the highest prices.

L. T. THORNE, Secretary of the Los Angeles Association telegraphs under date, July 8th: No. 1—2:30 class, trotting; purse $1,200, filled with twenty-nine entries. No. 2—2:12 class, trotting; purse $1,200, filled with fourteen entries. No. 3—2:30 class, pacing; purse $1,200, filled with twenty-three entries. No. 4—2:17 class, pacing, filled with twenty-one entries. No. 5—Double team trotting, declared not filled. The names will be published in our next issue and we take this means of congratulating this association on its plan of asking low entrance.

WM. FIELDWICK, superintendent of the Oakland track, says it will be ready for the trotting and pacing horses July 15th. It would not surprise as if fast time was made over this splendid course.

EASTER WILKES, by Guy Wilkes, was sold for $230 to A. J. Molero, of Watsonville, at the Killip auction sale, last Thursday.

A MEETING will be held at Woodland, Monday, to complete arrangements for holding the race meeting there this year.

Australasian Notes.

In the first two days of the last Adelaide (South Australia) meeting $139,970 passed through the totalizator, giving $6,998.50 to the club in the shape of commission, $3,499.25 to charity and $3,499 25 to the Government.

Bloodshot (by Maxim—Iris, by Traducer) five years old, a great stake-winner and second in the last Melbourne Cup, was recently sold by Wm. C. Yuille & Co., of 414 B. Bourke street, Melbourne, for $1,500 at private sale. Such a horse would easily fetch from $8,000 to $10,000 in this country. His tabulated pedigree is as follows:

BLOODSHOT, B H, 5 YEARS.

  - MUSKET (IMP.)
    - Toxopholite (Second in Derby)
      - Longbow — Thuriel / Miss Bowe
      - Legerdemain — Pantaloon / Decoy

Sixth dam, Flora McIvor, by Rous' Emigrant; seventh dam, Cornelia, by Grasshopper; eighth dam, Manto, by Soothsayer; ninth dam, Sister to Lynaeus, etc.

Bloodshot won the C. B. Fisher Plate at the V. R. C. meeting, and in New Zealand the Canterbury Juvenile Plate, Middle Park Plate (twice), Auckland Great Northern Foal Stakes, Midsummer Handicap, Royal Stakes, Hawkes Bay Stakes, Wanganui Two-year-old Stakes, and ran second to Newhaven in the Melbourne Cup (four years, 124 pounds) in 3:28½ for the two miles.

The executors of the late Sir Thomas Elder have instruced Wm. C. Yuille & Co., of Melbourne, to sell at the farm, four miles from Adelaide, early in November, the famous Morphettville Stud of thoroughbreds, comprising the stallions, Gang Forward (imp.), Nautilus (imp.), Mostyn (imp.), Aldivalloch, and Light Artillery; forty brood mares, including Hortense (dam of Destiny, Keera, and Hortensius), Haidee (dam of Moorite and Onward), Irish Queen (dam of Sedition, Gladstone, etc.), Lady Lovelace (dam of the famous Portsea, Kirkby, and Reka), Tarpeia (dam of Scarpia and Tarquin), Tyropean (dam of Quality, Jericho, and Ghenna), Theresa, (imp.); Miss Mostyn (imp.; dam of Mostyn), Promise (imp.), dam of Lord Hopetoun), Paigle (imp.), Primula (imp.) Fairy Voice (imp.), Sunningdale (imp.), etc. besides several fillies, including sisters to Keera, Portsea and Quality and twenty-five yearlings, by Neckersgat, Light Artillery, Nautilus, and Gang Forward. Here is a chance for American breeders to secure some mares that have proven their worth. Australian-bred horses have certainly accomplished wonders in America.

A Brisbane scribe says that Lorimer is probably the best three-year-old colt in Queensland, and expresses regret that he is not entered for the big handicaps at the Q. T. C. meeting. Lorimer, who was bred by the late Mr. W. H. Barnes, is by July from a Captivator mare named Alida. July is a brother to Sir Modred, Idalium and Cheviot, and is now at Rancho del Paso, Sacramento county.

The report of the Canterbury Jockey Club is to hand. The receipts for the year were £2,563 above any previous record. The club gave £13,000 for eight days' racing, an average of £1 626 per day. At the C. J. C. spring meeting the attendance for a single day has never been more than 9,000, yet the club last year gave £6 600 in stakes, or an average of £2,220 a day. This shows what the totalizator can do in the way of stakes.

There were a number of royally-bred yearlings sold in Australia recently for small sums—so small that it was hard to understand unless there was little more to be had in the Colonies. We are informed, however, that the true reason is that owners over there have just so much stable room (they own their own training stables), and when they add a horse to their string they are forced to sell or give away something. This is not always easy to do, hence the astonishingly small prices unless some "new man" comes into the game. Following are some of the "pick-ups" at recent sales: Sister to Realm (winner Sydney Cup), $230; ch c by Corinth (son of Musket and Onyx, latter dam of Nordenfeldt), dam Lady Helen, by Phil Athol (son of Blair Athol), $75: br c by Bowmont (by St. Albans—Pardon), dam Lady Swift, by the unbeaten Grand Flaneur, $95; br f by Lochiel (by Prince Charlie—imp. Nellie Moore), dam Pie Crust, by Martini Henry, $125; b c by Russley (by Doncaster—Steppe, half sister to Hermit), dam Legacy, sister to Legrande (by Epigram—Legend), $125; b c by Russley—Fine Lady (by Darebin—First Lady, dam of Grand Flaneur, $125; ch f by Russley—Chrysophrase, (by Rapid Bay; second dam Chrysolite (dam of Robinson Crusoe), $75; b f by Russley—Red and Black (by Exminster, $150; b f by Lochiel—Come Along, by Clieveden, $50; Auralia (half-sister to Utter, now in this country) by Lochiel—Uralia, $175; Precioso, by Rapid Bay—Gipsy, with foal at foot by Truelock and stinted to him again, $20; Tongariro, br c, yearling, by Abercorn—Ætna (dam of Stromboli), $250; Rifleits, br c, yearling, by Carbine—Ravenswing (half-sister to Sir Modred, Idalium and Cheviot), $450. [This colt would bring close to $10,000 in America]; Austria, br f, yearling, by Abercorn—Aurealia, by Musket. $125; ch c, yearling (brother to Candid, Candour and Superb), by Splendor—Canary, $450; b f (half-sister to Arsenal), by Grand Flaneur—Cross-fire, $485; b f by Far Niente—Delta, by Trenton, $100; Tranquility, yearling filly, by Niagara—Gentility, $80; Tattara sister to Narara (Goldbrough—Ethel), with foal at foot and stinted to Autonomy, $195; brown yearling colt by Splendor—Diana (half-sister to imp, Beauty, dam of Dr. Ross), $250. Many of these horses, brought to America and properly advertised, would bring four to five times as much as they would in the Colonies, and it would pay some enterprising man to buy up all those closely related to the turf or stud celebrities (provided they go back to the English Stud Book on both sides) and bring them over here to sell. Australian horses have done so well on this side that they would fetch excellent prices.

Newhaven's box on the Orova is on the spar deck, abaft the gangway on the starboard side. The box is a commodious one, 11 feet by 10 feet. Up to a height of 5 feet 2 inches the sides are padded, while the floor is covered with a sufficiency of coir mats to prevent slipping, and as a contrivance in the shape of slings is also part of the fittings, there is but a very remote chance of Newhaven being knocked about, even in the worst of weather. Around the box for a couple of feet from the roof shutters are arranged, which can be closed down to keep out water, or opened to admit air. Newhaven's manger is an artistic piece of work in its way, made of polished wood, with a movable tin basin inside. Regard has been paid to drainage by raising the floor of the box several inches from the deck. These fittings cost $1,250.

During the last three meetings at Flemington it has become the fashion for one horse to pull off a double. Blackwood was the first to initiate the innovation, followed by Ironsides, and on Monday the dual coup was successfully accomplished by Trent, who, strange to say, defeated both Blackwood and Ironsides in the Welter Handicap. This Trent (by Trenton—Sumatra) is a black gelding, five years old. He won the Birthday Handicap, one and one-half miles, fourth on the day's programme, with 98 pounds up, and then went on and won the sixth race (Welter Handicap), one mile in 1:40 flat, with 126 pounds up. Blackwood, second, carried 150 pounds in the latter and was beaten but one and one-half lengths.

Old Swagman can still gallop, and at Albury on Saturday won a six-furlong handicap carrying top weight. At the same meeting the Splendor—Canary mare, Grand Canary, who was such a failure in Sydney, also distinguished herself by running a dead heat for a race and winning the run-off.—Sydney Referee.

Battalion, after winning the Queensland Cup, two miles, with 143 pounds up, followed on the second day of the Queensland Turf Club meeting with a win of the Moreton Handicap, one and a quarter miles, 157 pounds up, in 2:11¼, and was beaten but a head for the Royal Stakes by Archie's Daughter, time for the mile and a furlong and twenty yards 1:58¼.

Trinity—Deer, Sept. 1 to Oct. 15.
Ventura—Deer, July 15 to Sept. 1. (Market hunting prohibited).

The Monterey Tournament.

The initial tournament of the Monterey Wing Shooting Club held at the quaint old town of Monterey last Sunday will long be remembered, by those who participated, as the most successful and most enjoyable club tournament they ever attended in California.

The Monterey Club fairly outdid themselves in their efforts to make the visitors thoroughly enjoy the outing. The management was, par excellence, the best we have seen and the events were run off so rapidly, that practically the tourna. ment was over at two o'clock.

The most interesting event of the seven was the match for the handicap cup and when "Papa" Carr made his 25 straight from scratch, there was not a man on the grounds that did not hope no one would tie him. Young Lipp, of Marysville, ran him close with 24 out of 25 and McCutchan, of Windsor, came third with 24 out of 26. A more popular win could not be imagined.

Mr. Carr managed the tournament with the able assistance of the members of the Monterey Club. Frank R. Day worked off the events; C. H. Rodriguez, the secretary, and Ad Gunzendorfer, his able assistant, attended to the clerical end, and Chas. R. Few handled the cash.

The two referees, Tom Allen and H. Wadam, gave excellent satisfaction. The trappers attended to their work and the traps worked very well.

The average entry was $48. We had expected a somewhat larger entry but the holiday was against it and the neighboring towns were not very well represented.

The best average was made by M. O. Feudner, but he was not the biggest winner. The best purses were won as follows: "Heidelberg" $45.60, J. B. McCutchan $39.55, F. Feudner $37.85, M. O. Feudner $34.35, C. C. Nauman $32.80.

First Event—10 birds, entrance 50 cents, $20 added; three moneys, class shooting: F. Feudner, $15.25; second money, E. Klevesahl, W. Andrus, A. Webb, C. Shaw and D. Thorm, $1.83 each; third money, D. Daniels, O. Feudner, C. Haight, W. Golcher, F. Brewington, J. B. McCutchan, J. R. Carroll, G. H. Anderson, F. H. Greeley, Chas. Carr and Geo. Clabrough, 55 cents each.

Second Event—10 birds, entrance 50 cents, $25 added; three moneys, class shooting: C. Nauman, $17.75; second money, Hinckle, F. Feudner, McCutchan, Greeley, W. Smith, T. Work and W. Varien, $1 50 each; third money, "Remington," Daniels, Andrus, O. Feudner, Haight, Golcher, Shaw, Justins, Haas, Seaver, Thom, "Heidelberg" and F. Lipp, 50 cents each.

Third Event—15 birds, entrance 75 cents, $30 added: four moneys, class shooting: F. Feudner, $18.30; second money, Hinckle, Carr and Varien, $4.55 each; third money, Andrus, O. Feudner, Murdock, McCutchan, "Heidelberg," Anderson and Lipp, $1.30 each; fourth money, Karney, Nauman, Haight, Whitney, Seaver, J. Carroll and Steward, 65 cents each.

Fifth Event—20 birds, entrance, $1, $35 added; four moneys. Class Shooting: O Feudner, Webb, Shaw and Heidelberg, $5.60 each. Second money, McCutchan, $16 80. Third money, F Feudner, Haight, Anderson and Varien, $2.80 each. Fourth money, Daniels, Klevesahl, Hinkle, Nauman, Murdock. Seaver and Greeley, 80 cents each.

Sixth Event—20 birds, entrance $1, $40 added; three moneys. Class Shooting: O. Feudner, Whitney and Golcher, $10.05 each. Second money, Nauman, Webb, Haight, Heidelberg and Carr, $3.60 each. Third money, Daniels, Klovesahl, Hinkle, Shaw, McCutchan and Edwards. $2 each.

Seventh Event—20 birds, entrance $2 50, $50 added; three moneys. Class Shooting, Rose System (Ratio, 5, 3, and 2): Heidelberg, $29.30. Second money, O Feudner and J B McCutchan, $17.40 each. Third money, Webb, Seaver and Carr, $11.60 each.

A special meeting was held on Sunday evening at the club's headquarters and Ad Gunzendorfer presented Papa Carr with the beautiful handicap cup.

The president, Edward Ingram, C. A. Haight, W. J. Golcher, J. W. Steward and "Papa" responded with appropriate speeches. The visitors thanked their guests for their royal hospitality and the party adjourned, the majority of them to dream of catching salmon and yellowtail in the morning.

On Monday noon when the salmon fishermen came in from the bay they found an excellent barbacue waiting for them on the rocks at Maccabee's Point. The "Monterey oysters" and the meat were done to a turn by Allen and Carter, and a hungry party of sportsmen did ample justice to the viands—especially that portion of the party which had used their breakfasts for bait while salmon fishing.

Long and Short Barrels.

First I will quote from Dougall's "Shooting, Its Appliances, Practice and Purpose," a work of which I think very much; and, second, I will quote from a work of which I think but little, though here and there are a few good things in it I refer to W. W. Greener's "Choke-bore Guns and How to Load Them."

Dougall says, "Thirty inches seems to have been adopted as the length combining the most advantages, and is a good average." "But so much is the method of boring altered [since the days of the cylinder-bore, he means], that length may now be said to be a matter more to be regarded in reference to the strength and style of shooting of the sportsman than to comparative power of shooting; consequently, we find what are called 'covert guns,' if well bored, shooting up to moderate ranges with a force and closeness which sadly damage all rate of length." "Shooting with both eyes open, I should decidedly advocate the use of barrels—the caliber not being greater than 12—of twenty-six to twenty-eight inches in preference to all others [the italics are mine], as having enabled me to do all that can be done in the field, in fair average shooting at general game, with guns of any length whatever." "But there must be no shutting of one eye, and puzzling the other with looking for and following the game, and keeping the gun all in a nice, correct line at the same time." "Both eyes are quite needed, and sometimes even something more would not be at all unnecessary.

To the above I will add that, this two-eye style is, and has always been my own, and by it I have dropped many a woodcock dead (in thick cover), when, had I taken time to let only one eye cipher out his line of flight, and get the correct aim, that particular bird would have given a derisive whistle, and bidden me a thankful "good-by." The old axiom that "the quickest shot is the best shot, all other things being equal," is true; and in heavy cover you don't want to take time to narrow your range of vision, or add to the difficulties by even so much as batting an eyelid.

Greener says, "For the benefit of those who have not experimented to the extent I have, I may say that shortness must be relative to the bore." "The wider the bore, the shorter may be the barrels—given a sufficient weight to resist the recoil." "I believe a 12-bore of 24 inches, will shoot as well as if 30 inches." "I am speaking of the old boring, or cyclinder; but I can see no reason whatever why a choke-pore should require much length."

He says that after experimenting with choked barrels, that "28 inches is the shortest range that barrels should be made; if wanted for extreme long range, we should recommend 30 inches for a 12-bore." "When a gun is required 6¾ pounds or lighter, and full choke, we should recommend 28 inches in the barrel, as this allows the barrels to be made lighter at the muzzle without injuring the balance of the gun."

He quotes the letter written by some one to the London Field which I give here:

"I cannot see the philosophy of having to carry the extra weight of a long gun. I asked nearly all the best makers at your 1875 gun trial if they would undertake to make a short, choked gun, but there was not one who would talk of anything under 27 inches; and only a few days ago I was talking to one of the best London makers, and he said he dared not advocate short guns (though he believed in them), for fear of being set down as a man of idiosyncrasies."

Your readers who have been questioning on this point will see that, even among gunmakers, this question of long versus short barrels has never been settled satisfactorily, even with the modern choke-bore; but I decidedly lean to the opinion of Dougall that for all ordinary game the 28 inch barrels are the best. It is true my own gun has 30-inch barrels, but I am satisfield I could do better shooting with it if it were two two inches shorter; but, as I hold that no one but the maker of a gun should be allowed to alter the length of barrels or the amount of choke in a gun, and as I cannot afford the cost of sending my gun to England and back to have this alteration made, I shall continue to use it as it now is.

I trust that what is here written will be of use to some who are in doubt, and will only add that if a gun be properly bored 28 inches will be all that is needful in length of barrels and a better balanced gun will be the result.—Recapper, in Amateur Sportsman.

Rabbit Hunting at Pomona.

Twenty-four Pomona sportsmen worked great havoc in the ranks of the rabbit four thundred or more Thursday of last week. Over the broad cultivated fields and the neighboring acres of sage brush and cactus the invading army swept with a thoroughness that left few of the "jacks" or "cotton tails" to gnaw the bark of the young fruit trees about the valley, says the Pomona Beacon.

The hunting party left town at an early hour and the sun was not much higher when the first "drive" was made on the Loud ranch. A "drive" is a peculiar institution. It is devised as a means to chase the rabbits into close quarters and allow few or none of them to escape. About half of the party spreads along a line to a distance sufficient so that on advancing the men may cover the whole field to right and left. The other members make a "stand" across the further end of the field and await the sport that comes a few minutes later. At first the guns speak at considerable intervals, but as the driving party gets nearer where the stand is the reports are heard close together. The drive is having its results, for the rabbits are running at a tremendous pace trying to get away from the marching huntsmen. But the brains of man have outmatched the muscles of the rabbit, and the speed of the latter serve to bring him the sooner into range of the guns at the stand. Now the reports come two or three at a time and with increasing rapidity. Two or three rabbits dart from the same bush and one of them is shot at by two huntsmen while the others dash through the line and on to other fields and liberty. But the combat for this drive is soon finished and the captains issue directions for the execution of the next drive.

Field after field is thus covered without thought of time till the wearied muscles and the seeming increased weight of the firearms assert that it is noon.

At the close of the forenoon's work Thursday the rabbits that had been shot up to that time were taken to the ranch barn, to the side of which they were tacked. Dinner was served and the sport was continued till old sol had almost dipped into the Pacific. Scores were registered and with much banter the huntsmen returned to their homes and a sound night's sleep.

A few of the men in the party were unable to join the hunt till afternoon and their scores should therefore be doubled to place them on an equal basis with the men who were in the sport all day. The number of rabbits shot by each man (no such allowance being made) was as follows:

Red Bluff Gun Club.

The members of the Red Bluff Gun Club contested for the elegant silver cup and silver medal offered by E. W. Runyon at their grounds at Red Bluff last Friday. All arrangements were complete, even to the erection of a shed and seats for contestants and visitors. Captain Chas. Gilmore won the cup and John O'Connor the medal. When won three successive times the trophies become the property of the winnners.

The match was at 15 bluerocks and five live pigeons each, and the result is given in the two columns below:

Capt. Emerald	7—0
H. C. Swain	4—1
H. Nottleman	7—2

Fresno's Game Ordinance.

The county of Fresno is another one of the few counties in this State that see the great advantages in game protection and the curse of market hunting. The Board of Supervisors has ordained as follows:

SECTION 1—Any person hunting quail, duck, rail and snipe in the county of Fresno for market shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Hunting for market as used in this section is the taking or killing of quail, doves, duck, rail or snipe with the intent to ship the same.

Sec. 2—Any quail, doves, duck, rail and snipe offered for shipment in the county of Fresno shall be considered under this ordinance as having been taken or killed within the limits of such county, and any person making such offer shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 3—Any person found guilty of violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $50, or to be confined in the county jail not less than five days nor more than thirty days, or be punished by both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 4—This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the 2d day of November, 1895.

Sec. 5—All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Passed and approved this 16th day of October, 1895, by the following vote:

Noes—None.

E. P. WICKERSHAM,
Attest: T. G. HART, Clerk.

CARTRIDGE AND SHELL.

Doves and deer may be shot on Thursday next.

A bluerock club will be organized in Redding this week.

The Olympic Gun Club will shoot bluerocks at Ingleside to-morrow.

The Reliance Gun Club will shoot at Webster street, Alameda to morrow.

The Empire Gun Club's 50 bird record medal match will be shot to-morrow.

J. B. McCutchan made his excellent score at Monterey with Hazard Powder.

"Oregon" pheasants are reported to be quite plentiful along Big and Little Chico creeks.

Ask the boys that participated in the barbecue at Monterey how they like "Monterey oysters."

The South End Gun Club will shoot the regular monthly medal match at Colma to-morrow.

The Ukiah Press states that a great many deer have been killed in Mendocino county already.

The Stockton Rifle and Pistol Club have adopted the Columbia target, a move in the right direction.

Mr. Ferguson, game warden of Fresno county, states that doves and quail will be very plentiful in his county this season,

The report of the Secretary shows that at the recent Missouri state shoot, at Kansas City, 5,480 live birds were trapped and nearly 40,000 targets thrown.

The Marysville Gun Club will give an open-to-all tournament with $500 added money on August 8th and 9th, at Marysville. Both live birds and bluerocks will be used.

The Board of Directors of the California Inanimate Target Association will meet at the Olympic Gun Club's rooms on July 20th, to select a time and place for the next tournament.

Two more shoots of the Willows Gun Club will settle the medal question. Chester Branham, J. H. Porter and Geo. Mellor have won the medal twice, each. Considerable speculation is rife regarding the outcome.

Outdoors is the name of a new publication that comes to our desk this week. It is ably edited and beautifully illustrated. It treats of hunting, fishing, and wheeling and bids fair to rival any of the older publications of this class.

Crittenden Robinson returned to San Francisco last weak. We don't know for sure that he came with the Christian Endeavorers but he is here and looks none the worse for his European experiences. He did his share of the winning across the pond and will probably be in evidence at the next meeting of the California Wing Club.

Los Angeles will doubtless bid for the next tournament of the California Inanimate Target Association and would unquestionably make a big success of it. If they really want it, we would advise them to be fully informed regarding the rates for a car from San Francisco to Los Angeles and such like data when the they present their bids.

The South End Gun Club held its regular shoot at Colma, Sunday, June 27th. The main event was at 25 birds. The scores were as follows: Fred Walpert 19, J Peel 18, M McDonnell 17, J Bickerstaff 17, Jos Cull 17, P McRae 16, J McDonnell 12, Geo Kewell 13, Geo Heuer 12, Chas Buss 10, J Dwyer 9, J Schroeder 8, O Chortland 7, R Itjen 6, Chas Miller 5, Ralph Ohe 5.

At the Red Bluff Gun Club's tournament of June 27th, Shasta county was represented by A Dobrowsky, C L Lack, M E Dittmar, A Hutchinson, J Hutchinson, J H Campbell, W L Rose and C L Page. The Tehama county team was A B Fuller, W F Luning, Capt Emerald, H Mottleman, C Kestner, A O White, C T Rambo and C Gilmore. The latter team won the team match with a score of 60 to 44 out of a possible 120.

There is more than a fair prospect that the Monterey Gun Club will make a bid for the next tournament of the California Inanimate Target Association. While it is not an absolute cinch that they will get it, that they have a fighting chance cannot be denied. The royal manner in which the visitors were treated at the late tournament, the excellent grounds and the still more excellent management has left a lasting impression upon that portion of the shooting fraternaty which participated and its effect will be made manifest when the question comes to vote.

The Crystal Gun Club, of Irvington, has been organized with the following members: A. Emerson, F. Smith, R. E. Smith, A. Eggers, W. W. Walton, W. Trefry and C. Hatch. They have leased 100 acres of marsh land, known as the Crystal Salt works, and are busily getting ready for the coming duck season. They have erected a cabin, blinds and first-class shooting covers. They will bait the ducks with wheat and will make their grounds a feeding place for the feathery tribe. Trespassing will not be allowed and parties found on the premises without permission will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

A report from Colorado Springs, Col., says that Emperor William of Germany is soon to receive the largest pair of elk horns in the world, as a gift from Hans Leiden, the German Consul of the Netherlands and the director of the zoological gardens of Cologne. The horns are now on their way to Berlin, where they will formally be presented to the Emperor, to be placed by him in his hunting room, or celebration hall. The antlers measure ten feet from tip of beam to tip of beam across the skull, and have a spread of 62 inches. They have a beam length of 67 and 67½ inches respectively, and the longest prongs are from 22 to 23½ inches in length. There are 12 prongs in all, and, including the beams, they have a total length of nearly 20 feet. The largest elk horns known to exist prior to the discovery of these are in the English museum in London. The elk on which the horns grew that are to be presented to Emperor William was killed in the White River country in Western Colorado by an old French hunter named Monjean.

NOTICE TO ANGLERS.

Every angler is invited to drop us a line occasionally, telling us of the condition of the streams they have visited and the killing lure; of the number and size of the fish caught, or any other item of interest to anglers.

Bass in the San Joaquin.

I have just read that 200 black bass had arrived in Fresno and been placed in the San Joaquin river. This reminds me that three years ago I received from the State Commission 5,000 black bass and placed them in the river just above the Sycamore bridge. They arrived in splendid condition and should now be about twelve inches long. If anyone has been successful in catching one of these bass within the last year I should be much pleased to hear his report as to size and whether they have multiplied rapidly in the river between Sycamore and Millerton. Black bass are fond of lying in the upper edge of deep pools just at the foot of riffles, and the only way to catch them with any degree of success is to use a long line baited with a live minnow. The hook should be inserted from the inside of the mouth and come out through the little hole just below the eye. This will not kill the minnow, and black bass don't want dead bait.

The fisherman should wade out in the shoal and let his line float down into the edge of deep water.

Six years ago I also placed in Dinkey creek above the falls 75,000 Tahoe trout about one-half to one inch long. The current of Dinkey being very strong and rapid, the most of the fish were carried down into King's river. I have no doubt but that these trout are now very numerous somewhere above the mouth of Dinkey, either in the north or middle fork of the King's river.—J. W. Reese, in the Fresno Expositor.

The Executive Committee of the Chicago Fly-Casting Club to hold an open-to-the-world scientific angling tournament, August 13 and 14, 1897, in Garfield Park, Chicago. There were present Messrs. B. W. Goodsell, G. A. Murrell, F. N. Peet, I. A. Bellows, F. B. Davidson and G. W. Strell. Programmes containing rules and events will be issued within a few weeks and mailed.

There will be six events, as follows: Long distance fly-casting; fixed distance and accuracy fly-casting; fixed distance, accuracy and delicacy fly-casting; roll fly-casting; long distances bait-casting on the lawn, and bait-casting at fixed distances in the water.

Six championship diamond medals, of the value of $50 each, will be awarded, one in each event, as first prize. The club guarantees three or more valuable merchandise prizes in each event, as second, third and fourth prizes. An extra prize will be awarded to the contestant having the highest average in all the events.

The entrance fees are as follows: One event, $3; two events, $5; three events, $7; six events, $10.

Programms, rules and entry blanks may be obtained by addressing G. A. Murrell, Secretary, 617 La Salle street, Chicago.—American Field.

Fly Fishing.

Frank Forrester in his book Fish and Fishing after describing many different baits for trout fishing says:

"All of these, however, pale before the artificial fly, which is the most legitimate, the most scientific, the most exciting, because most difficult, and lastly, not leastly, the most killing, in nine watere of ten, of all the methods used to capture him.

There has long been a grand debate between fly-fishers as to whether those are the most killing flies accurately copied from nature, or fancy flies similar to nothing in existence, composed of any gay and taking colors. It was formerly the general belief that the first were the most taking, and in the old books we find regular rules laid down, and particular flies ordered for every particular month of the year. But the former opinion has now been generally, and I think justly, discarded by the best anglers, while the practice of such a regular arrangement is now very generally exploded.

"It is a remarkable fact that for the most part the same flies are the most killing in all waters, the world over, in Scotland, Ireland, Norway, and in the waters of America; nor is there any fly found more excellent for general use, or which possesses more ardent votaries, than the red hackle, which has probably killed more and larger fish than any that can be named.

"The flies which I hold the best are the red-hackle, the ginger-hackle, the black-hackle, occasionally varied with bodies of gold or silver tinsel, the March-brown or dun-drake, the pale yellow dun, and the blue dun—both very killing flies—the codun fly, the stone fly, alder fly, the green and gray drakes; and for night and twilight fishing any of the gray, cream-colored or mealy moths; of these I prefer a large white-winged moth with a black body. In many waters some of the coppery-golden and green peacock herls are found to kill well, and last season nothing was so successful on Long Island as the scarlet ibis with a gold tinsel body. For my own fancy, however, I decidedly prefer the hackles of almost every color and variety, from the ginger, through all the shades of the cock, grouse, partridge, woodcock, up to jet black; and my favorite cast is a coch-a-bondu or soldier palmer for my stretcher, a ginger hackle or blue dun for my second, and a black palmer or dotteril hackle for my first dropper. * * * The brook trout lie lurking for their passing prey under great stones at the head or tail of swift glancing rapids, in the small deep pools between, beneath the roots of great trees which protrude from banks over swirls and whirlpools, in holes and under weirs and sluices, and in no place more frequently than at the tail of millraces.

"The best and heaviest fish do not begin to feed until twilight, after which, for about three hours, they are exceedingly voracious, reposing again after that till daybreak is at hand, when they again feed for an hour or two, lying quite still, and oftentimes refusing the most tempting baits during the whole of the day-time."

San Andreas lake was the center of attraction on the Fourth. There were not less than seventy-five anglers at the lake. I Phillipson and Bernard Angonet, George Hinde, Jos. Dober and Chas. Raynos and son were down Sunday and Monday. They caught a moderate number of fair-sized fish, enough for an excellent fish dinner at the San Bruno House on Sunday night, with Charley Raynos as chef, and a few to take home. Chas. Precht caught 15, George Hinkle 13, Smith 8 large ones and Dolliver 6 or 8. The boys say he claimed 22, but they opened his basket and found 6. Chas. Cate, Rumpfh and several others of the regular "gang" were among the crowd. They all report the fish in excellent condition.

If you want real live sport, catch a yellowtail with rod and reel. A salmon makes the prettiest fight as he is a surface fighter, but for real stubbornness the yellowtail takes the cake. Yellowtail and salmon are running together this year at Monterey and a trip to this picturesque town is inexpensive. If you want all the fish you can pack use a handline. If you want genuine sport use a rod.

The authorities are agitating the question of introducing striped bass in Oregon waters. They seem to be afraid that the bass will destroy the young salmon. They will have a job to prove their theory. The introduction of the striped bass is the best thing the California Fish Commission ever did, and Oregon will make no mistake in following their example.

Alex Hamilton, C. A. Haight, H. Justins, F. Dassonville and son, F. Feudner, J. W. Steward, T. Lewis and A. Russell Crowell were all fishing on Monterey Bay on Monday morning last and all caught salmon. From four to ten to the boat was the average.

The fly-casting club will meet next Tuesday night at the office of the California Fish Commission. The motion to send a delegate to the Chicago tournament will be acted upon at this meeting and every member should be present,

The San Francisco Fly Casting Club will cast the 11th regular semi-monthly contest at Stow Lake on Saturday and Sunday (to-day and to-morrow) at Golden Gate Park.

Smelt are running in large numbers in the San Francisco bay now. One man caught 400 on Oakland mole last Monday. Edgar Forster caught 50 in one tide.

McLaughlin and Morehouse were at Russian river station fishing for black bass the first of the week. They report fair success.

The Fresno papers continue to tell of the doings of the miscreants who are dynamiting the San Joaquin.

Angus Coombs and G. E. Stewart are fishing Mad river. They went up last Friday week.

FIELD TRIALS.

Jan. 24—Pacific Coast Field Trial Club's annual trials at Bakersfield, Cal. J. M. Kilgariff, secretary.

The Advisory Board's Secretary.

The annual meeting of the Pacific Advisory Board should have been held on Tuesday evening, July 6th, but its Secretary (who cannot be deposed until his successor is accepted by the Board), has succeeded in working another scheme on his fellow-delegates. He mailed notices to all the delegates, informing them that owing to the fact that the President and other members of the Board were absent from the city, the meeting was postponed until August 3d. Following is a copy of the notice:

MR. ———

DEAR SIR: I am instructed by the chairman of the Advisory Board to notify all delegates that on account of his unavoidable absence and that of other members the July meeting of the Board will be postponed until August 3d. Very Resp, H. T. PAYNE, Sec'y.

In a letter to another member he adds: "No particular business to come before the Board."

In the first place, neither the President nor Secretary of any body has the power to postpone a regular meeting, let alone an annual one.

In the second place, the notice is a lie manufactured from whole cloth. Dr. D'Evelyn, the President, was in town and at leisure on Tuesday night. Messrs. DeRuyter and Payne were seen by the writer walking up Montgomery street at 11 o'clock Tuesday night. Messrs. Keen and Dr. Cluness Jr. were both in town and ready to attend. Mr. Gibson of Stockton would have attended had he not received the above notice not to attend; consequently, there was not an officer nor member of the Board residing in this city who would not have attended.

Mr. Payne's object in delaying the meeting is very apparent and he has either been ably seconded in his action by some one on the Board or else he is leading the members of Board about by the nose like a pack of idiots.

A delay of a month means that when he steps out of the Board at the next meeting, he will immediately step in again as the delegate of the mastiff club, the Great Dane club or some other club he has organized on the sly, like he did the San Francisco Kennel Club, either openly or through some of his minions. If he is not expecting this, he is expecting some tool of his to be elected as delegate and he wishes to put him in as Secretary, that he may still retain control of the Board.

For heaven's sake, how long will it take the American Kennel Club to "tumble" to the fact that the Pacific Advisory Board is a roaring farce; that the dog owners of California are not all fools and so long as such unprincipled scoundrels as H. T. Payne are given the reins, just so long will there be a continuous wrangle among the dog owners of this city, to the detriment of kennel interests and the disgrace of the American Kennel Club.

What can the A. K. C. expect to accomplish on this coast while the local reins are in the hands of a man no gentlemen would notice on the street if they were not afraid of being libeled or blackmailed by snubbing him.

The American Field very rightly says that it is an expensive luxury to sue a man for libel who is 3,000 miles away from you. A few days behind the bars would doubtless be a good lesson for the aged libeller, but in more expressive language "there is no use in suing a beggar to catch a louse." He should be disqualified and crushed out of the kennel world of this State as one would crush a snake, and the time is not far distant when this will be done. In the meantime he is playing his cards very clumsily, but successfully.

The Derby Entries.

The entries of the annual Derby of the Pacific Coast Field Trial Club to be held at Bakersfield on Jan. 24th and following days number twenty-three, sixteen pointers, six English setters and one Irish setter. This is something new for California, for years the setters have outnumbered the pointers, but this year the setter men seem to have had too much Payne and as a result the pointers far outnumber the setters.

The entry is as follows:

DOINGS IN DOGDOM.

If you want a copy of Kennel Secrets, Modern Training and Handling, or Diseases of the Dog, send us a few subscribers and get them free. See our advertisement in the regular business columns.

Chas. Dresser continues to dispose of his dogs at a rapid rate. This week he has sold a fox terrier pup to A. B. Spreckels, a collie dog to Mr. Lothe of this city, and a Great Dane dog to Miss R. C. Stetson of Niles, Cal.

A remarkable instance of maternal affection in a dog and tenacity to life in a puppy recently occurred at a seaside farm in the North of England. A collie bitch whelped in a rabbit-hole; the litter, with the exception of one pup to be kept on the mother, were destroyed by the owner. When no longer needed for its purpose this pup was also conveyed to a tub, and there, as was supposed, drowned and eventually thrown over the crags of considerable height. The following morning the shepherd, to his intense astonishment, found the puppy with its mother alive and well, in the byre. The latter had, evidently, watched the whole performance of drowning and throwing over the cliff, and had gone to the rescue of her pup, with the result cited.—The Asian.

The English Stock-Keeper referring to the "savage and unbridled attack upon Mr. James Mortimer in the columns of an American paper"—and by the way it would have been no more than fair to have named the paper—makes the comment, "if such an attack had appeared in England, the paper publishing it would have been served with a writ in twenty-four hours." Very true; but there is some difference between a man in Shropshire, say, suing for libel a paper published in London, and a man living on Long Island, N. Y., bringing such action against a paper published in San Francisco. There is a deal of atmosphere between the two places, and fighting a libel suit at the long range of 3,000 miles is a pretty expensive piece of work. However, for aught we know Mr. Mortimer may be undertaking it.—Am. Field. [The "mischief-maker" was well aware of this fact before he penned the article in question.—ED.]

Across the water they are telling a good story, which has just leaked out, on Mr. Panmure-Gordon, the president of the Scottish Kennel Club and a famous breeder of collies. Last year, when Li Hung Chang visited Great Britain, while on his tour round the world, Mr. Panmure-Gordon, possibly seeking a little notoriety, or perhaps, with an eye to opening up a market in China for the output of his kennel at good prices, sent the eminent Chinese statesman one of his finest collies, an animal worth several hundred dollars Some days passed without any acknowledgement, and at last the Scotchman's patience gave out, and he wrote asking if the present had reached its destination, to which Li replied: "I thank Mr. Panmure-Gordon for his kindness in sending the dog. My suite found it perfect. For my own part, I do not eat them." Whew! Wouldn't that kill you?—Am. Field.

A short time since a skye terrier belonging to the son and heir of a well-known citizen of Portland disappeared. The son and heir was inconsolable, so the father offered a reward of $5 for the recovery of the dog. Soon after, a man brought a dog answering the description, and received the $5. It was noticed that the dog did not seem to feel at home, but this was attributed to his having been estranged during his absence. Next day a lady appeared with another dog, which proved to be the original Jacob Townsend, and which went wild with joy at meeting his young master again. The father hunted up the man who had brought back the first dog, and demanded his $5, but the man said the incident had been closed so far as he was concerned. Then the victim wanted to send the impostor to the dog pound, but his son and heir had extended his affections so as to envelop both dogs, and refused to part with either. So the unhappy "parient" had to go and buy a licence for the dog which had been foisted on him, and the boy is happy, but the father isn't.

Recently a young lady, who resides in a country district on the south bank of the Tyne, was going home at night, after visiting some friends who lived about a twenty minutes' walk from her home, says the Newcastle Chronicle. She was offered an escort, which she declined saying she had no fear, as, though the walk she had before her was a lonely one, she was not likely to be molested, for there was no probability of her meeting a single person on her way. She had not gone many steps when she found she was being followed by five strange dogs, which she had never before seen in the neighborhood. She was somewhat alarmed when the dogs persisted in following her, and was inclined to turn back to her friend's house, but ultimately proceeded without doing so. The animals still followed her, close to her heels. Her walk took her past an old quarry, upon coming to which she observed a repulsive-looking man issuing out of the quarry and making in her direction. As he drew nearer she was greatly alarmed, but the dogs, without any word from her, bared their teeth at the tramp, or whoever he was, and growled and barked menacingly. Thereupon the man beat a retreat into the quarry, whence he had come on hearing her footsteps, and she hurried home, greatly excited. When she came into the village where she lived, and came again into the vicinity of human beings, the dogs altogether turned and left her, returning by the way they had come. She has never seen the same dogs since, and looks on the incident as a marvelous instance of the intelligence or instinct of the dogs, which seemed to have escorted her for the special purpose of protecting her, and to have disappeared as soon as she reached a place of safety. The foregoing is a curious dog story, and it differs from many similar tales in being absolutely true, as the correspondent who communicates it to us vouches for its accuracy.—Turf, Field and Farm.

For Starting Judge.

SAN JOSE, JULY 6, 1897,

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—On the eve of our great home circuit and fully appreciating the services of Mr. McNear as starting judge of the past trotting meetings, the undersigned breeders, owners and trainers have advised with each other whom to select for this responsible position during the present season.

The choice, of necessity, had to fall upon a gentleman whose integrity is irreproachable, whose ability unquestioned, whose experience dates back to his very boyhood, and whose fairness and impartiality is so well known by every horseman in the State that it is only equaled by their fullest confidence in him and their friendly regard for his welfare.

In obtaining our result no convincing arguments nor proofs were necessary and the selection made was without one dissenting voice, and thus unanimous.

We therefore beg to submit to the friendly consideration of all the directors, presidents and secretaries of the different race tracks included in the grand circuit, the name of Mr. Frank W. Covey, of Palo Alto, as our next permanent starting judge.

We also firmly believe that, if there was time to call a meeting of owners and drivers to choose such a judge, the name of Mr. Frank W. Covey would still be in the lead as the best available gentleman for the position at present.

And further, as the most interested parties in the selection of a competent starter are, after all, the drivers and owners, they ought to have an undisputed right in the matter of suggesting their first choice and having it. We trust that the mutual action of the undersigned in submitting the name of Mr. Covey to the public will not be misconstrued into dictatorial proceedings toward the associations nor as an unwarranted encroachment upon their undisputed right to select their own judges, but rather as a suggestion only, which is offered in good faith and for the mutual welfare and interest of all concerned.

As for you, Mr. Editor, we are confident of receiving your most friendly offices to further this, our unanimous choice. For its promulgation broadcast over the State we depend on the wide circulation of the only horseman's friend in California, THE BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN.

Respectfully submitted to the Directors and Officers of the different tracks.

Answers to Correspondents.

L. O. T., Weaverville—I wish you would oblige me by sending me a book of the blood-horse racing rules for a quarter of a mile if you have them, if not send for a half-mile race. Answer—Horses run under the same rules for a quarter of mile as for any other distance, being started by an association's official starter, etc. The weights to be carried under Western Turf Congress rules (Ingleside uses these) would be: Two-year-olds, 89 lbs.; three-year-olds, 111 lbs.; four-year-olds, 122 lbs.; five-year-olds and upwards, 124 lbs. In races exclusively for two-year-olds the weights to be carried are 118 lbs., for three or four-year-olds, 122 lbs. Two-year-old fillies are allowed 3 lbs; three-year-old fillies and upward, allowed 5 lbs. up to September 1st, 3 lbs. from September 1st to January 1st.

AEROLITE, by Palo Alto, 2:08¾, out of Manette (dam of Arion, 2:07¾), by Nutwood, has been bred to Adbell, 2:23 this season. The produce will trace to more record-breakers than any youngster ever foaled, and the list of the great broodmares in that royal pedigree will be Green Mountain Maid (2), Beautiful Bells, Minnehaha, Miss Russell, Dame Winnie, Lulu Wilkes, Manette, Addie. The great sires: Electioneer, Geo. Wilkes, Nutwood and The Moor are all close up, and the good thoroughbred foundations will give speed-sustaining powers to the new arrival. If a stallion, what a sire he should be.

NEXT Thursday, July 15th, at Castano's stables, Santa Paula, Mr. A. C. Dietz, of the Vendome Stock Farm, Ventura County, will sell at public auction forty-three head of highly-bred trotting and pacing colts, from two to five years old, and a number of choice broodmares in foal to Longworth by Sidney, and Sable Czar by Sable Wilkes. A careful perusal of the catalogue shows that Mr. Dietz has used great judgment in the selection of his stallions and mares, and we cannot see why there should not be a number of very fast horses in this lot. Longworth was considered one of the very fastest, most level-headed and stylish horses sired by the great Sidney. His bloodlines are of the best, and he should be a sire of early and extreme speed. This sale will afford opportunities for the people of Ventura county to secure some grandly-bred and serviceable individuals.

"BOB" LAWLESS, the jockey and owner of Bloomsbury, who is now in Newman, Cal., will be at Grass Valley next week for the races. He can ride at 115 lbs. Bloomsbury will not start until the State Fair begins. From there he will go to San Francisco and sport silk there all winter.

MORE Toomey sulkies are sold on this Coast than any other because they are well advertised here. J. M. Nelson, of Alameda, ordered one yesterday and J.O. Kane, the agent, is receiving inquiries every day. It pays to advertise in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN.

WE have just received a large uumber of Goodwin's Official Turf Guide, No. 6, taking in races all over the country from January 1st to July 1st. It is simply invaluable to form-players, and will doubtless be in great demand.

White Topaz.

Beautiful stones to be seen at THE DIAMOND PALACE. Every day in the week and every hour in the day, one can see crowds around the show windows of "The Chicago Diamond Palace." The cause of it all is the now widely known White Topaz. White Topaz or carbonated diamonds have come to be recognized as the nearest thing on earth to Genuine Diamonds; so near indeed is it that the proprietors of THE DIAMOND PALACE do not hesitate to place real diamonds in their windows amidst their display of White Topaz and allow the public to pick them out at the selling price of the Topaz.

The latter stones have all the lovely brilliancy of the diamonds, sparkling steadily and with wonderful fire. The thousands of these stones in the windows form one of the most gorgeous displays, and has proven an attraction which is one of the features of Chicago.

In order to find out the advertising medium best suited to their business, this enterprising concern offers to send a genuine White Topaz to all those who will cut out and send them their advertisement which appears elsewhere in this paper, together with 25 cents in stamps.

THE DIAMOND PALACE, like all successful institutions, has many imitators who endeavor to sell cheap rhinestones and other pastes, claiming they are Topaz. We caution the public to be careful, as THE DIAMOND PALACE, American Express Bldg., Chicago, are the sole importers of this stone.

VIVA LA

BY WHIPS, SIRE OF AZOTE, 2:04 3-4, COBWEBS, 2:12, AND SEVERAL OTHERS IN THE LIST

FIRST DAM—JOE VIVA, by Joe Hooker.

SECOND DAM—LADY VIVA, by Three Cheers (dam of Electioneer Rex, showed when a two-year-old quarters in 36 seconds.)

FOURTH DAM—LADY LANCASTER, by imp. Monarch. The dam of Malcolm Regent, Ontario and several other winners. Marion, the dam of Emperor of Norfolk, El Rio Rey, Yo Tambien, and several other high-class race horses, is by Malcolm, and the breeding of Viva La—Electioneer, combined with strains of thoroughbred which have shown adaptability to acquire trotting action, is now greatly fancied by intelligent breeders.

VIVA LA is sixteen hands high, a rich seal brown in color and more than usually handsome, combining muscular power and quality in an eminent degree. He was trained a little in his yearling form and showed a 2:40 gait and was improving rapidly when his training was suspended. He can scarcely fail on the right sort of mares to get fast trotters, and with nearly a certainty of securing good-sized, fine-looking horses which even in these times are in demand.

EXTREME SPEED AND RACE HORSE QUALITY

McKINNEY. 2:11 1-4.

Will Make the Season of 1897, Commencing February 1st at

Oakland Trotting Park,

AT $100 THE SEASON.

Jenny Mc, 3	2:12	Harvey Mc, 2	2:18	Sola, 4	2:25 3-4
McZeus, 4	2:13	Julia D., 3	2:16 1-4	Sola, 4, trial	2:15 1-2
Zombro, 3	2:13	Jenny Mc, 2	2:20 1-4	Osi o, 2	2:30
Harvey Mc, 3	2:14 1-4	Sir Credit, 3	2:25	Pat Cooney, trial	2:19

No stallion of his age and record has such a showing for early and extreme speed. Four three-year-olds with records better than 2:15. Out of 73 mares bred to him in 1896, 70 have proven with foal.

McKINNEY 2:11 1-4 was foaled June 12, 1887, sired by the great Alcyone (son of George Wilkes, and Alma Mater, the famous broodmare by Mambrino Patchen), dam Rosa Sprague, by Gov. Sprague, 2:20½, he by Rhode Island, 2:23½, out of Belle Brandon (dam of Amy, 2:20¼, Gov. Sprague, 2:20½, Wilmar, 2:29¼), by Hambletonian 10; grandam Jenny, by Young Bacchus (thoroughbred); great grandam Worden mare, by Exton Eclipse (thoroughbred). The second dam of McKinney was Rose Kenney (dam of Messenger Chief, sire of sixteen in 2:30 list) by Mambrino Messenger, one of the strongest-bred Messenger studs in the Registry. Third dam J. I. Kenney mare, dam of Gen. G. H. Thomas (sire of seven in 2:30) by Mambrino Chief 11. Fourth dam Jesse Bryan mare, by imp. Napoleon (thoroughbred). Fifth dam by Tempest (thoroughbred).

McKINNEY 2:11 1-4 is 15.2½ hands, weight 1140, and is one of the most perfect-made horses in America, having plenty of bone and substance. He started in twenty-eight races and won twenty-five of them. His reputation as a game and consistent performer is world wide. As a sire the few of his progeny that have been handled for speed have demonstrated that they inherit all his extraordinary good qualities.

☞ In case mare does not prove with foal, I agree to give a return service free next season if the horse is in my possession. In case he is not, I will return one-half the money paid. Mares shipped to 16th Street Station, Oakland, will receive prompt attention. The best care taken of mares, but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. Pasturage $5 per month. Conditions.

All trotting and pacing races are to be three in five, and National Rules to govern unless otherwise specified. Six to enter, three to start

Right reserved to hold less than six by usual deduction of entrance money.

Right reserved to alternate heats of any two classes same day. A horse not winning a heat in four, or making a dead heat, is ruled out, but does not lose position held at that time in division of purse.

Four moneys in 3 in 5 races.

When but two starters appear, contest to be for entrance money paid in—two-thirds to winner, one-third to second.

Horses whose gaits have been changed are not eligible to classes more than five seconds slower than their record.

In trotting and pacing races, entries not declared out by 5 P. M. day before, must start.

Caps and jackets of distinct colors must be named in entries and worn in races.

RUNNING.

The following RUNNING STAKES will close August 1, 1897. Remainder of Running Programme will be announced August 28th, and will provide for additional races to cover six days' racing.

1. THE VINCTOR STAKE—A sweepstake for three-year-olds and upwards; $25 entrance; $10 forfeit; with $300 added, of which $50 to second, and $25 to third; $200 additional, and stake to be named for winner if Vinctor's time (1:40) be beaten. One mile.

2. THE LADIES STAKE—A selling sweepstake for three year-olds; of $25 each, or $10 forfeit; with $300 added, of which $50 to second, and $25 to third. The winner to be sold at auction. If for $1,500, to carry rule weight; two pounds allowed for each $100 to $1,000, then three pounds to $400. Value placed on starters by 4 P. M. day before race. Six furlongs.

2:13 CLASS, PACING, PURSE $500—To close September 2d.

Additional TROTTING and PACING races announced later, including a 2:10 PACE and 2:10 Trot.

Conditions.

All trotting and pacing races are best three in five unless otherwise specified; eight to enter and three to start in all trotting and pacing races, but the Board reserves the right to hold a less number than eight to fill, by the deduction of the entrance money from the purse for each horse less than eight. In record-bar races eight must stand after the barred horses are out. Same right reserved to start less by deduction as above.

Entrance fee in all purses, unless otherwise specified, 5 per cent. with an additional 5 per cent. from winners of money in classes where number of entries is eight or more. In 3 in 5 classes where there are less than eight paid up entries, 5 per cent. additional will be required from starters. Five per cent. of entrance money to accompany all nominations or satisfactory security required. Trotting and pacing purses, 3 in 5, divided at the rate of 50 per cent. to the first horse, 25 per cent. to the second horse, 15 per cent. to the third horse and 10 per cent. to the fourth.

In heat dashes, unless disqualified, all entries are entitled to start in the first three dashes, but in the fourth dash only non-winners of first money shall start. If less than three remain eligible to start in the fourth dash, it shall be declared off.

A horse not within 100 yards of the winner (except where 8 or more start, then 150 yards) in any heat shall be declared disqualified from starting in any subsequent heat of the same event, but shall not forfeit money previously won. The time between each heat shall be 25 minutes. One-half the entrance money in heat dashes must accompany nominations

The Board reserves the right to change the hour or date of any race, except when it becomes necessary to ante-date a race, in which instance the nominator will receive three days notice of change by mail or address of entry. Right reserved to declare off or postpone any or all races on account of the weather or other sufficient cause.

Entries not declared out by 5 P. M. the day preceding the race, will be required to start, and declarations must be in writing and made with the Secretary of Course at the Track. Any horse not declared out and failing to start will be fined $50.

In all races riders and drivers will be required to wear caps and jackets of distinct colors, which must be named in their entries.

If less than three horses to start, the Judges may declare the race off. A lame or disabled horse barred from starting in any race.

Any race that may be started and unfinished on the last day of the meeting, may be declared ended and money divided according to rank of horses in the summary.

When more than nine declare to start in any race, the Board reserves the right to divide the starters into two fields by lot, and to start them in a trial heat, one mile dash. The first four horses in each trial to compete for the purse, which shall be decided by mile heats, best two in three.

A horse making a walk-over entitled to only the entrance money paid in. Horses whose gaits have been changed not eligible to classes more than five seconds slower than their record at either gait.

Otherwise than specified in these conditions, National Trotting Association Rules to govern trotting and pacing.

SPECIAL TROTTING, PACING AND RUNNING RACES WILL BE ANNOUNCED LATER.

We defy the Experts

We have demonstrated, experts admit, and every one is convinced that Genuine White Topaz cannot be detected from real diamonds. White Topaz is the stone you have read so much about. The one that has fooled the pawnbrokers. Place them side by side with genuine diamonds and no one can tell the difference. We have sold thousands of these stones at from one to ten dollars, but in order to introduce them quickly as well as to find out the advertising medium best suited to our business, we make this

GIGANTIC OFFER. 25¢

We will send you a beautiful, brilliant, genuine White Topaz, which can be mounted in a ring, scarf or necktie pin, stud, cuff buttons, locket or pair earrings, like any article in this border on receipt of.....

These stones are exactly the same as those we have advertised at one dollar.

This Offer for a Few Days Only

Cut out this advertisement and send it to us together with 25c. in coin or stamps and we will send you a White Topaz by return mail; a stone that you can be justly proud of and one that positively cannot be detected from a real diamond. In ordering, be sure and state whether small, medium or large stone is desired. NO ORDER FILLED UNLESS ACCOMPANIED BY THIS ADVERTISEMENT.

GENUINE WHITE TOPAZ

bears no relation to other so-called imitation diamonds no matter under what name they are advertised. They are the hardest of semi-precious stones, impossible to detect from real diamonds and warranted to retain their brilliancy. All others pale to insignificance when compared with White Topaz.

OUR GUARANTEE:
We warrant each and every Topaz to retain its brilliancy and the mountings to give perfect satisfaction.
We will give you One Thousand Dollars if you can show that we have ever refused to replace a White Topaz that was returned as unsatisfactory.

DIAMONDS DUPLICATED IN WHITE TOPAZ.
Royalty and the four hundred who own celebrated and costly diamonds set in necklaces, tiaras, brooches, bracelets and girdles, keep them in burglar proof vaults, while they wear in public the exact duplicates in White Topaz and no one ever detects the difference.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME..... Don't Miss It.
Send us Twenty-five Cents in coin or stamps and you will be delighted with the White Topaz that you receive.

San Jose Race Track

TROTTING TRACK PICNIC GROUNDS RUNNING TRAC

The beautiful, convenient and popular grounds known as AGRICULTURAL PARK. San Jose, has been leased by

C. F. BUNCH and A. HABLES,

Who are putting the same in suitable condition for the a commodation of picnics and other attractions. The attention of horsemen is called to the fact that both the trot ing and running tracks will be kept in first-class order. The numerous box stalls are roomy and well ventilated. The San Jose Race Track must soon become a popular resort for horsemen, if good treatment, moderate charges and first-class accommodations are appreciated. Address,

C. F. BUNCH, Agricultural Park, San Jose.

Notice to Horsemen

Having advertised "Formulas" for the preparation of "Eight Different Horse Remedies," including "Kitchel's Liniment," "Wind Puff Cure," etc., in all the leading turf and stock journals, I want any and all persons who purchased "Formulas" from me and did not find them just as represented in every respect to make it known in this paper, as I wish to know "openly" how the public appreciate my efforts to benefit them, as I have mailed these "Formulas" to every State in the Union. Now, I have been in the horse business 20 years, and have in my possession three "Formulas." One for the prevention of masturbation in stallions, a perfectly harmless remedy that may be taken by man; it makes a stallion strong and ready to race; no shield s ever used. Another "Formula" is to prevent a mare from coming in heat during the racing season; it keeps her strong and ready to race. The other "Formula" is a stimulant, making a dunghill quitter last like a game race horse. They blow out quickly and stay up every heat. These remedies can be prepared at a moderate cost by anyone, and I will gladly furnish testimonials from some of the best horsemen in the world that have used them and are glad to recommend them. If any reader of this paper wishes either or all of these "Formulas" I shall be glad to mail any one of them for $2.00, or the three for $5.00, with full and complete directions for preparing and using them. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded. Address,

CURINE! CURINE! CURINE!

I WILL GUARANTEE MY CURINE

To be the most powerful paint that medical science can formulate. It will reach deeper-seated troubles and produce better effects for lameness and unhealthy sores than any other preparation in the world, for which local medication is indicated, such as

W. A. W. TURNBULL, V. M. D.,

CURINE is the most powerful paint known, and supersedes all cautery or firing. It contains no grease and will not blemish or remove the hair.

Its effects are absorbent, alterative, penetrative and antiseptic, and is the only preparation capable of reaching the deepest seated troubles.

Horses can be worked as usual while using this marvelous paint.

It is used with phenomenal success in Europe, and in the leading trotting and running stables in the United States and Canada. Any person who purchases a bottle, and after using half of it according to explicit directions, and finds it will not do what we claim, can return the bottle and money will be refunded. Reference:—First National or Citizens National Bank, Latrobe, Pa. WE WILL WAGER $100 that one bottle of CURINE if used according to explicit directions will reach deeper seated troubles, produce better effects for the same curatives than any other compound in the world.

ANACONDA RACES.

MONDAY, JULY 5.

Senator Bland is king! Ostler Joe was beaten in emphatic fashion, but not disgraced. The California bred horse ran true to his form, but he was fairly outclassed by the Montana-bred horse, who gained a victory that will long be remembered in the racing annals of America. It is safe to assert that no running race previously held in Montana ever attracted such widespread interest and never before was opinion so divided as to the outcome. The attendance was conservatively estimated at 7,000, and few came who did not speculate on several of the races. The day's sport passed off without a hitch, which reflects the greatest credit on the management.

THURSDAY, JULY 8.

The 2:24 trot resulted in an upset for the talent, they making two horses favorites and neither one winning. Inkeno, who was in the field in the first heat, won the race. American Jay was favorite before the first heat, but Sola captured the heat, with Inkeno second in 2:32¾. The betting now switched to Sola, but Inkeno won the heat easily in 2:28. Sola took the third heat in the same time and all the horses who had not won a heat were sent to the stables, leaving Sola and Inkeno to fight for the purse. Sola made several bad breaks in the fourth heat and Inkeno won in 2:27. The fifth heat and race was taken by Inkeno in 2:31, Sola breaking badly as in the preceding heat.

Mutuels paid: Pat Tucker, $11 60 and $6.45, and Lou Watkins, $6.60.

FRIDAY, JULY 9.

The shrewd division received a knockout blow to-day. Four favorites were beaten, Chris Peterson being the only first choice to pull through.

The track was good and the attendance large. In the 2:10 pacing few expected that Lena N. would last out the three heats, but the result showed that the daughter of Sidney was not up to a race when she was beaten by Pathmont last week. Surpol showed unexpected speed in the second race, and finished a close second to Chris Peterson. Red S. was thought to be a certainty in the last race at three furlongs. He was turned the wrong way when the flag dropped and the mare Leora rushed out in the lead and won handily from Harry H.

SUMMARIES:

First race—Pacing, 2:10 class, purse $800.

GOSSIP FROM GOTHAM.

[Special Correspondence of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN]

Class, in the East among thoroughbreds, has sadly degenerated the past two years. It was with feelings akin to sorrow, nay pain, that "old-timers" saw such horses (yclept "dogs") as Dutch Skater, Lake Shore and Volley contending for a prize of a magnitude such as the Suburban. Bad enough to have such cattle as aspirants for "classic" honors, but to think that they were factors, and potent ones at that—in the minds of some persons—in the make-up of the ultimate result, made the "old guard' sick at heart and caused them to wail "How the mighty have fallen!" Where, oh where, was the mighty Tammany, the lordly Salvator, the kingly Henry of Navarre that such things had come to pass in the country of "Raceland?" Shades of the Godolphin Arabian, was it possible that such misfits, such degenerates, were to be heralded down through the ages of time as the leaders of the van in the Suburban of '97? Astrologists might have answered in solution of the query: "Read the answer in the stars;" but it was not necessary to consult the heavenly firmament to solve the problem, for a little dark bay colt, with a big mane and peculiar shuffling gait, answered it in a most decisive fashion on the 22d ult.

Ben Brush proved himself to be the best horse in training in the East at the present time by winning the Soburban Handicap easily in the excellent time of 2:07 1-5. At no time from the wave of the starter's flag to the end, was the result ever in doubt. From the opening strides to the last Ben Brush always held his competitors safe. The outside position did not increase his handicap over the others materially, as the pace was slow the first three furlongs and Sims was thus enabled to cross the track and take a good position near the leaders without taking much out of his mount. When the backstretch was reached all the field began to race in real earnest, and the pace became a "cracker." Fast as it was it was not too fast for Ben Brush, who loped along in that peculiar, nodding manner of his to the stretch. There Sims gave him his head, and he drew up alongside of Havoc, who had been making the running, and passed him in the last furlong. The winner ran under a strong pull, next the rail, behind Havoc, till the stretch. There Sloan challenged with him. Though the distance was not to The Winner's liking, he responded well to Sloan's call and made a good effort to head Ben Brush. The effort of The Winner enabled him to pass Havoc, but he was unable to get Ben Brush, and the latter won with something to spare by three parts of a length. Havoc was a good third, beaten half a length by The Winner.

The victory of Ben Bush was a popular on from several points of view. He was a well-backed favorite and earned his laurels after an honest effort without any mishap to mar the consest. The exponents of "class" were happy because their pet theory had been sustained—that a high-class horse would alway defeat a poor one, even though the latter had a big pull in the weights. And last, but not least, the victor belonged to M. F. Dwyer. Everybody was glad the popular Brooklynite had succeeded in at last winning one of the two great spring events. For years the Dwyer Brothers have tried to win the Brooklyn and Suburban Handicaps, but something always intervened. The winner was the next best horse in the race and finished where he belonged—second. Havoc, greatly improved in looks over last year, found his advantage with a light impost good enough to enable him to get third money. Belmar ran a fair race and finished fourth after running well up with the field to the stretch. He is not within ten pounds of the form he showed last fall, but this is not so much of a surprise, as he is a horse that never comes to hand early. He is improving daily and will win ere long. The disappointment of the race was the poor showing made by the popular idol, Sir Walter. He was never prominent and finished a poor sixth. Whether his chronic nervousness was responsible for this or whether the pace, which was very fast the last seven furlongs, was too much for the old fellow, it is hard to say. He subsequently carried 126 pounds and beat a fair field a mile and a furlong in the good time of 1:55. It was a hard struggle for him, but he managed to get a head victory. The pace was more even in this race than in the Suburban and it might have been largely responsible for his improvement in form.

The Burns & Waterhouse string are not doing as well as Jimmy McCormick would wish. The long trip seems to have knocked them completely out. Miss Rucker is the only one who seems to be anything like himself. He carried 87 pounds and ran second to Nick in his usual game style at the end and was only beaten in the last fifty yards. As the time was 1:11 2-5, his effort was more than creditable. Shasta Water was lucky in getting second to Lady Mitchell the day the latter won. If Poetess had not been squeezed between Lady Mitchell and Shasta Water right on the post the former would have been second. Poetess proved this fact by giving Shasta Water weight and defeating her easily in a mile dash. Speaking about this filly, Mr. McCormick said that the air appeared to be too heavy for her and affected her lungs. She was more distressed here after working a mile at a two-minute clip than she was formerly in California after a hard run. She has also become very nervous.

Riley Grannan, Charley Quinn and Henry Harris are in partnership in a book. The latter is one of the most clever men in the business and was for a great many years associated with George Wheelock. He looks after the handling of the money while Riley and Charley look after the outside. The book is a good winner, but individually Grannan and Quinn are not much more than even. Speaking to an official the other day about Grannan's case against the Jockey Club, he said the club would hardly keep the sentence of expulsion against Grannan, even though the court upheld their ruling. All the Jockey Club wanted was a precedent in the matter. They desired to know just what they could do in similar cases, so that those in the future who broke the rules could be punished for the breaking of the rule about giving jockeys presents by a heavy fine.

Firearm, a big bay colt, by Rayon d'Or—Fides, is undoubtedly the best two-year-old that has shown in public. He is the only youngster thus far able to give away weight and beat his opponents. He gave seventeen pounds to three competitors on Wednesday and gave them a ten-pound beating besides, winning, hard held, all the way. The three colts he defeated were all maidens, but they were not of the kind usually seen with maiden allowance.

Mirthful is a good colt, but has been unfortunate in being defeated small margins in stake races by some youngster just a shade better than he. So, judging by the weight and the manner in which Firearm defeated Mirthful, the credit of being the best 2-year-old must be awarded to the youngster from the Belmont stable. Mr. Belmont was very much elated over Firearm's showing, as he is a home-bred colt by his favorite stallion and from one of his most valuable mares. Fides was a very fast mare in her day and was a great favorite with the elder Belmont. She was the innocent cause of what promised to be a big turf scandal at one time, but a fire in the Western Union building saved the guilty culprits from sing Sing. She had a very bad leg at the time and was not within pounds of a race when her trainer received a telegram, purporting to come from Mr. August Belmont, saying to start her no matter what her condition. The trainer obeyed the telegram, Fides ran, was disgracefully beaten and pulled up hopelessly broken down. Mr. Belmont was furious. The telegram, he claimed, was a forgery. Pinkerton detectives were put on the case and the criminal was just about to be run to earth when the original telegram was burnt up in the great fire which went near costing the Western Union its fine building on Broadway.

Fred Taral, who had the mount on Firearm, said after the race that he was the best two-year-old he had ridden since Domino. Fred had his ructions to place him in the race, but this he found impossible to do without pulling him off his stride. So he let the colt go along under a hard pull all the way. Trainer Hyland remarked after the race that he did not consider Firearm up to his best, as he had been ailing the past two weeks. If he improves over his showing of Wednesday it will take a first class colt to defeat him. It is unfortunate that he has been declared out of the Futurity and next year's Realization. He was one of the youngsters destined for England last year when Mr. Belmont determined on an invasion of that country. He was accordingly declared out of his engagements here. When the stable went amiss, which necessitated another change, the colt was entered in all the stakes which closed last winter. It was only by an oversight that he was left in the rich Double Event, the first part of which he did not start for. He was under the weather at the time and it was won by imp. Bowling Brook, a good, game honest colt by Ayrshire—Vacation. Firearm will in all probability start for the second part of the stake.

Sam Hildreth, with the horses belonging to the Sinks, pere and fils, has had fair success. He has had several returned winners, Yemen, All Over, Caesarian and Sir Play, each winning a bracket. They have also been placed several times. Alvarado has been inside the money, but his temper has not improved any, which has cost him at least one race.

"Bill" Murray and Tommy Lottridge paid the tracks a visit a week ago. They looked the field over, murmured something about it being "soft," and then stole away. Since then the Lottridge and Atkin string have arrived at Sheepshead Bay. All are in good shape and will soon be heard from. The gentle "Willie" is not in evidence. No doubt he will turn up when least expected, tell everybody that his horses have all the ailments on the calendar, and then—win all the races in sight. Willie is a dove.

Libertine and Tea Rose arrived here safe and sound and are taking slow exercise. Tom Kiley's horses are doing likewise. P. Dunne's horses have been given a long rest and are just beginning to get fast work. They will be ready about the time Brighton Beach opens.

The three-year olds keep beating one another with great regularity. First one wins and then another gets the decision. The Friar and Voter are two fast milers, but they do not show a disposition to go any further. No one colt seems able to give another weight. They are like a good cluster of cherries—all ripe, but in a bunch. They are all poor performers in heavy going except Octagon and Don de Oro. The Belmont pair seem to be the best in this kind of a track. Scottish Chieftain and On Deck are the best of the lot, in my opinion, over a distance of ground. The former appears to have the Realization at his mercy, the best against him apparently being Rensselaer. The latter and On Deck were maidens up to the first part of the year. They show stake form and prove that the excessive racing of two-year-olds is injurious to the usefulness of the race horse. Scottish Chieftain did not race much as a two year-old and the other two did not come to hand early. On Deck has not fully developed yet, being a young giant. If everything goes all right with him till next year he will be a hard horse to beat in handicap and over a distance of ground. He is the true type of a "cup" horse and will undoubtedly make a mark for himself. He is of a fine, quiet disposition and has an action almost faultless. He was owned by Arthur White, son of "Deacon" White of Wall street fame, but was sold last week to Bromley & Co. for $10,000. Charley Hughes, who trains, thinks he has a prize in On Deck, and is not going to hurry the colt.

Rensselaer is also a fine-looking colt. He has size and substance, and is one of the best-looking sons of Hayden Edwards I ever saw. His dam is The Belle. "Jack" McDonald, the bookmaker, who owns him, also bred him. He has not been asked to go over a distance yet, but in his last race at a mile and a furlong he was beaten two short heads. He gave away weight to those who beat him (Sir Walter and Cromwell), and with better handling would have won.

Judging by the form shown here by the three-year-olds, Ornament and Typhoon will more than hold their own with them. Last fall when they were here they could beat the youngsters pitted against them, and as they have not deteriorated any they should again finish in front of them. Ogden is in very bad form and is seemingly unable to beat even a selling plater.

Tod Sloan is still the king pin of the jockeys. During the meeting just closed at the Brooklyn track he had thirty-seven mounts, seventeen of which he won. His average this season, a little better than one win to every three mounts, is exceptionally good, and shows that this precocious young man has all his skill about him. He beats the gait and is riding a much more vigorous finish than is his wont. Taral was in poor luck. He rode thirty-two horses, only two of which were returned winners. Sims was the second most successful jockey, winning eleven out of forty-nine races. Doggett only had four winners out of forty. "Soup" Perkins, who at one time was considered the premier jockey, rode five races without a win. Hamilton, the one-time "Black Prince;" rode seven without scoring.

Garrison, the only, had just one mount, but this was outside the pale. He rode a camel in the "Streets of Cairo" show and managed to get it into a trot. He says he has ridden many a "lobster," but this was the first camel.

"COCKTAIL" RACEHORSES.—There was a time that racing speed had a value. Now it has to be coupled with something else or even the highest flight of the quality that "The Napoleon of the Turf," William R. Johnson, of Virginia, claimed to be the most important requisite of a race horse is pronounced contraband.

According to "reliable history" the great gun of the racing world of over half a century ago was asked: What was the great desideratum in a race horse? "Speed!" he replied: the second? "More Speed!!" and the third? brought the vehement exclamation "Still More Speed!!!"

But under lately promulgated edicts, they cannot be called laws, as in this republican country the people should be represented, an animal which cannot show five unadulterated crosses of thoroughbred blood is not allowed to race on the most prominent race courses of this country. I asked one of the men, who is a director in the T. C., the reason for the passage of so stringent an ordinance, and he replied that breeders would be compelled to breed better horses.

I am only willing to endorse Fanny Kemble's saying "that none but thoroughbreds did it right well," with the change of one word, few for none, but of course give the few a chance to show their metal. Should there be none that can race then the interedict would be superfluous, as the lack of capacity will soon banish them from the company of their aristocratic relatives.

But in these days of short races short-breeding is not an effectual bar. I have known one race horse, at least, with not a single thoroughbred strain that was clearly defined, that would have held her own with the fastest "sprinter" of the blue bloods. That was the famous California mare Comet, though Oregon was entitled to the credit of producing her. Dr. Knott, of quarter-horse celebrity, matched a very fast thoroughbred colt against her for a quarter of a mile. The man who turned her retained his hold of the bit "after the word" was given until she dragged him forty or fifty yards, when she broke away, the colt so far in lead that it seemed an impossibility for any thing in animal shape to overtake him, though she came very close "to doing the trick." As she could go three-quarters of a mile and carry weight that would stop some of the thoroughbreds her value as a race horse even in these days of great speed would be cheerfully conceded. One cross of clear thoroughbred, and no more, resulted in a horse that it is safe to say was a race horse.

Jim Renwick, by Joe Hooker, from Big Gun, a quarter mare, had an amazing turn of speed, could carry it for what is considered a good distance nowadays, as he went nine furlongs in 1:56½, and he ran on. When five years old he ran fifteen races, won eleven of them, and when six years old ran twenty-five races and won twelve. All of the races in 1884, when six, were run in the East—Jerome Park, Sheepshead Bay, Brighton and Saratoga, the scene of the contests. On the last named course he made five consecutive wins.

That such race horses as Jim Renwick and many others which could be cited should be barred from races in which the veriest "dogs" have a right to start cannot be sustained on the argument that the rule will compel breeders to rear better horses. If these part-breds are so decidedly inferior as claimed, actual racing will demonstrate that it is a sound allegation, if not allowed to compete that can only be assumed.

To justify the rule on the ground that registration is necessary for proper identification is more logical, though to make registration contingent on the possession of certain lines of blood cannot be justified on that score.

Sufficient to certify that Jim Renwick was by Joe Hooker, from Big Gun, a quarter mare, and have that placed on record, with color and marks, and if the pedigree was entirely unknown then enough of the history of the animal and minute description to enable the judges to decide whether he was the horse that was on record or not.

Some noted families carry the blood of the short horse. Miriam, the dam of Mamona, Magenta, Prairie Boy and a number more could not have raced under this rule, and her sons and daughters would also be placed in the rejected division.. Mamona had the "world's record" in her time, and Magenta, a winner in the best of company at distances including heats of three miles, and the dam of the great race horse, Duke of Magenta.

"Miriam, by imp. Glencoe.

First dam, Minerva Anderson, by imp Luzborough.

Second dam by Sir Charles.

Third dam, a famous quarter mare by Bess's Brimmer," is the record in Vol. V, page 360, American Stud Book, and that would only let in Duke of Magenta and others that far removed from the quarter mare. The right of Duke of Magenta to run under the present rule might be questioned. R. A. Alexander paid $3,100 for Miriam and her suckling colt by imp. Knight of St. George, a big price in 1861, but had a parallel rule to that which now governs been then in force she would not have brought as many hundreds as she did thousands.

NOT THE BETTORS—Were it only a question between bookmakers and bettors little space would be given to the methods of speculation pursued on race courses and trotting tracks. If so dull as not to see the difference between five per centum, and twenty-five, or it may be still heavier balances against the bettors, let them pay for their education.

It takes "two to make a bargain," and in cases one to state the terms, a large number to signify their acceptance. Not consummated until the offer is accepted and the money posted and should the odds be considered too short refusal to invest on the terms proposed may induce more liberal offers. My object in showing that the percentage of the bookmakers is far greater than that which comes from mutual playing, is to answer the objections of those who are in opposition, and, therefore, overcome that part of the obstacle in the way of a change. When it is clearly established that in the respect of greater profit to winners "the block" is decidedly superior to bookbetting, the arguments in favor of the more expressive system must be founded on other grounds. When that advantage is generally conceded it can be dismissed and "issue joined" on other points. Simple as it may seem, to convince people, when it is merely the application of the primary rules of arithmetic to secure a verdict, it is not an easy task, and hence it is necessary to present a succession of proofs on the same point.

The San Francisco daily papers did not give the "tote prices" in their reports of the Oakley races, excepting on two of the races on the opening day, when the mutuel returns were large.

The New York Times gives both the book odds and the mutuel returns, and from the number of July 3d I obtain the data for the following table.

The price of a ticket in the mutuel was $5.00, and the same amount placed in the books would return as shown in the table:

Books Paid		The Block Paid
First race, winner 6 to 1	$30.00	$27.25
Second " " 2 to 1	10.00	20 65
Third " " 2 to 1	10 00	14.50
Fourth " " 12 to 1	60.00	130.00
Fifth " " 5 to 2	12.50	20.00
Sixth " " 8 to 5	8.00	10.75
Totals	$130.50	$223.15
Cost of tickets		30.00

Thus in the aggregate the mutuels paid $63.15 more than the books, and in six races three of them, first, third and sixth, the books gave the best return. The average of the odds in the books, 4:33 to 1, in the mutuels 6.43 to 1. The inference that the percentage in the pools and the charge to bookmakers are alike is justified, though it may be that supposition is erroneous. I was informed by a "sheet-writer" for a prominent bookmaker that to pay all the expenses attached six per cent. on the average business was required. The major part of the expense was the amount paid for the privilege, and hence the odds had to be graded on that basis.

But as I have heretofore stated, and oftentimes reiterated, that phase of the question is of minor importance to the others that are involved. And it will be proper for me to repeat that could book-betting be managed so that direct premiums for fraud were not offered, so far as I am individually concerned the system would be satisfactory.

In a measure, at least, a decided leaning to the first innovation in this country, on "out-of-hand" betting, auction pools, that were it left for me to decide, and only one system retained, that would be chosen. Restricted, however, to legitimate work, not left open to the same charge of offering an opportunity for direct emolument in return for robbery as when one choice and the field are alone auctioned, it is identical with the chance in the books, driver or rider being enabled to lay against their horses and receive the reward for losing as soon as the race is finished.

Should the mutuel tickets be issued on the same plan, one choice and the field, equally bad, and the only justification offered in support of the practice that more money taken in the same length of time than when several horses are sold and only two mutuel tickets needed, however large the field is, to say the least, false reasoning.

Profit to the club or association, which offer the purses, and provide funds to carry the meetings through, is greatly to be desired. Every horse-owner is interested in the success of those who engage in the speculation, and a reasonable conclusion that the prosperity of the clubs will inure to the benefit of the horse folk.

But if the largest profit endangers the stability of the enterprise, then clubs, associations, owners and all interested in the business as well will be better off with a smaller yearly return, with better prospects for duration, along, safe bond in place of "wildcat" security.

ANOTHER SCHEME, or rather a combination of the methods of bookmakers and the machinery of Paris mutuels, has been evolved out of the inventive brain of Captain Ben E. Harris, and there is merit enough in the conception to insure a trial. Sheet-writer, ticket-writer and cashier are the active force of the booth; the ticket clerk issuing the certificate of the share or number of shares sought by the purchaser, the one answering to the sheet-writer keeps the record, the cashier pays the money. A description in another part of this number will present fuller intelligence, so that there is no necessity for amplification in this.

The most striking departure from the old systems is the division of the money, in that respect placing the buyer in the same position as the person who makes an entry in the races, and from the little consideration I have given the subject am strongly inclined to the belief that it will meet the approval of a large majority of speculators on races. The person who makes an entry in a trotting race has usually four chances to obtain a part of the purse offered, the customary division being 50, 25, 15 and 10 per centum of the gross amount. In the the new scheme the tickets we will suppose to be five dollars each, the purchaser looking at the dials which tell the number sold on each horse and the total, pays for the number he wants. Whether a single ticket or several, the card given in exchange tells, and however large the sum invested the transaction is completed when the ticket is received. This is surely an improvement over the mutuel system, one ticket in place of several when more than the initial sum is ventured, the objection being that writing the ticket and making the entry adds to the work of the clerks and occupies more time, though when the amount paid in is several multiples of the single ticket price there is a counterbalance.

"Paying out" is a still greater change, though I understand that it is the same method that is employed in Australia by the totalisator and managers. The aggregate of the pool, after percentage is deducted, is divided so much to the first, say 60 per cent., the second 30 per cent. and 10 per cent. to the third, provided it is thought best to make that many prizes.

Then if the horse selected is within the "show" there is a return, though it may prove that "straight" and "place" will be more acceptable. In fact there will be some who will insist that the pool shall be distributed in accordance with the selection of the buyers, that is, if the purchaser places his bet straight, should his choice win, then all say the percentage be credited to the buyers of the winners.

Whether the old-fashioned mutuels, the improvements on that, as claimed for the totalizator, the block, already tried, or a new system like that of Captain Harris is best can only be definitely settled by actual workings, and while the expense of the Australian machine will rule it out of the trials here for this season, there is nothing in the way of practical illustrations being within reach of the others.

So far as I understand the Captain Harris plan, there are dials to show the standing of the horses, and the totals, tickets, books and a booth—the boxes for bookmakers now on the track will answer that purpose—are all that are required to make the test.

F. W. COVEY FOR STARTER.—Scarcely an owner or driver nowadays who does not recognize the importance of having a competent starter, and all of the prominent Eastern associations cheerfully grant the request of those who are much interested.

A waste of time and space to set forth advantages so thoroughly understood, and the only question connected with the subject is, "Who shall the Californian associations employ?" In my opinion there is one man who is eminently well qualified for the position, Mr. F. W. Covey, of Palo Alto, and far from being alone in the estimation, everyone I have conversed with has agreed that the selection cannot be bettered. Then as was published in the paper of last week the Southern folks are also well suited, the list of names attached to the request that Mr. Covey be appointed being those of people who are vitally interested in harness racing.

The only thing in the way was Mr. Covey's connection with Palo Alto, being the superintendent of the horse depar ment of that famous rauch, but he has been granted a leave of absence during the circuit and, therefore, there cannot be any objections. The education for the place could not be improved. Day after day noting every movement of the horses and colts in training, the slightest variation in gait detected, it is quite safe to say that when Mr. Covey is officiating few horses will be started "off their gait."

All kinds of experience in everything pertaining to racing, a favorite of owners and drivers, of commanding presence, urbane and yet decided, now that he has signified his willingness to accept the position the matter is settled.

NOVELTY SURE.—The intention to give a purse for trotters on the English and Australian plan, viz: Starting the slowest of the entries first and following in the rotation, and with spaces between, as marked by their records, to the best of my knowledge is its first trial in this country.

A clumsy sort of a handicap and yet about the only way of bringing horses that are far apart in speed together,

It will be necessary to state what mark "green horses" will be given, and also a limit to the concession. If a 2:40 horse is started 20 seconds before one that has a 2:20 mark he will be a furlong in the lead when the race has commenced, and if both can just equal their record, neither slower or faster, their will be a dead heat. But the slow horse has the advantage in being sent off before the excitement of the start has fairly begun, and until horses are better accustomed to start in sections the last to get the word will have the worst of it.

A good idea, however, and when the conditions are made public I trust that there will be horses enough entered to give it a fair trial.

INDICATIONS are favorable for a good list of entries for the summer meeting. Friday morning enough had already been received by the secretary to warrant thd prophesy that there will be good racing, and when the novelties are agreed upon and published the attractions presented will draw a liberal attendance. A full list of the entries will appear in the next issue of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN.

The Stockton Races.

The officers of the Stockton Driving Club are not allowing any grass to grow under their feet, and if hard work and united effort will produce a good race meet these same gentlemen should be rewarded with the best fair ever given on the Stockton track. They have met with much opposition, but have never given up. With the agreement between the club and the committee of the Agricultural Association signed, the last stumbling block has been removed and all of the energy of the members can be applied to the arrangements.

The close of each day sees everything in better shape and pointing to a successful week's races. The speed programme has been issued and the entry blanks are being sent to all horsemen throughout the State and on this Coast when their addresses can be obtained. While the programme issued does not give all the races the club expects to bring off, it includes the majority of the events. District races will be added and a fast trot and pace will probably be announced later. They may be free for all, but should the officers decide that a large number of the fastest horses could be brought by making them 2:10 class events, the latter will be given.

C. E. Doan, who will have charge of the track, stated yesterday that he expected to have more entries this year than heretofore, and he based his opinion on the number of horsemen who have applied to have their suspensions removed. There have been double as many drivers and owners asking to have themselves reinstated before the season opens as in any former year. Last year was a most disastrous one for the majority of the breeders and owners. Many of them finished the circuit in debt for feed and delinquent in large sums to various associations for entry fees. The Trotting Horse Breeders Association is taking a most active part in the race meets this year and hopes to have a much more profitable season.

The driving club will make a number of changes in the manner of conducting the race meet this year. A charge of 50 cents will be made at the gate and the grand stands will be free. The admission to the park includes all of the privileges of the course, such as quarterstretch badges and other things, which have been paid for heretofore. These conditions should bring out an immense crowd every day. The club may also decide to add special features, such as a bull fight and other attractions, between heats in the harness events.

The pavilion will be filled with the exhibits of all of the leading business firms of the city, the majority of whom have already agreed to make displays. This part of the fair will be under the supervision of Fred Arnold. The admission will be 25 cents to all. The life members of the Agricultural Association, of course, will be compelled to pay both at the pavilion and the park, as they have no connection with the new club.

All of the privileges at the park, such as pools, bar, restaurant, peanuts and candy, will be let to bidders some time in August. The track has been worked all winter and is in first-class condition now. It will be fast as a bullet when the meet opens, September 20th.—Independent.

TURF AND TRACK.

THE SULKY.

Red Wilkes has had four additions to his 2:30 list so far this season.

F. H. Burke has not been able to win any Montana money yet with his horses.

Chris Peterson, by Deputy, son of Echo, won two races last week for Lee Shaner at Anaconda.

The five great pacers with records under 2:04 are all reported to be doing very well in their work.

The pacer Peter Cooper, 2:14½, by Walkill Chief Jr., was destroyed by fire in Philadelphia last month.

We understand Chas. Marvin, the famous reinsman, would like to return to California this season.

Sidworth, 2:22½, by Sidney, was second to Forrest Herr at Charter Oak, July 5th, in 2:14½, 2:17½ and 2:15½.

Hastings, 2:25, a son of Norcatur, he by Norval, trotted to a record of 2:13¼ in a race at Peoria, Ill., July 5th.

Derby Lass, by Chas. Derby, got third money in a race at Columbus, Ohio. She has hardy become acclimated yet.

Jib, 2:17¼, pacing, was by a horse called Senator. Does anyone know which Senator it is that is the sire of this horse?

McKinley Wilkes, a brown horse by Norval, won a heat at Flint, Michigan, in the 2:40 class trotting race, getting a mark of 2:25¼.

Ed. Geers is placing great reliance on Athanio, 2:11¾, to pay the bulk of his expenses for his string of trotters and pacers this year.

Major Lambert, by California Lambert, is pacing in the East. He came in second to Latimer at Bradford, Pa.; time, 2:25, 2:19¼ and 2:21¼.

Rilma, by King Wilkes, that won the M. and M. Stake at Detroit, Mich., was a rank outsider in the betting, selling for $10 in pools of $300.

An electric clock was operated at St. Joseph. It was started by means of a rubber tube stretched across the track immediately beneath the wire.

Nola, by Nutwood, dam by Clark Chief, has been bred to Altamont. C. I. Griffiths, her owner, purchased her at the Hobart sale at a cost of $2,600.

The Abbot, by Chimes, won the second heat of the M. and M. Stake at Detroit, July 13th, in 2:11¾, the fastest heat in the race. Ed. Geers was his driver.

Boydell, by Electioneer, while dead lame, got a record o 2:29 in Mexico, but it was never recorded. F. W. Covey has promised to give us particulars of it.

At the Holton, Kas., race meeting the following California horses won money: Hazel McKinney, Director Prince, Boydell, Javelin, Ottinger, She and Agitato.

Teazle, 2:29¾, by Electioneer, out of Telie, by Gen. Benton, was only beaten a head in the third heat in 2:21½ by Pastoral at Charter Oak Park on the opening day.

Col. Kuser, 2:11¼, by Stranger, Charity, 2:35, by St. Cloud, Luella, 2:34¼, by Royal Fearnaught and Grace O'Malley, 2:19¼, by Nutwood, have been shipped to Europe.

At Pat Shank's, last week, Col. Edwards' two-year-old filly Fairway, by Steinway, was given her first work since the Cleveland sale. She stepped halves in 1:23 and 1:20.

Ed Tipton offers to bet that the get of Marcus Daly's stallion Prodigal will win first, second and third money in the Kentucky Futurity for two-year olds to be trotted at Lexing this fall.

Ella T., 2:08¼, is pacing now without hopples, and since Tilden is winning everything in sight with her it seems that he has overcome the mare's inclination to make frequent breaks.

The track at Anaconda has not been very good for the light harness horses, the heavy rains making the surface a sea of mud. But this is no fault of the association or its energetic officers.

Conde, by Abbottsford, Willema, by Eros, and Carrie S., by Altamont, engaged in a free-for-all race at Vancouver, B. C. They finished in the order named. Time, 2:28¾, 2:31¼ and 2:28½.

Coralwood is the name of a black daughter of Silkwood, 2:07, that won a pacing race for 2:40 class horses at Bradford, Pa., June 30th. She paced the last three heats in 2:21¼, 2:21¾ and 2:22¾.

Boydello, driven by Dustin, proved himself a race horse at Peoria, Ill., July 6th. He was second in the first two heats and then won the last three. Time: 2:19¼, 2:15½, 2:17¼, 2:14¾ and 2:16¼.

Over thirty thousand people paid to see the opening of Charter Oak Park, Hartford, Connecticut, July 5th. Who says the light harness horse racing has lost its drawing power in the Nutmeg State?

Agitato, by Steinway, won the free for all pace at Holton, Kas., July 3rd. The first heat was won in 2:07½ by the four-year-old gelding, King Diamonds, by Velocity, Agitato taking he next two in 2:13¼ and 2:09.

The announcement was made at New York City last Monday that the much-talked-of $25,000 purse for a trotting race is now a certainty and that the event will be decided at the fall meeting at Fleetwood Park.

The late sale of Palo Alto Stock was really a good one, when taking into consideration that there were so many unbroke and undeveloped. Fourteen geldings averaged $72; sixteen fillies, $57; six broodmares, $52.

The advertisement of the Woodland race meeting appears in this issue. The greatest interest is being taken by the residents of Woodland and surrounding country to make this one of the best meetings to be held this year.

Creole, 2:15, sire of Javelin, 2:09¼, was raffled off at Honolulu, last month, and the happy winner is going to sell this horse in Australia. Creole was a game little pacer when campaigned by Thos. Snider, on the California circuit.

Dr. W. J. Simmons, one of the leading veterinarians of Boston and who has been a subscriber to the Breeder and Sportsman for fourteen years, is visiting the leading stock farms of California. He is delighted with our climate and people.

Ottinger has lost none of his speed. He won a free for all trotting race at Holton, Kas., July 2d, in 2:13½, 2:14½ and 2:16, defeating W. S. Hobart's mare, She, by Abbottsford. Jimmie Dustin seems to understand this horse, and drove like a general.

Don't the entries for the Los Angeles races look well? Too much credit cannot be given the managers for the new move they have inaugurated to get large lists of horses entered. It is the first step toward helping the breeding interests of California.

L. Hewlett, of Oakland, is the owner of a number of promising colts and fillies, one, in particular, a two-year-old colt by Rokeby (son of Director and Lilly Stanley) is the speediest youngster of his age in Alameda county. Mr. Hewlett will have him in the races next year.

Mr. Ed. Topham, of Milpitas, has sent his fine horse, Ned Thorn, to H. Helman at the Hollister track to be trained for circuit this season. Ned is by Billy Thornhill, dam Lady Nutwood, by Nutwood. Mr. Helman has handled horses before for Mr. Topham, and has always given entire satisfaction.

James B. Iverson has moved his stable of trotters and pacers to the Salinas race track, where, under the manipulation of the well-known trainer and driver, "Vet" Kent, the finishing touches will be put on the animals for their engagements at the Breeders' meeting at Oakland on the 31st instant.

J. C. Wilson, of Santa Barbara, sold his fine trotter Belle Wilson recently to Mr. Hill Pennell, of Philadelphia, for the neat sum of $1200 and he also sold to the same gentleman his grey gelding Bob Mason, who has no record but trots in 2:10 and is a full brother to Waldo J. The price of Bob Mason is not known.

W. J. Hotchkiss, of Tarrytown, N. Y., has charge of six head of trotting stock which he is to take from Haywards to his home some time this month. He is desirous of taking a few more to complete the carload. Any one wishing to avail themselves of this opportunity can learn further particulars by applying at this office.

The new race track at San Pablo provided by Messrs. Marchand and J. Rosa was opened on Sunday last with some very good races. About 700 people were present, nearly 500 of whom were from Oakland and Alameda county. Lady O, who has a record of 2:16, won a race in 2:24½. J. Rosa's Sidney was also a winner. Time, 2:35½.

At Washington Hollow last week, Rube Smith, of Cornwall, New York, brought out a very fast son of Sidney, 2:19¼, in the Chestnut horse, Pleasanton Boy. He had never done much good until this spring. In the 2:50 trot he took the second heat in 2:27½, the fourth in 2:29½, and the fifth in 2:32. His dam is Oak Grove Belle, by Arthurton.

The famous old Charter Oak track at Hartford, Connecticut, was reopened last week and 30,000 people attended the jollification. John R. Gentry was turned down by Star Pointer, with Frank Agan third. Star's best mile was made in 2:04¾, which is the best harness heat this year and shows also that the much-praised Gentry is not worth bragging about.

Silver Chimes, by Almy Chimes, won the first heat of the 2:17 class for pacers at Readville, July 3d, taking a record of 2:10½, Esperance, by Brandon, winning the next three heats and reducing his record to 2:11¼. In the 2:07 class for pacers at the same place Guinette won in straight heats in 2:08½, 2:08¾ and 2:07½; the last half of the third mile was in 1:03.

All the Santa Rosa horses in training are doing well, and some good results can be expected. Some of them will start at Oakland. The Rosedale Farm horses are being worked on the Rosedale track, which is in very good condition. The others are being trained on Pierce Bros.' track. W. H. Morris' fine mare Thesus is showing good track improvement under the handling of Mart Rollins. She is going fast

The only large California stock farm that has any representative on the Eastern tracks is the Oakwood Park Stock Farm with the bay mare Javelin, by Creole, 2:15. She is in Monroe Salisbury's charge, and at Holton, Kas., July 1st, she won a splendid race in a field of nine, capturing the three heats in 2:14, 2:13½ and 2:15½. Such good ones as Lena Hill, Lady Waldstein and Russell T. were among those defeated.

Mr. A. L. Hart, who was once Attorney-General of California, loves a good horse, and every other day he may be seen driving through Golden Gate Park, behind one of the finest looking Director mares in this State. She is out of Almonta and was bred by him. There are few, if any mares, that can pass her and as she goes without boots or check, is afraid of nothing and always ready when called upon, many a horseman envies this gentlemen the pleasure he takes while driving her.

Stam B., 2:11¼, is sustaining the reputation predicted of him in the Breeder and Sportsman three years ago. He is a race horse of the first class. What a pity it is that E. L. Harriman, owner of Stamboul, does not purchase Belle Medium, 2:20, the dam of Stam B., and breed her to his horse every year. He has not a better looking nor a better bred mare on his farm, and we understand she can be bought quite reasonable.

John Tilden is following the Central New York circuit with his stable of horses, which is making things very lively for the Eastern horses. He has Ella T., 2:08¼, by Altamont; Touchet, 2:15, by Altamont; Happy Union, 2:20½, by Union Medium; Tenino, 2:29½, by Altamont, and a fast green one called Lentolus, by Pactolus. Tilden will follow the Central New York circuit until the Grand Circuit reaches the East, when he will tackle the big fellows, and he expects to get his share of the money, no matter how fast the company.

Chas. McIver's handsome horse, Director Prince, by Director, 2:17, dam by Dexter Prince, won a race at Holton, Kansas, June 1st, and got a record of 2:29½. This horse was bred by N. J. Stone, of Mountain View; he was worked as a three-year-old and then turned out and bred to some mares near Irvington, and the progeny are all fine lookers. This year Mr. McIver leased him to Messrs. Griffiths and Salisbury, who have every reason to believe he will get a low mark before his return to the vine-clad hills and valleys of Irvington.

Quite a number of our local horse-owners are looking forward expectantly to the first meeting of the circuit which opens at Oakland, July 31st, and will last about a week. Thomas Smith is going to enter some of his fast ones they are, Dollican 2:21½, Joe Selby, a three-year old, who is very fast, Columbus S., 2.19½, Sweet Rose and Stella. Geo. Washington, who is now about 11 years old will not probably do much more track work as his age is against him. This string of horses can be relied on to give a good account of themselves when they start.—Vallejo Chronicle.

Harry Wise, one of the most prominent young merchants of San Francisco, is a devout lover of a good trotter or pacer, and his selection of the speedy pacing mare Lena N. shows that he made no mistake when he purchased her. At Anaconda last Friday she went out and won the 2:10 class pacing race easily in 2:15½, 2:12¾ and 2:16½, defeating such good ones as Fellfare, Strathmont and Pathmont. Mr. Wise is a shrewd investor and no doubt backed his mare well in the pools. She was selling in the field, and odds as good as 10 to 1 were obtained against her.

Searchlight, the sensational young pacer of the hour, comes by his great speed honestly. He has a double infusion of the famous George Wilkes blood. He is by Darknight, a son of Alcvone, dam by Furor, a son of the great show horse, King Rene. Ed Tipton sold Searchlight to D. G. Bricker for $3,000 and he was subsequently sold at sheriff's sale to James Leonard, of Pleasanton. C. S. Crellin, of Pleasanton, finally secured the youngster for $1,100. It should also be stated that Darknight, the sire of Searchlight, was sold to the German government for $10,000.

Javelin is, as we have always claimed, a great race mare even if she is full of that blood which so many claim is "soft," Flaxtail. This daughter of Creole was in a pacing race at Peoria, Ill., July 7th, in the 2:09 class. There were the following entries: Javelin, Choral, Bright Light, Sherman Clay, Hal Crego, Berkshire, Courier, Stella and Agitato. The latter was distanced in the first heat. Javelin was the contending horse in every heat and this is the way the summary read; Javelin 1, 1, 2, 2, 2, 1; time, 2:12½, 2:09¼, 2:09¼, 2:11½, 2:14¾ and 2:11, the last heat was decided the following day, Choral being the contending horse. Javelin is owned at the Oakwood Park Stock Farm, Danville, Contra Costa County.

Jimmy Dustin is now driving the Winship harness horses. The piece of news will be read with surprise by many knights of the sulky now in this city. The row between Winship and Hodges at Denver has come in for considerable comment and the sympathy of the horsemen at Anaconda, especially those of the Colorado circuit, is entirely with Hodges, who landed back in California with less than one hundred dollars in his pocket. Hodges made the mistake of his life in signing with Winship. In the first place, Hodges had Boydello and Hazel Kinney leased for the season, but when he accepted a position to drive the Winship horses one of the conditions was that Boydello and Hazel Kinney should be leased to Winship. Hodges also contracted to drive at 153 pounds and according to report, he half starved himself to keep down his weight. As Hazel McKinney and Boydello are two of the best bread winners in the Winship stable, it will readily be seen that Hodges got all the worst of it. The row which had been brewing for some time really culminated over the exercising of Lady Waldstein, and finally degenerated into a common scrapping match.—Rural Spirit.

An old trotting-horse man who is a pretty keen observer made a few remarks the other evening about drivers of the present day that hit some of them pretty hard. He said: "If there's anything I hate it is to see one of these 'ere dude drivers that are too high toned to take a good hold of a rub cloth and work. They'd sooner stand around with their kids on and give orders, and take the word of their men that the horse was all right. I've seen Johnny Goldsmith take off his coat many a time, roll up his sleeves, grab a cloth and go to work as if he meant it. I have seen Hickok, Doble, Geers, Marvin, and lots of high-classed drivers, pitch in as if their lives depended upon it. Nowadays, a swipe gets up behind a fast horse that anyone kin team and it wins; right away, he's a gentleman too proud to rub and too lazy to move. He's a full-fledged, dyed-in-the-wool professional. A man gives him a horse and every time he goes to see the horse work out he sees this professional stand off and boss the rubbers, never offering to lend them a hand to hitch up, or examining the boots to see if they're all right. Do you mean to tell me that that gentleman's opinion of the driver is elevated? No sir! He is disgusted, and when he sees the horse acting bad by striking himself, one boot flying one way, a toe weight another, the check unfastened, he goes home and the professional, who has put on more style than this man can afford to, even if he owns the horse, is soon notified to send the horse home. Laziness is a curse and when you put pride and conceit along with it, I tell you its purty near time to put the fellow believing in such a system, back to either rubbing horses or measuring tape."

THE SADDLE.

AT Oakley, July 9th, Geyser ran third in a fast mile and twenty-yard handicap to Macy and Panmure.

AREZZO won cut down at Sheffield last week. It was his first time out since he was shipped from California.

BEN BRUSH won the Brighton Handicap by a small margin last Monday, The Friar second and Volley third, time, 2:09.

BRAXEY finally won a race for Aleck Shields. It was a five-furlong dash at Fort Erie, July 9th, and the filly ran it in 1:02½.

HAMBURG won the second part of the Double Event at Sheepshead Bay last Saturday with 129 lbs. up, time 1:11 1-5 (over the Futurity course).

J. M. B., a 100 to 1 shot, backed to 4 to 1, won by a head at St. Louis on Wednesday last and injured (financially) several out-of-line odds-layers.

CAPTAIN HALL, 150 to 1 shot, gave the race-goers at Sheffield, Ind., a great shock when he won a five-furlong race from a fine field on the 9th inst.

PAT DUNNE'S good Emperor of Norfolk colt, Estaca, defeated Declare, Ben Eder and other good ones at a mile and a sixteenth over Brighton Beach track last Wednesday.

GREYHURST, Johnny Woods up, won a six-furlong race in, the muddy going at St. Louis last Tuesday, Gustave Cook, Bridget, Horseshoe Tobacco and Garland Barr finishing behind the gray.

THE winners at Anaconda last Wednesday were Searchlight (who paced in 2:11¼), Klamath (best time 2:14¼), Shellac, Lena, Sir Richard and Urline. Tim Murphy ran second to Sir Richard.

OUR GERTIE, by Salvator—Columbine, won a two-year-old race at half a mile in 0:47¾ at Sheffield, Ind., July 8th. She belongs to W. M. Singerly, who was part owner of Morello, and the filly carried 107 pounds.

SALVABLE got home first in a mile race at Brighton Beach last Thursday, track muddy. Deerslayer, another Californian, finished third in the same race. Premier, by Sir Modred, ran second to Setfast at a mile that afternoon, too.

THE Vernal Stakes. $2,000 guaranteed, for two-year-old fillies, were won this year by Marcus Daly's ch f Sweet Briar, a full sister to Dr. Hasbrouck, and bred at Rancho del Paso. She ran the distance over the Sheepshead track in 1:01 4-5.

D. CAMERON, who has a lease on May W's racing qualities, is also using a four-year-old sister to the filly named Plumeria. Both, by the way, are by Eagle Plume, out of Friola, and not Sangaree, the dam of old Lucinda, as reported in the books.

W. M. MURRY'S good Islington colt, Michael III,, made his Eastern debut at Brighton Beach last Monday, and ran second to Blue Beard in a five-furlong dash. "The Duke" will certainly add glory to California when his flyers get thoroughly acclimated.

C. E. FARNUM, M. D., advertises in this issue a number of thoroughbreds for sale. In the lot is a two-year-old bay colt by St. Saviour (son of Eolus, the sire of Morello), dam imp. Negress, by Plebeian; second dam Feodorowna, by Playfair (brother to Sterling sire of Isonomy).

THE BACHELOR, with the California lad, Joe Piggott, up ran second to Elano at Oakley last Tuesday, the latter being ridden by a Californian, Beauchamp. Booze, a California-bred horse, ran third in the race. Thus the Golden State was well represented, one way and another.

MR. E C. COWDEN has sold to Mr. J. B. Haggin the following broodmares: Vivacity, Valleria, Sister Geneva, Hazelhurst, half sister to Galilee, and three others. Mr. Cowden took the value of the mares in yearlings at the recent sale of Mr. Haggin.—Thoroughbred Record.

LEORA, a half-sister to Al Farrow, won a three-furlong race at Anaconda, Mont., on the 9th inst., time 0:34½. She carried 109 pounds. The L's were lucky that day, Lena N. winning the 2:10 pace, Lulu Horton a five-furlong race, Lena at seven furlongs, and Leora, as spoken of above.

THE Kentucky Association course at Lexington, Ky., the oldest race track in the country, was sold at court sale last Monday to Charles Green, agent for St. Louis bondholders, for $23,325. The property was assessed ten years ago at $90,000. The Kentucky Association will try to have the sale set aside.

THE success on the turf of the sons of imp. Order is truly phenomenal. Ornament is the best colt thus far shown, Paul Griggs has won a grand string of victories and Good Order is above the ordinary as a racer. Happy Hours, a filly by Order from Princess Chuck, beat a fine field over a mile of ground at Oakley on the 7th of July.

ALVARADA won a mile and three-furlong race on the turf course at Sheepshead Bay last Thursday, "Skeets" Martin up, time 2:22 1-5 (fast), odds 5 to 1. Greyhurst, J. Woods up, ran second to Timemaker at St. Louis, time 1:40¾ for the mile. Salmera (sister to Salvation), Tom Bigbee, Dorah Wood and Tommy Tucker were the winners of the runs at Anaconda, Mont.

IF you are proud of California, her racers and racing clubs, you should purchase the beautiful souvenir, "Racing in California," recently issued in this city. It contains a lot of good matter, California turf history, and the pictures of equine celebrities and men prominent in racing affairs are well executed. The price, post paid, is 50 cents, money in advance. Address this office.

MANDOLINA (by El Rio Rey—Otelia) conceded weight to a good field at Sheffield, Ind., last week, and won a mile and a half race in 2:34¾ with 102 pounds up Evanatus, Sulross, Babe Murphy, Dockstader and others finished behind her. This mare also ran a mile and a quarter this year in 2:07½, and a mile and a sixteenth in 1:47½, besides finishing a good second in a mile and three-sixteenths, run in 1:59¾. The record is 1:58½.

IT makes the eyes of old-timers snap to read that Tim Murphy was first at Anaconda last Saturday and Sir Richard second. Los Prietos beat Shellac, Salmera and others in a fast five and one-half furlong race, imp. Isidore won the Smeltermen's Handicap, $1,000, for Marcus Daly, with 'Ostler Joe in the place and Notice third, while Dorah Wood beat I Don't Know and May W. at four and one-half furlongs, run in 0:55 flat.

THE gates of Harlen (Chicago) track reopened last Wednesday, July 14th, for a thirty-day meeting. We acknowledge receipt of the first week's programme from Secretary Martin Nathanson, and it provides for all classes of horses. The track is one of the best in America and everything about the establishment is first-class. The winners the first day were C. H. Whelan, Miss Gussie Preston, Ben Waddell, Presbyterian and Foreseen.

THE following dispatch came from Sacramento July 13th: Under-Sheriff Black, of San Joaquin county, to-day brought here John Hennessy, charged with grand larceny. The accusation is made by Frank McDermitt, who is the ostensible owner of the race horse Walter J. Last month the horse was taken from the yard by Hennessy, who claimed to be the real owner of the animal. Nothing more was heard of the affair until Hennessy was arrested.

TAMMANY threatens to become the champion sire of the day, and once upon a time he was the champion racer. His two year-olds on the Montana circuit (his first lot to race) seem to outclass everything opposed to them, shoes to plates. Tammany is by the American winner of the Epsom Derby, Iroquois, from Tullahoma, by imp. Great Tom, and retired to the stud as sound as the proverbial dollar. Being a grand race horse himself, a superb individual and bred in royal lines, it would not be at all surprising if the Tammanys proved the best youngsters seen in many years. Very few perfectly sound stallions are at the stud these days.

THE HORSEMAN advocates the timing of horses in races by electricity, as it is done in Australia. We long ago urged the adoption of this device. It will do away with "suppression of time," one of the greatest evils of the trotting turf. Our Chicago contemporary makes an excellent suggestion anent an electric gong for calling harness racers back when it is "no go." This gong is to be placed on a semaphore arm, and the pressing of one button would set it going, another button could be used to stop it. This would save lungs and lots of labor. This paper also urges that an electric device be used by the distance judge, a flag being dropped instantly when a button was pressed by that official in the judges' stand when the first horse passes the wire.

AT the sale of the Fairview yearlings (American Horse Exchange, New York) July 6th, the following brought $1,000 or upward: Chestnut colt by imp. St. Blaise—Etiquette, by Enquirer, H. Balcom (for Matt Byrnes), $4,100; bay colt by imp. Quicklime—Bracelet, by imp. Mr. Pickwick, H. Balcom, $2,000; bay colt by imp. Quicklime—Chamlette, by imp. Darebin, Walter Rollins, $1,500; bay colt by Phœnix—Glen Hop, by imp. Glengarry, R L. Rose, $1,350; bay colt by Exile—Fidele, by Alarm, W. Lakeland, $1,100. The highest-priced youngster by imp. Cheviot was a chestnut colt from Miss McNally, by Miser, this one going to J. E. Seagram at $500. A chestnut filly by Rey del Rey (brother to El Rio Rey and Emperor of Norfolk) from Girofle (dam of Redskin) brought $500. Several of the yearlings brought between $600 and $900.

THE Castleton yearlings of Mr. James R. Keene, sold at the Sheepshead Bay paddocks, brought the following prices July 3rd: Brown or bay colt, by Hindoo—Bonnie Gal, P. J. Dwyer, $2,500; bay filly, by Tournament—Princess Iskra, R. Tucker, $175; bay or brown colt, by Tournament—Citronella, T. J. Healey, $800; bay filly, by Himyar or Tournament—Sundown, J. C. McCormick, $400; brown colt, by Tournament—Cinderella, A Taylor, $275; bay or brown colt, by Tournament—Royal Nun, A. Taylor, $425; chestnut colt, by St. Leonards—Vanduara, J. G. Follansbee, $500; chestnut colt by St. Leonards—Veva, W. C. Daly, $400; chestnut colt, by St. Leonards—Lucille, J. E. Seagram, $800; chestnut nut filly, by Hyderabad—Innerdale, Matt Byrnes, $275; brown filly, by Tournament—Distaff, J. S. Curtis, $100; chestnut filly, by Chorister—Belle Rose, J. S. Curtis, $700; chestnut colt by Sir Dixon—Daphne, P. J. Dwyer, $850; chestnut filly, by Kallicrates—Blue Grass Belle, W. Lakeland, $400; chestnut colt, by Sir Dixon—Atala, J. E. Seagram, $800; chestnut filly, by Kallicrates—Lucy Wallace, J. S. Curtis, $100.

THE rule of the Hurlingham Polo Club for measuring the height of ponies is as follows: "The measurements shall be made with a standard approved by the club and in a box with a level floor specially erected for the purpose. Neither the owner of the pony nor his servant shall on any account enter the box during the measurement, nor shall any other person be admitted unless specially authorized by the official measurer, but members of the Polo Committee shall have a right to attend the measurement when their own ponies are not being measured. The pony shall stand stripped on the level floor and the measurements shall be made at the highest point of the withers. The pony shall be held by a person deputed by the official measurer. The head shall be so held that a line from the poll to the withers would be parallel to the floor. The forelegs from the point of the shoulder and hindlegs from the back downward shall be as perpendicular to the floor and as parallel to each other as the conformation of the horse allows. The withers may be shaved, but the mane must not be pulled down, nor the skin of the neck or withers in any way interfered with."

EDDIE JONES has been indefinitely suspended by the St. Louis judges for his suspicious riding of Madeline, the property of the rich distillers of Kentucky, the Mattingly Bros. Madeline was entered in a race last Tuesday, but was ordered scratched until the investigation was concluded. It is extremely likely that little Jones, once the idol of San Francisco race-goers and a model of honor and energy, will be ruled off the turf for life. Thousands will hear of his downfall with feelings of sorrow. It's probably another case of too much bookmaker.

GEN. W. H. JACKSON, of the Belle Meade Stud, sailed for England quite recently. He will be the guest of Mr. Richard Croker, and will visit all of the principal stud farms of England. The General expects to be abroad about three months. In speaking of his yearling sale he expressed himself as being perfectly satisfied, as he did not expect a big average this year. He knows they are a good lot, and as the majority of them went into good hands he feels certain that the showing of Belle Meade bred ones will cause this year's crop to be in demand, as they are a remarkably fine lot. General Jackson is thinking of placing about twenty-five of the pick into the hands of the American Horse Exchange for shipment to England and sell them at auction there. There is no doubt whatever but that a good-looking lot of yearlings by Iroquois would fetch a good big average.

THE late General Abe Buford, a famous turfman, served in the Confederate cavalry from September 1st, 1862, to June 1865. The General at the time he enlisted in the service weighed 325 pounds and no time up to the surrender did he weigh less, and once he weighed 365 pounds, with his overcoat and saber on. What must we think then of the constitution and endurance of the horse that packed this man, saddle, blanket, saber, pistol and overcoat for nearly three years, through a hard and continuous campaign, both winter and summer, and when the war closed old Wagner, for such was his name, was taken back to Bosque Bonita as sound as a dollar in both wind and limb. In all the history of the world there is no such record of endurance and weight carried as this. Wagner was a chestnut, 15½ hands, and weighed about 1200 pounds. He was by the celebrated horse Wagner, who beat the great Grey Eagle in Louisville in 1839, out of Prunella by Glencoe, and was foaled in 1855, making him seven years old when he entered the service.

THE Realization, the greatest of all three-year-old prizes in America, was decided at Sheepshead Bay last Saturday in the presence of 12,000 persons. It was won by A. H. and D. H. Morris' chestnut imported colt, The Friar, son of Friar's Balsam and Lizzie Baker, with John E. McDonald's Rensselaer second and Robert C. Hale's Buddha third. The distance of the Realization is a mile and five furlongs, and The Friar ran it in 2:48 2-5, by all odds the fastest time ever scored for the race and only two-fifths of a second slower than the world's record made by the three-year-old Hindoocraft over the same ground with only ninety five pounds in the saddle. Rensselaer ran lapped on The Friar's saddle at the wire. Buddha was a distant third. The stake was worth $18 475 to the winner, $3,166 56 to the second horse and $1,583 34 to the third. The Friar's performance was marvelous, but, sad to say, evoked more demonstrations of ill will than approval, hisses sounding loud above the handclapping when Littlefield rode back to dismount. The Friar has performed most inconsistently this year; in fact, was none too consistent at times last year, and only a week ago his trainer, the veteran R. W. Walden, issued a letter to the public explaining that the colt was one of the most irritable and nervous thoroughbreds he had ever trained.

THE second batch of yearlings from James R. and Foxhall P. Keene's Castleton Stud, at the Easton Paddocks, July 5th, was not productive of the fair prices of Saturday. The highest price of the sale was $900, which was paid by A. Taylor for a chestnut colt by Hyderabad—Ocean Queen. Details of the sale, with the pedigrees of the yearlings, the names of the purchasers and the prices are as follows: Bay filly, by Tournament—Maid of Dorset, by Dutch Skater, R. Tucker, $100; chestnut colt, by Chorister—Vivid, by Speculum, William Lakeland, $200; bay filly, by Tournament—Elsie, by See Saw, R. Tucker, $225; chestnut colt, by St. Leonards—Lady Iverness, by Powhatan, R. Tucker, $100; bay filly, by Tournament—Orchia, by Ben d'Or, W. L. Powers. $300; chestnut colt, by Hyderbad—Ocean Queen, by Prince Charlie, A. Taylor, $900; chestnut colt, by St. Leonards—Dart Maiden, by St. Galten, E. B. Baker, $600; brown colt, by Himyar or Tournament—Glide, by Chippendale, R. Tucker, $100; bay colt (half brother to banquet,) by Hyderabad—Ella T., by War Dance, P. J. Dwyer, $200; chestnut filly, by Hyderabad—Glimmer Glass, by Speculum; J. S. Curtis, 100; chestnut colt, by St. Leonards—Paradox, by Rayon d'Or, Lewis Elmore, $400; chestnut filly, by Tournament or Chorister—Hampton Belle, by Hampton, J S, Curtis, $300. Total for 12 head, $3,525. Average per head, $203

THE Mexican News of July 5th publishes a long interview with Col. Robert C. Pate regarding the recent story of Geo. Van Gorden of poisoning and other alleged criminal doings at the Indianilla track, of which Col. Pate is manager. The Colonel indignantly asserts that Van Gorden dallied with the truth, and says "the racing industry in Mexico is in a live and healthy condition to those who come here and are fair to themselves and that will race honorably and be men among men, and the industry has a great future and can get all the support necessary in the way of horses, notwithstanding the loud-mouthed obstructionists." Then Col. Pate tells of sending a statement of his side of the question to the Chronicle (it has not been printed, we believe) and declares that Van Gorden's grievance was simply that Turfman Skaggs, of Indian Territory, had a better string of race horses than he did and took good care of them. Col. Pate goes on to say that Van Gorden entered Morgan G. under the name of M. G. with a full knowledge that he was doing wrong, and won with him; that Van Gorden claimed Morgan G. was owned by one Goldman, and he (Van Gorden) was not punished because they were lenient with him, thinking he had been misled; that Skaggs claimed the purse, and Van Gorden said, "Yes, give Skaggs the purse." Col. Pate then claims that after this Van Gorden and others tried to have Skaggs ruled off the turf so that Lulu Fry would be out of a certain $800 race to be run. Their plans were frustrated. The manager declares that the claim about the fifteen pounds of lead in Lulu Fry's jockey's cap is absolutely false, that Skaggs and his employes were honorably discharged by the Correctional Court, that Skaggs is now racing at Kansas City, and winds up by saying that Morgan G. acted as if "hypoed," not poisoned.

As a number of delinquent subscribers to the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN have failed to respond to the notices sent, we beg to notify them that their names will be dropped from our subscription lists at once. We would like to present this paper FREE to every one interested in horses in California, believing they would then know what it is doing for their best interests in keeping the people informed about all horses, races, breeders, etc, were it not for the fact that the agent for paper, the printers and all others connected with this journal must be paid. We are receiving additions to our subscription lists every day from bona fide subscribers who pay for the paper, hence we cannot afford to carry a list of "dead heads" any longer. It is a strange fact, the BREEDER AND SPORSTMAN is the first thing many horsemen and race-goers look for and the very last thing they will pay for.

The State Fair.

A number of changes in dates have been made in the programme advertised by the State Agricultural Society for the State Fair this year. ENTRIES WILL CLOSE SATURDAY, JULY 31st, two weeks from to-day. Entry blanks may be obtained from Secretary Edwin F. Smith, Sacramento, or from the office of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN. Horse-owners should read the list of races to be given and not overlook any. There may be races there that will just suit their horses, and everyone knows that at no place on the California circuit is greater interest taken in racing than here. The track will be in splendid condition, and by the arrangement of the races one day devoted to the light-harness division and the next to the gallopers. The interest of the public will be kept to the highest pitch until the meeting ends. Extraordinary methods will be employed to have the track perfect for both classes, so that there will be good time made, and neither class injured by racing. The entrance fee is five per cent., with five per cent. from money-winners.

F. W. Covey for Starter.

Since the announcement was made that F. W. Covey might be induced to accept the position of starting judge, we have received a number of communications from prominent horsemen asking that we do all we can to get him to accept, for, as they say, "there is not, and there cannot be, a better one." We need a starter, one who thoroughly understands when horses are trotting or pacing, and Mr. Covey, having had a life-long experience, is so well qualified that he has become, we might say, famous. He has a good, clear voice, and, being a strict disciplinarian, will be all the California horsemen will look for. We believe in encouraging "home talent," and deem it an honor to have such an able representative, so Mr. Covey has consented to act, and has been granted a leave of absence from the Palo Alto Stock Farm, provided he is appointed starter on the California Circuit. He could not hold his position as superintendent of the farm and act as judge, too. We earnestly hope his services will be secured, for we believe the best interests of the associations and horsemen will be well looked after if F. W. Covey is in the stand.

Racing and Betting Methods of the Present.

The following article appeared in the Sacramento Record-Union of July 9th, and doubtless reflects the feeling of the people of the interior, and Sacramento in particular, regarding racing and bookmaking methods of the present:

The four days' racing meeting at Agricultural Park closed yesterday. The attendance was very light, as it had been throughout. The racing was fairly good, but somehow the people do not take much interest in horse racing except when conducted by regularly organized associations of the highest repute.

Another thing—the way racing is now generally conducted it is understood to be—except in rare cases—simply a pool-box business, and no matter how fairly the races may be run, the public prefer to hold on to their dollars rather than exchange them for bits of pasteboard, very few of which are cashed at the close of the race.

In short, the book method of betting on races, at first so popular, has been sadly overdone, and is rapidly killing what was formerly rare and exciting sport. A decade or two ago men went to races to see their favorite horses run, and they did not hesitate to back them well. Only in cases where the runners were young colts was the distance ever less than a mile, while two-mile races were common, and rarely a meeting passed without one or more four-mile events.

In these days the distances are mostly from a half to three-fourths of a mile. The horses are started from points across the field, where the people in the stand can scarcely see them. There is a wave of a flag, a shout, "They're off!" and some of a group of "skates" shoot by in a cloud of dust. The numbers of the first three horses are hung up, the people consult their score-cards to see which were the trio, and then settle down again to munch peanuts until the thing is repeated.

Time was when men came from far-distant towns or counties to witness contests between horses with local or State reputations and representing well-known farms or certain strains of blood, but such races are rare nowadays It is simply a gambling proposition, and the races would be attended by the same men and women if the runners were automatons made of papier-mache and worked by machinery. It has become simply a case of of having something on which to bet money.

Many former followers of the turf declare that the present condition of racing is the result of the book-betting evil, which has overshadowed every track in the Union.

This evil does not so seriously affect harness racing, but even in that field its promoters have been "getting in their work" to some extent by booking the heats. The remedy will come when the gaming element that now so generally controls private race tracks throughout the country shall have finally killed the goose that laid the golden eggs—killed it so dead that it will not be able to flutter Then racing may again be elevated to the plane it occupied fifteen or twenty years ago, and the breeding of high-class thoroughbreds may once more become the profitable business it was formerly.

But so long as bookmaking combinations, backed by wealthy men, continue to manage the racing of the country by having the horse-owners in their clutches, financially, so long will horse racing fail to be the so-called "sport of kings." It will remain simply the graft of the sport.

The San Francisco Bulletin and the Evening Post have come out strongly of late in favor of a change from bookmaking to totalizator, mutuels or block systems of betting as a means to purify racing, and it would not be astonishing if other newspapers took up the cudgel in the near future and drove the bookmaker out of business. From Oakley comes rosy reports anent the working of the block system, one being from the Cincinnati Enquirer: "There were several cases yesterday where the mutuels made a greater return for the money invested can could be had from the books. A five-dollar mutuel on Martha II for place yielded $6.25—a net return of $1.25, which would be at the rate of 1 to 4, the price laid in the books against Martha straight. In the closing race the five-dollar place tickets on Sim W. paid $17.25—a little more than 12 to 5 place; 7 to 5 was the best the books offered. On Orinda a five-dollar straight ticket was worth at the conclusion of the race $133—nearly 26 to 1. The books laid 12 to 1 against the daughter of Hayden Edwards at the close."

As "figures do not lie," the betting public will surely not be long in arriving at the conclusion that their dollars, placed in the mutuel boxes, will generally net larger returns than if placed with the bookmaker—in short, they would much prefer making their own odds to being forced to rely wholly upon the liberality of a heavily-taxed penciler. The Evening Post quotes from an article against the "block system," wherein the writer declares that heavy bettors would leave in a body and go where bookmaking was in vogue because they couldn't "get their money on," and merely adds a short line, "What is the matter with the auction pools?" meaning, of course, that auction pools, sold on the grounds, would be for the use of the "plunger." Here he could wager his coin to his heart's content, and get "on" fully as easily as with the figuring, gambling penciler whose slate is often blank opposite two or three horses' names, and when he has odds posted against the animal fancied by the plunger will seldom take over $100 against its chances of winning. We will say that a "plunger" desires to wager $2,000 on a horse. Many times we have seen heavy players start to bet on a horse at 3 to 1, and not over $400 would be placed ere there was a general cut all around the ring to 2 to 1 or 8 to 5, this notwithstanding a score or more of pencilers had not taken a dollar of the plunger's coin. This shows that most of our present-day bookmakers (?) are like a flock of sheep whose leader has received a severe scare. They are not making book, but simply gambling. And when the heavy cut is made in the price of that particular horse, are the odds against the others raised? Very seldom. At least that is the observation of many in the habit of watching ring doings carefully. The result was that Mr. Plunger had to accept about an average of 2 to 1 for his money or else stop betting.

If bookmakers would make as near a "round book" as possible, paying no attention to their neighbors of the block, the present system of wagering money would not be so bad. But the scared sheep, ever imagining they can scent a "shoo-in," are mostly bookmakers only in name. The system leaves a loophole into which the dishonest owner or jockey can crawl, and that $120 per day, paid to associations by pencilers for the priviledge of making a book (?) on the races, has a tendency towards rendering racing managers mute and racing officials blind. The adoption of the mutuel, totalizator, or "block system" of betting pretty nearly closes up that loophole. There will perhaps be jobs when bookmaking is but a memory, but a crooked owner or jockey can no longer "split the sheet," or, in other words, divide with the penciler the amounts received on a "cadaver," "a lobster," or whatever you wish to call the horse that is "not meant."

With the change in methods of betting and a stricter supervision of the jockeys' room and its occupants, especially the valets, who are too often "go-betweens," racing can be made such a clean sport, such fairness insured that thousands would lend their support where hundreds now attend. Our aim is not to crush to earth any man or set of men, but to insure honest racing as far as it lies within our power. Many bookmakers, in the opinion of a host of lovers of racing, have resolved to make money, and some of them care little how they secure it. If safeguards could be thrown about racing, rendering fraud at a discount, and if a dollar wagered with a bookmaker would net the ticket-purchaser as much as if placed in a mutuel box, we would say by all means let us have bookmaking, but any average race-goer, from actual observation, sees too many chances for fraudulent practices under the present plan, and we do not believe that the results, in a financial way, are as satisfactory as if the totalizator or "block system" were used.

A New System of Betting on Races.

Capt. Ben Harris, one of the oldest turfmen in the United States, the inventor of the "annunciator" used at Oakland track, and who has given racing and betting considerable thought during the many years he has been connected with the turf, has evolved a betting system that, at no far distant day, may be taken up by racing clubs all over the world. By his plan the entire ring business of either Oakland or Ingleside track could be handled by not more than one dozen men, where now it takes at least seventy. Like all really good inventions, its simplicity is really astonishing.

There would be, we will say, three betting booths. No odds would be displayed, but the names of the horses, etc., shown on a large board in the rear of the booth. A bettor would bet from $2 up on the horse of his choice, a clerk calling out the bet, another writing the ticket, similar to the way it is now done in making books. There would be various wires, connected with an indicator overhead, operated by the caller; and the grand total of money wagered in each booth would be recorded by an adding machine invented by Capt. Harris. No such thing as being unable to "get money on" can be urged against this system. A plunger can bet $10,000 on the horse of his choice if he wants to. There would be but one kind of ticket, that of the same kind used by bookmakers. A button would be pressed in the judges' stand stopping all betting when the barrier was raised. The indicator would show the total amount wagered on the race, for each bet had been "rung up" on the machine as it was made, in view of everyone in the vicinity. When the race was over the commission, say 10 per cent, would be taken out of the money divided: 60 per cent of the remainder going to the holders of tickets on the horse finishing first, 25 per cent to those betting on the second horse (straight, as stated above), 15 per cent to those wagering their coin on the animal finishing third, a player always having a chance win if his horse finished first, second or third, at least get some of his money back, even if the horse he backs should not win the race.

Suppose $20,000 had been wagered on a race. The commission to the club, charities, etc., would be $2,000, leaving $18,000 to be divided. We will say $2,000 had been wagered on the winner. For each dollar wagered a bettor would draw down $5.40, or $10.80 on $2, the smallest bet accepted. We will suppose the same amount was on the second and third horses. Tickets on the second horse would pay $2.25 for every dollar bet and on the third you would take down $1.35 on every dollar. The club would have an official to figure the dividends in plain view of bettors, the total amount would be shown on the indicator, and thus complete fairness would be insured. The total includes ALL the money bet in all the booths. Of course clubs would scarcely charge over 5 per cent, in this country, the foregoing merely being given as an example.

The plan discussed above is certainly unique, and the beauty of it is the dispatch with which the business could be handled. It combines the best points of the book and totalizator systems of betting, and while it would perhaps do away with 1,000 to 1 shots, would very often pay larger dividends on favorites than if bookmakers were transacting business and people were obliged to accept the odds they posted. All will admit that a "block man" takes considerable time rubbing out and putting down his prices. All this is obviated. There would doubtless be less fraud were Capt. Harris' system substituted for book-betting, for, as in the mutuels, even if one or more horses were not "meant," schemers would have to pick the winner if they were to win any considerable sum.

The Stockton Race Meeting.

In another column of this issue appears an article copied from one of Stockton's leading newspapers regarding the fair and race meeting to be held at this city this year. As nearly every trotter and pacer that will be in evidence at the State Fair will also be ready to race at the Stockton meeting, we predict a heavy entry list will greet the Stockton Driving Club and good racing will follow. Entries will close August 1st, and in the near future it is intended to advertise for entries to a 2:10 class pace and a 2:10 trot. The track will be faster and better than it has ever been, and as the crop prospects in the San Joaquin valley are excellent this year, money will be plenty and the farmers and all who are interested in breeding and developing light harness horses will attend.

At the Oakland Track.

All horsemen and their friends who have brought their horses to the Oakland track are loud in their praises of this magnificent course. Wm. Fieldwick, an old trotting horseman, is superintendent of the course and is doing all he can to make it not only the safest, but fastest, and therefore the best in California. Only a few horsemen are there at present, but the applications for stalls have come from all parts of California, and from present indications the largest number of trotters and pacers ever assembled at a race track so early in the year will be at this course.

Alex Brown's horses, consisting of nine head, are there in charge of Det Bigelow. Henry Haas has two, Robt. Noble two, J. Quinn three, O. Marchand two, and Dennis Gannon four, and more were expected yesterday.

THE recent purchase by a representative of the French Government of a number of slow but sound American thoroughbreds solves the problem, "What is to become of 'skate' racers?" Also those that will be disbarred from racing on our leading race courses through the shortness of their pedigrees. The representative of the big European public paid $125 apiece for all animals coming up to the cavalry requirements, namely, that they must be at least 15 hands 2 inches in height and weigh 1,100 pounds. Should the searcher for cavalry remounts come to California he would pick up a couple of hundred sound gallopers that find it irksome keeping themselves warm on a race course, yet would prove the very best kind of cavalry horses. History proves that the thoroughbred horse can stand more fatigue and go faster than any four-footed animal known. There are scores of horses here that can bark better than they can run, and their owners would sell them at $125 per head and buy the representative a French dinner, with champagne into the bargain.

THE novelty races to be held at the opening meeting of the California circuit by the P. C. T. H. B. Association are attracting considerable attention. Further particulars regarding them will appear in our next issue.

SECRETARY F. W. KELLEY reports receiving a large number of entries for the three meetings, but the list will not be ready for publication until next week.

THE BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN was the first newspaper in San Francisco to advocate the repaving of Market street. This great work would have been accomplished years ago were it not for the long row of capitalists who own the splendid paying buildings on each side of this thoroughfare. If the street in front of the property belonging to Messrs. Crocker, Phelan, Sharon, Hobart, Baldwin, Barron, Luning, Flood, etc., was paved as it is at the Emporium the smaller owners would soon fall in line. The 30,000 Christian Endeavorers who arrived here this week were astonished at the miserable pavement on this street. By the time the new ferry depot is ready for occupancy it is hoped something will be done toward making this street a credit to San Francisco.

ROBERT BONNER, the best friend the trotting horse of America ever had, is out of all danger and on the road to recovery.

HOOF-BEATS.

CHARLEY THORPE rode three winners and two seconds at Brighton Beach last Wednesday.

THERE will be several trotting and pacing races on the Alameda track this afternoon under the auspices of the Alameda Driving Association.

JULIA FLYNN, a chestnut filly by imp. Candlemas (now at Rancho del Paso) won a five-furlong race at Fort Erie, July 10th, and was first by three lengths easily.

DAN STUART'S winnings on the long shot, J. M. B., are placed at $60,000. He took all sorts of odds, from 3 to 1 to 100 to 1, and bet in pool-rooms all over the country.

MONTALLADE has had a bad case of catarrhal fever, while Daylight has had a slight touch ever since his last race. Fortunate has just recovered from a bad attack.—Anaconda Standard.

AT Brighton Beach last Thursday the Hildreth-Sink combination did very well, winning with Refugee and running third with Lincoln II. Rey del Tierra ran third in the Refugee race, one mile.

NEW YORK, July 15—The stewards of the Jockey Club to-day refused to issue a jockey license to Jerry Chorn, who was ruled off in California a year ago for complicity in the Little Pete racing scandal.

WILL WALLACE has sold for the estate of Byron McClelland to William Porter for $1,000 the brown gelding, J. A. Grey, 5, by Willful, dam Miss Glennon. The gelding won a six-furlong race, July 8th, at Fort Erie, in 1:14¾, carrying 113 pounds.

SONG AND DANCE and Frank Jaubert, own brothers owned by different men, won races at Fort Erie, July 10th. The former ran a mile and a sixteenth in 1:46½ with 109 lbs. up, an exceedingly fast race, and Jaubert did a mile in 1:42¾ with 103 lbs. on.

JAS. F. BYBEE, the veteran horseman, who is at Bybee's Springs on Evans creek, has been much benefited by the waters thereof, and will remain indefinitely.—Democratic Times, Jacksonville, Ore. Mr. Bybee is one of the oldest trainers of gallopers in America, and came to Oregon across the plains from Missouri in 1874.

THE horses of the following owners put $1,000 or upward to their credit at the recent Sheepshead Bay meeting: A. H. & D. H. Morris, $26,475; J. E. Madden, $21,930; M. F. Dwyer, $9,660; R. C. Hall, $5,173; J. E. McDonald, $4,641; James R. Keene, $4,570; L. S. and W. P. Thompson, $4,340; J. E. Seagram, $4,130; Bromley & Co., $3,850; Marcus Daly, $3,770; C. Fleischman & Son, $3,165; J. J. McCafferty, $3,150; R. L. Rose, $2,960; August Belmont, $2,220; George E. Smith, $2,180; W. B. Sink, $2,045; Lewis Filmore, $1,800; Sensation Stable, $1,750; Mr. Chamblet, $1,730; Arthur White, $1,370; Duke & Wishard, $1,290; F. Gebhard, $1,200; Oneck Stable, $1,070.

PRESIDENT WILLIAM MARTIN, of the old Chicago Fair Grounds (Harlem) Association, has arranged to settle the trouble which was experienced in 1895, when the race-horse owners sent entry money to the association and got no return for it. Mr. Martin has decided to return the entry money to these race-horse owners, and he issued the following statement: "To Whom It May Concern—All racehorse men who have claims against the Chicago Fair Grounds Association, which controlled the Harlem track, for the stakes of 1895, or any other stakes, in which they entered horses, are requested to draw on me for the money deposited.—William Martin, President Chicago Fair Grounds Association."

THE Brighton Beach Association, whose July meeting begins next week, has an excellent chance of providing some sensational races. The defeat of Firearm by Hamburg, and the astonishing ease with which Hamburg won, has set the tongues of all turf enthusiasts wagging, and it a match could be arranged between the pair it would attract nearly as much attention as the famous set-to between Domino and Dobbins. Then, as Ornament and Typhoon II. are coming East, there is a chance to get them to measure strides with Voter, The Friar, Octagon, Don De Oro, Buddha and other high class three-year-olds. By all means let the management endeavor to bring about these contests. They arouse public interest more than the conventional stake races, and during the heated term excitements and events out of the ordinary are appreciated more than ever.—N. Y. Com. Advertiser.

Racing at Walnut Grove.

About eight hundred people, among whom were many from Rio Vista, gathered at the Walnut Grove race track, and witnessed some excellent racing last Saturday. The day was a perfect one for racing, and the track was in excellent condition. A spacious grand stand and dancing pavilion has been erected adjoining the track, and many availed themselves of the opportunity to shield themselves from Old Sol's burning rays, and when the time for the start of the first race had arrived, seats were at a premium.

The first race was between two well-known horses along the river, Palmer's Brown and Prince A., for a purse of $50, and the local championship. The former horse proved to be the fastest, winning in straight heats. Time, 2:43½ and 2 45.

The second number on the program was much more spirited, as the entries, Palatina, Tilton B. and Sam See, have State-wide reputations. The heat was won by Palatina, Tilton B. second and Sam See third; time, 2:39. The second heat was a few seconds faster and also more exciting, Tilton B. winning, with Palatina second and Sam See third; time, 2:35. The third heat was a repetition of the first, Palatina first, Tilton B. second, Sam See third; time, 2:35. The fourth heat proved to be the last, Palatina winning the heat and race, Tilton B. second, Sam See having withdrawn; time, 2:25; purse, $100.

The third was a ¾-mile dash and had three entries, Trix, 117, Stormey, 121, and Nevirity, 117. Stormey was the favorite until just previous to starting, when Nevirity was first choice. The horses got a fair start, with Nevirity, who won, in the lead. Stormey was second and Trix third. Purse, $50.

The fourth was a match race 3 8 of a mile between Baby Meyers, Lacaronsky and Thisby Belle, three local horses. It was a procession, rather than a race, Baby Meyers winning easily, Lacaronsky second, Thisby Bell, third.

During the afteenoon, just to create more excitement, a mile bicycle race was run, the contestants being Chas. Brown, John de Back, Daily Miller and Jos Schneer, all local stars with the exception of Schneer, who hails from Sacramento. The latter crossed the tape first, closely followed by de Back and Brown in their respective order. Time, 2:51. Dr. W. S. Makemson and Abe Crump of this place and A. Philips acted in the capacity of judges.—Rio Vista News.

ONE world's record has droppod into the basket this season and that without any fuss or feathers. W. H. Morehouse, Toledo, Ohio, drove his pair of trotters, Lynn Bourbon, 2:17¼, and Bertie Girl, 2:23¾, to pole over the Toledo half-mile track, June 24th, in 2:19½, which displaces the best previous half-mile team trotting record of 2:19¼, made in 1894 by Count Robert and Kitty Bayard. The quarter was in 34¼ seconds, the half in 1:09½, and the full mile was made without a skip, and without the use of a whip or any particular urging. Mr. Morehouse had driven the pair a few weeks previous an exhibition mile in 2:23½. Lynn Bourbon is a six-year-old brown mare by Bourbon Wilkes—Lynn Sprague, 2:28, by Governor Sprague, 2:20½, and took her record last year at Decatur, Ill. Bertie Girl is a bay, two years older than her mate, and is a daughter of that great race horse sire Jay Bird. Both are Kentucky bred and both, as will be noticed, by sons of George Wilkes.

THERE is not a single owner whose opinion carries any weight who does not deprecate this continual lowering of the weights. Sam Bryant, the breeder of Proctor Knott, besides many other good ones, who is at the Sheffield track, says it has much to do with low prices for good thoroughbreds now ruling. In his opinion, if the weights were kept up to scale, yearlings with good size and plenty of bone would still bring good values, while under-sized, weakly formed animals would be put to some other purpose than racing, for which they are only fitted when low weights placed them on equal terms with the stouter competitors. A good horse will go as fast and far with weight up as a weed with a postage stamp. Bad horses are a nuisance, both to their owners and their backers, and are now sadly too numerous on all Western tracks. A material raise in the weights would drive the majority of these into retirement, which alone is reason enough for making the change, even were no other advantages to be gained.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Great Dane Type.

The recently formed Great Dane Club has undertaken a herculean task. They propose to establish two classes for Great Danes on this coast. One for the heavy type to be known as Ulmers and another for the hound type, to be known as Great Danes. We would much prefer to see California progressive. We greatly dislike to see a specialty club going back several years and starting all over again. This question has been thoroughly threshed out in the East. Why go all over the same ground again? To begin with the Club must induce the Kennel Clubs two make to classes for the two types; next, they must find a judge that can judge the two types and the balance of the year they will be trying to explain why the Great Danes is not an Ulmer and why the Ulmer is not a Great Dane.

The fanciers of England and America have agreed to call the German Mastiff—Ulmer—Boarhound—German Dogge, the Great Dane and every judge that we have ever had here agrees upon the type. At the California Club's show of 1891, the writer commented on the type of dogs bred here as "magnificent dog but not the proper type." The nearest to type won under Davidson and Mortimer. A few years later Borglum's Titan and Marjel came up from Los Angeles and won under Raper. They were the proper type. Since then Juanita and Rex have won under Fellows and Mortimer. They are the nearest we have to the proper type. Rex is too light all through but the judges seem to agree that it is better to have them too light than too heavy. Why not adopt the standard of the Great Dane and breed up to it? Why attempt to make two breeds of one?

The California Great Dane Club.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—An adjourned meeting of the California Great Dane Club was held on Thursday evening, July 8th, at which it was decided to offer cups, medals and special prizes for Great Danes at all bench shows to be hereafter held in this State. A committee was appointed to communicate with Eastern and European breeders and experts and establish a standard of points to be considered in awarding prizes for Great Danes. Hereafter there will be known on this Coast two classes of Great Danes one the heavy massive type, known in Europe and the East as the Ulmer dog, and the other, the slimmer or hound type as the Great Dane. Another meeting of the club will be held at Room 34, 8th Floor, Mills Building, on the evening of July 22nd. Efforts are being made to bring all the breeders and owners of Great Danes into the membership of the club. Address all communications to

The Pacific Mastiff Club.

The Secretary, J. P. Norman, was instructed to apply for admission to the American Kennel Club, A Constitution and By-Laws was adopted, but the adoption of a standard was postponed until the next meeting.

The new club numbers fifteen members already and there are several new applications on file.

The Sense of Smell.

In man the sense of smell is quite a subordinate one, and of little value to us in comparison to any one of the other four. It would appear that the more civilized we become the less need we have to depend on smell, and it becomes less acute. In savages it is by no means so dull a sense, and in the majority of animals it is the chief one. It is true certain scents have the power to awaken various emotions in in some persons, of pleasure or of sadness, and old memories are stimulated by them. But so far as obtaining knowledge goes the sense in us plays a very poor part, In the case of animals it is wholly different. The dog's impressions of things round and about him are chiefly obtained by his nose, so much so that the world must mean to him a collection of an infinite variety of scents.

If the olfactory nerves were operated upon and the sense destroyed in early puppyhood, the dog would grow up into a very foolish animal, greatly inferior in intelligence and knowledge to other dogs, and would be probably a canine idiot. If he lost sight of his master when out for a ramble it would be useless putting his nose down in order to trace him. He would likewise miss all those sensations enjoyed by other dogs when they go nosing into all and everything they come across.

The absence of the sense might, however, tend to the greater development of the sight, and the sense of seeing become more acute, much in the same way as the sense of touch in blind persons is finer, and of quite a superior order to what it is in persons not so afflicted.

It is interesting to note how the two senses of smelling and seeing are employed by dogs when chained on their benches at a show. To an observant person, there is abundant opportunity provided for amusement and instruction in watching the exercise of the senses and play of the emotion in hundreds of dogs congregated together. You walk along the benches where the collies are, and you are gazed at eagerly, steadily, inquiringly. You are a stranger to all these dogs, and their eyes tell them so. You pass on to the pointers and setters. Here necks are stretched forth, and about the nostrils there is a tremor. They do not know you, and it is their noses that tell them so. Why this difference in these breeds? If it be said that pointers and setters have an acuter sense of smell than collies, and consequently employ it where the latter use their sense of seeing, such an assertion may be true or it may be merely an assertion. We are not just now concerned with the finding of game, but with the dog's power of ascertaining whether it is his master, someone he is acquainted with, or a stranger who is approaching him. The collie distinguishes friend from stranger at once. The pointer does not, and has to be approached pretty closely and the odor of his master sniffed out from among a variety of other odor ere he shows signs of recognition. The collie is as conscious as the pointer of all these various smells, but having learnt to use his eyes more quickly and more surely, the necessity of depending upon his nose is not so frequent. Seeing, though, is by no means believing, but smelling is; and the collie when in doubt will use his nose as unerringly as the pointer. In sagacity, experience of the world, and general knowledge, there is no comparison between the collie and the pointer, and the superiority of the former it is reasonable to suppose is owing, in part, to his having made better use of his eyes than the latter, whilst at the same time not neglecting his nose.

Of all dogs the bloodhound has the reputation of excelling all other breeds in scenting powers. This reputation has been somewhat cheaply gained, and is due rather to the stories which associate him with blood and crime than to any actual superiority. No bloodhound has been proved to have done more than some terriers and other breeds, or mongrels, have done, and it would be difficult to show that his sense of smell was in any way finer than other dogs. Dogs used for hunting purposes have deep flews, wide nostrils, loose skins, and long ears, and maybe it is the fact of the bloodhound having these properties more developed than any other hound that has led to the belief that he must in consequence excel all others in scenting powers. Masters of foxhounds have not bred specially for, or given much attention to, depth of flew or width of nostril, or dewlap, except to breed it out, but if these points were found to be more developed in the best-working hounds they would pay very much attention to them. Moreover, in wild animals, the wolf for instance, the flew and nostrils are not so very pronounced, yet the ability to scent is simply astounding.

We cannot assert that a hound or dog has a better or worse nose than another hound or dog used in a different pursuit. A bloodhound taught to follow the trail of man would do more accurately than a pointer, setter, or spaniel used only on game, or than a foxhound entered to fox, but to claim from that the superiority of the bloodhound in nose is most unreasonable. Because a dog does not follow a particular scent it does not mean that he is unconscious of it, or that he cannot smell it owing to his nose being bad. The foxhound we know is very conscious of an endless variety of scents as he enters a covert or gallops across country. The more acute his smell is the more conscious is he of other scents besides that of the fox. His concern, however, is only with one, and comparison can only be made between one breed and another when each is entered to the same scent.

It is well known that pigs have been used for finding game, and their noses have been well employed in that direction, and they are still used in truffle-hunting. But that cattle should have been used after the fashion of a pack of hounds is most interesting, especially so when the quarry was none other than the tiger! Yet Colonel Pollok did so use a herd of cattle, and with most remarkable success. The cattle were driven to a spot where the dead body of a girl, killed by a man-eating tiger, had lain. "No sooner did the bull smell the blood and the scent of the tiger than with a bellow, lowering his head, he galloped forward, followed by the cows and young bulls, tracing the scent much as a pack of dogs might have done. I ran my best hoping to get a shot, but the ground was covered with trailing vines, over which I kept stumbling, and finally came a cropper. By the time I got to my feet again the buffaloes had overtaken the tiger; the bull rushed at him, and I saw a brindled mass thrown high up. It had hardly reached the ground when it was again sent flying. The tiger roared, clawed and bit, but he had fully twenty beasts on him. The cattle formed a phalanx round the tiger, and what with tossing, prodding and kneading they soon deprived the scourge of the country of its life."

In horses the sense is highly developed, but the common belief that if, when they shy or show alarm at certain objects, they are taken close up and induced to smell them they will cease to be afraid is a fallacy. The impression doubtless arises from the fact that after a horse has put his nose on something that alarms him he does seem less afraid. But that is not because he has smelled at the object, but because he has used another sense, that of touch, to exercise which he employs his muzzle or upper lip.—Peto, in English Stock Keeper.

DOINGS IN DOGDOM.

An effort is being made to revive the California Spaniel Club.

The St. Bernard Club is growing very rapidly. Three new members at the last meeting and four more applicants now in.

Hugh McCrrcken has secured the well-known S. C. St. Bernard Champion Melrose. A valuable addition to the Presidio Kennels.

W. H. McFee, of Los Angeles, has received his fox terrier bitch Blemton Spinaway from the kennels of the Messrs Rutherford where she has been on a visit to the crack sire of the country Champion Warren Safeguard; she was bred on June 14th and 16th. Mr. McFee reports his Warren Sage—Blemton Spinaway bitch pups as developing well. He is negotiating for a well known fox terrier sire, and if he secures this dog he will in time have the best kennel of fox terriers on this Coast.

The Glenmore Kennels have on hand several Irish setter puppies from three to ten months old and some broken bitches that can be bought at greatly reduced prices. See their adv.

Dr. F. W. D'Evelyn's crack mastiff Marquis died last week. Marquis was one of the soundest mastiffs in America and although not especially strong in head was hard to beat in any company.

A number of fox terrier fanciers of Sydney formed a syndicate and purchased from Mr. Treggs of New Zealand all of his aged fox terriers which included such good specimens as the dogs Dusky Domonie, Dusky D'Orsay and the bitches Torment, Treason and Treachery.

John Heffernan's crack fox terrier dog, Midlight, by Warren Sage—Stilletto, 1st special puppy, Oakland; 1st and special open class, San Francisco, 1897, died last Monday. The loss is a severe one to Mr. Heffernan, but he has already purchased a full brother to him, whelped May 27th, that is very promising.

J. J. Lynn, representing the General Electric Company of Chicago, has been on a business trip to this city during the last week. He is prominently identified with fox terriers, his kennels being located at Port Huron, Michigan. He has Endcliffe Banker, the wire-haired dog, sire of Banker's Daughter, winner 1st Puppy at New York; he also has a Bankers Daughter and Claude Duval bitch which is about to visit the crack dog Veracity. Mr. Lynn was charmed with our climate and regretted leaving the Golden State.

NOTICE TO ANGLERS.

Every angler is invited to drop us a line occasionally, telling us of the condition of the streams they have visited and the killing lure; of the number and size of the fish caught, or any other item of interest to anglers.

The San Francisco Fly Casting Club.

The regular semi-monthly Saturday and Sunday contests of the San Francisco Fly Casting Club were held at Stow Lake, Golden Gate Park, last week. The weather was a trifle windy with the usual cross wind, but the scores averaged very good. The judges of Saturday were H. E. Skinner, A. E. Lovett and Dr. E. N. Lowry; on Sunday the events were judged by Lovett, Lowry and C. G. Young.

On Saturday the long distance event was won by W. D. Mansfield with 99 feet; Dr. Lowry made 102 feet and Lovett 95 feet, but in both cases the fly was missing. H. F. Muller won the distance and accuracy event with the splendid score of 96, and Dr. Lowry, the delicacy and accuracy event with 88½ per cent.

On Sunday Dr. Lowry won the long distance event with 95 feet, Mansfield losing by his handicap. Mansfield won the distance and accuracy event with 93 per cent. and A. Russell Crowell, the delicacy and accuracy event by the small margin of one-twelfth of one per cent., the score being 85 1-12 to Mansfield's 85. The scores in detail were as follows:

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the club, held at the office of the Fish Commission on Tuesday evening, brought out twenty-two members.

The resolution to send a delegate to the International tournament to be held at Chicago on August 14th and 15th was discussed at considerable length and carried. The club will send the member with the highest average in all events during the present season and will pay $150 of his expenses.

Walter D Mansfield, the president and present holder of the world's record in long distance casting, 108½ feet, will probably be the selection of the club, and we will be greatly surprised if he is not among the winners at Chicago.

The selection of the medals for the contests of 1897 and all matters pertaining to the annual tournament to be held in November were referred to the executive committee.

The question of class casting for 1898 was discussed and it was the sense of the meeting by a large majority that there should be at least two classes. Personally, we think the system of classification, as used by the Olympic Gun Club, is by far the best proposed. As applied to casting it would be as follows: All contestants would cast in one class until the tenth contest, when they would be classified by the average made in the ten contests The entire average of the fifteen contests to determine the contestant's position in his class. We would add the following clause. A man may contest in a class higher than the one his average entitles him to, but not in a lower.

Rod and Gun at Monterey.

MONTEREY, JULY 13, 1897.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:—The beautiful weather Monterey is at present enjoying brings many visitors amongst us. Salmon, yellowtails and rock cod are plentiful in the bay. Anglers can enjoy a fine outing in beautiful Monterey Bay, and shooters, why, they can be well attended to by members of the Monterey Wing Shooting Club. To-day Mr. A. Gless of San Francisco was the guest of "papa" Carr and enjoyed a fine outing trolling for salmon. Mr. Gless managed to land 5 salmon, 2 yellowtails and 2 large rock cod, while "papa" Carr caught three salmon. Clinton Worden of the Worden Drug Co. of San Francisco, and friends also had a fine outing this morning, landing 7 salmon after a most exciting half day's sport.

Last Sunday the members of the Monterey Wing Shooting Club entertained Mr. Greely, President of the Marysville Gun Club at the shooting groudds; 100 birds were shot at the following is the score: Greely 68, Varien 89, Carr 89, Hare 54, Few 55 and Gunzendorfer 53. C. H. R.

W. J. Street and wife returned on Tuesday from their trip to Yosemite. Mr. Street found excellent fishing at Alder creek, Bridal Vail creek and at Fish Camp. "Street's Quail Wing" was the most killing fly. Two hours' fishing in Alder creek resulted in a beautiful basket of 52 Eastern brook trout, all of good size. Bridal Vail creek was also good and a few were caught in Mirror Lake, but the best fishing of all was at Fish Camp. He caught most of the Eastern brook on a No. 3 Emeric spinner, but at Fish Camp he caught over one hundred fish over six inches in length on a fly with a hare's ear body and quail wing. He reports that quite a lot of sawdust escapes from the Miami Mills into Hog creek, to the detriment of the Eastern brook trout planted there. The mill was blown up last week, so the fish will have a few months rest.

The Chicago Fly Casting Club undoubtedly have plenty of wind but they have so arranged their platform that they always have the wind in their favor. If the wind blows from the East, they use the Eastern platform and if from the West, the Western platform. At Stow Lake, the casters usually have a strong side wind to overcome.

Lloyd Eaton, Zimmer and John Butler were at Crystals Springs on Sunday but the elusive bass refused to be caught. Homer King and a friend caught a nice string of two and three pound fish on frogs.

A. S. Carmen reports splendid fishing at Cisco. By the way, Mr. Babcock has discovered some gems of lakes a few miles from Cisco. One of them is said to be equal to Lake Webber.

The salmon hatchery at Baker Lake, Hamilton, Washington, will be greatly enlarged this season. The capacity will be increased from 6,000,000 to 12,00,000.

Supt. Stout, of Oroville, and a friend caught 200 trout in Grizzly creek one day last week.

Louis Rondeau and H. F. Muller fished the Paper Mill last Sunday with very poor success.

Chas. Huyck had good success on the Lagunitas last Sunday.

THE GUN.

Coming Events.

July 18—Lincoln Gun Club, Alameda Point, regular club shoot and open to all cash prize shoot.
July 18—California Wing Shooting Club, Ingleside.
July 25—Empire Gun Club, Alameda Point.
July 25—Olympic Gun Club (live bird), Ingleside.
Aug. 1—Encinal Gun Club, Birds' Point, Alameda.
Aug. 1—Golden Gate Gun Club Pacific tournament grounds, Alameda Junction.
Aug. 8—Reliance Gun Club, Webster St., Alameda.
Aug. 8—Empire Gun Club, Alameda Point.
Aug. 8—Olympic Gun Club (blue-rock), Ingleside.
Aug. 8—South End Gun Club, Colma.
Aug. 8-9—Marysville Gun Club's tournament, Marysville, Cal.

NOTICE TO SECRETARIES.

If secretaries of gun clubs will send us the full scores of their regular monthly shoots we will be pleased to publish them; but we must receive the copy on Wednesday to insure its insertion that week.

The Game Law.

The open season for shooting quail, doves, deer and wild duck as fixed by the State law is as follows: Doves, 15th July to 15th February. Mountain quail and grouse, 1st September to 15th February. Valley quail, wild duck and rail, 1st October to 1st March. Male deer, 15th July to 15th October.

The clerks of all the Boards of Supervisors have advised us that no changes have been made this year, but the ordinances passed last year hold good if they do not conflict with the State law. The following counties have not passed any ordinances that alter the open season as provided by State law: Alameda, Amador, Butte, Inyo, Los Angeles, Marin, Modoc, Mono, Mendocino, Mariposa, Nevada, Napa, Plumas, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Joaquin, Santa Clara, Sacramento, Solano, Santa Cruz, Siskiyou, Tehama, Yolo and Yuba.

Alpine—Deer. Sept. 2 to Oct. 15.
Colusa—Deer, Aug. 15 to Oct. 15.
Calaveras—Deer, Sept. 1 to Oct. 15.
Contra Costa—Deer, July 20 to Sept. 2. (Use of dogs prohibited).

Olympic Gun Club.

The regular monthly bluerock shoot of the Olympic Gun Club held at Ingleside last Sunday was well attended and the shooting was excellent. In one pool after the prize shoot, one squad scored 56 out of 60. Nauman, E. A. Schultz and Haight were the high men in the medal match with 22 each. In the prize shoot O. Feudner and Haight divided first money. Webb took second alone. Neustadter, E. Schultz, "Edwards," Owens and Murdock third money and Shaw fourth. The scores were as follows:

The Spoonbills.

The members of the Spoonbill Gun Club concluded their season's bluerock shooting yesterday at Eckhardt's shooting grounds in East Park, Sacramento last Sunday. It was one of the liveliest day's shoots the club has had during the season.

After the day's shooting the best five scores of each man in the regular club matches of 25 bluerocks were figured up for the season to determine the championship. It was found that Stevens had 105 to his credit, Eckhardt 96, Soule 92, Steigler 88, Gruhler 88, Flohr 87, Wormer 76, Chapman 73, Bohn 68 and Damm 62. In the shoot-off of the tie between Steigler and Gruhler at 20 bluerocks, the former won with 14 to the latter's 12.

First Event—10 bluerocks, unknown angles: W E Wild 7, M L Weaver 7, Guy Gilmer 7, C T Buckman 7.

Second Event—Medal shoot, handicap: M L Weaver (20) 18, Guy Gilmer (20) 15, W E Wild (21) 13, C T Buckman (22) 13, A H Murray (20) 12.

The Merced Tournament.

The shooting tournament held here Sunday and Monday, July 4th and 5th, by the Merced Gun Club was a most successful affair, and drew to the city quite a number of the crack shots of the San Joaquin Valley. During the tournament 800 live pigeons were killed and 2000 bluerocks broken. All the visitors were pleased with the treatment they received and with the way the tournament was conducted. During the first day, Sunday, the following events occurred, all with live pigeons:

First Event—(25 birds, 25 entries)—First and second money divided between D. B. Harris, Madera and G. W. Kibby, on clean scores. Third and fourth money divided between eleven others, on 7 kills.

Third Event (12 birds, 19 entries)—All moneys divided between Hyde, McVey, Armitage, Hicks, Ostrander, Cowan and Gray, with 11 kills each.

On July 5th the bluerocks were used, with the following result:

First Event (10 birds, 20 entries)—First money won by St. John of Fresno on clean scores. Second to Pedlar of Los Banos on 9 breaks; third divided between Cowan, Hyde and Armitage, with 8 breaks.

Second Event (15 birds, 19 entries)—First money divided between St. John and French, on clean scores. Second money to Armitage, with 12 breaks; third money divided between McLain and Cowan, 11 breaks; fourth money to Barcroft, Harris and Pedlar, with 10 breaks.

Third Event (15 birds, 20 entries)—First money taken by Armitage with a clean score. Second to Hicks and St. John with 14 breaks; third to McLain and Cowan with 12 breaks; fourth to Roselle of Bakersfield with 11 breaks; fifth to French, Kibby and Pedlar with 10 breaks.

Fourth Event (20 birds, 20 entries)—First money to Armitage with 19 breaks. Second to St. John with 18 breaks; third to Kibby and Ostrander, 17 breaks; fourth to French, 16.

Fifth Event (25 birds, 20 entries)—First money to St. John with 24 breaks. Second to Armitage, 22; third to Ostrander, 21; fourth to French, 20.

Sixth Event (10 doubles, 13 entries)—First money taken by Armitage with 12 breaks. Second to Barcroft, Hyde and French, 11; third to Wright, 10; fourth to Ostrander, Ingalsbe, Stoner of Stockton, and St. John, 9.—Merced Sun.

At the Lincolns.

The 100 bird record medal match will be shot at the Lincoln Gun Club grounds, Alameda Point, on Sunday morning. The 25 birds in the club match will count as the first 25 of the 100. Following the 100 bird match there will be an open to all shoot at known angles, unknown traps, one man up. The programme will be as follows:

Ten birds, 75 cents entrance, three moneys, high guns to win.

Ten birds, 75 cents entrance, three moneys, high guns to win.

On the last Sunday in August the Lincolns will give an old-time shoot. The programme will be printed shortly.

Election of Officers.

The Golden Gate Gun Club elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Geo. M. Cook, President; Edw. S. Michelson, Vice-President; J. C. Meudersoffer, Secretary; L. Ph. Bolander, Treasurer; T. L. Lewis, Capt. C. M. Wollam, H. W. Phillips and H. Josweski, Directors.

Plain Talk but Cold Facts.

The formation of the Sportsman's Protective Association at San Jose fills a long felt want. There are game laws which give ample protection, providing they are enforced, but this is difficult to accomplish. The Game Warden cannot patrol the streams He can investigate and force the prosecution of any violation of the laws reported to him.

A man who lives near a stream, who sees his neighbor taking out trout by the basketful before the season opens, is not going to report the fact to the Game Warden. He is not going to get himself disliked on account of a few trout.

Anyone who is cognizant of the illegal fishing or hunting is not likely to report the matter, for if they do they will have to assist in the prosecution by giving testimony. They will have to leave business, if they have any, and go to court. For what? For nothing. So the game laws are not enforced as they should be. Those who are afraid of prosecution by the Game Warden are few. They know that there is little prospect of any trouble.

There have been no convictions under the law in this county. A San Jose fisherman got beyond the county line into Santa Cruz county and blew up a few hundred trout with dynamite. He was reported on and the Santa Cruz officials promptly prosecuted the offender, who was lucky in getting off with a fine, as he was charged with a State's prison offense.

The organization of sportsmen which has just been formed is for the purpose of enforcing the game laws so that when the fishing and hunting season opens there will be some game left for the law-abiding sportsmen. All the funds of the organization will go toward paying rewards for the conviction of anyone found guilty of violating the game laws. This will make it an object for those who are cognizant of violations to report them and assist in the prosecution. A few convictions will have a salutary effect on those who hunt and fish out of season and the streams will be protected and game will not be scarce when the hunting season opens.—San Jose News.

A Strange Ordinance.

Section 1. It shall be unlawful and a misdemeanor for any person or persons to discharge any gun, pistol, rifle, or other kind of fire arms, upon any public street, road, court, alley or place within the corporate limits of the County of San Joaquin, State of California; provided, however, that it shall be lawful to discharge any rifle or pistol not greater than a 22 calibre, or a shotgun with a bore not greater than number 10, when loaded with shot not laarger than number 7.

Sec. 2. It is further provided that such guns as may be lawfully discharged, as stated in Section 1, must not be discharged except when the person discharging is at a distance of more than 200 yards from any conveyance, or horse, or person, except such person, conveyance or horse, with which the said person is traveling; nor shall it be lawful to discharge any such fire arms within 200 yards of any house, barn or stock running loose in any field or public road, except permission be first obtained from the owner of such house or stock

Sec. 3. Every person who is adjudged guilty of a violation of the provisions of this ordinance shall be punished by a fine not to exceed five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the County Jail of the said County of San Joaquin not to exceed six months, of by both fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 5. This ordinance shall take effect upon the 1st day of August, 1897.

Passed and adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of San Joaquin County, State of California, this 7th day of July, 1897, by the following vote:

Ayes—J. A. Shepherd, George M. French, O. J. Hemphill, O. S. Henderson.

Noes—D. C. Shepherd.

ORRIN S. HENDERSON,
Chairman of said Board of Supervisors,
Attest: OTTO GRUNSKY, Clerk.

Santa Barbara Deer Law.

Section 1.—Every person who, in the County of Santa Barbara, shall, after the passage of this ordinance, within the two years next from and following July 15, 1897, provided by Section 626 of the Penal Code as amended by the Act of 1897, (except from August first to September fourteenth in each year) hunt, pursue, take kill or destroy any male deer, elk, antelope, mountain sheep or buck, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon being found guilty of a violation of any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be punished, and all fines, if any imposed, paid in the manner and as provided in said section 626 of the Penal Code

Sec. 2.—All persons are forbidden to pursue or kill any pheasants on and after July 15, 1897, and any one violating this section shall be punished as provided for in section 626 of the Penal Code.

Sec. 3.—This ordinance shall go into effect on the 15th day of July, 1897.

A. B. WILLIAMS,
Chairman Board of Supervisors,

CARTRIDGE AND SHELL.

Doves are reported very plentiful in Yuba county.

The Empires will give an open to all merchandise shoot on August 1st.

The merchandise shoot of the Empires on August 1st will be a handicap event.

Paul Delmas will leave to-day for a two weeks' outing in Humboldt county.

Wm. Seaver (Trombone) broke 95 out of 100 birds at the Reliance Club last Sunday.

Chas. Studarus reports an abundance of quail and doves in the vicinity of Routier Station.

J. O. Cadman went to Lierly's, Mendocino county, last Monday for a few days with the deer.

The Marysville and Sutter Gun Club's dove stew will be held in Shelton's Grove on August 8th.

W. C. Kennedy, of Fresno, will start for Truckee to-day. He will probably stop a month or six weeks at Boca.

Game Warden Ferguson of Fresno states that quail and doves have increased very materially in his county this season.

Mr. Williams of Stockton is making some marked improvements in his new smokeless powner. The tests are proving very satisfactory.

Dr. H. S. Wyman took a hunting trip recently from Juneau, Alaska, accompanied by two Siwashes. He reports the killing of four mountain sheep and two black bears.

Judge Geo. E. Church and Walter Church of Fresno, C. E. Dakin, Mrs. J. M. Dakin and Miss Dakin of San Francisco will leave for Yosemite on Monday for a three weeks' trip.

Robert Oxnard, Alex. Hamilton, J. Downey Harvey and a party of Country Club members will try their luck with the deer on the preserve this week. They left for the club on Wednesday night.

The regular monthly live bird shoot of the California Wing Shooting Club, postponed on account of the tournament of the Monterey Wing Shooting Club, will be shot at Ingleside next Sunday.

The Santa Clara County Sportsmen's Protective Association, recently organized in San Jose, has elected the following officers: President, F. W. Holson; E. Northam, Dr. H. C. Brown and George Taylor, Executive Committee.

Wm. Shreve and young Reaves, two boys from this city that are stopping at Fairbanks, Mendocino county, caught 152 trout in Anderson creek one day last week.

The Chamberlain Target Company's annual shoot held at Cleveland recently was largely attended, and some interesting events were pulled off and good scores were made. It is estimated that 106,200 targets were thrown in the three days.

The Board of Governors of the California Inanimate Target Association will meet to-night at the Olympic Gun Club to decide upon the time and place of the next tournament. Fresno, Los Angeles and Monterey will present bids for the Fall event.

Dr. J. L. Williamson and Dr. W. F. Carver had a little difference of opinion as to the relative merits of 32 and 30 inch barrels for trap guns, and to settle it they shot a match on the 3d at 100 birds per man for $100 a side and all expenses. Williamson shot a 32 inch gun at 28 yards' rise and Carver a 30-inch gun at 32 yards. Williamson won with a score of 92 to 91.

E. Sherman, Chas. Huse, P. G McDonald, W. Rohlffe and O F. Westerfield returned on Friday of last week from a two months' outing in Humboldt county. They camped on Red mountain, near Trinity and Mendocino, and enjoyed splendid trout fishing The trout ran from three to the pound to three fourths of a pound each They report seeing a great many deer and an unusual number of yearlings.

While out hunting small game near the Felton depot one day this week Henry Aram, of this place, the ten-year-old son of J H. Aram, saw a wild cat suddenly make its appearance before him. As quickly as he could he fired at the animal. It gave one bound forward and dropped dead. The charge fired was small shot and some of them had pierced the heart. Henry was justly proud of his game.—Boulder Adv.

There is doubtless no other man in California that enjoys as much genuine sport as does W. L. Prather Jr. of Oakland, with his foxhounds. There is scarcely a Sunday in the year that he does not kill one or more wildcats, coyotes or other varmint. On Sunday and Monday he camped about five miles from the old town of Pinole and his dogs treed four wildcats at one time. They killed them all and the next morning ran a coyote for four hours and finally brought him down. During the drive home they shot two more, making four cats and three coyote for the trip.

Last week two young eagles were caught on the Dunne ranch near San Felipe by John Mahoney and were shipped last Friday to J. W. Welch, bookkeeper of the firm of Donnally, Dunne & Co., San Francisco. The birds were only a few months old, but had attained a most formidable size being nearly two feet tall and otherwise proportionally developed. They were well feathered but not sufficiently however, to enable them to fly. They will make a fine acquisition to some Zoological garden as they are perfect beauties, of elegant plumage and of a rare variety, being known as the golden eagle.—Hollister Bee.

Australasian Notes.

During the course of an interview in Melbourne Mr. T. S. Clibborn said he thought it was a mistake rushing so many yearlings into the market, and was of opinion that it would pay breeders better to keep backward foals at home and sell them as two-year-olds in the spring.

They are at a loss to know how the jumper Larrikin is to be beaten in Victoria. The V. R. C. recently passed a law making 189 pounds the maximum weight to be carried in hurdle races or steeplechases. Well, the handicapper recently put that weight on Larrikin, and he won a big hurdle race by five lengths with ease.

Idolatry is proving a good investment for Mr. S. Hordern, as her three representatives—Hindoo, Adoration, and Maldon—have each scored winning brackets, and will no doubt do their dam further credit in the future credit in the future. Idolatry, it may be remarked, went to the stud as a two-year-old, her first foal being Hindoo.

At a recent sale in New South Wales a brown yearling filly by imp. Far Niente (a great winner in England and a son of Galliard and Lotus, by Doncaster), dam Roseclear, by the mighty Trenton (now in England); second dam imp. Rosedale, by Tynedale; third dam Thrift (dam of the great Tristan), by Stockwell, brought but $200. This was truly slaughter; but the following was a trifle worse: A bay filly by Far Niente out of Delta, by Trenton: second dam Dainty (winner V. R. C. Oaks, etc), by the unbeaten Grand Flaneur; third dam Chrysolite (dam of Robinson Crusoe), by Stockwell. This filly brought but $100, or £20.

The totalisator fractions in connection with the S. A. J. C. meetings (tickets are paid on the even pounds and shillings) amounted to £142 5s 6d. This amount was apportioned among the charities as follows: Children's Hospital, £5; Catholic Refuge, £5; Blind, Deaf and Dumb Asylum, £5; Children's Home, Walkerville, £5; Home for Incurables, £5; Convalescent Home, £10; Cottage Homes, £5; St. Vincent de Paul's Orphanage, £5; Home of Mercy, £5; House of Providence, £5; Sick Poor Fund, £5; Prisoners' Aid Society, £5; Orphan Home, Carrington-street, £5; Day Nursery, £5; Adelaide Benevolent and Strangers' Friendly Society, £5; Samaritan Fund, £5; Jewish Benevolent Society, £5; St. Vincent de Paul's Society, North Adelaide, £5; Adelaide Jewish Ladies' Benevolent Society, £5; House of Mercy, Walkerville, £5; Vose Homes, £5; St. John's Reformatory School, Kavunda, £5; Distressed and Disabled Jockeys' Fund, £27 5s 6d.

F. J. Ridgway, Western Coney Hall, near Longton, Stafford, England, writes that the grandson of Electioneer, George Hummer, which he imported in 1895, is doing finely in the stud, leaving a good crop of foals and stamping them from all sorts of mares with his own likeness George Hummer is by Hummer, out of Madge King, by Mandrino King, breeding of the best, in fact, hard to beat. The young horse has pleased his English patrons very well, and undoubtedly will prove a very successful sire in England. Last year he covered a mare belonging to Mr. Jackson, of Stoke-on-Trent, and within a few weeks Mr. Ridgway has received a letter from Mr Jackson stating that the mare is in foal. The mare has been in Mr Jackson's possession for twenty-five years, and was five or six when he got her. Hence she must be at least thirty years of age, and never has had a foal until this spring, which speaks volumes for the prepotency and vigor of George Hummer.

FAMOUS STUD MATRONS IN CALIFORNIA

Marion, the Greatest Producer of Racers the World Has Ever Known—Achievements of Her Sons and Daughters.

We give this week the initial article of a series relating to thoroughbred stud matrons that have, through their produce, helped to make the fame of California as a great horse-breeding center. They have founded families of racers noted on the turf and their sons or daughters "bred on" and perpetuated the name of the founders.

Our subject this week is the bay mare Marion, foaled in 1871, by Malcolm, from Maggie Mitchell (by imp. Yorkshire), a mare foaled the property of Jos. Cairn Simpson, the veteran turf writer that brought a fine string of race horses and trotting-bred animals to California from Illinois in 1874. Marion was raced but little, meeting with an accident early in life that caused her to be thrown out of training. She had run second in good company, however, and shown no little speed in her work, and but for the misfortune that befell her would undoubtedly have proven a racer of high degree. Marion was a grand individual, fully sixteen hands in height, and was one of the most wonderfully muscled animals any person ever saw. Some time after her break-down (in 1875) Mr. Simpson sold her to Theodore Winters, then residing near the town of Winters, Cal., now making his home near Washoe, Nevada. Marion (not Marian, as it appears in the American Stud Book) is the famous stud matron's correct name. She was named in honor of Mr. Simpson's daughter. He also had an aunt Marion. The noted mare's first foal (by Norfolk) saw the light first in 1877 and was sold as a two-year-old to a man named Geo. Coggan, who took her to Oregon. An Indian war was on at the time of the filly's arrival, Mr. Coggan being killed and the mare stolen and lost sight of forever. Mr. Winters sent an agent into that country to try and find the mare and repurchase her, if possible, but no trace could be found of the great Marion's daughter.

The next foal of Marion and the first one to race was Duke of Norfolk. Then followed Duchess of Norfolk, Prince, King and Emperor of Norfolk. All these were named by Mr. Simpson, and they received their cognomens about in this wise: Mr. Winters intended naming the first colt from Marion "Simpson," but the turf writer objected. The owner of the youngster, in his breezy way, then said. "—— — it, man, name him yourself!" The Duke of Magenta was the great race horse of that period, and he was by Lexington from a mare by imp. Yorkshire. Marion's first foal had the same strains of blood, though further removed, Norfolk, the sire, being by Lexington, Marion, the dam, by Malcolm, from a Yorkshire mare. Hence came the name Duke of Norfolk, After the son of Lexington and Magenta, Duke of Magenta, after the Duke, Duchess, King, Queen and Emperor of Norfolk came The Czar. Who named this unbeaten race horse we cannot say, the honor being claimed by Fred Collier and Dr. H. Latham. In 1887 El Rio Rey was foaled, and he, also, was an unbeaten racer, winning seven races and nearly $47,000. Mr. Simpson named this great horse Rio Rey ("River King"), and Mr. Winters added the "El," making it "The River King." Rey del Reys ("King of Kings") was Marion's foal of 1888, Yo Tambien ("I Also"), given her soubriquet by a St. Louis gentleman, was the foal of 1889. In 1891 Yo El Rey ("I, the King,") first saw the light, then Rey del Sierras ("King of the Mountains") and El Vera Reina ("The True Queen"). The last two never raced, though Rey del Sierras may face the barrier this fall. El Vera Reina died at Sacramento last spring.

A peculiar fact is that no filly foal of Marion is known to be alive and not one lived to be a mother. Vera (Empress of Norfolk) died the property of R. Porter Ashe. Duchess of Norfolk ran into a fence at Sacramento track, a sliver pierced her side, and she died shortly thereafter. Yo Tambien met pretty much the same sort of death, but her end came at McGrathiana Stock Farm. Thus Marion's memory must be kept green through her sons. Four of these are now sires of more than ordinary merit, though Emperor of Norfolk and El Rio Rey have not reproduced themselves. Duke of Norfolk's best performer is probably True Blue; Prince of Norfolk got Rey Alfonso, Rey del Tierra and Tigress, all above the ordinary. Emperor of Norfolk got Lady Bess, Rey El Salto, Bernardillo, Reddington and Rey del Carrera (Americus, now in England); El Rio Rey sired Caliente, Mandolina and Scarborough. At Rancho del Paso there is a mare called Easter (winner of the Ontario Derby and eighteen other races). Easter is by Vicksburg from Roxaline (own sister to Marion). Princess, winner of thirty-eight races (another of Roxaline's foals) is in Kentucky, and has thrown two good winners in Prince Kinney and Jack Martin. Roxaline also produced Brait (winner of thirty-three races), Willie W. (seventeen wins), Fred B. (six wins), Rocquefort (eight wins), a total of 120 victories for Roxaline's foals. It is just possible that Easter will keep up the reputation of the female portion of the family of Marion in California.

Following is a record of the achievements on the track of Marion's foals, compiled by William Sparling, together with the amounts won by each and the total of all:

Duke of Norfolk (1878)	5					$1.240
Duchess of Norfolk (1879)	20	11	0	4	5	8,707
Prince of Norfolk (1881)	8	4	2	1	1	2,325
King of Norfolk (1883)	68	8	9	8	43	10,430
Queen of Norfolk [Vera] (1884)	10	0	2	3	5	700
Emperor of Norfolk (1885)	29	21	2	4	2	61,145
The Czar (1887)	4	4	0	0	0	6.295
Rey del Reys (1888)	24	5	3	6	10	33.323
Yo Tambien (1889)	73	44	11	10	8	89,355
Yo El Rey (1891)	15	1	1	2	11	420

It is hardly probable that the produce of any broodmare in all history ever made such a showing as this. Marion's foals won over 41 per cent. of their races and were "in the money" 178 times in 263 races, nearly 68 per cent. Yo El Rey was sold for a reported price of $27 500. Yo Tambien for $18,000, Emperor of Norfolk for $2 500. The Czar and Duchess of Norfolk, raced by Mr. Winters, died young, the former at Council Bluffs, Ia, and the Duke, Prince and King of Norfolk sold for something like $7,500. Hence, in round numbers, Mr. Winters received $53,000 for five of Marion's foals, an average of $10,600 per head. Besides, he is reported to have refused $40,000 for El Rio Rey. Eleven of the mare's foals that were raced won $261,075, an average winning for each racer of $23,734.

The best performances of Marion's sons and daughters follow: Duchess of Norfolk (3) ran 2¼ miles in 3:58¼, 93 lbs. up. The Czar ran 1½ miles in 2:36 with 118 pounds up. He and El Rio Rey were never defeated, the former winning four races, El Rio Rey seven. No other mare that we ever heard of produced two undefeated race horses. El Rio Rey ran six furlongs as a two-year-old over a straight course in 1:11, carrying 126 pounds. Yo Tambien ran a mile and a sixteenth in 1:45½ (then the best-on-record), carrying 100 pounds, and did a mile and a half in 2:33¾, with 108 pounds on her back. Rey del Reys took up 117 pounds and ran a mile in 1:40½ and also went a mile and a furlong in 1:53¾, with 113½ pounds up. These performances have never, from a time and weight standpoint, been equalled by the produce of any stud matron, and when everything has been figured up Marion, very feeble and expected to pass away at any moment, will go down into turf history as the greatest mother of racers the world has ever known.

Our San Jose Letter.

SAN JOSE, July 6, 1896.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN: — The glorious Fourth has "done and gone," but in spite of fireworks, parades and other patriotic exhibitions we horsemen on the track have attended strictly to business. And why not? Are we not going to show our immortal Governor what we can do without his aid and without the aid of his "push?"

We have got down to real business and it would be worth a journey to see some of our green ones and others step along. Mr. John Perkins arrived from Visalia about two weeks ago with five head, to wit: Visalia, 2:12½, trotting, but now converted to the sweetest moving pacer that we ever saw. Her speed and pluck is still with her. She is entered in the 2:17 class pacing. Jasper Ayres is the same old Jasper and looks game and strong.

A bay mare Jaspine, who is by Iris and whose second dam is also the dam of Jasper Ayres, is showing up well, as is his other green one, Lydia, owned by Jerry, the faithful groom of Jasper Ayers. A blue roan stallion, Richmond Chief, completes the list of five. Predictions "don't go" these days, but we wish them deserving luck.

Mr. Gordon will make his bow with two or three green ones. F. W., the fast pacer, a bay mare by Inimo, a trotter, and a half-brother to Ethel Down, 2:13, by Silver Bow. He is named Silver Arrow and we have no doubt will hit the bull's eye all right whenever turned loose from Johnny's bow.

Our good friend Mr. Howard Franklyn has that good, old mare Margareth Worth, 2:17¼, and also the phenomenal filly by Eros, Fanadma, also a green three-year-old pacer by a Pilot Prince, who is surprising the boys every time he moves. But there is no doubt the two mares will be heard from this season, especially Fanadma.

Mr. Bunch has the best string that he has ever handled. The stable comprises seven and is made up of Ethel Downs, 2:13; Our Boy, 2:15; Iran Alto (3), 2:19½; Lynette, 2:22; Claudius (3), 2:26½, Ned W., by Boodle, a green one. Doctor Frasse the best two-year-old on our track. They are all doing well, have all worked a number of miles better than 2:20, the two-year-old going a mile out in 2:35 yesterday. They will be entered in their respective classes on the 15th inst.

Mr. Johnny Morehead will also be out again with Meridian, 2:16½, and Maud Murray by Hambletonian Wilkes out of the dam of La Belle, 2:16 as a two-year-old. This filly is a two-year-old and ought to make a great trotter.

C. C. Crippen has two in preparation, a black mare by Director, 2:17 (a pacer), and his five-year-old stallion by Leo Wilkes. Both are shaping nicely and ought to give a good account of themselves this year.

Mr. Cox has a few who will not be ready before the Woodland meeting.

Mr. Goldsworthy's Maud Frances and his three-year-old pacer Childe Haroln are doing nicely.

W. Cecil will come to the front with six of Martin Carter's horses. The most noted of these is a two-year-old who bears the proud name of John A. McKerron. He is about as smooth an article as one of John's best blankets, and we hope he may attain the same world-renowned notoriety that Mr. McKerron's boots and harness hold in the country.

Mr. Clarence Day will undoubtedly ride in front, as his celebrated Dictatus is in the pink of condition. Great credit is due this young trainer and everyone here admires his careful way of moving on the track. There is no doubt that this is just what Dictatus needs, as he has his speed with him whenever called upon.

A full sister to Strathmont, 2:14, is moving very nicely, as are also Dictesse and another green trotter.

Col. F. T. Nash is moving Colonel Benton, 2:15, like a cyclone and has to use a double set of reins on him, and we don't overstate matters when we say he has his hands full doing it. But rest assured the Colonel will get there just the same and will have his hands full of other things than reins when the races are over. Menlo Belle, 2:28½, is another of his string, and moving very rapidly.

Our great and good friend, Mr. Vioget, has one green colt here who is about as fine a bred youngster as we have in these parts. He is named Wild Nutling, by Wildnut, out of Helena, 2:12½. He is striding along magnificently and will surely make a great horse.

It is only what is due to Messrs. Bunch and Hables, the track managers, when we say that the scarcity of accidents and lameness to horses is due in a great degree to the excellent condition of both the running as well as the trotting track.

Their indefatigable efforts to please all and everyone here are very much appreciated and will popularize this track to a degree that bids well to make our park one of the foremost in the State. We intend leaving for Oakland by the 20th of this month.

The Los Angeles Entries.

The offering of $1,200 purses at a low entrance fee, introduced by the Life and Progressive Association at Los Angeles, has proved a good card, for the following splendid list shows how well the horsemen have rallied to the call. To our readers who have been carefully watching the increasing interest being taking in light harness horse racing this showing is indeed encouraging. While many horsemen have concluded to not go so far away to the south as Los Angeles this year, there are just as many who will enter in the regular events there, which will close later on. Had the Los Angeles and P. C. T. H. B. A. advertised special events like the following, to close June 1st, there is no doubt Monroe Salisbury, Chas. Winship and others would make entries and have their horses here for such meetings, for the racing game will be as good here this year as it is in the East. However, we shall have good horses in the two fast classes, and as their names appear below it is needless to repeat them here. We again congratulate the directors of this association and Secretary Thorne for their liberality and keen business foresight in advertising such drawing events and helping along the great industry of California:

White Topaz.

Beautiful stones to be seen at THE DIAMOND PALACE. Every day in the week and every hour in the day, one can see crowds around the show windows of "The Chicago Diamond Palace." The cause of it all is the now widely known White Topaz. White Topaz or carbonated diamonds have come to be recognized as the nearest thing on earth to Genuine Diamonds; so near indeed is it that the proprietors of THE DIAMOND PALACE do not hesitate to place real diamonds in their windows amidst their display of White Topaz and allow the public to pick them out at the selling price of the Topaz.

The latter stones have all the lovely brilliancy of the diamonds, sparkling steadily and with wonderful fire. The thousands of these stones in the windows form one of the most gorgeous displays, and has proven an attraction which is one of the features of Chicago.

In order to find out the advertising medium best suited to their business, this enterprising concern offers to send a genuine White Topaz to all those who will cut out and send them their advertisement which appears elsewhere in this paper, together with 25 cents in stamps.

THE DIAMOND PALACE, like all successful institutions, has many imitators who endeavor to sell cheap rhinestones and other pastes, claiming they are Topaz. We caution the public to be careful, as THE DIAMOND PALACE, American Express Bldg., Chicago, are the sole importers of this stone.

Conditions.

All trotting and pacing races are to be three in five, and National Rules to govern unless otherwise specified. Six to enter, three to start

In record bar races six must stand after barred horses are out

Right reserved to alternate heats of any two classes same day. A horse not winning a heat in four, or making a dead heat, is ruled out, but does not lose position held at that time in division of purse.

Four moneys in 3 in 5 races.

In sweepstakes closing conditions prevail.

When but two starters appear, contest to be for entrance money paid in—two-thirds to winner, one-third to second.

Horses whose gaits have been changed are not eligible to classes more than five seconds slower than their record.

In trotting and pacing races, entries not declared out by 5 P. M, day before, must start.

Caps and jackets of distinct colors must be named in entries and worn in races.

RUNNING.

The following RUNNING STAKES will close July 31, 1897. Remainder of Running Programme will be announced August 28th, and will provide for additional races to cover six days' racing.

1. THE VINCTOR STAKE—A sweepstake for three-year-olds and upwards; $25 entrance; $10 forfeit; with $300 added, of which $50 to second, and $25 to third; $200 additional, and stake to be named for winner if Vinctor's time (1:40) be beaten. One mile.

All trotting and pacing races are best three in five unless otherwise specified; eight to enter and three to start in all trotting and pacing races, but the Board reserves the right to hold a less number than eight to fill, by the deduction of the entrance money from the purse for each horse less than eight. In record-bar races eight must stand after the barred horses are out. Same right reserved to start less by deduction as above.

Entrance fee in all purses, unless otherwise specified, 5 per cent. with an additional 5 per cent. from winners of money in classes where number of entries is eight or more. In 3 in 5 classes where there are less than eight paid up entries, 5 per cent. additional will be required from starters. Five per cent. of entrance money to accompany all nominations or satisfactory security required. Trotting and pacing purses, 3 in 5, divided at the rate of 50 per cent. to the first horse, 25 per cent. to the second horse, 15 per cent. to the third horse and 10 per cent to the fourth.

In heat dashes, unless disqualified, all entries are entitled to start in the first three dashes, but in the fourth dash only non-winners of first money shall start. If less than three remain eligible to start in the fourth dash, it shall be declared off.

A horse not within 100 yards of the winner (except where 8 or more start, then 150 yards) in any heat shall be declared disqualified from starting in any subsequent heat of the same event, but shall not forfeit money previously won. The time between each heat shall be 25 minutes. One-half the entrance money in heat dashes must accompany nominations

The Board reserves the right to change the hour or date of any race, except when it becomes necessary to ante-date a race, in which instance the nominator will receive three days notice of change by mail or address of entry. Right reserved to declare off or postpone any or all races on account of the weather or other sufficient cause.

Entries not declared out by 5 P. M. the day preceding the race, will be required to start, and declarations must be in writing and made with the Secretary of Course at the Track. Any horse not declared out and failing to start will be fined $50.

In all races riders and drivers will be required to wear caps and jackets of distinct colors, which must be named in their entries.

If less than three horses to start, the Judges may declare the race off. A lame or disabled horse barred from starting in any race.

Any race that may be started and unfinished on the last day of the meeting, may be declared ended and money divided according to rank of horses in the summary.

When more than nine declare to start in any race, the Board reserves the right to divide the starters into two fields by lot, and to start them in a trial heat, one mile dash. The first four horses in each trial to compete for the purse, which shall be decided by mile heats, best two in three.

A horse making a walk-over entitled to only the entrance money paid in. Horses whose gaits have been changed not eligible to classes more than five seconds slower than their record at either gait.

Otherwise than specified in these conditions, National Trotting Association Rules to govern trotting and pacing.

SPECIAL TROTTING, PACING AND RUNNING RACES WILL BE ANNOUNCED LATER.

Banish the Bookie.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN:

After a careful, unbiased and impartial consideration, I, like others, freely and unhesitatingly condemn the nefarious and unscrupulous manner in which some bookmakers ply their daily avocation at our "Winter race meetings" in California. Incomprehensible and questionable methods are almost invariably undertaken to procure the most trivial and insignificant advantage over the unsuspecting and long-suffering players of "form." Were these advantages gained in an honorable and straightforward manner, and not by bribery, corruption and trickery, there would be small cause for any complaint existing. But the uncontrollable propensity predominating over their most exalted and noble sentiments is an insatiable lust and an absorbing desire to procure "The Almighty Dollar" by "hook" or by "crook."

Such degrading and unworthy sentiments, implanted in what, no doubt, was a noble manhood, soon causes the erstwhile respectable gentleman to become an associate with such contemptible and disreputable race track "parasites" as "professional touts," "bums," "spielers" and race track "loafers" to obtain "information"—"tips," "sure things" and "dead 'uns"—from these depraved and unprincipled "leeches" on a noble, exhilarating, manly pastime, once "the sport of kings."

Going into our betting rings (more appropriately termed "fleecing rings"), you will frequently observe, a "skate" and a "race horse" entered in the same race. That in itself is nothing extraordinary, but how is it that "the skate" is rubbed off the board (supposed to be played off) while the bookmaker is hawking the "race horse" round the ring at any price you like?

While that gaily-bedecked and richly-bejeweled man of the world takes your dollars, with a supercilious and tantalizing grin on his sneering features, you can rest assured he is gloating and chuckling over some hideous vision of "sponge in the nostril, "stuffed" and "doped" horses, "Sandow-muscled jockeys" and mayhaps a label on the race horse you just played, like passengers' superfluous luggage on a ship, "not wanted on the voyage."

If we wish to promote legitimate, honorable betting we must first remove the oily-smooth-tongued bookmaker from our race courses, "relegate" him to the has-beens, and give us the "totalizator," "Paris mutuel" or "the block system," where a man can always see what he is doing with his money, where an owner can't "make a stake" pulling his horse, but has to run 1-2-3 to make a killing, and the main supporters of the game, "the public," who find the money, may share with him in his success.

I would also mention I would like to see the clubs deduct 10 per cent. on all takings on the machine, to be distributed as follows: 5 per cent. for the "racing club," 2½ per cent. for the Government to improve all the roads and drives around the track, thereby legalizing and patronizing the machines, the other 2½ per cent. and all fractional parts of a dollar in dividends to go to charitable institutions, thereby benefiting the community and public at large. Give us that change and racing will become an honorable pastime instead of a degrading, swindling hotbed of iniquity, as at present.

Give us a change—we've had enough
Of the "bookie" and his books,
His crooked ways have proved too tough
With all his child-like looks:
For all we ask is an honest deal
And an even chance to win:
To know the "machine" cannot steal
And rob us of our "tin."

What chance have we when "jobs" are planned
'Tween "trainers," "jocks" and "books"
To win a dollar from a "band"
Of racecourse "sharps" and "crooks;"
We find the "means" to keep the "game"
Well furnished in "rich stakes,"
"The clubs" should not pay out the same
To encourage swindling "fakes."

A "bookie" thinks because he pays
"The clubs" so much per race
That he can pluck us all for "jays"
And rob us to our face;
How different when we get "machines"
That never "rob" nor "lie,"
And where each one who has the means
Dame Fortune's smile can try.

And where we need not be afraid
Of getting "robbed" and "cheated"—
To every "dollar" that is played
An equal chance is "meted;"
Things would improve on every hand,
Purged by this "reformation,"
And "racing" prosper through our land,
Encouraged by the "nation."

BALMOLINE is endorsed by the leading horsemen of this country, such as Andy McDowell, of Pleasanton, Cal., who has successfully handled and given records to some of the fastest horses of the age, viz., Alix, 2:03¾, Azote, 2:04¾, Directly (2 yr.), 2:07¼, Cricket, (high wheel sulky), 2:10, Directum (king of the turf), 2:05¾, etc. With the following excelent indorsements, can you for a moment doubt that "BALMOLINE" possesses true merit, and will do just as is hereby represented?

A FEW TESTIMONIALS FROM PROMINENT HORSEMEN WHO HAVE USED IT.

We, the undersigned, have used and seen used DeHuy's Balmoline for cracked heels, hobble chafes, cuts etc., and found it perfectly satisfactory in every respect: Andy McDowell, Ben Kenney (trainer and driver for Marcus Daly, Hamilton, Mont.), W. H. Stimson, Lee Shaner; Ryan Bros., Miles City, Mont.; Edward Pyle, Lincoln, Neb.; B. O. Van Bokkelen; J. H. Leonard, Butte, Mont.; H. W. Brown, Salt Lake City, Utah; T. E. Keating; Wm. Short; Higgins Bros. and H. S. McGowan, Missoula, Mont; Jas. Slevin, Aspen, Colo; Ed Dealy, Hawarden, Iowa; W. H Davis, West Williamsfield, O.; J. W. McMasters, Bozeman, Mont.; J. H. Steller, Denver, Colo.; F. W. Graffort, and other prominent horsemen.

I used DeHuy's Balmoline on Bourbon Wilkes Jr., and can conscientiously recommend it.—HARRY FLEMING, Helena, Mont.

VIVA LA

BY WHIPS, SIRE OF AZOTE, 2:04 3-4, COBWEBS, 2:12, AND SEVERAL OTHERS IN THE LIST

FIRST DAM—JOE VIVA, by Joe Hooker.

SECOND DAM—LADY VIVA, by Three Cheers (dam of Electioneer Rex, showed when a two-year-old quarters in 36 seconds.)

FOURTH DAM—LADY LANCASTER, by imp. Monarch. The dam of Malcolm Regent, Ontario and several other winners. Marion, the dam of Emperor of Norfolk, El Rio Rey, Yo Tambien, and several other high-class race horses, is by Malcolm, and the breeding of Viva La—Electioneer, combined with strains of thoroughbred which have shown adaptability to acquire trotting action, is now greatly fancied by intelligent breeders.

VIVA LA is sixteen hands high, a rich seal brown in color and more than usually handsome, combining muscular power and quality in an eminent degree. He was trained a little in his yearling form and showed a 2:40 gait and was improving rapidly when his training was suspended. He can scarcely fail on the right sort of mares to get fast trotters, and with nearly a certainty of securing good-sized, fine-looking horses which even in these times are in demand.

The Trotting Horse.

BY CHARLES MARVIN.

This great practical horse book is a handsome, three hundred page octavo. bound in cloth, elegantly printed superbly illustrated, and explains in every detail the remarkable success of CHARLES MARVIN and the whole plans and methods pursued at Palo Alto as to breaking, training, shoeing, gaiting, driving, keeping, racing and breeding trotters.

Read what J. C. Silby, the owner of St. Bel, says of this book: "In this work Marvin has let out all the mysteries of the craft, and it is so simple and plain that any breeder, owner, trainer or rubber who has any relish for his business can take a colt as a yearling and develope to the highest and fullest extent that colt's capacity as a trotter. The work impressed me so strongly that I have ordered twenty copies, and shall place one in the hands of every rubber on our farm."

Will Make the Season of 1897, Commencing February 1st at

Oakland Trotting Park,

AT $100 THE SEASON.

Jenny Mc, 3	2:12	Harvey Mc, 2	2:18	Sola, 4	2:25 3-4
McZeus, 4	2:13	Julia D., 3	2:16 1-4	Sola, 4, trial	2:15 1-2
Zombro, 3	2:13	Jenny Mc, 2	2:20 1-4	Osi o, 2	2:30
Harvey Mc, 3	2:14 1-4	Sir Credit, 3	2:25	Pat Cooney, trial	2:19

No stallion of his age and record has such a showing for early and extreme speed. Four three-year-olds with records better than 2:15. Out of 73 mares bred to him in 1896, 70 have proven with foal.

McKINNEY 2:11 1-4 was foaled June 12, 1887, sired by the great Alcyone (son of George Wilkes, and Alma Mater, the famous broodmare by Mambrino Patchen), dam Rosa Sprague, by Gov. Sprague, 2:20½, he by Rhode Island, 2:23½, out of Belle Brandon (dam of Amy, 2:20¼, Gov. Sprague, 2:20½, Wilmar, 2:29¼), by Hambletonian 10; grandam Jenny, by Young Bacchus (thoroughbred); great grandam Worden mare, by Exton Eclipse (thoroughbred). The second dam of McKinney was Rose Kenney (dam of Messenger Chief, sire of sixteen in 2:30 list) by Mambrino Messenger, one of the strongest-bred Messenger studs in the Registry. Third dam J. I. Kenney mare, dam of Gen. G. H. Thomas (sire of seven in 2:30) by Mambrino Chief 11. Fourth dam Jesse Bryan mare, by imp. Napoleon (thoroughbred). Fifth dam by Tempest (thoroughbred)

McKINNEY 2:11 1-4 is 15.2½ hands, weighs 1140, and is one of the most perfect-made horses in America, having plenty of bone and substance. He started in twenty-eight races and won twenty-five of them. His reputation as a game and consistent performer is world wide. As a sire the few of his progeny that have been handled for speed have demonstrated that they inherit all his extraordinary good qualities.

Registered No. 0180, record (pacing), 2:20; brown horse; small star; coronet of left hind foot white; foaled in 1888, 16 1 hands high, weight 1,165 pounds. By a producer, Antevolo; four-year-old record 2:19¼. Son of Electioneer; first dam the great brodmare Elizabeth Basler (dam of Robert Basler record 2:20, and Stoneway, three-year-old record 2:22¾), by Bill Arp (pacer); second dam Mary, by Wakefield, son of Cracker, by Boston; third dam Jane, by the Barr Horse, son of American Eclipse. ROBERT BASLER will make a public season for mares the year 1897, beginning about the 10th of February, as follows: Mondays and Tuesdays at Hanford, in Kings County, Cal.; Wednesday in Visalia, Tulare County, Cal., the remainder of the week at the horse's home, the Cottonwood Ranch, ten miles northeast of Visalia. TERMS—$25 the season, payable the 1st of June, 1897. Mares kept at the Ranch for $1 PER MONTH. This horse can show as grand a lot of colts as any horse in the State. They are good-gaited, level-headed and fast. About fifty per cent are pacers. Correspondence solicited.

No. 13,699. This splendidly-formed trotting stallion was sired by ONWARD, 2:25 1-4 (son of GEO. WILKES, 2:22, and DOLLY, dam of DIRECTOR, 2:17, THORNDALE, 2:21, etc.), sire of 113 in 2:30 list; dam NANCY LEE (dam of NANCY HANKS, 2:04, and DICTATOR WILKES, sire of six in 2:30 list), by Dictator; second dam SOPHY (grandam of Mike Wilkes, 2:15¾, Ira Wilkes, 2:22¾, and the sires Adrian Wilkes and Ira Wilkes) by Edwin Forrest 49; third dam Sophronia, by Brown Pilot; fourth dam by Bertrand; fifth dam by Lance, son of American Eclipse; sixth dam by Gray Dungannon. This is the acme of fashionable breeding. In conformation, disposition, color and pure trotting action, HART BOSWELL is perfect. He has never been worked for speed. His progeny are strong-limbed, level-headed and very promising, and are conceded by competent judges to be the finest-formed youngsters in California. Terms $50 for the season. Address K. O'GRADY, Laurel Creek Farm, San Mateo. Splendid pasturage, and mares kept in any manner owners may desire.

ANACONDA RACES.

MONDAY, JULY 12.

The third week's racing at Anaconda opened with a good attendance, but a wind storm swept across the track during the afternoon, which made things disagreeable, especially for the riders, drivers and horses. The sensation of the afternoon was the complete defeat of Barney Schreiber, the hottest kind of a favorite. On paper it looked as if the son of Kyle had a walkover, but he had little or no speed and ran like a sick horse, finishing fifty yards behind Ray Heath. It is very hard to account for the poor form shown by Barney Schreiber, especially as he last week beat Los Prietos. The stable backed the youngster, which, in view of his bad race, was a fortunate circumstance, as it proved that he was intended.

TUESDAY, JULY 13.

A record was made over the Anaconda track yesterday that will take some time to obliterate. 'Ostler Joe, the black horse by Fresno, ran one and one-sixteenth miles in the fast time of 1:46¾, which beats all previous records of the Northwest and equals the boast record, which, strange to relate, was made by 'Ostler Joe on May 3, 1897, over the Oakland track.

Another record for Anaconda was established in the pacing race, when Edith W., a comparatively green mare, beat a fair field in straight heats of 2:12¾, 2:13 and 2:14¼, which are the fastest three heats ever made over the local track. The first heat equalled the track record jointly held by Lena N., Klamath and Edith W.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 14.

The track record for harness horses was beaten twice in the races to-day, Searchlight and Argoreat each pacing a mile in 2:11¼. This was in the first race of the day, the 2:12 pace. There were only three entries, and Searchlight was made the favorite at $25 to $13 for the field, Argoreat and Glen Arthur. The latter horse led until the three quarter post, with Argoreat second, but Searchlight came up in the stretch with a great burst of speed and beat Argoreat out in a sensational finish, with Glen Arthur close up. The time was 2:11¼, and when it was hung out the crowd cheered lustily, as the track record had been beaten. The second heat was hotly contested, Argoreat getting off in the lead and holding her advantage until well into the stretch, when she was passed by Searchlight. The latter went off his feet just before the wire was reached and Argoreat won eased up in the same time as the previous heat. Searchlight then went on and won.

The free-for-all trot proved an easy victory for Klamath over Kentucky Union, these being the only two horses in the race. In the first heat Kentucky Union was continually breaking and Klamath had an easy victory, taking it in 2:16¼. The second heat was trotted in better time, but Klamath came in in front in 2:14¾.

THURSDAY, JULY 15.

Something appeared to hold the favorites back, and when the day was over some of the members of the talent walked home in a dazed condition and seemed to think the afternoon's sport was not real, but a horrible nightmare. There were two extraordinary mutuels. Irma paid $153 90 in the last race and Inbred $135.55 in the first running event. This is an unusually large return for an investment of $5.

FRIDAY, JULY 16.

Outside horses did not win everything. They divided matters up with the favorites. The opening race, the 2:15 class trot, proved a great surprise, but there was no chance to lose any big money on it. Chris Peterson was considered a sure winner of the race, so he was barred in the betting. He, however, did not even get a place. Peterson acted very badly, breaking all the time. In the third heat the judges took Lee Shaner down and put up Benson to see if that would make any difference in Peterson's going. It did not, however. It was the horse's off day, and that is all there was about it.

SATURDAY, JULY 17.

A splendid card of sport was prepared and it would have proved the best day of the meeting if the weather had only done its share to make it a success. The track was heavy and sloppy from the rain of the night before and it rained at intervals all day and was decidedly chilly. There were eight races on the programme, but owing to the heavy track the hurdle race was of necessity postponed.

Alameda Race Meeting.

A large crowd assembled at the Alameda Driving Park last Saturday, July 17th, to witness the races given under the auspices of the Alameda Driving Association. There were several surprises, the most prominent of which was the performance of the handsome bay trotting stallion, belonging to Prof. E. P. Heald, known as Pilot Prince. He is a son of Dexter Prince, out of Emma Nutwood, by Nutwood. This horse has been handled by professionals since he was a two-year-old but they did not seem to understand him. Mr. A. H. Cohn, a prominent attorney of Alameda, believed he could drive him and the splendid manner in which he did so in this race proved that there was a good driver lost when he adopted the law as a profession. He won the race in 2:26½ and 2:30. Silver Button, a gray son of Silver Bow, got a mark of 2:29, Arthur L., by Direct, lowered the track record to 2:15, and Anita, by Mambrino Wilkes, entered the 2:30 list, getting a mark of that figure. Taking it all in all the meeting was a splendid success and reflects great credit upon the President and Directors of this thriving organization. Following is the summary of the day's races:

Alameda, July 17th, 2:30 trotting.

Booth Barrett, b g, by Ross S. ..... T. Cook	2	2

Time, 2:50, 2:39, 2:42¼.

State Fair Entries.

The following entries in the three-year-old division of the $3,000 Guaranted Stake are eligible to make payment September 1st:

A. Heilbron & Bros.' b f Lotta Lilac, by Lottery—Lilac.
M. S. Severance's br c Uncle James, by James Madison—Betsy Trotwood.
J. B. Griffin's b c G. W. W., by Alex. Button—Claribel.
Williams & Morehouse's b f Silver Band, by Silver Bow—Maud Singleton.
S. H. Hoy's br c McNally, by McKinney—Alcazar.
River View Stock Farm's b f Fraulein Dexter, by George Dexter—Amber
D. E. Knight's b c Daimont, by Lynmont—Daisy.

THOSE who failed to make entries in the meetings preceding the State Fair will regret it, for by that time there will be at least fifty first-class trotters and pacers from Montana for these horses to contend with, besides those who have had the experience of being raced at the five good meetings in this State.

Horse Items From Humboldt County.

N. Groton is working a Dudley pacer that went, timed separately, in 2:23, but had been off. He thinks she will take her work all right this year. She is a speedy mare and in fair condition will take the free-for-all.

Chas. Laudergen is working the Houck mare, that went a quarter off the road in 0:33, two years ago. She is by Waldstein, dam by Grand Moor. The Waldstein-Grand Moor cross, got Humboldt Maid, 2:17, Lady Waldstein, 2:15, and some good green ones to be heard from.

Those having good mare are delighted at the prospect of having Waldstein in Humboldt next year. The fillies from Dudley, 2:14, Mustapha, 2:23, Wayland W., 2:12½, etc. ought to be the right material for crossing to the son of Director out of a daughter of Electioneer.

Pat Quinn was in Rohneville this week and reports that Arthur W. (3), by Wayland W., worked the last half of a mile in 1:04½ and that Brice McNeil, in charge of Milo Knox, is a factor in the three-year-old trotting events, being marked at 2:16 this year.

Henry Haas is on the circuit with Jack W., 2:19½, and Eureka, which, as a two-year-old, showed good prospects. Jack W. is a favorite up here, and we all hope he may come to the wire in good form.

Eureka and Ferndale will each give a race meeting in September of this year.

Beecher (1), 2:25½, full brother to Humboldt Maid, 2:17, by Waldstein, 2:22½, has made a good season in Humboldt this year and is being conditioned for a low record this fall on the Rohnerville track.

Near the East Ferry on Eel river are four Dudley colts in the pasture that are a fine quartette of youngsters. Two are pacers and two are trotters, two colts and two fillies. The dam of one is by Waldstein, second dam Gertrude, the great broodmare, by The Moor. The dam of the youngest filly is by Fallis, 2:23, second dam by Leinster, third dam by Bayonet, fourth to twelfth thoroughbreds. It will be seen that Electioneer is grandsire of both the sire and dam of this filly. Another dam, by Poscora Hayward, is out of a very fast mare brought to this country by W. H. F. Smith and called here "Lady Macbeth," said to have a low record. The other mare is by Waldstein, second dam s. t. b. by Blackburn.

News From La Belle Stud.

We have just received the following from Samuel G. Reardon, superintendent of H. Eugene Leigh's La Belle Stud, Yarnallton, Ky. It gives us great pleasure to print some of the items of interest contained therein, and if more superintendents of stock farms would write us it would be better for the farms they represent, while the paper would have exclusive and interesting news.

"I see an article in your paper of July 3d about the grand racehorse Kingston. All you say about Kingston is correct, except his home. You credit the McGrathiana Stud with him, while his home is at Mr. H. Eugene Leigh's La Belle Stud, near Lexington, Ky. He is one of the grandest-looking studs I ever saw and as gentle as a mare. In 1896 he covered fifty-four mares and now has forty living foals. I have eighteen of his foals on the farm and can truly say they are the best-looking lot of sucklings by one horse that can be found anywhere. We sold four yearling colts by him on July 1st at public sale for $4,700, a pretty good price for hard times and an untried stud. As this was his first crop of yearlings, I expect to do much better with his yearlings next year. We also have the good sire, Bramble, at La Belle. He is twenty-two years old and looks good for ten years more. He did something in the stud last year that I think breaks the record. When I took charge of La Belle, Jan. 1, 1896, I found that the old horse had been covering from eighteen to twenty mares a season, getting about five to seven in foal. I took him in hand and got him ready for the season of 1896, covering thirty-five mares with him, and so far this year I know of twenty-six foals, twenty-two of them being colts and only four fillies, out of the twenty-six foals. Mr. J. B. Haggin, of your State, has two mares covered by him in 1896 that I have not heard from, but am sure they were in foal when they left Kentucky last December. Now, if any one has a horse of any age that can beat Bramble's percentage of mares in foal and percentage of colts I would like to hear from them. All our stock are doing well and looking good. I expect to go to the sale next year with the grandest-looking lot of yearlings ever offered at public auction. They will be by Bramble, Kingston and Burlington.

Yours Respt'y, S. G. REARDON,
Sup't. La Belle Stud.

WE often read that some particular English sire's list is full for the next two or three seasons, but judging by the following paragraph from a London paper announcements of that kind are rarely taken seriously in the old country: "The 'bluff' of 'subscriptions full for 1898, 1899 and 1900.' In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred you can obtain a subscription to these 'full' sires. The owner says: 'No, really I cannot; the subscription is quite full; but, to oblige you, and it will be a matter of great inconvenience to myself, I will send one of my own mares that I particularly desired to put to him for the blood elsewhere,' and so forth. To this day this old-fashioned humbug is carried on. 'Subscription full' to a horse is very like a notice board of 'Standing room only' in a theatre. There is room for a few more by paying."

SAM HILDRETH'S horses, Refugee and St. Lee, came one-two in a mile race at Brighton Beach last Wednesday. Pat Dunne's Emperor of Norfolk colt, Estaca, won a mile and a sixteenth race at the same place, and W. M. Murry's Michael III., conceding from eight to sixteen pounds to anything in the race, ran second to Loiterer.

DENVER, Colo., June 12, 1897.

I have given De Huy's Balmoline a thorough trial on some of the best horses in our stables (including Azote, 2:04¾) and can conscientiously recommend it as the best healing salve I ever used. MONROE SALISBURY.

TURF AND TRACK.

THE SULKY.

The track at Oakland is an excellent one.

Iago stepped a mile in 2:12¾ at Cleveland the other day.

Lena N., 2:12¾, was the first to pace inside of 2:13 on the Anaconda track.

Crescent, by Stamboul, won a trotting race at Waterbury, Ct., in 2:23½, 2:26¼ and 2:24½, July 5th.

If San Jose gives a meeting this year its entry list will surpass any heretofore received at this famous place.

Marcus Daly's youngsters by Prodigal, are cracking good ones, and will take in many a good race when they are started.

Electricity, 2:17¾, the son of Electioneer and Jay-Eye-See's dam, now standing in Ohio, has served sixty-one mares this year.

We have entry blanks for the Woodland races, as well as for the State Fair, which we will be pleased to send to all applicants.

Any man who starts a horse that has the same name another 2:30 performer has, should be fined $50 by the trotting association.

There is not a 2:10 trotting stallion on the Pacific Coast. Stam B, 2:11¼, and McKinney, 2:11¼, divide honors in being the fastest here.

There is a better class of trotters and pacers entered for the races this year in California than has ever been seen in this State before.

When the Salisbury string pulled into Detroit, Azote, 2:04¾ was found a cripple, and it is extremely doubtful if he will ever be able to start in a race.

That game and reliant race horse Oscar William, 2:12¾, by Simmons, dam Lottie Thorn, 2:23¾, died at Forest Park at Brandon, Vt., on July 4th.

B. C. Holly has purchased the bay mare Edith W., 2:19½, by Ben Lomond Jr., and may be seen in the sulky on the California circuit this year.

Klondyke is the name claimed for a two-year-old bay colt by Don Marvin, 2:22, out of Mary (dam of Apex, 2:26, Sterling Letty W.) by Flaxtail.

L 96, is the curious name of a bay gelding by Electricity, that won a race for the 2:27 class trotters at Rockport, Ill., July 15th in straight heats—2:24½, 2:22½, 2:21¼.

Jimmy Dustin has a very high opinion of Agitato (4), 2:09. He thinks him next to Direct, 2:05½, the best thing in the pacing line that ever came over the Rockies.

It was stated that Guy Wilkes was impotent, but the fact that only 3 of the 26 mares bred to him this season returned, is evidence that the statement was far from truth.

Phalantree, a bay stallion by Electwood (he by Whips, out of dam of Arion, 2:07¾), won a 2:32 trotting race at Mendota, Ill., July 16th, in 2:26, 2:28½ and 2:25.

Horsemen who did not make entries at Oakland, Marysville, Chico and Willows are "feeling sick" because they did not avail themselves of the many invitations extended.

Our Boy, a gelding by Candidate (son of Electioneer), won a race at Elk Point, S. D., July 2nd, in straight heats; time—2:31, 2:23, 2:29¼. Electioneer's sons as sires are right in it this year.

Etta T., 2:08¼, is sweeping the platter clean down in the Central New York circuit. One of the latest of the fast pacers to suffer a defeat at her hands was Palmetto Prince, 2:11.

Quadrige, a chestnut gelding by Parkville (son of Electioneer) paced to a record of 2:11¼ in the 2:24 class pace at Peoria, Ill, July 7th. He was beaten a neck in the next heat in 2:12¼.

If you have a good horse for sale advertise him in the Breeder and Sportsman and you will hear of many buyers. It is the only turf paper on this coast that is read by horsemen.

The most encouraging news horse breeders and owners in California have seen in a long time is to be found on the page of the Breeder and Sportsman where the entries are published this week.

Byron Erkenbrecher, of Los Angeles, has purchased the trotting mare Galette, 2:15¼, and in Walter Maben's hands she ought to be a pretty fair money-winner. Galette was sired by Jud Wilkes, 2:24, dam Gale, 2:26, by Commodore Belmont, second dam Irene, by Dictator; third dam Fannie Helm, by Abdallah 15. She is bred right, and this young man is to be congratulated on securing her.

Capt. Ford Thomas, a prominent business man of this city, recently purchased a very fast pacing filly by Secretary (son of Director, 2:17) out of a mare by Antevolo, 2:18¼. She will be heard from this fall.

Throughout the Eastern circuit the daily attendance at the light harness horse meetings is larger than it has been for years, and interest in the races seems to have been revived amazingly. There will be plenty of buyers for the 2:30 class, or better, performers this year.

The Palo Alto Stock Farm horses that will appear hereafter on the California circuit were shipped to-day to the Oakland trotting track in charge of R. Havey and J. Phippen. There are twelve head in all.

It looks as if we shall have race meetings this year, Budd or no Budd! That economical, gubernatorial fakir could not destroy the trotting horse interests after all. They are on top, but where, oh where, is he?

Javelin by Creole was entered in the 2:12 class pacing race at Peoria, Ill., the second during the week, and won the first two heats in 2:10½—2:08¼, and was beaten a head in 2:08¼ in the third. She got second money.

Cracksman, a chestnut horse by Red Wilkes out of that great old pacing queen Buffalo Girl stepped inside the 2:15 circle in the first race he ever started. At Detroit last week he won the 2:30 pace in 2:14¾, 2:14 and 2:16.

Have you noticed the splendid list of entries for Oakland, Chico and Willows? Mr. D. E. Knight, of Marysville, says all the events filled equally well at his place, and, if possible, he will send the list in for this issue.

Oitinger is being prepared to meet Fantasy in the Detroit free-for-all trot. It is a dash race, and if the little gelding from the Pacific Coast gives the big mare about the hardest rub she has yet had it will not be surprising.

It would not surprise us to see B. C. Holly, Wm. Donathan, George Bayliss, F. Van Ness and a number of others who have been interested in running horses for the past two years, in the sulky on the California circuit this year.

Missouri produced Hastings, 2:13¼, the fastest three-year-old trotter of 1897, to date. He is by Norcatur, a son of Norval, 2:12¾, and is out of the trotting mare Roxie Lee, 2:26¼, sister to Amy Lee, 2:14, by Bay Star, Son of Daniel Lambert.

Ivaneer, by Electioneer out of Isma (dam of Veda, 2:26½), by Gen. Benton, got his first performer in Susie W., who won a race at La Salle, Ill., July 6th, in 2:28½, 2:23¼ and 2:30. Isma is out of Irene (dam of Ira, 2:24½, etc.), by Mohawk Chief.

Klamath is to be taken East at the conclusion of the Montana meeting. This is Klamath's tenth year on the track. He has won over forty races and has figured in many memorable contests over tracks in almost every prominent State in the Union.

Searchlight is a rattling good three-year-old pacer. He won a race at Anaconda last Wednesday and got a record of 2:11¼, which is the State record. Argoeat Wilkes, by Argot Wilkes, holds the same record with him, 2:11¼. They paced these miles fifteen feet from the pole.

One of the wisest appointments ever made by the P. C. T. H. B. Association was that of Frank W. Covey as starting judge at its meetings, and Mr. D. E. Knight of Marysville appointed the thoroughly capable young gentleman to act in a similar capacity at its meeting.

Octavia, the mare by Sultan, out of Virginia Maid, by Ferguson, won the M & M Stake at Detroit in 2:11½, 2:14¼ and 2:14, while Agitato, that won the four-year-old pacing race the same day and at the same place, was also out of a mare by Ferguson, the son of Geo. Wilkes.

There were many excursions of the Christian Endeavorers to Palo Alto, and most of them lingered around the stalls and paddocks where the great horses and broodmares were and did not hesitate to express their opinions. It surprised Superintendent Covey to notice that the ladies were far better posted in trotting-horse statistics than their escorts.

McKinney, 2:11¼, has been shipped to Los Angeles where he will make a fall season. He was bred to fifty-three mares this season, the last one being Lily Stanley, 2:17¼. There have been over fifteen mares booked to this great horse for this fall. Every owner of a McKinney in this part of California claim they have the "greatest foal on earth!"

Harry E. Wise arrived from Anaconda, Mont. He reports the weather cold and rainy, which prevented a large attendance at the track. Betting was fair. Great credit, he says, is due to Manager Ed. A. Tipton for the way in which he receives and treats every visitor there. The starting of James Ferguson was excellent and the judging could not be beat.

We heard of a pacer two-year-old, by Diablo, that paced a quarter of a mile in 31½ seconds, and he has only been on a race track six weeks. That is too fast for any colt of that age this time of the year, especially with such little work. The money is never to be found on the quarter pole; in cases like this it is only a little way beyond it to the veterinary infirmary. Go slow, gentlemen!

Emma Nevada, the erratic daughter of James Madison, 2:17¾, that the late Col. Harry I. Thornton thought so much of, has at last settled down to trotting, for we see by the Eastern turf journals that she was entered in a 2:40 class trotting event at Glens Falls, New York, July 5th, and won it in 2:32¼, 2:32½ and 2:25¼. Emma Nevada was out of Kate Dudley, by Tom Dudley (thoroughbred).

Dr. Simmons, of Boston, Mass., says that Oro Wilkes, 2:11, is the best type of a trotting stallion he has ever seen, and if he owned him he would not exchange him for any stallion living. He was delighted with Azmoor and Altivo at Palo Alto, and was enchanted with what he saw at this farm. He returned to his far Eastern home, Wednesday, determined to close out his veterinary practice to a certain extent and arrange to spend his winters in California hereafter.

The promising trotting mare L. M. P., 2:34½, winner of the 2:40 mixed race, pace or trot, at Newport, Vt., on the 3d inst., is owned by Hon. R. H. Pope, member of Parliament of Compton, P. Q. Her sire, Florimont, is by Piedmont, 2:17½, son of Almont. The dam of Florimont is Flower Girl, by Electioneer; second dam; Mayflower, 2:30½, (dam of Manzanita, 4, 2:16, Wildflower, 2, 2:21, etc.), by St. Clair.

Chanty (2), 2:24½, by Guy Wilkes, 2:15½, dam, Chantilly, by Nutwood, worked a mile a Readville on Saturday in 2:15¾. This, we believe, is the fastest work-out mile reported from any of the Futurity candidates, although Sister Alice, by Baron Wilkes, won a race at Peoria, Ill, last week, stepping the second heat in 2:18½. Improvidence, bay filly by Prodigal, 2:16, and another of the candidates, has taken a a record of 2:20.

Golden Gateway gets his first standard performer in Inez, 2:17½, record made at Syracuse. The fast roan mare is in the stable of W. L. Snow, of Hornellsville. Golden Gateway was sired by Guy Wilkes, 2:15½, out of Sable Haywards, and is a brother to Rupee, 2:11, and Siva, 2:13½, by Poscora Hayward, grandam Sable (dam of Sable Wilkes, 2:18). He was bred by Wm. Corbett, San Mateo Stock Farm, and sold to C. J. Hamlin, of Buffalo, N. Y.

An act of the last Missouri Legislature, known as the breeders' law, went into effect recently. Among its requirements is one that bookmaking or pool-selling cannot be carried on without license from the State Auditor. A violation of the law is punishable by one year's imprisonment or a fine of $1000, or both. Chief of Police Harrison of St. Louis issued orders to close all pool rooms found open, and as a result none in the city were open.

At the Blue Ribbon meeting, Detroit, July 16th, there was a four-year-old pacing race, purse $1,500. There were five entries. Agitato was made favorite and in the first heat Dustin landed the horse fourth in 2:10¼. The judges "dericked" Jimmy and put John Dickerson up, who won the next three heats and race easily in 2:10¼, 2:13¾ and 2:14. Every horse must be driven to win every heat, is an imperative order at this course; it should be the rule everywhere.

Prof. E. P. Heald's handsome stallion Pilot Prince (brother to Lottery Ticket, 2:19½) won a race at the Alameda race track last Saturday in 2:26½ and 2:29. He was driven by A. H. Cohen, of Alameda, a young attorney, who, were it not for his large legal practice, would be second to no driver in America. Pilot Prince was sired by Dexter Prince, out of Emma Nutwood (dam of Lottery Ticket, 2:19½), by Nutwood, grandam Lady Emma, 2:39½, by Black Hawk 767, etc.

A subscriber from Glendive, Montana, writes: "Harry Helms is working Lady A., 2:24½, by Arthur Wilkes, that is showing lots of speed this season. Harry is also working three yearlings by Shadeland Onward which ought to be good goods in time. Two of the yearlings are entered in the Kentucky Futurity in Lexington in 1898 as two-year-olds. Joel Gleason is having Roselle, 2:18¼. She will be entered through the Dakota circuit this fall. There are several green ones in this section that will be heard from in time in Eastern Montana, barring accidents, of course.

We would take it as a favor if breeders everywhere, as well as owners and trainers, would send us the news of their horses from their respective farms and stables. No matter how insignficant a performance may seem to a trainer a publication of the facts will be of interest to some one, and will consequently help the horse business materially. When a colt goes a quarter in even fairly good time and the fact is published in a turf journal it in nearly all cases arouses the interest of some one in that particular colt, and often leads to his sale at a good price should the owner desire to sell.

In answer to an inquiry regarding the best sulkies made, as far as we know, we have no hesitancy in recommending "The Toomey." More of them are in use on the Coast than any other, for they gives better satisfaction, are well advertised and horsemen know of no others to compare with it. When other sulkies are introduced on this Coast and as well advertised in our turf journals, then there may be a chance for comparison. There will be at least three hundred sulkies in use in California this year, and if any of our readers need one they must order at once. The Toomey sulky is the best sulky because it combines the very latest and best features in construction and less accidents have occurred to those riding in them than any other. All the fastest records made on this Coast were made with Toomey sulkies.

A prominent horseman said last Monday at the meeting of the P. C. T. H. B. Association, "Were it not for the fight the good old Breeder and Sportsman made single-handed we would have no trotting horse meetings in California this year. The odds were all against it, but it conquered, and we should not only feel grateful and support it, but should also try and get all our neighbors and friends to subscribe for it. It is helping them every day and for the past year it has done splendid service for the cause. I notice the editor is appealing to the subscribers who are delinquent. It must cost a large sum of money to conduct that journal, and I hope everyone who has been notified of their delinquency will respond. The interests of our farmers, trotting horse breeders and the associations will never find a better friend than the Breeder and Sportsman, and I hope its editor will receive the success he deserves.

A lawsuit will be the outcome of the 2:26 class trot at Syracuse, July 8. Ed. de Cernea, the well-known dealer of New York city, owned the stallion Bel-Bel, which died the night of the race from exhaustion, and Mr. de Cernea claims that the association, through its judges, is responsible for the death of the stallion, and will sue to recover $5000 damages. The driver of the horse protested before the last heat of the race that the stallion was sick, but as he was favorite the judges, among whom was Dr. M. J. Henderson, a veterinary to the State Board of Health, said the horse was all right and must be kept in the race. Mr. de Cernea recently purchased the horse for $2000 and claims that he had an offer of $5000 for him from James Gordon Bennett. Bel-Bel was a six-year-old brown stallion by Stamboul—Mabel, dam of Johnny Hayward, 2:26, by the Moor; grandam Minnehaha, dam of Alcazar, 2:20½, etc., by Steven's Bald Chief. He secured a record of 2:26¾ at Kingston, Ontario, last season.

THE SADDLE.

POSITANO, a son of St. Simon, has won some good races in Sydney this season.

LINCOLN II., with Thorpe up, landed in front again last Saturday in 1:43¾ over the Brighton track.

UTOPIA beat the red-hot favorite, Montgomery, last Saturday, at St. Louis. The distance of the race was six furlongs.

NORTON, a New Zealand-bred horse by Ascot—Romp, carried 173 lbs. to victory in a three mile steeplechase in England recently. He won off by himself.

CELLA & SIPPY, the well-known racing men that had Simmons, Doctor G., Siegfried and others out here last winter, are reported to have dissolved partnership.

SIX hunters, the property of Foxhall Keene, were sold at auction at Tattersall's, in London,on Monday. They brought £1,331, the top price being £450 for Balley Fermatt.

THE West Australian Turf Club (Perth) made a profit of £6,500 last year, notwithstanding that £10,000 was spent in improvements. That speaks pretty well for the totalizator.

AFTER winning the Trial Plate at Newmarket on June 29th Glaring, bay gelding, 3, by imp. The Sailor Prince, dam Flash, was bought by Sir J. Miller for 670 guineas, about $3,350.

CHUM, the three-year-old filly that defeated Winged Foot, Hanwell and other good ones July 12th, is by the dead Maxim from School Girl. She finished first by three lengths, eased up.

THE winners of running races, at Anaconda, last Monday were Salmera, Senator Bland, I Don't Know, Allahbad, Colonel T. and Cherry Leaf. The track was made very heavy by rain.

LEORA, the half-sister to Al Farrow,seems to be unbeatable at the three-furlong game in Montana. About the slowest time she made at the distance was 0:35, and one day she did it in 0:34¼.

W. B. REIS, of Alamo, has a yearling filly by Morello from Orinda, by Monday, that he would not take $3,000 for, so beautifully formed is the youngster and from such a great racing family.

FLEISCHMAN, a maiden, led Ornament all the way in the Buckeye Stakes at Oakley last Saturday, winning with ease. It was in the mud, and Ornament carried 127 pounds to Fleischman's 112.

THE BACHELOR, brother to Ducat, ran second to J. P. B. at Oakley July 16th, conceding eight pounds to the winner. Allie Belle, a California-bred one, ran third to Sacket and Beneville the same day.

THE Oakley judges have removed the suspension from Jockey Beauchamp, who was set down for a poor ride on Panmure. It was learned after investigation that Panmure had bowed a tendon.—Cincinnati dispatch, July 16th.

CHARLEY SLAUGHTER rode three winners at St. Louis last Tuesday—Montgomery (1 to 2), Blitheful (8 to 1) and Greyhurst (1 to 2). When Slaughter is good he's very, very good, and when he's bad he's awful, if, indeed, not offal.

AT St. Louis, July 16th, Barney Schreiber's horses, Aquinas and Greyhurst, won mile races, ridden by Johnny Woods and Charley Slaughter respectively. Basquil, out here last winter, ran second to Joe Hart in a seven-furlong race.

ESTACA, Thorpe up, won a mile and a furlong race at Brighton Beach July 16th, beating a fair field. Michael III., W. M. Murry's good Islington colt, conceded ten pounds to Nuto and finished second in a six-furlong race the same day.

MR. G. W. MARSHALL'S Hazel Beech ran first, Lorillard Beresford stables' Belisamma second, and Lorillard Beresford stables' Glaring third, in the trial plate of 200 sovereigns at the first day's racing at Newmarket, the second July meeting, July 13th.

ATKIN & LOTTRIDGE scored heavily with Manchester last Saturday at Brighton Beach, the Sir Modred horse being at 20 to 1 in the betting. Little Clawson rode both Manchester and Decide, winners. Behind Manchester finished Sapelo, Sir Play and others.

IT appears that Dave Gideon released "Skeets" Martin because he failed to show up mornings to gallop horses. The California lad is not getting many mounts these days, and if he does not attend to business better may slide down the hill faster than he went up.

A FEATURE of the recent Hawkesbury (N. S. W.) meeting was the winning of consecutive races (Nursery and Hawkesbury Hutumn Handicaps) by Maldon and Adoration, full brother and sister, by Nordenfeldt—Idolatry. Both are owned by Mr. S. Hordern, of Sydney.

SEND to this office for the handsomest little book ever published, "Racing in California," containing excellent pictures of racing officials, prominent men in the racing world and equine celebrities of the turf, besides a lot of interesting turf history. Price, postpaid, 50 cents.

MORELLO yearlings are going to be worth pretty nearly their weight in gold, for there are not more than eight for sale in the country. Of this number, J. B, Chase has five, three of them from the famous Katy Pease family, that gave us Gilead, Marigold, Centella and De Bracey.

A SPECIAL to the Salt Lake Herald from Anaconda, Mont., says: "Marcus Daly has sold to W. S. Randall for $10,000 the race horses Salvation, 'Ostler Joe, St. Aignon and New Moon." They are well worth this sum. 'Ostler Joe holds the mile and a furlong record of the coast (1:53), and equaled the record at a mile and a sixteenth, 1:46¾. Salvation is equally high-class, and, like all the Salvators, is especially good in the heavy going.

JOE PIGGOTT rode Ed Corrigan's Hurly Burly to victory in a five-furlong dash at Oakley last Wednesday, while the California lad, Beauchamp, piloted two winners, Stanza and Lake View Palace.

GEO. C. BENNETT has purchased of C. Smith, formerly the Kendal Stable, the chestnut mare Urania, 5, by Hanover, dam Wanda, by imp. Mortemer, out of Minnie Minor, by Lexington, and will breed her to imp. Top Gallant. The result of this union should be a great race horse.

BARNEY SCHREIBER'S highly prized Morello—Pennyroyal filly, First Born, ran second to Bon Marche last Monday at St. Louis, her first start. The trainer had orders not to start First Born until she was in a field that she could defeat. Hence it must have been a bitter disappointment.

INDIA, a two-year-old sister to the Doncaster winner, Superb, and to Candid and Candour (by Splendor—Canary) was well backed for the Maiden Plate at Marrbyrnong, but failed to get a place, in consequence of which Mr. S. Miller has decided to return her to Mr. Uphill, from whom she was leased.

BEFORE leaving for England, Newhaven was carefully physicked to prepare him for the voyage. Mr. Cooper's colt has had better luck than was experienced by his sire Newminster, who before starting for the Derby of 1876 was also "carefully physicked"—and effectually stopped.—The Australasian.

THE stewards of the Jockey Club found, in the case of imp. Friar, that the colt had an exceedingly nervous disposition, was capable of performing wonderfully at times and disappointingly at others; that the owners and trainer never bet on him, and therefore the Messrs. Morris and the colt's trainer were exonerated.

THE following officials appointed by the Saratoga Racing Association were approved by The Jockey Club: Judge—W. L. Powers; Starter—W. J. Fitzpatrick; Clerk of Scales—C. F. Rule, Jr.; Steward—W. M. Nolan; Handicapper—W. S. Vosburg. Clarence McDowell was appointed Steward to represent The Jockey Club meeting.

CY MULKEY is entitled to the thanks of the Endeavorers for the cordial manner in which he received Easterners at the Spreckels Stock Farm, of which he is superintendent, recently. He threw all the gates on the farm wide open and gave all free access to the training stables and a view of the fine stock there to be seen.—Napa Daily Register.

ON what accidents does the breeding of blood stock hinge! Had James Nightingall not bought Hampton out of a selling race as a two-year-old at a Hampton meeting twenty-three years ago (says an English writer) it is likely enough the colt would have gravitated into ownership which would never have led to his being given a chance at the stud at all and what a difference that would have made to the present day Stud Book!

PLANS for playing three excellent betting "systems" that have not failed in a whole season (from reports in official guides) to win less than $25 per day on a capital of $400, are now for sale for a reasonable sum. Address, "T. H.," this office, for terms and other particulars. These systems can be played with a capital of from $80 up—in pool-rooms that get track odds or on any race course. Only a little determination and a small capital needed to insure success.

AT the Epsom (Eng.) Spring Meeting a two year-old named Stream of Gold won the Tattenham Plate, five furlongs, in 56 4-5 seconds, and later on in the same afternoon a horse named Sirdar, in winning the Great Surrey Handicap, cut out a similar distance in 56 1-5 seconds. The "Special Commissioner" of the London Sportsman says that all five-furlong races at Epsom are covered in under 1:00, which seems astonishing, but not to anyone who knows the course, which is down hill for the greater part of the journey.

MISS VERNE, a three-year-old filly by Don Jose—Maud Turner, won a six-furlong race at St. Louis July 13th, time 1:15. Her sire, the Joe Hooker—Countess Zeika horse, bred by Theodore Winters, went East a number of years ago and won the Chicago Horseman and Sheridan Stakes and made a good showing in the American Derby. It was Don Jose that jumped the fence at Bay District when struck with a whip for the first time, the colt killing a race-goer named Sidney Marsh, who stood on the inside track looking at the race.

THE Atlantic Transport Steamship Mississippi which sailed for London recently carried the four thoroughbred purchased from the Lorillard stud by the famous tenor, Jean de Reszke. They are Dainty, by imp. The Sailor Prince out of Daisy; Attica, by Sensation—Lima; Imagination, by imp. The Sailor Prince—Perception, and Princess Alice, by imp. The Sailor Prince—Lady Alice. Two of the mares have colts, which will accompany them. They are the bay colt by Pontiac—Princess Alice, and a chestnut colt by Pontiac—Dainty. They will all be shipped to the de Reszke estate in Poland.

A DISPATCH from Anaconda, Mont., of last Tuesday night says: "The veteran sprinter, Bill Howard, equaled the track record of 0:43¾ in a half-mile dash this afternoon, Omah Wood set the pace for a quarter, when Howard headed her and won by a length from I Don't Know, which beat out the Wood mare for the place. The Bitter Root stakes of $1,000 for pacers were captured by Edith W. in handy fashion. The Ravalli stakes of $1,000 for runners at one and an eighth mile were annexed by imp. Devil's Dream, a filly sold by Marcus Daly yesterday to C. D. Crullin, of California, for less than the money she won to day.

THE celebrated sire of racers, Eolus, by imp. Leamington—Fanny Washington, foaled in 1868, died at the Ellerslie Stud, Overton, Va., on July 9. He was the sire of such race horses as Eole, Eurus, Eolist, St. Saviour, Knight of Ellerslie, Elkwood, Eon, Diablo and Morello,and had a most creditable career on the track, although having gained greater distinction at the stud. It is doubtful if more than three horses in American history ever got three such high-class racers as Morello, St. Saviour and Eole. Eurus and Elkwood won the Suburban Handicap and Diablo the Brooklyn. St. Saviour got a great "stayer" in Gilead and a high-class performer in De Bracey. Knight of Ellerslie is the sire of the champion, Henry of Navarre, while the dead champion, Morello, leads all the sires of America in 1897 in number of two-year-old winners.

THE Missouri breeders' bill passed by the last Legislature prohibiting pool selling except on race tracks by licensed pool sellers was sustained by Judge Fisher of the Circuit Court July 15th. Frank Carr and William Davis, pool-sellers, were denied the injunction they asked to restrain the city officials from closing up their poolrooms and interfering with their business. Judge Fisher denied the injunction on the ground that they had applied to the wrong place for relief. He said a court of equity had no right to enjoin officials from acting in matters which came under the jurisdiction of Criminal Courts. This leaves the bill where it was before. The question of its constitutionality has not yet been tested.

A LETTER from Lexington gives the following of Hamburg as a suckling: Gus Strauss, of this city, purchased Hamburg, John E. Madden's great colt, while a suckling running the pasture at Elmendorf with its mother, Lady Reel. Strauss paid Col. C. J. Enright $900 for the youngster, and in about sixty days sold him to Madden for $1500. Speaking of Hamburg's individuality, Mr. Strauss said: "He is the first and only suckling I ever bought. When I sold him to Madden I told him he was the only race horse I had ever sold him. I have been in the business thirty years and never had before been so attracted by a youngster as I was by him. Madden liked him, however, just a little better than I did. We drove out to Elmendorf one day to look at the colts, and Madden proposed to give him $1,500 for him. I thought $600 profit good enough and took it." Madden has been offered $30,000 for him, and will not sell. He has a Candlemas colt out of the same dam which very much resembles Hamburg. He also refuses to part with this one, although several flattering offers have made for him.

THE consignment of thoroughbred yearlings from the Nonsett Stud of W. H. Forbes, of Massachusetts, disposed of in New York, sold as follows: Bay filly by imp. Meddler—Patrea, by imp. Glenelg, W. Hogan, $475; ch f by imp. Meddler—Nokomis, by Iroquois, J. E. McDonald, $200; ch f by imp. Meddler—imp. Fair Barbarian, by Hermit, T. Powell, $100; b c by imp. Meddler—Yodel, by Tremont, M. F. Dwyer, $1,200; ch c by imp. Meddler—imp. Onoma, by Hampton, J. R. Keene, $4,100; br c by imp. Meddler—Sheboygan, by Virgil, A. White, $1,000; b c by imp. Meddler—Moneybox, by Onondaga, or imp. Rayon d'Or, M. F. Dwyer, $3,200; ch f by imp. Meddler—Iolanthe, by Helmbold, O. A. Jones, $100; ch f by imp. Meddler—imp. Ettare, by Macaroni, W. L Powers, $500; b f by imp. Meddler—imp. Miss Jack, by Mask, J. E. Seagram, $450; b f by imp. Meddler—imp. Spring Tide, by Galliard, J. Sanford, $1,300; b f by imp. Meddler—Seegrie, by imp Dalnacardoch, W. Hogan, $450; b f by imp. Little Lady II., by Peter, J. Bauer, $275. Total (13 head) $13,350; average per head, $1,026.92. Imp. Meddler is proving as great a sire as he was a racer, and upon the death of Abingdon Baird he was sold to Mr. Forbes for $75,000.

THE tenth renewal of the Eclipse stakes for 10,000 guineas was won at the second summer meeting at Sandowne Park (Eng.), July 16th, by Persimmon, the four-year-old bay colt owned by the Prince of Wales. The Eclipse stake is for three and four-year-olds, the second horse to receive 500 sovereigns and the nominator of the winner 500 sovereigns and the third horse 100 sovereigns out of the stakes, over the Eclipse stake course, about one and one-quarter miles. The betting before the the start was 100 to 12 on Persimmon, 100 to 8 against Velasquez and 25 to 1 against Bay Ronald. A. Mainer's bay colt Beato made the running to the straight, where Bradwardine assumed the lead. At the commencement of the final struggle Persimmon drew in front, followed by Velasquez, and won by two lengths. Four lengths separated the second and third horses. Richard Croker's brown filly Rhoda ran second in the twenty-second renewal of the Great Kingston two-year-old race, Hoare Smith's bay filly Platonic being third. Among the notables at the races were the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Princess Victoria of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York, the Duchess of Fife, the Duke of Saxe Coburg, the Duke and Duchess of Teck, Prince Christian and Duke of Cambridge.

THE case of John Hennessy, charged by Michael McDermott with having stolen Walter J. from his stall on the 11th of June, attracted considerable attention in court at Sacramento last Monday. Hennessy testified that he bought the horse for $80 at the Hearst sale of 1894, and McDermott offered to take Walter J., train and race him, divide the winnings and finally dispose of him for a good sum if the opportunity was presented. Thereupon Hennessy gave McDermott an order for the colt and received $5 to bind the contract. McDermott took the animal to Salinas, remaining there four months, afterward racing him with more than average success. A short time thereafter McDermott informed Hennessy in San Francisco that he had sold a half interest in the colt to W. J. O'Brien and given a bill of sale, and upon expressing a fear that he might get into trouble respecting the title to the animal, Hennessy gave McDermott a bill of sale, with the understanding that the turf winnings should be divided and that a sale should be made as quickly as possible. He said he had received nothing for the animal. After hearing the evidence Justice Davis held Hennessy to answer before the Superior Court, bail being fixed at $1,000.

BETWEEN the value of thoroughbred yearlings in America and England the recent sales in both countries show quite a difference. At the Newmarket sales on July 1st prices ruled far and above what have been obtained on this side. The lowest price of the lot sold was 25 guineas about $125, while prices ranging from 200 guineas ($1,000), up to 1,350 guineas were common. A brown colt by Orme, dam Nemesis, by St. Gatien, brought $2,000; Lorme, chestnut colt, by Orme, dam Lotus, by Doncaster, $5,550; Fairy Gold, bay filly, by Bend Or, dam Dame Masham, by Galliard, $5,750; bay colt, by Sheen, dam Footlight, by Cremorne, $7,000; bay colt, by Donovan, dam Armorel, by Florentine, $2,550; brown colt by Janissary, dam Lady Kin, by Coltness, $2,050; bay colt, by Macheath, dam Pope Joan, by Silvester, $2,500; chestnut colt, by Hampton, dam Miss Ethel, by Wisdom, $2,000; bay filly, by Orme, dam Patroness, by Pellegrino, $2,750; bay filly, by Orvieto, dam New Zealand, by Isonomy, $2,500; chestnut colt, by Crafton, dam Hampton Agnes, by Royal Hampton, $5,500; brown colt, by Westminister, dam Blackbird, by Pell Mell, $2,050; chestnut colt by Hagioscope, dam Gracie Agnes, by Constantine, $2,150; bay filly, by St. Simon, dam Hampton Rose, by Hampton, $6,750. Fifty-four head brought $83,825, an average of $1,552.31.

Crowned with Success.

The lists of entries for the four opening meetings in the California circuit, which appear on another page of this issue, is the strongest answer to the charges made last April that there would be no more light harness horse racing in California, and that "the bottom was knocked out of the industry." There were some breeders and horseowners who had always "looked with pleasure on the dark side of every problem in life," and when the bombshell dropped by Gov. Budd's veto exploded in the camp they hastened to their homes, discharged their trainers and turned their horses out. There were others who had read the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, and had noted the increasing demand for horses with records, and were loath to see ALL the horses which had cost them so much time, money and care, placed in a position where they could neither earn records, glory nor coin; but as their eyes rested on the strong editorials, they saw a rift of light and read, like Daniel of old, the handwriting on the wall, "We shall have race meetings in California, Budd or no Budd!" and were encouraged to wait a little longer and see what could be done.

It was an uphill task this journal had before it, for there was not another newspaper—daily or weekly—on this Coast to give horsemen the slightest encouragement. Jos. Cairn Simpson, as well as the rest of our staff of writers, were kept busy in the work they had before them, and we take pleasure in acknowledging the fact that a liberal and powerful response to our appeals to not give up the fight came to us from good, game horsemen everywhere, therefore our race meetings were assured.

When the meeting of the P. C. T. H. B. Association was called, these responses were presented for its consideration, and by them the statement, so often made in his journal, "that more good horses were in training on this coast than ever before," was clearly substantiated. About twenty-five per cent. of these horsemen had arranged their itinerary to include the Montana circuit, but the showing that there would be enough left in this State, including many very wealthy newcomers, encouraged the Board of Directors to give meetings this year; forthwith they advertised the same, the result of which is well known to everyone interested in this industry in the United States.

We also claimed that at all meetings preceding the State Fair better opportunities would be presented our horsemen to give their trotters and pacers records than after that two weeks' meeting, on account of the Montana contingent being absent. Notwithstanding this claim, a number of our leading horsemen refrained from forwarding entries, believing that only a few of the classes advertised at Oakland, Marysville, Chico and Willows would be declared filled, but, to their surprise, they know better now. They have learned a practical lesson which, it is hoped, they will never forget. Their only opportunity is to have their horses at Woodland, hence we look for a big meeting there.

The Golden Gate and the Alameda Driving Clubs are working in conjunction with the Breeders Association to make the meeting in Oakland a success, so on Monday next entries for the roadster classes will close at both organizations.

Everyone is taking an interest in the meetings, and as Mr. Frank W. Covey has been appointed Starting Judge, horsemen can rely upon justice being accorded them and the public assured there will be no long waits or vexatious delays.

Bookmaking at these meetings will not be allowed. S. B. Whitehead & Co. will conduct the betting privileges at Oakland, and J. Sprague the meetings at the other places. Horse-owners who ship their horses to the meetings by rail from their home places will receive a twenty per cent. rebate, as explained in another article on this page.

What more can be said? Our horsemen have shown their true colors; the Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders Association has set an example that is praised throughout the United States; the people of every city on the circuit have generously contributed toward the fund to hold race meetings, thus demonstrating to the discomfiture of that loud-mouthed, addle-brained fakir and avowed enemy to California's progress—Gov. Budd—that the same spirit which prompted them to help the farmers and breeders will be ready to smother him out of political existence should he aspire to anything hereafter.

There is but one thing more to be done, and that is, to "boom" these meetings. Talk about them to everyone. Come, bring your friends, and success will crown the efforts of the self-sacrificing directors of these organizations who are doing so much to place the light-harness horse of the Pacific Coast where he belongs—in the highest position in the estimation of all horsemen in the world.

Our State Fair.

No event that takes place in California has a greater hold upon the affections of the people of this glorious land than the State Fair at Sacramento. It is the only one that receives State aid, hence the directors are most liberal in giving good purses and conducting the meeting in a manner which makes it a magnet, drawing people from all parts of California to its spacious park.

Prosperity is beginning to dawn on California. Its farmers, orchardists and vinyardists have little cause for complaint this season. Money is coming in plentifully, and there is not a more enjoyable place to get the full value of it than at the State Fair, Sacramento. The advertisement of the racing events which appears in this issue explains much that is valuable to the horsemen and trainers, and as entries for the principal events, trotting, pacing and running, will close next Saturday, July 31st, there should be no delay on the part of horsemen in filling out the entry blanks and sending them to Secretary Edwin F. Smith on or before that date. Entry blanks may also be obtained on application at this office. The attention of our readers is specially called to the conditions under which the light harness horse races will be governed. Many innovations have been made to those formerly in use. The races will be arranged so that the running horses will have the course one day, and the trotters and pacers the day following, and so on during the entire two weeks' meeting. The track will be specially prepared for these different classes. The exhibit of live stock, horses, cattle, swine, sheep, poultry, etc. promises to be large, and great care will be exercised in the selection of judges. The State Fair of 1897 promises to eclipse all others heretofore held, and if you have a horse that is eligible to trot, pace or run fast we advise you to make an entry.

ALL who have vehicles for sale, sulkies and buggies, should not hesitate to advertise them in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN. No better evidence of its power is needed than the splendid victory it has gained in encouraging horsemen and associations to hold race meetings this year. See the list of prominent horsemen it has reached in the columns where the entries appear. Every stock farm in California should be advertised in this journal, for it is working to increase the value of horses (thoroughbreds, trotters and pacers), bred and raised in these places, and through its endeavors many great sales have been, and will be, made. It is a plain business proposition. This paper helps to support them more than any other, and it should receive some recognition in the way of advertising.

MESSRS. KILLIP & CO. will hold a combination sale of light harness horses August 10th, and wish to notify all horse-owners desiring to sell to send in the lists with the descriptions of each animal. A number of good ones from the Mill Brook Farm are already booked for this sale.

Sturdy Race Horses or "Weeds?"

Of late, there has been considerable agitation in Kentucky breeding circles regarding the "spaying" of weedy fillies and old mares, so that, in the words of an untutored California millionaire who was interested in racing out this way, "they cannot perpetrate their species." The subject, however, is one that our breeders can well take up, for were the weeds of the thoroughbred garden pulled up, as it were, and cast aside forever, a better race of horses would undoubtedly result.

It is a demonstrated fact that a colt at weaning time has at least 60 per cent. of the blood of its dam flowing in its veins against 40 per cent. or less of its sire's, hence it follows that it should have more of its mother's individuality stamped upon it, more of its mother's disposition and ability than that of its sire. Great broodmares prove that. Pocahontas, the most wonderful stud matron o England, threw famous stake-winners by Stockwell, Irish Birdcatcher and two or three other stallions. Emma, by Whisker, was mated with several stallions, yet got two Derby-winners—Mundig, by Catton, and Cotherstone by Touchstone, while a sister to Cotherstone, Mowerina, was the dam of West Australian, winner of the Derby, 2,000 Guineas and St. Leger. Old Queen Mary, by Gladiator, produced many famous racers by different horses. In this country, Marion, by Malcolm, was the mother of champion racers by both Norfolk and Joe Hooker, the former of the Herod male line, the latter of the Eclipse line. Reel, by imp. Glencoe, was the mother of Lecompte, by Boston, Prioress (a great stake-winner in England), by imp. Sovereign, Starke (also a cup winner in England), by Wagner, and War Dance, by Lexington. Many other instances of this sort could be cited, all going to show that IT IS THE MARE THAT COUNTS MOST. They "perpetrate their species."

There never was a great horse that had a weedy mother. The roomy, well-developed mares, with great thighs and quarters, depth through the heart and immense lung power, with no deformities that are transmittable, are the ones that produce the race horses, and not the narrow-chested, "leggy" mares, no matter how well they might have raced themselves. In an article by Henry Cline in the last issue of The Horseman, reprinted by request, we find the following anent the "form of animals," and as the writer is a deep student of the subject upon which he writes, breeders should consider well what he says:

When the male is much larger than the female the offspring is generally of an imperfect form. If the female be proportionately larger than the male the offspring is of an improved form. The improvement depends on this principle, that the power of the female to supply her offspring with nourishment is in proportion to her size, and to the power of nourishing herself from the excellence of her constitution; as larger animals eat more, the large female may afford most nourishment to her offspring.

The size of the fœtus is generally in proportion to that of the male parent; and, therefore, when the female parent is disproportionately small the quantity of nourishment is deficient, and her offspring has all the disproportions of a starveling. But, when the female, from her size and good constitution, is more than adequate to the nourishment of a fœtus of a smaller male than herself, the growth must be proportionately greater. The larger female has also a greater quantity of milk, and her offspring is more abundantly supplied with nourishment after birth.

To produce the most perfectly-formed animal, abundant nourishment is necessary from the earliest period of its existence until its growth is complete.

It has been observed, in the beginning of this paper, that the power to prepare the greatest quantity of nourishment from a given quantity of food depends principally on the magnitude of the lungs, to which the organs of digestion are subservient.

To obtain animals with large lungs, crossing is the most expeditious method; because well-formed females may be selected from a variety of large size, to be put to a well-formed male of a variety that is rather smaller.

By such a method of crossing, the lungs and heart become proportionately larger, in consequence of a peculiarity in the circulation of the fœtus, which causes a larger proportion of the blood, under such circumstances, to be distributed to the lungs than to the other part of the body, and as the shape and size of the chest depend upon that of the lungs, hence arises the remarkably large chest which is produced by crossing with females that are larger than the males.

The writer then cites several instances where in several countries, in order to get a larger and better lot of horses, the great mistake has been made of breeding mares to much larger horses, the result being a race of small-chested, long-legged, worthless animals. There is one family of horses in this country noted for its "roominess" and height, and that is the Darebin, and it is our opinion that many of his daughters will prove famous stud matrons. Darebin is a giant himself, and his mother, Lurline, was a big, roomy mare, with more than ordinary ability as a racer. Mr. Cline says this plan of enlargement must be limited, especially where activity is required, that it is wrong to enlarge a native breed of animals, and declares "they become worse in form, less hardy and more liable to disease." But where horses are brought from foreign countries and mated with those of our own land, enlargement of the breed can certainly work no harm. With an increase in the size of our thoroughbreds will come the ability to carry heavier weights, and assuredly greater lung power will admit of horses going a longer journey. Raising of the scale of weights all over the country is sure to come (it has in the far East), and when it does, the "weed" that is of no account except with a "postage stamp" on his weak back will be at a discount, while the well-developed, larger animal will command a good price and be in steady demand. The only cry, "speed," so long heard in the land, will be hushed then, and our turfmen will change this and shout lustily for the "route-goers" with weight-carrying ability.

Important to Trotting Horsemen.

Wm. Sproule, General Freight Agent of the S. P. Co., in response to the application for reduced freight rates, made by the P. C. T. H. B. Association (through its committee) sent the following:

"The current rates on race horses shipped under contract released to valuation not exceeding $100 per head by passenger train in baggage or special cars, and released to valuation not exceeding $50 per head in ordinary cars, by freight train, per car, as as follows:

From	To	By Passenger-Train: Special or Baggage Cars: Per 48 ft. Car	By Passenger-Train: Special or Baggage Cars: Per 55 ft. Car	By Freight-Train: Per Ordinary Car 30 feet in length

"The rates by freight-train, for cars over thirty feet in length will be increased proportionately. The rates named by passenger-train will include one man accompanying in charge with each carload free.

"The rates named by freight-train will include one man accompanying in charge free with one carload; with two to five carloads one man may accompany and return free; with six to ten carloads two men may accompany and return free; subject, of course, to the usual requirements.

"If the horses are entered for the circuit as now outlined, and you will so certify, and this company's rails used exclusively in the movement from point to point, we feel disposed to render all the assistance we can consistently to make the proposed circuit a success in every way, and will, at the close of the final meet, on surrender of the expense bill, with certificates from the secretary of the association showing that the animals have been entered for the circuit, contribute as this company's share one-fifth of the freight charges as a sort of offset to the appropriation heretofore made by the State, which, we understand, has not been made for this year's meeting."

This concession of twenty per cent is more than has ever been made by this company before, and to go still further, the following additional letter was received from the same gentleman regarding transportation:

In compliance with your desires and as a further contribution on the part of this company toward bringing about the meetings which you have in view, I now beg to state that in shipments of horse in carloads from various points in California to the Oakland race track, in vicinity of Shell Mound, we shall be willing to make the same concession as per my letter of the 2d inst., and subject to the same stipulations as set forth therein.

Allow me in this connection to emphasize the understanding that this arrangement is with the understanding that the service for the whole outfit shall be over this company's rails, not that our rails will be used between points where water is not available, but that we shall lose the business when in some manner the water route seems to be the more attractive. In other words, standing in with you to make your circuit possible and a success, we look to you to stand with us in good faith in the same way.

WE have had a portion of the "block system" apparatus manufactured, enough to enable one to jndge how the system is operated, and are about convinced that the same volume of business could not be handled by the "block" as by the Paris-mutuel machine plan. We are inclined to the belief that the tearing off of perforated tickets and handing them to the purchaser or the ticket-seller would take up too much time, and in the opinion of experts three or four tickets could be rung up on a machine and passed out to different buyers while one was being disposed of on the "block" plan. We earnestly hoped that it would be an improvemennt upon the older mutuel system, but it seems as if it were not. With several simple and feasible safeguards thrown around the Paris mutuel machine, which we will speak of at length next week, it is our opinion that no plan can be devised which would insure more fairness to speculators, and it is a demonstrated fact that more money can be taken in and paid out in a given time by the French plan than by any other as yet tried here. As matters look at present, the buyers of the P. C. T. H. B. A. betting privilege will have to work extremely hard if they are to get the "block" apparatus manufactured by July 31st, and it would not surprise us to see mutuel machines in operation, with every horse sold out—at least in the first heat of each race.

On Woodland.

There is a smiling throng of horsemen at the Oakland track and many others in various parts of California who have heard of the splendid showing made by the light harness horse devotees of California. The way in which they scan the columns of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN in search of the advertisements of other meetings is most encouraging. Woodland being the one to follow Willows, has the first call, and as there are many horsemen who have not made entries at preceding meetings and feel dissatisfied over their want of courage, this meeting at Woodland is just the one they should attend. There are fourteen races to be given, and as entries will close next Friday, July 30th, this is the last notice that will published.

Of Woodland's famous track, what can be said? Its fame for safety and perfectly level stretches and easily graduated curves extends to Oregon and Lower California, and from the Sierras to the sea. Great records have been broken on it. The climate is unsurpassed, the people most hospitable and enthusiastic, and as the prospects for an excellent year (agriculturally speaking) are very bright, visiting horsemen can rely upon having a royally good time. Woodland is one of the best places on the circuit and everyone should try and go there. Remember entries close next Friday, July 30th. Blanks may be obtained from C. M. Barney, Secretary, or at this office.

Solid Stockton!

All the indications point to Stockton having a great mixed meeting in September. The conditions governing the various events will be found advertised in this issue, and they appeal to all the owners of trotters, pacers or gallopers in this part of the world.

The entries to the 2:40 trot, 2:27 trot, 2:30 and 2:25 paces close August 1st; in the other harness events September 2d. In the running races entries close August 2d with Secretary J. W. Willy. Bids for brivileges are now open, and they are to close August 1st. Stockton has one of the best race courses in the United States, the citizens of the Slough City are enthusiastic over the prospects of a phenomenal meet, and we shall look forward to a long list of entries to all the Driving Club's races and most exciting sport throughout. Entry blanks can be obtained at this office upon application.

AT EMERYVILLE COURSE.

What Our Reporter Saw in a Visit to the New Track Whereon Some Records Will Be Made Next Week.

San Francisco furnished the first surprise to the devotees of the light harness horse industry, when, through the efforts of the P. C. T. H. B. Association last spring, the gates of the magnificent course at Ingleside were thrown open and over one hundred trotters and pacers from all parts of California came to meet in friendly contests on the splendid course there. The weather god, however, did not smile benignly on the meeting, and many complaints were heard throughout the season regarding the condition of the horses that were shipped from the interior valleys of this State to that splendid track which seemed to enclose all the winds and cheerless atmosphere of the peninsula for the exclusive benefit of the horsemen, their horses and the public.

This year another excellent track will greet the horsemen in the place where the summer winds are tempered and the climate is warmer, where a track is built on the site of the old Oakland course over which so many memorable turf battles were fought. The change has been so great that the visitors marvel at it. One of them remarked: "The way I recognize it as being the Oakland track is the presence of that prince among horsemen, Wm. Fieldwick, who is better known to the turf world as Julien Bill, from the fact he was, for several years, the careful caretaker of the old-time Volunteer horse, St. Julien." He is superintendent of the track, and no man knows better whether a track is fast or not than he. His services have been in active demand all week, not only in supervising the watering, harrowing and rolling and scraping of the track, but also in apportioning stalls to the visiting horsemen. Not a complaint has been heard, and the California Jockey Club, that generously tendered the use of this magnificent course for the meetings of the P. C. T. H. B. Association, is praised every day."

To give a description of each and every horse that is here would fill the columns of this paper, and, as nearly all of the trotters and pacers will make themselves known during the splendid season about to open next Saturday, we shall only give the names and breeding of those that are here, reserving individual descriptions for a later period. Before doing so, it is no idle boast for us to say that a better lot—better in breeding, development and condition—never was seen on a race track in this State, and a visit to the stalls will verify this statement:

A. B. Spreckels, of the Aptos Stock Farm, has only four head here. They are in charge of T. V. O'Brien, who was with Charles Marvin at Palo Alto and at Meadville, Pa. He has Dione, 2:18¼, by Eros, out of Gracie S., 2:22, by Speculation; Psyche, by Cupid, 2:18, out of Emma S. (sister to Gracie S., 2:22), by Speculation; Venus, a perfectly-formed mare by Cupid, 2:18, out of Lilly S., and a black two-year-old pacer by Aptos Wilkes.

Henry Haas, of Eureka, Humboldt county, has the chestnut horse Eureka, by Ira, and Jack W., 2:19½, by Waldstein.

Dan Dennison of Oakland has Clay S., 2:19¼, by Grover Clay and Twilight, 2:19.

J. Quinn of Eureka has three pacers by Wayland W., 2:12, all first-class individuals. They are out of a mare by Grand Moor, second dam by Finch's Glencoe, third dam by Williamson's Belmont.

Dr. Leek of San Francisco has a very speedy trotter by Sidney, 2:19¾, out of Miss Roy.

The horses belonging to Alex. Brown of the Walnut Grove Stock Farm are in charge of Det Bigelow, formerly with the late Geo. Woodard of Yolo. He has Nushagak, by Sable Wilkes—Fidelia, by Director; Prince Ansel, by Dexter Prince, out of Woodflower, by Ansel; Demonio (brother to Diablo, 2:09½), by Chas. Derby; Zanita, by Electricity, out of Woodflower; Lorneer, by Lawrence; Majella B., 2:29½, by Nushagak; Sable Le Grande, by Sable Wilkes, out of Theo, by Le Grande; Sable Frances, by Sable Wilkes, out of Francesco, by Almont, and an Eros colt out of the same mare. Mr. Brown has entered these horses liberally throughout the California circuit, and although the majority are quite young, the probabilities are favorable for their capturing some of the money.

Chas. A. Durfee has Zombro, 2:13, Ludenia by McKinney, 2:11¼, out of Lucy R., 2:18¼, by Sultan; Osito, 2:30, by McKinney, 2:11¼, Hailstone, 2:28¼, by Anteeo Jr., and Lynwood, 2:20½, by Guy Wilkes.

Ex-Chief of Police Shafer has Arthur L., 2:15, by Direct, 2:05½, out of Nelly, by Geo. M. Patchen Jr.; second dam Rose Austin (dam of Graves, 2:19). Nelly was the dam of Della S., 2:21; she died last year at the age of 28 years. There is a Monbars colt here out of this mare also. H. Chapman is the trainer. He has a good-looking horse by Alpheus out of Emma F. (dam of Doty, 2:21½). John Pender has Roan Wilkes, 2:12¾, by Raymon; Lady Alice by Raymon, and Helen J. by Corrector (son of Director) out of Briggy by Brigadier.

Frank Mosier has L. A. by Richards' Elector; Prince H., a pacer; Lonie by Cherokee Prince and Billy by Richards' Elector.

Dan Misner and J. Overholser have Annie Rooney by Strathway and her sister Marguerite and two other mares belonging to Rudolph Spreckels, besides a roan pacing horse by Sidmore called Teddy the Roan, and good, game, little Plunkett.

The Palo Alto stable, consisting of twelve head, the Vendome Stock Farm horses, including Ethel Downs, Our Boy, T. Rinaldo, Ned W., Dr. Frasse, Claudius, Lynette and Paloma, will arrive Sunday; so will J. A. Perkins with Visalia, Jasperazzi, Jaspine, Lyda and Richmond Chief.

Howard Franklyn will have Margaret Worth and Fanadma, and John Morehead will have Meridian here. These, with a large number of others, will be domiciled at the track this week.

The attendance of the annual "rail birds" is noted, and among them are to be seen numbers who have heretofore been identified with the running-horse division. From present indications the meeting which opens the grand circuit next Saturday will be a success. The P. C. T. H. B. Association is doing splendid work, and for its endeavors to help the great industry in California should receive the support of every lover of a good horse.

The last shoot of the season of the Lincoln Gun Club will take place August 15th. We give below the result of the season's shooting. Those who have missed a shoot or two in succession are handicapped. On August 15th at 9:45 A. M. the classification will be made up. Those absent will be scratched and the balance will be divided in five equal parts, representing the five classes. The money in the different classes will be $40, $35, $25, $20, $20. Each purse will be divided into 60 and 40 per cent. The table following shows the standing of the shooters and will determine the classification:

Twenty singles, entrance $2.50, squad shooting, 50, 30 and 20 per cent.

Six pair, entrance $1.50, 50, 30 and 20 per cent.

All shooting, except squad, will be at known angles, unknown traps.

Association Matters.

The fall tournament of the California Inanimate Target Association will be held at Monterey. It was very generally understood that Los Angeles would bid for the tournament and it had been rumored that Fresno also wanted it, but neither of these clubs were represented at the meeting last Saturday night, either by delegates or by letter. Monterey was unanimously chosen and we do not think that the association has made any mistake. If the shooters who attend the fall event do not thoroughly enjoy themselves it will not be the fault of the sportsmen of Monterey.

At the meeting of the Board of Governors, held last Saturday evening at the Olympic Gun Club, the following delegates were in attendance: Olympic Gun Club, M. C. Allen and H. H. White; Lincoln Gun Club, R. G. Wenzel, D. Daniels and E. Klevesahl; Empire Gun Club, F. L. Judd and F. W. King; Reliance Gun Club, W. A. Marshall; Golden Gate Gun Club, T. L. Lewis and L. Ph. Bolander; Monterey Wing Shooting Club, Chas. Carr and Ad. Gunzendorfler; Garden City Gun Club, G. H. Anderson.

President M. C. Allen in the chair, Secretary-Treasurer L. Ph. Bolander reported a balance of $181.67 in the treasury and his report as Secretary was very full and explicit. His detailed report of the last tournament was the best ever reported to the association; 22,845 birds were trapped and $1,051.40 paid in prize money. After considerable discussion the claim of Len Hauxhurst of $19.40 was ordered paid.

The amendment of Article 12 of the constitution, calling for the use of proxies, was laid on the table to be taken up at the next meeting. It was resolved that hereafter the association shall conduct its own tournaments and expend the profit made on birds trapped, in prizes to the shooters.

It seemed to be the sense of quite a number of the delegates at the meeting that the association should own permanently equipped grounds, but no action was taken in regard to such end.

Secretary-Treasurer Bolander fairly took the meeting off its feet by tendering his resignation, for business reasons. The resignation was accepted with many regrets and he was given a hearty votes of thanks.

Ad Gunzendorffer was elected to fill the vacancy.

An informal discussion on the advisability of using the Rose system of division of purses followed. No action was taken, but this system will probably be used at Monterey.

The date of the tournament was fixed for September 18th and 19th—Saturday and Sunday.

San Luis Obispo Game Law.

The San Luis Obispo Gun Club shoots bluerocks as a pastime, but believes in the protection of game. Through its efforts the Board of Supervisors of that county have passed the following ordinance:

SECTION 1. It shall not be lawful, at any time, to hunt, chase, course or kill, deer with or by the use or aid of, any hound or hounds, or other dogs, in the County of San Luis Obispo.

Sec. 2. Every owner, claimant, or keeper of any hound or hounds, or other dog or dogs, accustomed to hunt deer, who shall suffer or permit such hound or hounds, or other dogs, to hunt, chase, or course or kill deer in said county of San Luis Obispo is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 3. Every person hunting or killing quail, bob-white, doves, partridge, pheasant, grouse, ruffled grouse, prairie-chicken, wild turkey or wild duck for any market situate without the boundaries of the county of San Luis Obispo, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Hunting for market as used in this section, is the taking or killing of quail, bob-white, dove partridge, pheasant, grouse, ruffled grouse, prairie-chicken, wild turkey or wild duck, with intent to ship or transport the same to any market beyond the boundaries of the county of San Luis Obispo, or to be sold without the boundaries of of said county.

Section 4 makes it a misdemeanor for a railroad company to ship game, and section 5 prohibits the destroying of quails' nest and nests of kindred birds. The fine may be from $20 to $500, or imprisonment from 10 to 180 days in the County Jail, or both.

Mountain Lions are Numerous.

Mountain lions are reported to be quite numerous in the vicinity of the Pig Basin and Waddell's creek. They are becoming quite bold as some of the farmers claim that they are losing some valuable live stock of late.

Charley Seaver and Charley Miller, who have just returned from a fishing trip up in that direction, had a hair-breath escape from being attacked by one on Sunday night. They had their tents pitched in a desolate looking spot, and during a late hour in the night were awakened from their slumbers by the howls of a huge mountain lioness who had strayed from her lair and was doing guard duty around the tent. She finally became so boisterous that Seaver and Miller concluded that they would rid themselves of their unwelcome friend. They were unarmed and Seaver accordingly thought that by giving a few Apache like yells the lioness would take to her heels but she suprised them and refused to vacate the premises. Miller and Seaver then tried a new scheme for the sake of their own welfare. They crept silently out of their own tent and from a nearby smoldering fire plucked some fire brands, which they threw at the lioness. At first she was apparently unconcerned, but when suddenly a burning fire brand hit her in a sensitive spot, the animal got on her dignity and with a few preliminary snorts made for her tormentors. The latter saw they were in a serious predicament but made the best of the situation by taking to the first tree they could find. Here the lioness was powerless to get at her prey but neverless kept Seaver and Miller in a state of jeopardy and it was daylight before the animal strolled off and allowed the men in the tree to crawl down from their uncomfortable lodging.—Santa Cruz Surf.

The Remington Single Barrel Semi-Hammerless.

Unquestionably the best cheap gun on the market for the novice, amateur, youth or man with limited means is the Remington semi-hammerless as illustrated above. Like all other guns turned out by this firm it is A No. 1 in workmanship, reliable and durable. Ask E. T. Allen or Clabrough, Golcher & Co. to show you one.

The difference between a pot-hunter and a sportsman, says the Stockton Mail, is that the pot-hunter goes out dressed in a pair of overalls and a snide hunting coat, afoot, loads his own shells, of which he seldom carries over twenty or thirty, and lugs a gun weighing about fifteen pounds, with hammers on it like the horns of a Texas steer. He always uses ordinary black powder, and one can hear him banging away two miles distant. He is the boy, though, who comes home at night with all kinds of game and an appetite like a yearling heifer's.

The sportsman either goes in a buggy or a launch, takes with him a lot of eatables and drinkables, has the latest hammerless shotgun, about a thousand shells, loaded to order by machinery, and a dog worth a couple of hundred dollars. When he reaches the hunting ground he puts on a high toned hunting coat, takes his gun out of a leather case lined with plush, and, after telling the rest of the party what a fine gun it is for an hour or so, eats luncheon. Then he goes out and stands around in the tules or takes a nap behind a blind, after which he starts for home, buying some birds from the pot-hunter, who probably has more than he can carry and is glad to get rid of them. When the sportsman gets home he tells what a fine time he had, and what his dog did in the way of retrieving, etc., not forgetting to relate how the despised pot-hunters are scaring all the game out of the country, so that real sportsmen don't get half a chance.—[There is an anarchistic tone about the above that we don't like at all. There are many so-called sportsmen that answer the latter description to the letter, but there is another class that the Mail does not seem to be acquainted with.—ED]

CARTRIDGE AND SHELL.

Doves are very plentiful about Sacramento.

Doves are said to be very plentiful at Ione.

Geo. Hampshire killed 40 doves at Shellville last Sunday.

The South End Gun Club will shoot at Colma next Sunday.

J. Shackleton killed 16 rabbits and 12 doves in Moragha valley last Sunday.

J. McBrown opened the deer season back of Petaluma. He killed one and saw eleven.

When you go deer or dove shooting call for U. M. C. cartridges and U. M. C. shells.

Ed Forster and Geo. Schaefer left on Wednesday for a deer hunt near Halfmoon bay.

E. T. Allen Co. has just received a fine lot of Ithaca hammerless guns. Call and examine them.

The next shoot of the Red Bluff Gun Club for the Runyon trophies will be shot on August 6th.

The sportsmen of Butte county have petitioned the Supervisors not to open the dove season until August 1st.

J. K. Orr was among the successful dear hunters on opening day. He killed a fine buck over in Marin County.

The Board of Supervisors of San Bernardino County have authorized the purchase of three pairs of Mongolian pheasants.

Hunting on the De Long ranch near San Rafael is strictly prohibited. Permission must be obtained from the company's headquarters.

The Board of Supervisors of Marin County have shortened the open season for deer one month. The season will close on September 15th.

We are very pleased to see that the country newspapers are rapidly awakening to the fact that the game law violator should be punished.

Hubert Hall and Walter Ogier of San Jose, two thirteen-year-old boys, killed a six-point buck on the Ogier ranch, near Gilroy, on the 15th.

J. J. O'Brien, a well-known sportsman of this city, died of heart disease while deer hunting near Highland Springs on Thursday of last week.

Miss Jo Crosby and Miss Alice Wilkins of San Rafael were among the lucky ones on the 15th. They killed a fine buck in the Marin County hills.

The Sportsmen's Protective Association of Santa Clara County has made an excellent beginning. The membership already numbers fifty-two.

The first successful hunter to return from Marin county was Fonse Miller, who brought back a fine two-prong buck from Black Mountain on opening day.

Edmund Forster, Dave Winders and C. C. Nauman opened the dove season at Stockton. Nauman killed thirty-seven doves and the others did nearly as well.

The Mongolian pheasants purchased by the San Bernardino sportsmen have not done very well this year. A great many were hatched, but only a few matured.

Dr. Pierce of San Jose and Frank Stone the well-known attorney of this city will start for a hunting trip to Trinity county on the 22d. They will go in via Hayfork.

The Supervisors of Santa Barbara County are considering an ordinance prohibiting the shipping of game and game fish out of the county for sale. We trust the ordinance will pass.

H. Wagner, C. M. Osborne, W. C. Brown, John Berges and Frank Lacoste hunted the Tamalpais preserve on opening day. Frank Lacoste was the winner. He killed a 90-lb. spike buck.

Opening day was well observed on the Country Club preserve. Robert Oxnard killed one buck, Frank Hicks one, and J. Downey Harvey two. The latter were a 90 lb. forked horn and a fine, fat 160-lb. forked horn.

Crittenden Robinson shot with his old club—the California Wing, on Sunday and it seemed like old times to see him walk up to the traps. After noon he shot in splendid form. He was using a German made gun and "Amberite."

The best bag of doves reported from Stockton this year is that of F. N. Lestrado and James Pillett, who bagged twelve dozen on Thursday of last week. A. S. Turner and George Ditz killed five dozen the same day at Mormon channel.

The final shoot of the season of the Lodi Gun Club took place on the 11th. The scores for the season out of a possible 200 birds were as follows: F. T. Peach 148, R. Moore 144, Ed Franklin 142, J. A. Kelley 140, C. H. Nevin 129, E. B. McLachlan 97.

D. M. Delmas, Wm. Berg and Paul Delmas were shooting on the Tamalpais preserve Sunday. They saw four deer and D. M. Delmas shot a fine four-prong that weighed about 125 pounds. They badly wounded another and expected to recover it the next day.

W. L. Prather Jr., Al Blow and Paine Shafter enjoyed a fine deer hunt in Marin county near Point Reyes on Sunday. The dogs started three fine bucks and two big does. Prather killed a large spike and a three point buck and Blow a big four pointer. The dogs were called off of one doe and left the trail of another to run the big buck.

At the tournament of the Merced Gun Club, H. V. Armitage made a remarkable score—one that marks him as one of our very best shots. He killed 41 out of 44 live birds, and broke 97 out of 105 bluerock. His average for both days was 92½ per cent. He used 48 grains of "Gold Dust." Since the shoot Armitage and St. John have been matched to shoot 50 live birds for $50 a side against Dr. Hyde and E. Pedlar. This match will probably take place at Bakersfield next month.

ROD.

Coming Events.

July 24—Regular semi-monthly Saturday contest of the San Francisco Fly Casting Club, Stow Lake, Golden Gate Park.

July 25—Regular semi-monthly Sunday contest of the San Francisco Fly Casting Club, Stow Lake, Golden Gate Park.

July 27—Regular semi-monthly meeting of the San Francisco Fly Casting Club. Office of State Fish Commission, Flood Building, San Francisco.

Aug. 13-14—Chicago Fly Casting Club's open-to-the-world casting tournament at Chicago, Ill. Secretary, G. A. Murrell, 617 La Salle street, Chicago.

NOTICE TO ANGLERS.

Every angler is invited to drop us a line occasionally, telling us of the condition of the streams they have visited and the killing lure; of the number and size of the fish caught, or any other item of interest to anglers.

The Chicago Tournament.

The second tournament of the Chicago Fly Casting Club will be held at Garfield Park, Chicago, on Aug. 13th and 14th. The competition is open to all.

Six championship diamond medals valued at $50 each will be awarded as first prizes in each event. Additional merchandise prizes, valued at several hundred dollars, will be awarded as second third, fourth and fifth prizes in each event.

In addition, President B. W. Goodsell, has donated an oil painting (trout) for the contestant making the highest general average in all events.

FIRST DAY, AUGUST 13.

First Event—Fixed distance and accuracy fly casting at buoys 50, 55 and 60 feet. Rod not to exceed 8½ ounces. Five casts at each buoy; for each foot or fraction of a foot from buoy a demerit of one shall be scored. One minute allowed to extend line.

Second Event—Accuracy bait casting at buoys 60, 70, 80, 90 and 100 feet. One cast at each buoy with half ounce rubber frog: for each foot or fraction of a foot frog drops from buoy a demerit of one shall be scored. Free running reel required.

Third Event—Dry fly casting for accuracy and delicacy combined at buoys 35, 40 and 45 feet. Rod not to exceed 5¾ ounces. Five casts at each buoy: thirty seconds allowed to extend line, thereafter each time fly strikes it will be scored. Delicacy of cast will also be scored.

SECOND DAY, AUGUST 14.

Fourth Event—Roll fly casting for accuracy. At buoys 50 45 and 40 feet. Rod not to exceed 8½ ounces. Five casts at each buoy; for each foot or fraction of a foot from each buoy cast at a demerit of one shall be scored.

Fifth Event—Bait casting for distance and accuracy combined. Casting on the lawn in court thirty feet wide. Tape line running down the center. Five casts with half-ounce rubber frog; for every foot or fraction of a foot from tape line a demerit of one shall be scored from the distance cast. Free running reel required.

Sixth Event—Long distance fly casting. No limit to rod or line. Ten minutes allowed to extend line to greatest possible distance.

RULES GOVERNING THE CONTEST.

Rule 1—All persons competing for prizes shall pay an entrance fee as follows: One event, three dollars; two events, five dollars; three events, seven dollars; all events, ten dollars. Entries to each event close thirty minutes before contest commences.

Rule 2—The Captain shall be the executive officer of the day, and the Secretary-Treasurer shall receive all entry fees and issue cards to contestants designating their number in the order of competition. The Timekeeper shall start and close all events. He shall signal the Judges with a flag and call time to the contestants.

Rule 3—The contests shall be governed by two Judges and a Referee. In case of disagreement the Referee shall decide.

Rule 4—All casting shall be done single-handed only.

Rule 5—Competitors may consult their own wishes in choice of reel and line, but lines must not be knotted or weighted, and bait casting reels must be free running.

Rule 6—The leader shall be of single gut, and shall not be less than six nor more than nine feet in length. One fly only shall be used, of a size not smaller than No. 12 or larger than No. 6. Hooks shall be broken off at the head.

The star catch of trout for this season was made last Sunday week at Fallen Leaf lake, near Lake Tahoe. The lucky anglers were Deputy County Clerk Oscar A. Tolle and Fred C. Knight, the latter a son of Attorney George A. Knight. They trolled the lake from 8 A. M. until 7 P. M., and in that time took 105 fish, weighing in the aggregate over ninety pounds. This is said to be the largest catch ever made in Fallen Leaf lake in a day's fishing by two men. News of the achievement by Messrs. Tolle and Knight reached the Tallac House in advance of the anglers. When the rod wielders appeared they were received with great applause and escorted to the dining-room, where a special feast had been prepared in their honor.

Boatman Harry Elms took A. M. Squire, William Squire and Henry A. Darling out in a rowboat at Avalon last week and returned in the evening with the following catch: Forty-three barracuda, thirty-four rock bass, one sea bass and one jewfish. As the party was returning home A. M. Squire hooked a barracuda and was fishing it in when the jewfish swallowed barracuda, hook and all. It took an hour and five minutes to get the monster into the boat. He weighed 167 pounds.

Both Indians and pale faces are spearing large numbers of salmon trout and shad in the Feather river, below the Golden Feather dam. A mining company is pumping the water from the river channel and this leaves the fish in the deep holes at the mercy of the fishermen.

H. Wadsworth, cashier of the Wells, Fargo bank caught 180 lbs. of sea bass at Capitola last Saturday. The largest weighed 40 lbs. and the smallest 20 lbs. On Sunday he caught 15 salmon that weighed nearly 200 lbs.

F. C. Grimes, E. A. Taylor and G. Scheuk of the S. P. Co. left on Thursday for a three weeks' fishing trip at the headwaters of the Pescadero.

Frank Marcus caught 7 striped bass near Russian River Station on Monday weighing from ½ to 1 lb. each. Black bass are also biting well.

Al Cumming, the well-known local angler, will be at the Chicago Fly Casting Club's Tournament on Aug. 13 and 14, and will enter several of the events. He has his eye on that delicacy and accuracy medal.

Campers on the Van Duzen and Mad rivers are enjoying fine sport with the trout in those streams.

Some good catches were made in Prosser creek the first of the week and the fish were of good size.

Fly fishing on the Carmel is said to be very good now.

F. Schetter and W. Brady are fishing Lake Tahoe.

THE KENNEL

No Irish Setter Trials.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Irish Setter Club of America held July 7, it was decided that it would be impracticable to hold independent field trials next fall, owing to the lack of interest shown by Irish setter men in trials for the last few years, and the following resolution was adopted:

The Irish Setter Club of America offers a cash prize of twenty-five dollars to the Irish setter first winning an undivided first, second or third prize in the Derby or All-Age Stakes at any of the following field trials: The Western Canada Kennel Club's, Continental F. T. Club's, Manitoba F. T. Club's, Northwestern F. T. Club's, Monongahela Valley G. and F. P. Association's, Peninsula F. T. Club's, Union F. T. Club's, Eastern F. T. Club's, International F. T. Club's United States F. T. Club's and Pacific Coast F. T. Club's.—Am. Field.

DOINGS IN DOGDOM.

Chas. Dresser has purchased the well-known St. Bernard bitch Lady Mona.

The Stock-Keeper chronicles the death of J. D. Shotwell, the famous collie breeder.

We continue to hear a great deal of grumbling at the Oakland Kennel Club for their tardiness in winding up the affairs of the last show. There is no excuse for this, gentlemen!

The "mischief-makers" head is so badly swelled that he still imagines he is the San Francisco Kennel Club. He first claimed that it was his support that made the club, then he claimed that it was his support that made the show a success and now his self-conceit makes him think that the opposition to him and his underhanded methods, in opposition to the San Francisco Kennel Club. In order to stir up more trouble he devotes a half column of his last issue to patting the S. F.'s and himself on the back at the expense of some unknown parties that he don't dare to name. Who he claims to think are working against the S. F. K. C. We don't know any such people and as we meet ten dog men in a day to his one we don't believe a word of it. More mischief-making, nothing else.

The entries to the United States Field Trial Club's Autumn Derby, to be run at Newton, N. C., Nov. 22, numbers thirty-seven—twenty-seven English setters and ten pointers—all whelped in 1891.

The Victoria Kennel Club's Executive Committee met on the 16th at the Occidental Hotel, Victoria, and, judging from the special prizes offered, the local interest in the show must be very great.

The secretary of the Advisory Board says that a quorum at the last meeting was impossible and he postponed the annual meeting on that account. Oh, no, you did not do anything of the kind. You postponed the annual meeting because you wanted to remain another month on the board. You postponed it that your successor might be elected after you had secured enough friends to assist you in your schemes. You postponed it hoping that the Mastiff Club and Great Dane Club would either put you back on the board or some friend that would do your own bidding. You had no right to postpone the meeting at all. You had no right to suppose that there would be no quorum, and you knew right well that there would have been a quorum, but possibly not a quorum of your satellites. You knew then and you know now that D'Evelyn, Keen, Cluness, Grey, Gibson and de Ruyter would all be present. We know and you know that these men were expecting to come and ready to come, and every man we have named knows it. Mr. de Ruyter was with you that night. Dr. D'Evelyn was in town and at leisure that night. Dr. Cluness and J. W. Keen were at leisure that night. There is your quorum right there, but Grey would have been there and Gibson would have come down from Stockton but for your notice. You knew that those who are opposed to your underhanded trickery would have the majority and you had other fish to fry. How long do you think the A. K. C. will put up with this kind of work. Even your friend Vredenburg cannot afford to overlook such raw work as this.

White Topaz.

Beautiful stones to be seen at THE DIAMOND PALACE. Every day in the week and every hour in the day, one can see crowds around the show windows of "The Chicago Diamond Palace." The cause of it all is the now widely known White Topaz. White Topaz or carbonated diamonds have come to be recognized as the nearest thing on earth to Genuine Diamonds; so near indeed is it that the proprietors of THE DIAMOND PALACE do not hesitate to place real diamonds in their windows amidst their display of White Topaz and allow the public to pick them out at the selling price of the Topaz.

The latter stones have all the lovely brilliancy of the diamonds, sparkling steadily and with wonderful fire. The thousands of these stones in the windows form one of the most gorgeous displays, and has proven an attraction which is one of the features of Chicago.

In order to find out the advertising medium best suited to their business, this enterprising concern offers to send a genuine White Topaz to all those who will cut out and send them their advertisement which appears elsewhere in this paper, together with 25 cents in stamps.

THE DIAMOND PALACE, like all successful institutions, has many imitators who endeavor to sell cheap rhinestones and other pastes, claiming they are Topaz. We caution the public to be careful, as THE DIAMOND PALACE, American Express Bldg., Chicago, are the sole importers of this stone.

THE meeting to be given at Glenbrook Park (situated midway between the thriving mining towns, Grass Valley and Nevada City) August 16th to 23d bids fair to be a good one from every point of view. As matters look at present, at least 125 gallopers will take part in the meeting, and the programme will be arranged to suit all kinds of racers. Among those that will have a hand in the management are gentlemen who were connected in an official capacity with the C. J. C. and P. C. J. C. at Oakland and Ingleside. No entrance fee will be charged in the purse races, and there will be several handicaps and stake events. Leach & Co. will have the betting privileges, and they are veterans in the business. The Australian starting gate will be operated, and everything in connection with the meeting will be up to date. See the advertisement in this issue and send up your flyers.

R. HUGHES, the San Francisco turfman, will send Free Will, Miss Remsen and one or two other racers up to the Glenbrook Park meeting. Their preparation will be given at Sacramento.

Bitter Root Farm Thoroughbreds Sold.

Marcus Daly, who, by the way, will send a goodly string out here next fall in charge of Johnny Campbell, had a sale of youngsters bred on his Bitter Root farm last Saturday at Anaconda, Mont. The Best Sulky.

Now that the California circuit is assured, horseman are more hopeful than they have been for the past eight months, for they see opportunities of making money and increasing the value of their trotters and pacers. In order to have them fit to win races it is necessary for them to use the very best bike sulkies that are made, and the only one in use in the East that fills this requirement, and the only one Californians know anything about, is the famous Toomey sulky, of which J. O'Kane, the well-known harness and horse maker maker, is the agent. There will be at least three hundred sulkies in use on this coast and the Toomey's have given such satisfaction that horsemen are sending in their orders every day. We have seen races wherein their were ten Toomey sulkies used. The Toomey is the only sulky advertised, and one glance at the model of 1897 is sufficient to convince anyone that it pays to advertise such a beautifully constructed light vehicle, and the jog cart is also a gem. After using all other kinds, those who try a Toomey are enthusiastic over it. Call and see them.

LEWIS THORNE, Secretary of the Los Angeles District Agricultural Association, writes as follows: "At a meeting of the Board of Directors held recently it was decided that we give a nine-day meeting, commencing October 14th and running to October 23d. The first three days will be devoted chiefly to the running horses with a local trot or pace the first two days. On Saturday, October 16th, we will have either the free-for-all pace or free-for-all trot. This will not interfere with the meeting at Salinas, as we understand that they don't give running races, and we will try and arrange with them so that our free-for-all will not interfere. Saturday is always our best day here, and we must give strong attractions on those days."

JOSEPH CAIRN SIMPSON.

THE SUMMER MEETING.—Before the 15th of July there were many doubts as to the success of the summer meeting. Outside of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN little was printed. Nearly all the talk in relation thereto were dreary predictions that failure was at hand. Some of the officers of the P. C. T. H. B. A. appeared to join in the pessimistical estimates, and a number of owners, misled by the general apathy prevailing, felt that the trouble of writing and mailing entries might just as well be avoided. Therefore, when the entries were tabulated and read to the directors of the association at their meeting last Monday, there was an agreeable surprise.

In every one of the time-class races from six to sixteen entries for the meeting at Emeryville, Chico, Willows and Marysville equally as fortunate, in some of the classes the up-country points securing more entries than the meeting in this neighborhood. The full list appears in another part of this issue, though it will not be a waste of space to give a synopsis here.

TROTTING.

Class	No. Entries	Class	No. Entries
2:40	16	2:19	12
2:30	12	2:16	8
2:24	10	2:13	8

2:25	15	2:13	8
2:20	15	2:10	6

Total entries—117.

In addition to the classes named above there are races for two and three year-old trotters and for the same ages of pacers; also several special races, so that there is good prospect of at least three races in each afternoon, occupying all the secular days from July 31st to August 7th, seven days, which is surely a good opening of the circuit.

There is another feature connected with this meeting which has quite a bearing on the prospects, that being that the first meeting of the horses will be at Emeryville. Admitting that there is always plenty of the "glorious uncertainty" connected with racing (that is, square racing) at any stage of the circuit, it is intensified when the horses first come together.

Fair to infer that a very large majority of the entries will start, the only ones held back being those that meet with some mishap, as there will be no definite line to go by. But after it has been demonstrated that there are a few superior to a majority of the class, then there is reluctance to keep the engagement. And then again speculation will be brisk when it is a general guessing match, and the picking of winners a job that will have to be done without the aid of "dope sheets." Quite unsafe to take the marks of last year for a guide in 1897. Even gallopers are liable to some startling changes of form, and in this respect are far from being "in it" with the harness division of race horses,

Trotters that have been trained for years, with small improvement to reward owner and educator, turn over a new leaf and astonish people with a turn of speed far beyond expectations of the most sanguine.

The wide margin between harness horses, of not far apart classes, is not far to close when an animal makes rapid progress. Ten seconds or more is not infrequently taken from the best work of a few months ago, and the horse which could just squeeze itself into the list knocks off a whole handful of seconds, striking "low down in the teens" with less effort than when 2:30 was made. It is safe, however, to assert that among the horses which performed in previous years, and have engagements at this meeting, there will be several which will be in the way of those that could have lost them twelve months ago. A fair chance for sensations in every race, at least the pleasurable excitement of the unexpected taking place.

The list of horses engaged there is a very stable guarantee that, so far as this important element is concerned, the meeting will be a success, and with other things in keeping there is little to fear, everything to anticipate. Those who have attended the races of the California Jockey Club since its course was opened at Emeryville do not require any information in regard to that part of the meeting, though the two months and a half, since the racing closed, has added materially to the beauty of the place. The only trouble in connection therewith is to convey anything like an adequate idea of the grand establishment in one newspaper article, however long, and, therefore, the few words, in connection with this topic, will not be a description in any sense, merely a brief statement of the advantages obtained.

Difficult to imagine a better place for a harness-racing meeting, or if some minor portion could be bettered a little, the grand total so good that altogether it is nearly perfect.

The advantages of having such a perfect racing ground and appurtenances to the horsemen, owners and drivers, is not necessary to dwell upon in connection with the coming meeting, though, so far as I have heard, all that are now at the track express satisfaction. But the bearing on the comfort and pleasure of the spectators is of the utmost importance. Not the least hesitancy on my part in asserting that it is an ideal course, where nothing is lacking, everything connected with the park to enhance the enjoyment of those who attend. Apart from exciting contests there is much to please those of aesthetic taste. Beautiful views, comfortable surroundings, and in place of a troublesome journey one of the pleasantest short trips, even in this country where there are so many routes for enjoyable excursions. Visitors from San Francisco and Oakland are favored in two ways. Little time consumed, half an hour from the foot of Market street, San Francisco, still less from Seventh and Broadway, Oakland.

"The best ferry boats in the world" for the voyage across the bay, and on the termination of the water journey there are trains of coaches that go direct to the entrance gate. Special trains in addition to the regular local lines, and even when the attendance was numbered by many thousands, as was the case on the big days of the California Jockey Club, little inconvenience, so small the discomfort that Eastern visitors expressed surprise and admiration at the completeness of the facilities for the transportation of a multitude of people.

Easy to reach, small loss of time in making the trip, and everything to please the most fastidious race-goer in the grounds and adjuncts.

Promising as the outlook is for the summer meeting, it must be borne in mind that a great deal depends upon its success, and hence everyone interested in light-harness horses should make strenuous efforts to induce people to attend.

When the District Fair appropriation was vetoed there was a general feeling of despondency. The past two seasons, when the same adverse conditions prevailed, were the poorest for years, and many believed that 1897 would be still worse. Horses were turned out, and if the Montana meetings had not influenced a few owners to keep their best in training there would have been little animation in California trotting horse circles. The BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, however, never faltered. If the District Fairs were crushed something must be done to sustain some of the interest at stake, and a review of the paper will show that scarcely a single issue that did not urge and entreat horse folk to aid in overcoming the obstacle so far as laid in their power, and as agricultural exhibitions could not be held, then as many harness-racing meetings gotten up as it was possible to secure.

The fight was thought to be on such a sharp up-hill grade that it was foolhardiness to attempt to win. Many people ridiculed the idea of harness racing having any chance, especially meetings that were to come off before the State Fair, and for one word of encouragement hundreds of them embodied in gloomy prophesies.

I can assure the readers of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, that the editor of the paper who has done his full share of the work, not only in print, but also an ardent talking disciple—and myself—are much gratified that success—so far as a response from owners can ensure success by making liberal entries has followed the labor, and now make a still more anxious appeal to everyone to do their utmost to induce people to attend.

With two successful harness-racing meetings at Emeryville the sport will receive an impetus that will carry it along in the future. A reasonably successful summer meeting, followed by successes at the up-country gatherings, will ensure a longer circuit hereafter. It may prove that the P. C. T. H. B. A. can hold three meetings in the vicinity of San Francisco, with profit to the association as well as owners and trainers, though two here, one of them commencing about the first of July, and the other in September may fill all the unoccupied time. A. D. 1899 will have to roll around before the district fairs can be rehabilitated, and until that epoch of good government comes the only hope for trotters and pacers is in the work of enthusiastic friends of the cause.

What a grand satisfaction it will be to witness a genuine revival of the sports of the track in the neighborhood of San Francisco! The racing people are not in the way; in fact, the two jockey clubs are active in their support. Last year at Ingleside there was a hearty welcome, and now the C. J. C. extends a helping and hospitable hand and presents its grand grounds for two meetings. All of the officials belonging to the club exert themselves to promote the interests dependent on harness horses, and now it rests with the people who are so deeply interested to put their shoulders to the wheel and complete the work.

Owners, breeders, trainers and the large number of people connected with horses are not the only ones that have stakes depending upon the well-doing of harness horses on the metropolitan tracks. Oakland and Emeryville, in fact, all of Alameda county, realize the benefits that have followed the establishment of racing, and previous to that the large amount of money expended in the construction of the course and buildings and in beautifying the grounds brought sunshine into many households over which dark clouds hovered, and made business brisk that had formerly languished; created new pursuits, in short, the establishment of the race course furnished remunerative employment to a large number of people.

The interval from the closing of the races in May to the reopening in November will be of great advantage to those who in any way benefit by the winter racing, with even two trotting meetings, as for weeks previous to each horses and their attendants will be on the ground, and, of course, "make a market" for additional feed and subjected to expenses which means gain to those who furnish supplies and those who do the work.

THE "PLUNGER" vs. THE "PIKER." Should there be an argument on the relative merits of book-betting and pool-selling, the advocate of the English system will depend principally on the plea that big speculators cannot get their "money on" as satisfactorily when books are not in operation. Even granting that the large bettors are in a position to wager larger amounts than can be ventured in pools, whether auction or mutuel, when bookmakers are the main features in the betting, it does not follow that the few will be more beneficial to racing than the many. It may be that "pikers" are decidedly superior to "plungers" when the continued prosperity of turf and track are considered, and in my opinion maybe can be changed to more definite words, and that the small bettors are the main element of prosperity.

It has been clearly demonstrated that when all kinds of speculations are forbidden, racing, whether of that kind falsely called legitimate, i. e. galloping contests, or harness racing, are not attractive, unless when such spectacles are presented as that at Hartford on Independence Day. Were speculation limited to large investments, such as plungers delight in, a small portion of those in attendance would be interested in comparison when small sums can be risked.

One who bets a dollar or two is likely to be just as much gratified when fortune favors, and should there be loss not nearly such intense regret. The race watched with far more interest than when nothing is a stake, greater excitement and far more pleasurable emotions, whereas, with an amount at issue, the loss of which would be beyond what prudence would dictate, anxiety rules.

Actual plungers, those who make a business of speculating on races largely, may be left out of the category. Little difference whether they win or lose, but others tempted to bet on the same scale as the professionals, who are apt to be misled by touts, or, still worse, by trainers or jockeys, are the ones to bring discredit on racing. Prone to exult over their nerve, ambitious to be considered "high-rollers," stimulated by success to increased the size of their wagers, rendered desperate by losses to play still deeper, misled by hope that has at the best slight foundation, struggling, ever struggling against fate, crime loses its terrors, or, rather, buoyed by false prospects that the evidence of crime can be obliterated by timely restitution, the end comes.

Beyond all reasonable contention that where one man is led to his downfall by turf speculations hundreds are ruined by those that are said to be legitimate operations, nevertheless that one victim will excite harsher criticisms than the multitude equally guilty, perhaps far deeper in the mire of rascality. Therefore it is of paramount importance that this kind of plunging should be discouraged, and so far as is possible obstacles erected to keep speculation within bounds, The opportunity for small ventures, even the trouble in the way of making large investments, may have a tendency to restrict the passion for high gambling and induce these too fervent votaries of chance to be contented with moderate risks.

A good deal more could be added in favor of piking, and this class of racegoers, if not "pillars of the turf," are certainly good supporters of racing, notwithstanding they are made the butts of people who are fond of ridiculing that sort of bettors. Not a single sound argument in justification of plunging, if even the plunger is glorified by the same class of critics who delight in belittling people who seek to increase the pleasure of witnessing racing by investing sums they can afford to lose.

ANOTHER INSTANCE of cost being no criterion of real value has turned up in Oakland. So many cases where horses which have been bought for a low price taking a high place in turf and track history that there is little real novelty attached. And yet every such case is interesting as another illustration of the ups and downs in equine life, as well as being of some practical use by demonstrating that what was thought of little account at one time has proved worthy, and in this way encouraged perseverance when the task had looked to be hopeless. A friend of mine in Oakland who has a great fondness for fast horses and equally as fond of driving them, bought a filly by Silver Bow from a Sidney mare, a good-looking youngster with a promising way of going, and so far as could be told from breeding, form and action, destined to be a good one. Well pleased with her until she displayed a big amount of temper, and after some other proofs of waywardness (she nearly threw him out of the cart) he gave her away. Her new owner had "rubbed" trotters for several seasons, and was also a fair driver, but he could not overcome the perverse disposition, and sold her for twenty dollars and a sack of oats. The pedigree should have brought ten times that, and in the flush times fifty times twenty dollars would have been easily obtained, but it was only after assiduous work a purchaser was secured. Fortunately the buyer was one of these men who appear to have a natural bent for handling horses of the type of this filly, and he drove her on the road, and when the Peralta training grounds got in some shape she was occasionally exercised over that. But in a brush on the road she hit her knee a severe blow that enlarged it to twice its natural size and this, of course, put a stop to her work.

Though not entirely recovered, she was trotted a race at San Pablo, winning it in 2:41, which was thought remarkably good for her. One Tuesday in June she was taken to the Emeryville track, where a "professional" drove her some six seconds faster than she had ever shown before, and the owner made up his mind to put her in charge of the man who had made so good a display. The driver, however, insisted that her owner should try his hand, and this he did so successfully as to make a further reduction of two and one-half seconds, and that was done so handily as to warrant the prediction that with everything favorable she will make a low mark.

Another good result, giving the owner confidence in his training and driving ability, so that if there are no mishaps she will be named in some of the races programmed, and unless he "loses his hold" the owner will drive her. I have oftentimes urged owners to drive their horses in races, increasing their own interest as well as being promotive of the sport.

The feeling that some wonderful talent is necessary to make a successful race driver has deterred many from making the attempt. With this overcome and the dread removed, the first step is gained, and it may be an artist takes the place of the amateur.

JOS. CAIRN SIMPSON.

A statement was made in these columns last week to the effect that James Dustin had been engaged to drive the horses of the Winship stable. The cause for the change is thus given in the Denver Republican:

"Hodges, who drove so well for Winship, has been discharged, the trouble between owner and driver occurring over the free-for-all trot in which Ottinger was defeated by Klamath. The California horse beat the Oregon gelding in the third, fourth and fifth heats. Winship thought that by a little harder driving Hodges might have won the third heat and the race, but the latter thought his chance would have been better in a later heat. After Klamath steadied down and got going Ottinger was not in the race, though Hodges drove hard for it. Ottinger suffered severely in the race, and the owner held the blame on the driver, declaring that harder work in the third heat would have won the race and saved the horse. Winship believes in using his horses rather severely, on the ground that too much pampering interferes with their strength of constitution. The men of the stable wished to give Ottinger a steaming after his exhausting race with Klamath, but Winship refused to allow it, saying the horse would recover without the aid of any such means and be better for it. But that night, when Winship was in his hotel, some stable men entered the stables and gave Ottinger a fine steaming. They defended their action by saying that the horse was actually suffering and their interference did him good and saved him a possible illness. But if Mr. Winship thought the operators were of his force and he was able to find out which ones were implicated there would be vacancies in his stable. He allows no interference with his orders."

Methods of Two Great Racing Countries Contrasted.

To the Editor Breeder and Sportsman: I have read a great many complaints lately in various sporting papers concerning the present system of bookmakers and their dark and shady transactions. Some writers even go far as to advocate the total abolition of bookmaking on our race courses as the only way to lift the sport from the depths of degradation into which it has fallen.

In the first place, from observation and personal study, I think it is utterly impossible to expect the bookmakers of California to be as upright and straightforward in their dealings with the public as the bookmakers of England and Australia.

Here in California a bookmaker who pays his $100 to $120 per day for betting privileges to the associations can make a book, his honesty and good character not being questioned; he not being bound to deal fair and square under a recognized and incorporated betting "club." Now in Australia before a bookmaker can ply his vocation in any betting ring, he must first be a registered member of Tattersall's Club. He must be proposed and seconded by two members in good standing (not being bookmakers themselves); he must also show a satisfactory bank account, when he is duly admitted on payment of an initiation fee. No professional jockeys are admitted as members and the club is managed under very severe rules. All disputed bets (shady transactions, etc.) are settled by the club alone.

Rule 17 says bookmakers shall have their betting-books consecutively paged, such books to be stamped, numbered and signed by the secretary of the club, otherwise they will not be accepted in evidence in cases brought before the committee.

By perusal of the above rule it makes it impossible to tamper with your betting sheets or overlay a favorite and then produce a "dummy" sheet if called upon to show your sheets, as it is whispered they do at our winter race meetings here in California. If such clubs were organized in this country and the public assured of a fair, legitimate deal, I am sure there would not be as many complaints as at present, because the fiat of Tattersall's Club would then be above the racing associations' decisions in everything pertaining to betting transactions.

Quite a source of revenue is derived by the club in leasing the race track of the leading Jockey Club to the bookmakers, they holding six or eight days' racing through the year, giving their own purses, and very often comparing favorably with their elder racing clubs in value of purses. The writer calls to memory several Tattersalls' meetings, especially the two days at Christmas time, there being six races each day, as follows: First day, hurdle race, $1000 added; second race, two-year-olds, $1250 added; third race, handicap, one mile, $1000 added; fourth race, Carrington stakes, $5000 added; fifth race, selling, $1000 added; sixth race, one and one-quarter miles, handicap, $2000 added.

Second day. First race, three-quarters, handicap, $1250; added; second race, Lady Carrington stakes, two-year-olds, $2500 added; third race, steeplechase, $3000 added; fourth race, Tattersalls' Cup, $5000 added; fifth race, welter handicap, $1250 added; sixth race, Bookmakers' purse, one and one-quarter miles, $2000 added.

If such institutions were formed in this country on a healthy sporting foundation we would have purer sport in every branch, and, what is of more consequence, a wider, more extended patronage, which would tend to exalt it from the quagmire of corruption and vice into which it has sunk, for how much more pleasant is it in a country where sport is conducted on such a liberal, encouraging, honorable manner, in contrast to the grabbing and scheming for the Almighty Dollar practiced in many places in this country!

So much for bookmaking and its evil influences in this State. I will now endeavor to illustrate the vast difference between Australian and Californian racing clubs, showing the stability of clubs in Australia, where all revenue derived is devoted to purses and benefits to be derived by the owners of horses and jockeys, while in California the shareholders and race track speculators convert into their own pockets, instead of the club, all profits, in place of devoting the same as in Australia to larger purses. And just here is where the gambling, speculating foundation of California is exposed in its worst form. In Australia the ground on which the main race courses are built are freely donated by Government for the express purposes of building and forming racing institutions. The money required to complete the same is advanced by wealthy breeders, horse-owners and also government banks at so much per cent. interest, not by sale to shareholders, who perpetually deplete the club of all profits and leave the horsemen in the same state of stagnation as if the clubs were still in debt. The clubs, too, are founded on a better basis than here, where all the leading positions and management of affairs are placed in the hands of too often unscrupulous shareholders, who run everything to suit their own motives, irrespective of benefit to the public or the horse-owners, who furnish them the "sinews of war," to satiate their gambling propensities.

In America the public, the horse-owners, nor in fact anyone outside the club members know financially what the club standing amounts to. In Australia every year they publish a complete and thoroughly audited account of all receipts, from whatever source they are derived, also a complete account of all moneys expended for all purposes, also the sum deposited to the account of club in the bank, and still another very important item—all fines imposed by the club are dedicated to what is known as a Distressed Jockey Fund, for the benefit of sick and injured jockeys, who receive so much per week from the club while they are unable to follow their occupation.

I will now ask the readers of the Breeder and Sportsman to pardon me for any reflection cast on the methods of their native land, but my intention was only to point out the glaring defects of one management and the beneficial results accruing from the other—where racing is carried on under the sanction and assistance of the Government and recognized by the same as a public benefit. William Sparling.

McKinney's
PATENT
Check Hooks

It is an absolute security against a detached rein.

No more races lost or good tempers spoiled by the horse unchecking himself.

It is the most perfect devise for securely carrying a check that has ever been offered to the public, embracing STRENGTH, BEAUTY, DURABILITY and SIMPLICITY. At the same time it can be instantly unchecked, making it most desirable when used on a nervous or uneasy horse.

McKINNEY. 2:11 1-4.

Will Make the Season of 1897, Commencing February 1st at

Oakland Trotting Park,

AT $100 THE SEASON.

Jenny Mc, 3	2:12	Harvey Mc, 2	2:18	Sola, 4	2:25 3-4
McZeus, 4	2:13	Julia D., 3	2:16 1-4	Sola, 4, trial	2:15 1-2
Zombro, 3	2:13	Jenny Mc, 2	2:20 1-4	Osito, 2	2:30

No stallion of his age and record has such a showing for early and extreme speed. Four three-year-olds with records better than 2:15. Out of 73 mares bred to him in 1896, 70 have proven with foal.

McKINNEY 2:11 1-4 was foaled June 12, 1887, sired by the great Alcyone (son of George Wilkes, and Alma Mater, the famous broodmare by Mambrino Patchen), dam Rosa Sprague, by Gov. Sprague, 2:20½, he by Rhode Island, 2:23½, out of Belle Brandon (dam of Amy, 2:20¼, Gov. Sprague, 2:20½, Wilmar, 2:29¼), by Hambletonian 10; grandam Jenny, by Young Bacchus (thoroughbred); great grandam Worden mare, by Exton Eclipse (thoroughbred). The second dam of McKinney was Rose Kenney (dam of Messenger Chief, sire of sixteen in 2:30 list) by Mambrino Messenger, one of the strongest-bred Messenger studs in the Registry. Third dam J. I. Kenney mare, dam of Gen. G. H. Thomas (sire of seven in 2:30) by Mambrino Chief 11. Fourth dam Jesse Bryan mare, by imp. Napoleon (thoroughbred). Fifth dam by Tempest (thoroughbred).

McKINNEY 2:11 1-4 is 15.2½ hands, weighs 1140, and is one of the most perfect-made horses in America, having plenty of bone and substance. He started in twenty eight races and won twenty-five of them. His reputation as a game and consistent performer is world wide. As a sire the few of his progeny that have been handled for speed have demonstrated that they inherit all his extraordinary good qualities.

☞ In case mare does not prove with foal, I agree to give a return service free next season if the horse is in my possession. In case he is not, I will return one-half the money paid. Mares shipped to 16th Street Station, Oakland, will receive prompt attention. The best care taken of mares, but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes. Pasturage $5 per month. HART BOSWELL

No. 13,699. This splendidly-formed trotting stallion was sired by ONWARD, 2:25 1-4 (son of GEO. WILKES, 2:22, and DOLLY, dam of DIRECTOR, 2:17, THORNDALE, 2:21, etc.), sire of 113 in 2:30 list; dam NANCY LEE (dam of NANCY HANKS, 2:04, and DICTATOR WILKES, sire of six in 2:30 list), by Dictator; second dam SOPHY (grandam of Mike Wilkes, 2:15¾, Ira Wilkes, 2:22¾, and the sires Adrian Wilkes and Ira Wilkes) by Edwin Forrest 49; third dam Sophronia, by Brown Pilot; fourth dam by Bertrand; fifth dam by Lance, son of American Eclipse; sixth dam by Gray Dungannon. This is the acme of fashionable breeding. In conformation, disposition, color and pure trotting action, HART BOSWELL is perfect. He has never been worked for speed. His progeny are strong-limbed, level-headed and very promising, and are conceded by competent judges to be the finest-formed youngsters in California. Terms $50 for the season. Address K. O'GRADY, Laurel Creek Farm, San Mateo. Splendid pasturage, and mares kept in any manner owners may desire.

We defy the Experts

We have demonstrated, experts admit, and every one is convinced that Genuine White Topaz cannot be detected from real diamonds. White Topaz is the stone you have read so much about. The one that has fooled the pawnbrokers. Place them side by side with genuine diamonds and no one can tell the difference. We have sold thousands of these stones at from one to ten dollars, but in order to introduce them quickly as well as to find out the advertising medium best suited to our business, we make this

We will send you a beautiful, brilliant, genuine White Topaz, which can be mounted in a ring, scarf or necktie pin, stud, cuff buttons, locket or pair earrings, like any article in this border on receipt of.....

These stones are exactly the same as those we have advertised at one dollar.

This Offer for a Few Days Only

Cut out this advertisement and send it to us together with 25c. in coin or stamps and we will send you a White Topaz by return mail; a stone that you can be justly proud of and one that positively cannot be detected from a real diamond. In ordering, be sure and state whether small, medium or large stone is desired. NO ORDER FILLED UNLESS ACCOMPANIED BY THIS ADVERTISEMENT.

GENUINE WHITE TOPAZ

bears no relation to other so-called imitation diamonds no matter under what name they are advertised. They are the hardest of semi-precious stones, impossible to detect from real diamonds and warranted to retain their brilliancy. All others pale to insignificance when compared with White Topaz.

OUR GUARANTEE:

We warrant each and every Topaz to retain its brilliancy and the mountings to give perfect satisfaction.

We will give you One Thousand Dollars if you can show that we have ever refused to replace a White Topaz that was returned as unsatisfactory.

DIAMONDS DUPLICATED IN WHITE TOPAZ.

Royalty and the four hundred who own celebrated and costly diamonds set in necklaces, tiaras, brooches, bracelets and girdles, keep them in burglar proof vaults, while they wear in public the exact duplicates in White Topaz and no one ever detects the difference.

BY CHARLES MARVIN.

This great practical horse book is a handsome, three hundred page octavo, bound in cloth, elegantly printed superbly illustrated, and explains in every detail the remarkable success of CHARLES MARVIN and the whole plans and methods pursued at Palo Alto as to breaking, training, shoeing, gaiting, driving, keeping, racing and breeding trotters.

Read what J. C. Silby, the owner of St. Bel, says of this book: "In this work Marvin has let out all the mysteries of the craft, and it is so simple and plain that any breeder, owner, trainer or rubber who has any relish for his business can take a colt as a yearling and develope to the highest and fullest extent that colt's capacity as a trotter. The work impressed me so strongly that I have ordered twenty copies, and shall place one in the hands of every rubber on our farm.

Mailed postpaid for $3.50. Address

The Most Powerful and Best Preparation in the World

I WILL GUARANTEE MY CURINE

To be the most powerful paint that medical science can formulate. It will reach deeper-seated troubles and produce better effects for lameness and unhealthy sores than any other preparation in the world, for which local medication is indicated, such as

W. A. W. TURNBULL, V. M. D.,

CURINE is the most powerful paint known, and supersedes all cautery or firing. It contains no grease and will not blemish or remove the hair.

Its effects are absorbent, alterative, penetrative and antiseptic, and is the only preparation capable of reaching the deepest seated troubles.

Horses can be worked as usual while using this marvelous paint.

It is used with phenomenal success in Europe, and in the leading trotting and running stables in the United States and Canada. Any person who purchases a bottle, and after using half of it according to explicit directions, and finds it will not do what we claim, can return the bottle and money will be refunded. References:—First National or Citizens National Bank, Latrobe, Pa. WE WILL WAGER $100 that one bottle of CURINE if used according to explicit directions will reach deeper seated troubles, produce better effects for the same curatives than any other compound in the world.

FAMOUS STUD MATRONS IN CALIFORNIA

Hennie Farrow, Founder of a Wonderful Family of Racers and Producers.

Our subject this week is the bay mare Hennie Farrow (raced mostly under the name of Betty Maney). An excellent turf performer herself, this mare, bred by Abner Turner in Tennessee and raced by the veteran, Capt. Thomas G. Moore, of Crab Orchard, Ky., has done nearly if not as much as any thoroughbred to spread upon the minutes of the Fame Clerk the merit of the Golden State as a great horse-breeding section. Hennie Farrow, foaled in 1855, won the Nashville Sweepstakes, one mile, for two-year-olds, October 20, 1857; on the 24th of March, 1850, she won the Association Purse, $600, at Mobile, Ala., three-mile heats and on the 22d of June, 1859, the $600 purse for all ages at St. Louis, Mo., three mile heats. Planet beat her in a match race, $5,000 a side. The beautiful lady in whose honor Hennie Farrow was named was the belle of New Orleans, a daughter of Col. John Farrow, a turfman of no little note in those days. In 1861 the subject of this sketch was sent to the stud, and produced the bay filly Blue Flag, by Lexington. The filly was a winner, if not a great one, but suppose she died young, because there is no record of her as a stud matron.

In the year 1870, if I am correctly informed, A. Mailliard, of New Jersey, who had been a partner of the Morrises (one of these, John, owns the superb Morris Park track, grounds and buildings), came to California, bringing Hennie Farrow, also her daughters Ballerina and Mayflower, and Monday (by Colton—Mollie Jackson), Cleopatra (by imp. Eclipse—Ellie Rodgers), Millie (by Slasher—Ellie Rodgers), Hermione (by Hermes—Orange Maid) and Young Eclipse (by imp. Eclipse—imp. Barbarity). Mr. Mailliard had a sale at the Fair Grounds, Sacramento, Sept. 24, 1872, when all these animals were offered at auction, together with the foals foals of the mares—Mariner, Raphael, Tuesday (afterward Shannon), Joe Hooker, Belle (Electra afterwards) and Ballet Girl. Mimi, 1869 foal of Hennie Farrow, had remained in the land of lightning and large mosquitoes. Electra first saw the light in 1871, Shannon in 1872, Mollie McCarthy (foaled the property of Theodore Winters) in 1873. Ralston in 1874, Clara W. in 1875 and Flood, her last, in 1877.

I will now endeavor to give a brief history of the doings upon the turf and in the stud of

HENNIE FARROW'S SONS AND DAUGHTERS.

1862, b f Blue Sign, by Lexington.—Won a race or two and died young.

1863, b c, Privateer, by Lightning.—One of the best long distance horses of the '60's. He was named after Charles Foster ("Privateer"), the famous turf writer. The horse won a memorable four-mile race at Jerome Park in 1867, defeating Aldebaran and others, and got some winners when put to the stud.

1865, b f Ballerina, by imp. Balrownie.—Ballerina ran third in a race, but was retired to the stud in 1868, producing in 1869 a bay filly by imp. Eclipse of which we have no trace, in 1872 Ballet Girl (by Monday or Young Eclipse), who neither raced nor produced, as far as we know; Ballinette (by Young Eclipse) not much of a racer, but a good producer; Buggy, by Norfork (no record of her racing nor producing). In 1876 came Oats, ch f, by Langford, who won one race, was second thrice and third three times as a two-year-old. Countess Zeika was her foal of 1878. This mare ran third, and that was her best. Lou Spencer, Ballerina's 1880 foal, was quite a fair racer.

1867, ch f Mayflower, by imp. Eclipse.—Believe she did not race. She was the mother of Joe Hooker, one of the fastest horses ever produced in California, also one of the most erratic; also of California (brother to Joe Hooker), a winner and sire of winners, bred and raised by J. B. Chase, of this city, Wild Rose (by Norfall), Warwick by Hubbard (a winner that was afterward sent to Idaho), Valentine by Wildidle (died when a yearling) and Annie Laurie by Hubbard. The last-named as a two-year-old ran second to Sunday in the Record-Union Stakes, with Duchess of Norfolk behind her, was third in one race, unplaced in one. This was all the racing she did. Mayflower died in 1880, about one year after Annie Laurie, her last, was foaled.

1869, br f Mimi, by imp. Eclipse.—She was a fair racer, running second in the Thespian Stakes at Monmouth Park to Malita, defeating Hubbard, Experience Oaks and two others. She remained at the far East and proved a wonderful producer, the winners from her being Mark, Kinglike (who earned $10,650 and defeated Parole, Fair Count, Heel and Toe, Monitor, Barnes, Louisette and other celebrities), Mikado (one of the best racers of his day, winner of the Palisade, Omnibus and Harlem Stakes, defeating Duchess, Himalaya, Ecuador, Richmond and other cracks), Viceroy (winner Fordham Handicap), Stately, Shy Ellen and the clinking good Copyright. Mimi died in 1891, the property of D. D. Withers, since dead.

1871, blk f Electra (Belle), by imp. Eclipse—Electra, raced as Belle, won several good events at a mile and upward and was placed in good company. Her first foal was Rebecca (1877), by Hubbard, who ran but once (unplaced); Winifred (1878) by Joe Daniels (which ran only as a three-year-old, winning five races, second three times, third once and $1,230); Marian (1880), by Hubbard, winner as a two and three-year-old; Elizabeth (1881), by Thad Stevens (never raced); Hidalgo (1882), by Joe Daniels (winner of the Emporium Stakes (one and a half miles) in a canter, September Stakes (one and three-quarter miles), Pacific Stakes (two miles), Latonia Cup (two and a quarter miles, but was disqualified for fouling Irish Pat), one and a quarter miles at Saratoga, the Monmouth Handicap (one and one-half miles), Long Branch Handicap (one and a quarter miles, 120 pounds), besides running placed with big weight up, among the number his third in the memorable heads-apart Brooklyn Handicap won by Dry Monopole in 2:07, with Blue Wing second, Hidalgo getting away badly; El Dorado (1883), by Wheatley (a winner, notwithstanding he was deformed and his breeder, J. B Chase, wanted him destroyed when he was foaled), Yolande (1884), by Wheatley. Fitz James, by imp. Kyrle Daly, was the foal of 1885, and he was nearly as high-class as Hidalgo, winning ten races, being second twenty times, third five, his earninge footing up over $25,000 Electra's foal of 1886, a filly, full sister te Fitz James, died young, and the 1887 foal, Electricity, another sister, never raced, but proved a good broodmare. Electra was barren in 1888 and her 1889 Darebin foal, a filly, died early and she slipped a Darebin foal in 1890. Elector, by Salvator, which came in 1892, did not race, and since that time she has thrown nothing of note as a racer. The old black mare is near the end of her life's journey, and will go down into history as a worthy daughter of a great mare.

1872, b c Shannon, by Monday.—He ran placed in a few races, but was not even a fair racer. At the stud, however, he was fairly successful, being the sire of Bishop (a great weight-packer and sire of Racine, Senator Irby, etc.), Bessie Shannon, Hello, Laura and Rico, all above the ordinary.

1873, b f Mollie McCarthy, by Monday.—This mare, bred by A. Malliard and foaled the property of Theodore Winters, was considered the champion of her sex in America, out of thirteen starts in five seasons on the turf winning twelve races, Ten Broeck being the only animal that ever conquered her, that being in the memorable $20,000 a side match at Louisville on July 4, 1878. The extreme heat had perhaps as much to do with her defeat as anything else, for the mare nearly collapsed after going two and three-quarter miles. The great racer died the property of E. J. Baldwin at his Santa Anita ranch March 15, 1883, after producing three foals (Fallen Leaf, by Grinstead, a great race mare herself; Brandywine, by Lexingtor, and Mollie McCarthy's Last, by Rutherford, a heavy winner and the dam of a winner).

1874, b c Ralston, by Norfolk.—A more than average performer, but what became of him I cannot say. He was not raced much.

1875, ch f Clara W., by Norfolk.—Won a few races. Suppose she died young, as I find no trace of her producing anything.

1877, b c Flood, by Norfolk.—Started three times (only as a three-year-old) and won twice ($675). He has proven a successful sire, getting Guenn (sold for $5,000), Cadmus, Flood Tide, Geoffrey, Faustine, Rhono (one mile in 1:40), Nero, Floodgate and Pliny, among others of note.

I will only write of the achievements at the stud of the grandsons and granddaughters of Hennie Farrow briefly, lack of space not allowing of a detailed statement:

GRANDSONS AND GRANDDAUGHTERS OF HENNIE FARROW.

Ballinette, by Monday or Young Eclipse, dam Ballerina—Produced Edwin F. (Del Monte) and Clara W., non-winners of races, former, second once, $50; Alta, by Norfolk, a stake horse (winner of nine races and $12,085 and sire of Sir Reel, Queen Alta, Dinero, Rey Alta and many other winners); Miss Courtney, by Norfolk (won six races and $2,722—an extra good filly); Ellwood, by Norfolk (won seven races and $1,935); Telish, non-winner; Noretto, by Norfolk (won two races, second four times, third once, $700 in money); San Juan, by Norfolk (won three races and $12,590); Royal Prince, by Prince of Norfolk (won eight races and $2,955). Total won by Ballinette's produce in stakes and purses, $32,950.

Wild Rose, by Norfall, dam Mayflower.—This mare produced Rosemary, by Joe Daniels, who started twice and ran second once (at six-furlong heats), but was the dam of Mary Stone, winner of $19,000; of Absentee, a two-year-old winner, and Rosebud, winner of $2,230 in 1895 and $3,205 in 1896; Santa Rosa, by Wheatly (not raced, but the dam of Connaught, a winner), and Jennie K., by Sir Modred (winner at a mile and a quarter and other distances).

Joe Hooker, by Monday, dam Mayflower—One of the best stallions in America in his day, sire of C. H. Todd, Yo Tambien, Sorrento, Don Jose, Tormentor and many other celebrities.

California, by Monday, dam Mayflower.—Never raced, I believe, and was killed by running into a fence, a sliver penetrating his side, blood poisoning resulting. He got but few foals, one, Neyella, being a record-breaker and dam of Raindrop. The dam of Diggs and Sutton was by this horse also.

Annie Laurie, by Hubbard, dam Mayflower.—A winner and dam of Plumas (a good winner), also of Lorraine, by imp. Kyrle Daly. The latter threw two good winners, one, Lena Frey, successful as a two, three, four and five-year-old.

Stately, by imp. King Ernest, dam Mimi.—Won the Nursery Stakes, and had her first foal (by imp. Maccaroon) in 1892. Believed it proved a winner.

Mollie McCarthy's Last, by Rutherford, dam Mollie McCarthy.—Won eighteen races, was second fifteen times, third eleven times, and earned $17,745 in purses and stakes. Among the stakes she won were the Society, Relief, Hunter and Bay City (twice) and Oriole and Turf Handicaps. At the stud she threw San Luis Rey, a winner, and died in 1892, aged nine years.

Fallen Leaf, by Grinstead, dam Mollie McCarthy.—Won the Glidelia Stakes at Latonia, one and a quarter miles, Illinois Oaks, one and a quarter miles, and ran Audrain to half a length in the Hindoo Stakes at Latonia. These were her only three starts. Her earnings were $4,715. Fallen Leaf's only foal was Zorilla, by Rutherford, in 1889, and Mollie McCarthy's daughter died in 1890, before foaling.

Countess Zeika, by Norfolk, dam Ballerina.—Ran third in her only race. She produced Question, by Joe Hooker, who won one race and $355; Ed Corrigan, by Joe Hooker, winner of five races, and earned $6,690; Pocatello, by Joe Hooker, winner of twenty-three races, second and third many times, and the winner of $10,700; Don Jose, by Joe Hooker (won five races and $9,275). Judge Post, by Joe Hooker, (ten wins, fourteen seconds, nine thirds and $5,400); Nellie Post and Rose Hickman (not raced), and Don Pio Pico (two wins and $700). Question produced Almont, winner of the Great Western Handicap and the Autumn Stakes (eighteen races in all and $11,885). She also threw Mirambo, just a fair performer, winner of three races and $1,100). Ed Corrigan sired The Drummer and a few other winners, while Don Jose is in the stud and has sired several that proved successful on the track, the oldest being three years of age, I believe.

Lou Spencer, by Norfolk, dam Ballerina.—This mare won three races, was second three times, third twice and earned $1,145. She has produced Duke Spencer, by Duke of Norfolk (winner of two races and $550); Belle Sanger, by Joe Hooker (no wins in three starts); Dolly McCone, by Joe Hooker (twenty wins, twenty-five seconds, sixteen thirds and $11,860), and Dolly M. (one win, five seconds, one third and $450). Dolly McCone is now one of the matrons on A. B. Spreckels' farm at Napa. I believe Duke Spencer went to the Hawaiian Islands and won.

Rebecca, by Hubbard, dam Electra.—She produced Glorianna and Daniella, by Joe Daniels; Fortuna, Vishnu and Misfortune, by Wheatley, and Miss Rhodie, by Milner. Glorianna won a mile and three-furlong race and ran third in her only other race and at the stud produced Hyderabad (sold for $30,000, winner of $14,220) and Kempland (who won fourteen races and $11,250), Flossie Fanning, Gloriali and Milwaukee. Daniella was a winner as a two and three year-old. Misfortune threw Iola (a frequent winner at the far East), California (a stake-winner here and a very heavy winner) and Front de Boeuf (a winner last spring and since dead.

WINIFRED, by Joe Daniels, dam Electra.—Winner of five races and $1,230 and produced Nantucket, by Wheatley (who did not win a race, but ran second and third), Winfield by imp. Kyrle Daly (who earned $1,200, though not winning a race) and Winsome, by Kyrle Daly (third only in a stake race, which amounted to $200). Fedalma by Wheatley, another of Winifred's foals, did not race, but produced the winners, Clarence W. ($300) and Warrago (twelve wins and $4,120), also Ben, La France and Adam Andrew, latter a good colt last season and this winner of $1,070 as a two-year-old, $980 thus far this year.

MARIAN, by Hubbard, dam Electra.—Won as a two and three-year-old and very successful as a matron, producing Marin by Kyrle Daly, a non-winner herself, but the dam of Miss Pollard, who won ten races in 1896 before she met with an accident that ended her turf career, besides ran first, second and third as a two-year-old. Sir John, Marion's second foal, won fourteen races (including the Foxhall, Iroquois, Travers and Spendthrift Stakes); Sykeston, also by imp. Sir Modred, the foal of 1889, won eight races in good company and $5,155. His full sister, Lady Marian, won but one race and $400, but is the dam of Lord Marmion, by St. Carlo, who ran well here last spring as a two-year-old.

HIDALGO, by Joe Daniels, dam Electra.—Winner of over $25,000 and one of the best horses of the late '80's. Not many years at the stud, yet sired such excellent performers as Bueno, Alliance, Chrysalis, Hidago, Lilian C., Monterey, Winship, Emma Mac, Expense and Cottage Girl.

ELIZABETH, by Thad Stevens, dam Electra.—Did not go to the post in a race, but threw four winners. Eminence, br f, by imp. Kyrle Daly, won seven races and $4 375, besides ran second seven times and third nine. G. W., b g, by imp. Kyrle Daly, won four races and $1,650. Elizabeth's foal of 1888, a chestnut filly by Kyrle Daly, won one race and $165, and Tutor, by Tyrant, won one race and $325.

YOLANDE, by Wheatley, dam Electra.—Never raced. At the stud threw Sir David, by Sir Modred (two wins and $575) and Beaverwick, by Sir Modred (six wins and $2,575).

This ends a fairly complete record of the achievements at the stud and on the turf of the members of the family that the famous Tennessee mare, Hennie Farrow, founded in California and New Jersey, and the daughter of imp. Shamrock and Ida, by imp. Belshazzar, will be justly crowned a queen of stud matrons by future historians who write of man's best friend, the horse.

ANACONDA RACES.

Several "Surprises" That Paid Handsomely in the Mutuels—Good Racing the Rule.

MONDAY, JULY 19.

The races were all of a most interesting nature, including the opening pacing race, in which Argoreat, the favorite, was distanced. There was another of those big mutuels paid; it was on Allahabad. The lucky holders of tickets on him took down $126.20. In the last race St. Jacob showed that he was a jumper and can jump anything from a ladder to a hurdle. St. Jacob is an Anaconda horse and he has not been doing much good for his owners in the flat races, so that it made the Anaconda crowd happy to see him win over the "sticks."

TUESDAY, JULY 20.

"Are you all silent at $535?" shouted out Auctioneer Fitch last Saturday afternoon. There was no response and imported Devil's Dream was sold to C. R. Crellin of Pleasanton, Cal. Crellin turned the mare over to Frank Van Ness and yesterday the daughter of Chittabob galloped home a winner in the Ravalli Stake for three-year-olds, winning $700 of the stake for the lucky purchaser, as well as $600 or $700 in bets. The win, although expected by several good judges, came in the nature of a great surprise to the admirers of May W. The Eagle Plume filly has been held in high estimation since the day she finished so close to Ogden, who a few weeks afterwards captured the classic Futurity, but she was asked to go a route for the first time yesterday and died under a strong pull after going six and a half furlongs. It might have been more gracious if May W. had been given her head from the start, but it is very apparent that sprinting is her forte. It is said that the owners of May W. are not satisfied with the defeat of the filly. The time marks a very good performance, considering the weight carried by the winner.

Neither the trotting or pacing race furnished a contest. Although there were nine starters in the 2:10 trot, Tom Tucker outclassed his field and won in two straight heats. The horses scored for half an hour in the first heat and there was still a further delay, owing to J. J. indulging in a kicking exhibition, Driver Acker narrowly escaping injury. The sulky was entirely demolished, but a new one was secured after an unavoidable delay of fifteen minutes. May B. finished second in both heats.

Edith W. won two heats off the reel in the Bitter Root Stake for pacers eligible to the 2:20 class. Journeyman tried hard both times, but Edith W. had speed to spare. She paced the first heat in 2:13, but could doubtless have gone in 2:10½.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 21.

Despite the doubtful weather, there was a good-sized crowd at the Anaconda track yesterday, and the sport was fairly exciting. The 2:15 trot proved to be the most hotly-contested trotting race of the present meeting, and more events of the same type would have a marked tendency to popularize sulky racing with the general public. Amazonian showed that he possesses some class by taking the five-furlong dash in clever style from Salmera. Lena scored her third win of the present meeting, beating a very fair field in the mile ace. This filly was purchased by her present owner less than two months ago for a fifty-dollar bill. The 2:30 pace had seven starters, but there was not a semblance of a contest in either heat. Argotine proved the winner, while King Altamont was second. The 2:15 trot was fiercely contested, but Chris Peterson, the hot favorite, was beaten strictly on his merits.

THURSDAY JULY 22.

An early morning storm spoiled what promised to be the most sensational day's racing of the present season. The afternoon was not altogether unpleasant, and there was a big crowd present, but the track was so muddy that it was judiciously decided to postpone the free-for-all pace until Saturday. The three-year-old trotting event excited little or no interest. It was regarded as a foregone conclusion for the black filly Ida Sultan. She captured both heats in very easy style. The first running race on the card was a five and one-half furlong dash, in which there were nine entries originally, but Bryan Sweet and Shot Silk declined the issue. Mollie R. sold a slight favorite over Benham, a good-looking colt, but not at his best in the mud. Soon after the barrier went up Mollie R. went to the lead and won pretty much as she pleased. Benham finished strong and closed up a big gap in the last furlong.

The owners' handicap at six furlongs was quite a betting event. There were several breakaways, Dorah Wood constantly refusing to leave the post. The quartet got off on even terms in the end, Bill Howard going to the front, followed by I Don't Know, while Dorah Wood and Flashlight ran neck and neck about two lengths in the rear. Bill Howard increased his lead going around the far turn, but Flashlight gradually overhauled the leader, and won easily at the end.

FRIDAY, JULY 23d.

Over forty thousand dollars were wagered this forenoon. A great betting crowd was present, and in nearly every race run more money was dependent on the result than all the combined worth of the horses starting. Tomorrow afternoon promises to be the banner betting day in the history of Anaconda, however, and it is more than probable that $60,000 or $70,000 will change hands.

Leora demonstrated in a most unmistakable manner that she is queen of the sprinting division. In the three-furlong dash, Lou Watkins, in receipt of twenty-four pounds, got off a length or more in front of Leora, but the gray mare with a silver tube in her neck ran around her field and won cleverly at the end in 35½ seconds, very fast considering the condition of the track.

AN ATTRACTIVE SPECTACLE.—The workings out of the trotters and pacers at the Emeryville is a pleasing sight. The pleasure is not restricted to the devotees of harness racing, as everyone with eyesight, capable of distinguishing horses on their way around the track, cannot fail to be greatly interested in the spectacle. From nine o'clock in the morning to high twelve scarcely a minute without something lively to watch. Several sets, each containing from two to half-a-dozen horses, working in company, and one who is a onlooker for the first time will wonder how, wide as the track is, serious accidents are avoided.

Something like several races being under way at one time. Perhaps one division scoring for the start, another struggling down the backstretch, and yet another in a still more desperate contest near the seven-furlong pole. A dozen more may be jogging the reverse way on the outside of the track, to the Neophyte in harness horses a strange conglomeration of horses, drivers and vehicles that is difficult for him to comprehend. Plenty of spectators in groups from the judges' stand to the head of the stretch, and watches enough in sight to stock a big store.

Thursday last I saw a man with a watch in each hand, and in response to the question if he had to use two watches to feel sure that he was getting the correct time, replied "that one of them might stop." The interest is intensified when one is not dependent on enquiries to learn how fast the mile and the fractions were, and then there are the occupants of anxious seats trying their best to get a line to guide them in contemplated speculations, but the drivers are evidently trying just as hard not to show their hands in full; that is, with horses that engender the greatest curiosity. There are so many furlong marks on the course, however, that it will be a difficult job to "move between the poles" without being discovered, and in these days, when split-second chronographs can be got for less than twenty dollars, the cutest of drivers may be troubled to hide the speed he has in keeping if he endeavors to inform himself. There are many chances to calculate upon in the "fields" which are named in the various races to be decided at the coming meeting, and he will be a brave man who will confidently "pick the winners" until lines are obtained from the actual racing. And then there are likely to be upsets all through.

"Form" is a more fragile possession among trotters and pacers than it is in the galloping brigade, and that is known to be gloriously uncertain. A break may be as disastrous, and the money loss as great as the fracture of a rare Cloisonne vase, and "pockets," however troublesome to the jockey, are a far more serious obstacle when shafts and wheels are a part of the racing equipment.

I have asked several of the experts who have been in daily attendance at the track since the horses congregated if they had seen enough to warrant them in making a selection of probable winners of the opening events, and not a single one had come to a conclusion as late as Thursday last. Some of them acknowledged that they were more confident before witnessing any of the workouts, and that is not singular. From the form displayed in the races of last year selection of probable winners would not be an easy "stent," and now, when complicated with questions of improvement and retrogression, the difficulty is greatly enhanced.

Seldom, indeed, when such a bill is presented for an opening day as that arranged for this day, Saturday, July 31st.

Three races, 2:19 and 2:13 classes trotting and 2:25 class pacing. Twelve entries in the 2:19, eight in the 2:13 and fifteen in the 2:25 pace. The candidates in the 2:19 wear names that are already distinguished. Faro Bank, Bay Rum, Clay S., Myrtle Thorne, Nina L., Iran Alto, Jack W., Peko, Dione, Atto Rex, Auditor and Columbus S. are well known in the California horse world, and all of them have records close to the mark of eligibility. For instance, Clay S. trotted in 2:19½; Myrtle Thorne, 2:18¼; Dione, 2:18½, and Auditor, 2:19½, all of these figures obtained in 1896.

Faro Bank stands in the Year Book with 2:16½ against his name; a big mistake, as the races in which he was said to have made the mark, in which Faro Bank made a dead heat, was 2:23.

So far as can be told from the records of the horses engaged in the 2:13 class, they are very close together. Last year's marks were, Mamie Griffin, 2:14; Galette, 2:15¼; Jasper Ayres, 2:24½; Helena, 2:12½; Miss Jessie, 2:14; Challenger Chief, 2:14.

In 1895 Zombro and Ethel Downs got the same mark, 2:13. Only two and three-quarters seconds between the fastest and slowest, and those who pin their faith on "public form" will probably choose Helena, Zombro and Ethel Downs for "straight, place and show," but the months that have intervened from the date of records to the 31st inst. are likely to have wrought some changes. At all events it is safe "to bank" on the 2:19 and 2:13 classes being close and exciting contests, and the 2:25 pace can scarcely fail to be one of the sharpest contests of the meeting. Virtually for horses which have yet to wear their war paint, as 2:25 is the slowest class for pacers on the programme.

The pacers have the "crown of the causeway" nowadays. The twenty-five or more thousands of people assembled on the track on Independence Day at Hartford were attracted by the trio of great pacers, and fully as large an assemblage thronged Washington Park when all of the races were restricted to the side wheelers. That there will be lively work in all the races is reasonably well assured, and those who miss witnessing the opening day of the summer meeting will also miss an afternoon of good sport.

ENTRIES YET TO CLOSE.—The good showing made for the meetings at Emeryville, Marysville, Willows and Chico must be supplemented by a liberal support of those which are yet to close. Then the full lists at the September meeting of the P. C. T. H. B. A. and the Los Angeles events that have also closed are auguries of like success for those to come, and should these expectations be realized harness racing in California will from now on be on a permanent basis. That after 1898 the district fairs will receive governmental support is beyond all reasonable contention, as the people are so fully impressed with the necessity for appropriations that no one can be elected Governor unless it is well known that another veto will not be interposed. Enough has been done this year to show that trotters and pacers can secure a fair chance without appropriations for district fairs, and there is scarcely a doubt that in 1898 there will be a still better opportunity, as associations, stimulated by good entry lists, will be disposed to give more meetings.

But when the fairs are once more in line, as they were before the veto of 1895, then associations can commence earlier in the season, ensuring a fair prospect of a circuit from the first of June to the first of November.

As has been so frequently stated, that the repetition may appear somewhat tiresome, there is an absolute necessity for those who are so deeply interested in the future of harness racing to make entries and in addition thereto use every endeavor to augment the attendance. As will be learned from the advertisements in this paper, the purses at the State Fair and Stockton are liberal and the classification such as to give nearly all grades of horses a chance.

As entries to the State Fair have heretofore closed on August 1st, it must be kept in remembrance that July 31st—this Saturday—is fixed upon for the 2.40, 2:24, 2:30 classes, trotting, and 2:20 class, pacing, to close; the faster classes are left open till August 28th. There is also a provision that should horses trot faster than the time stipulated, viz., 2:21 or better in the 2:40, 2:17 or better in the 2:24, 2:19 or better in the 2:30, and 2:14 or better in the 2:20 pacing before August 28th will be barred from starting, their entrance money returned, while, of course, they can enter in any of the classes then open they are eligible for.

There is a somewhat similar provision in the Stockton Driving Club's programme in the races which close August 1st, the 2:40, 2:30, 2:27 classes, trotting, and the 2:30 and 2:25 classes, pacing. The date when the 2:24, 2:20, 2:17 and 2:13 classes, trotting, and the 2:20, 2:17 and 2:13 classes, pacing, will close being September 2d. The provisions whereby horses are debarred from starting after displaying the time limit should be an inducement to making entries, inasmuch as those which have shown marked superiority will be out of the way. I anxiously hope that the Sacramento and Stockton events will show as many or more entries than the classes which have already filled, and that wish is more than likely to be gratified.

A FAIR TRIAL.—Until there is a practical test of "the block" it is evidently premature to claim that it will not serve the purpose as well as that which has been termed the "French" machine, though it turns out to be an English invention.

The charge made that it is not so "speedy" as the mutuel can only be sustained by actual trial, as there are good reasons to believe, from the plans shown, that it is equally fast if not faster than that filled with wheels and cranks, and against the use of which there are the objections of many people. Not that these are stable, as it is very easy to guard against frauds such as are charged, as a very simple contrivance will be an effectual check. So far as I can form an opinion from diagrams, and the model that Mr. Layng made, tickets can be issued with as little waste of time as the mutuels.

In fact it is difficult to imagine a more convenient arrangement than to have the tickets arranged in a space that is within reach of the seller without change of position, and all so plainly marked that mistakes can only be made by gross carelessness of the operator. A person who aimed to embarrass the seller, by claiming that the ticket given was not on the horse designated, would occasion some trouble, but that could be overcome by insisting on a distinct enunciation of the name.

"Place betting" has become an essential feature in speculating on races, and the block is certainly better than the mutuel in this respect. One board in place of two machines, with the essential advantage that the person desiring to invest can have an option on which way he will place his money. Both are before him and he can make the choice without further trouble. Straight or place, as the intention may be, those who have done business with bookmakers being well versed in the practice. From the many inquiries in relation to the new system there is plenty of evidence that people are favorably impressed with the scheme, and if there is no hitch in handling it, I feel well assured that it will be found a popular innovation.

AN OLD RULE that has been done away with very many years ago had some merit, as had it been in force at the Detroit meeting Mr. Geers, when he put The Abbott between Oratorio and the fence would have done so at his peril.

Before that enactment "crossing and jostling" were tolerated, and hence that favorite method of sharp jockeys was forbidden unless the opposing rider attempted to pass on the inside.

From a comparison of the several newspaper accounts it is very doubtful if there was room enough to justify Geers' attempt to go through next the fence, and it is an old trick to jerk a horse's head and then claim foul on the part of the guiltless driver.

It may have been that the fear of like punishment to that inflicted on Kinney was the cause of Kelly pulling away and letting Valence through when she came up on the inside.

She, Mr. Hobart's Abbottsford mare, won the second and third heats of the 2:14 class at Detroit in 2:12½ and 2:13¼, and a portion of the heat is thus described: "When he (Geers) headed for home he was in a pocket and there was no possibility of his winning the heat. At the seventh furlong pole one of these unaccountable things, the ways and wherefores of which is best not to discuss, was enacted; all that Kelly had to do with his charge was to sit still and keep his position at the pole, but for some unaccountable reason he pulled wide and let Geers through. The latter won the heat, and every chance that Kelly had of winning the race vanished."

The act of Kelly can be accounted for on the supposition that The Abbott-Oratorio imbroglio had demoralized the driver of the California mare, and fearful of being placed last, or a still heavier punishment, he gave the driver of Valence an advantage, which lost the race for Mr. Salisbury.

Arrivals at the Oakland Track.

Dan Mizner came from Petaluma with that game little pacer, Plunkett, 2:13¼. He has also two horses belonging to M. O. Reilly, of Petaluma, one a trotter, Nina L., by Echo Royal, with a mark of 2:22, and the green pacer, Senator, by Secretary. Additionally, he has in charge Frank O'Kane's green pacer, Peanuts, by Sidney, and Butcher Boy, 2:21, by Secretary. All are in good condition and Mizner has no fear of their not earning their oats and a bonus besides.

Another Petaluma aggregation is the string of W. Overholser, who has Rudolph Spreckels' Annie Rooney, 2:24½, and her sister, Margaret, 2:29½. Bay Rum, 2:19½, and Teddy, the Roan, a green pacer, complete the quartet.

The largest stable on the circuit is that of Jimmy Sullivan, comprising thirteen horses, the one having the fastest mark being the pacer, Loupe, 2:09¼. He is not entered at the Oakland meeting, but is being conditioned, so as to be ready for any free-for-all events that may be given at some of the principal points on the circuit. Sullivan will handle the reins over five other sidewheelers, the speediest being Belle, 2:11, by Melbourne. The others are Fitz Lee, by Arthur Wilkes; Dave Ryan, by Anteeolo; Mai Louise, by Steinway, and Charles David, by Sidney. The four last named are all as yet without a record. Sullivan has seven trotters, comprising Mamie Griffin, 2:14; Chico, 2:14½; Myrtle Thorne, 2:18½; Maud P., 2:25½; Our Jack, by Steinway; Palitta Munger, a three-year-old, by Pilot Prince, and Pilot McClelland, by Pilot Prince. Myrtle Thorne is now the property of E. P. Heald and she has developed into a good mare under Sullivan's care.

From Salinas came M. Delaney with the green trotter, Shelby, by Wilkes Moor, and the mare, Anita, by Junio, who is entered in the 2:16 class trotting.

The strings of Owen Brothers and C. W. Short came in from Fresno late in the afternoon. The former has Joe Wheeler, a green pacer, by the son of Sidney, and Nellie Bly, another pacer without a mark, by Starboul. Joe Wheeler has been thoroughly drilled this spring and can step along three heats inside of the 2:20 notch. Nellie Bly is a mare of more than ordinary promise, but as yet is not sufficiently seasoned to permit of racing her for another month.

C. W. Short's candidate for equine honors in the slow classes is the pacer, Waywood, by Commodore Nutwood. He was given a mile in 2:24 recently, and he negotiated it handily.

The Vallejo boat brought down the stables of Joe Edge and Thomas Smith, both of whom are veterans in the business. The former has Auditor, 2:19½, by Secretary, and Hank, a speedy three-year-old by Vasto. Smith's prospective bread-winners are Columbus S., 2:19¼, by McDonald Chief; Stella, 2:15½, by George Washington; Sweet Rosie, 2:28¾, by Mambrino Chief Jr.; Dollicon, 2:24½, by Mambrino Chief Jr. and the green trotter, Joe Selby, by Don L.

The Sacramento contingent is numerically not strong. Ed Bennett only brought down Blue Bells, by San Diego, but he left at the Capital City track a couple of two-year-olds and two three-year-olds which he will start at the Marysville meeting. H. Hogoboom has only Humboldt Maid, 2:17, to race for him, although he brought down her sire, Waldstein, who has been doing duty in the stud at Sacramento this season.

Of course Abdell is the star of the lot, even though he cannot boast of a record as good as that of Helena. Abdell holds the world's yearling record of 2:23. He is now a four-year-old.

After Abdell won the world's yearling record $50,000 was offered for him and refused. Havey says he is as sound as a dollar.

Helena, the bay mare, by Electioneer—Lady Ellen, who obtained a mark of 2:12½ last season, will start in the 2:13 trots.

A mare whose performances will be watched with interest is Pasonte, a green four-year-old, by Palo Alto—Sontag Dixie. She is said to be a warm article, and in the forty and thirty classes may make things pretty interesting. Horsemen all agree that the races for these classes will develop very hot contests. Never in the history of the turf in California have so many good green ones been brought out.

The others in the Palo Alto string are well-bred fine lookers, who have done little or no racing, but have shown up excellently in their work. They are the three-year-old bay colt Galeno, by Monaco—Galena, by General Benton; the two-year-old chestnut colt Whips Jr., by Whips—Marion, by Piedmont; the bay mare Alla, 2:21½, by Palo-Alto-Lulu Wilkes; the three-year-old bay filly Nordea, by Norris—Naude; the brown mare Peko, 2:24, by Electioneer—Penelope; the three-year-old bay gelding Morocco, by Electioneer—Mano; the bay colt Anselor, by Electricity—Anselma, and the three-year-old pacer Betonica, by Azmoor—Nadine. Betonica is very speedy, and is the first side-wheeler that the Palo Alto Stock Farm sent out to race in its colors.

The Santa Rosa Stock Farm sends two, a pacing stallion called Beau Brummell, by Wildnut, out of Nellie Benton, and a mare by Memo, out of Flora Allen. J. Rodgers is the driver.

Walter Maben has quite a string: Native State, 2:16½, by Star Sultan; Loretta Belle (p), by State of Maine, out of a mare by California Ten Broeck; Gallette, 2.15¼, by Jud Wilkes; Little Dick and Joe, two others belonging to Lee Rose; Bet Madison, 2:30, by James Madison, 2:17¾; Uncle Jim, her full brother; Daisywood, by Silkwood, 2:07, and Etta Wilkes, by Jud Wilkes.

Pat Farrell has Marin Jr, and the way he has the game little gray moving gives every indication that he will be in the front rank this fall among the very fastest.

Great interest is being taken in the novelty races, and we can look for some rare good sport when they come for the word.

HAMBURG won the Flash Stakes on the opening day at Saratoga, last Monday, Handball second. Both carried 129 lbs. Rensselaer won the Travers Stakes with 126 lbs. in the saddle, Tragedian second and Don de Oro third. The Travers stakes have been won by many celebrated horses since it was instituted in 1864, among the victorious ones being Kentucky, Maiden (dam of Parole), The Banshee (dam of Apache), Harry Bassett, Joe Daniels, Tom Bowling and Falsetto.

TURF AND TRACK.

THE SULKY.

Jas. Sullivan has thirteen horses in his string.

Everybody should help the meeting at Oakland.

The 2:13 pacing race to day promises to be a "corker."

Silver Chimes, 2:10¼, is the fastest of the Chimes family in the second generation.

Pearl C., by Roy Wilkes, paced a mile over the half mile track, at Aurora, Ill., July 22d, in 2:12½.

The Monk, by Chimes, won a good race at Detroit, Mich, July 22d. Time, 2:16¾, 2:17½ and 2:16¾.

Javelin, 2:08¼, by Creole, is, so far, the best piece of racing material Monroe Salisbury has shown up this season.

A. B. Rodman, of Woodland, Cal., has the handsome trotting mare, Wisteria, by Anteeo, at the Oakland track.

Wayland W. is still on the shelf. Andy McDowell will make some of the trotters step some when he is ready to start.

Jib Albert, Salisbury's fast green son of Albert W., that has been off, is rounding to and will be fit to race in the near future.

Arthur Dodge, by Albert W., 2:20, won a six-heat race at Sturgis, Mich., July 23d, last three heats in 2:20, 2:22¾ and 2:25½.

Azmon, by Azmoor, is winning every race he starts in "across the pond." He won a good race at Vienna, Austria, last month.

Who wants a first-class pony for ladies or children to drive? There is one advertised in our business columns that is a beauty.

The selection of Frank W. Covey as starting judge at the various meetings on the California Circuit is commended everywhere.

John A. McKerron has been filling orders for harness and horseboots all over the United States, including his large California trade.

If you want to keep posted on all matters pertaining to the trotters and pacers subscribe for the Breeder and Sportsman. Only $3 a year.

She trotted in 2:12 and 2:12½ and would have won her race at Detroit if Kelly had not driven so badly. His drive in the third heat was like an amateur's.

Derby Princess is rapidly rounding to. She won a hard fought race at Detroit, Mich., July 22d, in three straight heats. Time, 211¼, 2:11¼ and 2:11¾.

Major Tom Griffin, Denver, Col., is now an attache of the Salisbury stable and will do some of the driving this season. He joined the string at St. Joseph, Mo.

The long list of entries, as published in this journal last week, was a most agreeable surprise to every horseman in California. There is plenty of good material there.

The Toomey Sulky is the one greatest in demand in California this year. J. O'Kane, the agent, says this '97 model has only to be shown to a horseman to effect a sale.

A brown mare by Sidney, 2:19¾, called Miss Sidney, was started in the 2:35 class trot at Aurora, Ill., July 23d, and won it in straight heats. Time, 2:25¼, 2:25¼ and 2:25¾.

Wilkesdale, the grandly-bred son of Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼, that the late G. Hancock of Sacramento owned, has had two new ones enter the 2:30 list at Rocklin—Abdine, 2:30 and Munyon (p), 2:22½.

A. B. Patrick's pacing mare Catinka, that was leased to F. H. Burke and driven by Ed Lafferty, won the 2:24 class pace on the opening day at Anaconda; best time, 2:20¼. Catinka is by Abbottsford.

Marie Wellington, a brown mare by Gen. Wellington, 2:30 (son of Electioneer and Roxana, by Gen. Benton) won a 2:40 class pacing race at Fleetwood Park, N. Y., July 21st, in 2:29½, 2:26¾ and 2:27¼.

Since his defeat by Stam B., Klamath has won two races at Anaconda, Mont. In one he defeated Stam B., and Kentucky Union, best time, 2:12¾. In the other he beat Kentucky Union, best time, 2:14¾.

With splendid prospects for good crops of wheat and fruit, and high prices to be received for the same, our California farmers and orchardists begin to feel that prosperity will smile upon them once more.

We would like to see, in the way of a meeting, a race to saddle under conditions as nearly identical with those in vogue when such champions as Topgallant, Lady Suffolk, Ajax, et al., were the great drawing cards.

Bicycles are taxed in Chicago, the money to be used as a road fund. It's a good idea and should be copied by the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco.

Nearly every horseman at the Oakland track has a supply of De Huy's Balmoline on hand. It is invaluable for all the purposes for which it is manufactured.

Try the celebrated Speed Sustaining Elixir if you want your horses to recuperate quickly after each heat. Its success wherever tried in the East has been marvelous.

The Santa Ana race meeting will be held October 25th to 31st inclusive, with purses of $400 each, except for free-for-alls which will be $500 each. Entries will close with Los Angeles, September 4th.

The well-known horseman, A. L. Rooker, has succeeded Messrs. Street & Cresswell, live stock auctioneers, and is prepared to communicate with horsemen and farmers regarding sales. See the advertisement in this issue.

It is predicted that at least 3,000 horses will be shipped into Alaska before the winter season sets in. In many of the valleys there is plenty of feed in the summer and by a system of ensilage feed can be kept all winter for stock.

The Breeder and Sportsman is read by more horsemen and sportsmen on the Pacific Coast than any other published in the United States. As an advertising medium, it is considered by competent judges to be absolutely the best.

King of Diamonds, 2:07½, is not only phenomenally fast, but awfully erratic. He wears every form of boot and tackle known to the profession, requires the services of several men in turning around for the word, and is not a safe factor in a race.

Clarence Overhalser, of Petaluma, is the proud owner of one of the finest and most bloodlike yearlings we have seen this year. She was sired by Gossiper, 2:14¾, out of Rose, by Gray McClellan; second dam, Jeanette, by Woodburn, etc.

Bumps, 2:06½; King of Diamonds, 2:07½; Frank Bogash, 2:07¼; Agitato, 2:09; Javelin, 2:08¼, and the Village Farm mare, Passing Belle, 2:13½, are among the horses named in Tennessee stake for 2:09 pacers to be decided at Lexington, Ky., next fall.

Directum, 2:05¼, is taking slow work at the Grosse Point track at Detroit. He has been a mile in 2:22, quarter in 31 seconds, and an eighth in 14 seconds, and his owner, Mr. Green, thinks he will stand a preparation. In that event he will be started late this season.

It seems from latest reports that James Dustin was not taken out of the sulky at Detroit after the first heat which he lost with Agitato. He was too sick to handle the reins, and asked permission to be relieved, and, consent being given, John Dickerson was substituted.

At the Oakwood Park Stock Farm Mr. Boyd bred all his Cleveland Bay mares to the handsome thoroughbred Major Ban, and the progeny surpasses any coach horses ever bred in California. This farm will be the headquarters for horses of every class inside of three years.

Steinway, 2:25¾, was bred to fifteen mares early this spring and all are in foal. He looks far better than he has for years. As he has a five-acre paddock to exercise in, and is not driven on the road he walks, trots and plays around this inclosure like a three-year-old.

The A. C. Dietz sale of horses on Thursday of last week was reported a grand success. Thirty-four head of horses were disposed of at an aggregate of $1,800. The horses were all bred on the Ferndale stock farm in Venture county and were auctioned by Major Durfee at Santa Paula.

W. H. Walker is the owner of a yearling colt sired by Combination, which promises to develop into a speedy horse. The colt is being trained by Mr. Grimes, lately of Petaluma. Combination is also the sire of several other promising colts in this vicinity.—Cordelia News.

Sable Guy, by Sable Wilkes (3), 2:18, dam Linda Wilkes, by Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼, out of Atalanta, great broodmare, full sister to the great Beautiful Bells, has made a large season at the farm of John Stephens, Great Bend. He has trotted miles when in training at 2:20, and whenever started for a record will get a low down one.

The crop of youngsters by the champion Hackney stallion, Green's Rufus, that are to be seen at Mr. J. Parrott's Farm, San Mateo, is attracting the attention of horsemen. The majority of these stylish, perfect-formed colts and fillies are out of standard-bred trotting mares which Mr. Parrott purchased at the principal stock farms in this State.

Kentucky Union, 2:07¼, is distinguishing herself again this year, but in a very different manner than she did last. Last year she was ahead of the gang in nearly every start, and this year she is behind the flag in nearly every start. A change of pasture may make fat calves, but a change of drivers behind a trotter or pacer sometimes makes poor owners.

The Oregon-bred horse, Caryle Carne, won the 2:15 trot at Anaconda in the good time of 2:15½, defeating Chris Peterson, Antrima and others. McDowell has cancelled all his engagements in California, and will take him East this fall. Caryle Carne is the fastest representative of Hambletonian Mambrino, and it looks as though he would go in the 2:10 list this year.

Peter Van Valer of Hanford, Tulare county, undoubtedly owns the oldest horse now in Kings county, if not in California. The animal is thirty-seven years of age, and Mr. Van Valer has been in possession of the animal twenty-three years. Previous to that time the animal was owned by Mr. Van Valer's brother. George Slight is now driving the horse to his light-road wagon.

The fastest three-year-old trotting filly of the year is the Forest City Farm filly, Miss Della Fox, 2:14¼, by Patron, dam Jeanne, by Kentucky Prince; second dam, Suisun, 2:18½, by Electioneer; third dam, Susie, 2:26½, by George M. Patchen Jr. Although beaten in her race at Detroit, it was by older performers and the very creditable race she trotted that makes the daughter of Patron's chances for winning the Kentucky Futurity look very rosy.

One of the horses in training at Allen Farm is Elision, bay mare, four years old, by Arion, 2:07¾ (son of Electioneer, son of Green Mountain Maid), dam Elista, 2:20¾, daughter of Green Mountain Maid. She has trotted a mile on the poor half-mile track in 2:27, last quarter in 35½ seconds, and acts like a race mare. There are six Kremlins, three Lancelots and one Arion in Young's string at Allen Farm which can beat 2:30. Scores have been bred on the farm that will take records as soon as given an opportunity to do so.

The following fast performers have all come from the Oakwood Park Stock Farm: W. Wood, 2:07; Javelin, 2:08¼; Agitato, 2:09; Diablo, 2:09½; Cricket, 2:10; Al Gregor, 2:11; Elf, 2:11½; Free Coinage, 2:11¾; Cibolo, 2:13½; W. W. Foote, 2:15¼; Cæsar, 2:16¼; Ed Lafferty, 2:16½; Lena Holly, 2:17¼; Babe Marion, 2:17½, Allandora, 2:18½; Chas. Derby, 2:20. Palo Alto has only eleven in the 2:15 list, and this farm has eight in this inner circle, most of them pacers, however—a showing that very few stock farms can surpass.

There was no book betting at the Detroit blue ribbon meeting, only the auctions and mutuels being in use. Some of the prices paid have been away out of line, the most notable instance being in the first heat of the M. & M., when $5 tickets on Oratorio paid $123.50. Oratorio was second choice for the race, but there was so much money bet on Octavia that the above price was paid. Imagine a bookmaker laving 24 to 1 against a horse considered to have a fair chance! It is not likely that the average trotting horse bookmaker would lay that price against a horse with an artificial leg.

A large number of horses have been shipped during the past two weeks to the famous gold mines at Klondyke. They may make the journey overland after leaving Juneau during the summer, but in the winter the poor animals, if they are not killed to feed the dogs, will suffer intensely from split hoofs In that latitude with the thermometer at from 50 to 80 degrees below zero, the air being light and the snow dry and fleecy and feed scarce, horses will suffer more than their owners. The class of horses, however, that have been consigned to that region, can easily be spared at $40 per head.

The Directors of the Santa Clara Valley Agricultural Society held a meeting last Saturday afternoon. Those present were President Edward Topham, James W. Rea, William Boots, W. A. Parkhurst and C. K. Hostetter. On motion of Mr. Rea, the Secretary was instructed to publish the following purses for classes mentioned for the fair, to be held October 4th to 9th inclusive: Trotting purses—2:30 class, $400; 2:24 class, $400; 2:19 class, $500; 2:16 class, $500; 2:13 class, $500; 2:40 class, three-year-olds, $300; 2:40 class, two-year-olds, $200; 2:40 class, $400. Pacing purses—2:25 class, $400; 2:20 class, $400; 2:17 class, $500; three-year-olds, $300. Entries to close August 15, 1897.

Good looks do not always denote speed, as some might think. Probably the most ungainly looking animal seen at the Detroit meeting was Luxon, who won the 2:20 trot with such apparent ease. Luxon stands about 15.2 hands high, and is so thin that every rib can be counted at a hundred yards, and when he scores down with his head in the air no one would pick him for a winner; but he has the speed, and when Gus Macey drove him the first heat of his winning race in 2:11 it caused the greatest sensation of the meeting.—Western Horseman. [But those who bet $2 on him in the Paris Mutuels and drew down $437 each, claim Luxon is the handsomest piece of horseflesh on earth!—Ed. B. & S.]

The Williams Journal says: "There are some 146 horses entered here in harness events alone, and should the Breeders add a running list to the programme it is a question what will be done with the horses. Guess we will have to take our former secretary's advice to a man who was somewhat impatient, 'Turn the old thing loose.' Now, people, don't quietly sit down and wait for the Breeders to come and pour money into your lap. Wake up, keep talking, tell all your friends we are going to have the most successful meeting ever held in California, and prove to the Breeders that the town is at least appreciative and alive. Don't wait for the Secretary to come and give you a complimentary ticket (for you will wait in vain). Go over, pay your 50 cents and show yourself. In other words, 'smoke up,' you are all about out."

Wm. B. Fasig and Ed S. Hedges jointly bought the four-year-old bay colt Rodeo at one of their last winter's sales, paying for him $380. He proved good and supposing there would be a margin of profit they resold him at their last American Horse Exchange sale; he, for some inscrutible reason, only fetching $305, although Fasig said if he could not go in 2:23 the next day the buyer need not accept him. His new purchaser put him in Al Thomas' hands and within two weeks he stepped the fourth mile of a work out in 2:18. He is by Stamboul, dam Biscara, by Director; second dam Bicara; bears a close resemblance to Stam B. and was pronounced by Sam Gamble the best individual he ever saw by Stamboul. He bids fair to be the fastest of his celebrated sire's produce. [Biscara is now owned at Pierce Bros.' Santa Rosa Stock Farm. Ed. B. & S.]

Few men are so well posted as to events on both continents, especially those that relate to the horse, as Mr. W. E. D. Stokes, who is the Russian Government's commissioner in America for horses. He has traveled widely and is possessed of keen powers of observation as well as an ability to set forth clearly the conditions that fall under his view. In a recent letter to the editor of an Eastern contemporary, Mr. Stokes, who is home at present, thus throws a ray of light on the motocycle question that is troubling some of those who formerly gave attention to horsebreeding: "I have just got a long account from the other side regarding motor carriages. We had an idea here that it was that it was thought on the other side that they might supersede the horse, but there are not half as many used to-day as there were two years ago." Of course the horse has been wiped out of existence numberless times—on paper. Nothing so well suits the average contributor to "modern journalism" as to weave a story of fiction from a single strand of fact. Oftentimes they do not have even the "raw material" with which to work, but concoct startling stories of alleged fact from the nebulous dreams of would-be inventors. Much of the stuff written about "the horseless age" has found its way into print from such sources. Even if the cab horse should follow the street-car horse it would be all the better for horse-breeding, but at present there seems small change that "cabbie" will need to take out license as an engineer before soliciting fares.

THE SADDLE.

WM. MCGUIGAN refused Charley Patterson's offer of $6,000 for Bannockburn last week at Oakley.

FLEISCHMANN, conqueror of Ornament, was injured when a yearling and did not start as a two-year-old.

JOCKEY GOLDEN, who went up to Montana this season and piloted the Silver Stable horses, has been relesead.

THE winners at Anaconda last Wednesday were Argotine, Carryle Carne, Amazonian, Lena, J. M. B. and Emma Mack.

F. F. V., THE excellent three-year-old colt, met with an accident in his stall at Oakley last week, and it is doubtful if he will start again this year.

WE have just received quite a large consignment of Goodwin's Official Turf Guides, Volume 2, No. 1, 1897. All form-players should purchase them.

LITTLE CLAWSON again distinguished himself last Monday, riding two winners and three seconds at Aqueduct track, the winners being Double Quick and Medrica.

SORROW, of Barney Schreiber's stable, last Saturday, beat a fine field at St. Louis including Harry Duke and Gath, at six furlongs. Little Johnny Woods rode her.

W. M. MURRY'S Islington colt, Michael III., won a six-furlong owners' handicap at Brighton Beach last Saturday, and Premier, by Sir Modred, won at Brighton Beach the same day.

FLEISCHMANN pulled up very lame after the race for the Buckeye Stakes at Oakley, on Saturday, July 17th. The extent of the injury is not known, but is supposed to be only a wrench of the left front ankle.

HURLY BURLY, Joe Piggott up, won another race for Ed Corrigan last Saturday at Oakley, beating Lillian Belle and several other good ones. The big turfman also scored with Geyser, who won at seven furlongs.

LITTLE CLAWSON is riding in fine form at the far East. July 23d he piloted Haphazard and Wolhurst to victory, and was, besides, second on Double Quick and Passover. Lincoln II. beat Passover with 112 bounds up to the latter's 100.

OUR GERTIE, by Salvator—Columbine, won a half-mile race for two-year-olds at Harlem, July 20th, in 0:48½, carrying 107 pounds. She was in receipt of ten pounds from Miss Gussie and Dr. Sharp, second and third in the race.

W. MULKEY, of Missouri, seems to have a good sire in imp. Dochart, son of Statesman and Katrine. At St. Louis, July 19th, Rose d'Or and Joe Hart, by this horse, won for Mr. Mulkey at six and six and one-half furlongs respectively.

REY EL SANTA ANITA, now called Santa Anita, has been returned from England by Richard Croker, and will go into the stud at Santa Anita, "Lucky" Baldwin's famous Los Angeles farm, where he first saw the light. The horse had a hard voyage.

BILLY RANDALL will have his recent purchase, Salvation, "fired," then will give him a special "prep" for the coming meetings at Ingleside and Oakland. He now has in his string 'Ostler Joe, Salvation, St. Aignon, Salmera, New Moon and Greenback II.

TEN horses belonging to the late Barney Barnato were sold at Newmarket Heath, England, Tuesday, July 13th, bringing good prices. The top figure was $12,500, paid by Lord Marcus Beresford fer the chestnut horse Worcester, 7, by Saraband—Elegance, who is a very fair handicap horse.

C. K. CRELLIN, who owns the pacer Searchlight, is a new one in the ranks of thoroughbred-owners. He bought imp. Devil's Dream at the recent Daly sale for $535, and she won the Ravalli Stakes, $700 to the winner, besides $600 in bets, two days later. Frank Van Ness is training the Chittabob filly.

RED BOY, JR., "doped" by some scoundrel at Chinook, Mont., on the morning of July 5th, died July 21st near Big Sandy from the effects of the powerful drug which was given him in a feed of oats the day he was to run a match race. A stable companion, Snort, was in a critical condition at last accounts.

AT the Goodwood (Eng.) meeting last Tuesday, Mr. McCalmont's ch f Amphora won the Stewards' Cup, with the four-year-old bay colt Diakka, from the Lorillard stable, second. There were twenty-three starters. The Prince and Princess of Wales and other members of the royal family were present.

THE aged American-bred bay horse Don Alonzo, by Long Taw—Round Dance, won the Yorkshire Welter Handicap at Pontefract, England, July 8th, and changed hands, Mr. G. Machachlan purchasing him, and on the following day he captured the Innkeepers' Handicap for his new owner, and was bid up, but was retained for 170 guineas.

DR. J. D. NEET, Kindergarten Stud, Ky., has purchased of Messrs. Thompson & Bland, Indiana, imp. Likely, bay horse, foaled 1891, by Harvester, dam Katrina, by Blinkhoolie, out of Lady of the Lake, by King Tom, etc. Likely has been in the Ernespie Stud, Ky., of W. H. May, who leased him from Messrs. Thompson & Bland.

ED RYAN, of Los Angeles, now owns the good old Wildidle horse, Nomad, who won thirteen races and $13,370 as a three-year-old for M. F. Dwyer. The horse is in training again, and taking his work nicely. Besides, Mr. Ryan has Clatawa, by imp. Conveth—Lillie Dale by Bachelor and two two-year-olds, one by Gano—Genevieve, the other a sister to Clatawa.

FIRST BORN was again defeated at St. Louis last Monday, Whirmantline, a 30 to 1 shot, winning, First Born finishing second; track heavy. Greyhurst, another of the Schreiber horses, on odds on favorite, was defeated by Damocles in a seven-furlong race. Shield Beaver, of Frank Phillips' string, 2 to 1, won at six furlongs, beating Addie Buchanan and others.

ONE of the best jockeys America ever knew—Henry Griffin—is to bid adieu to the saddle. He has grown so heavy of late that it is impossible for him to get down to within pounds of the weight that jockeys are expected to scale. Griffin has no doubt saved considerable of his earnings during the past five or six years, so that he may have sufficient capital to follow in the footsteps of McCormick, McLaughlin, Bergen and Garrison and become an owner and trainer.

W. M. MURRY has sold to Charley Dwyer the good colt Michael III., by imp. Islington—Jessie C, by Bishop. The consideration was not made public, but as Murry refused $2,500 for him here last spring, $3,000 was not far from the mark. It would not surprise us to hear that "the Duke" had one "up his sleeve" that could beat Michael, good colt as he is. Later—It is learned that the price paid for the youngster was $4,000 and $500 additional when he won, which was last Saturday.

BEGINNING to-day, all badges sold at the gate at Brighton Beach are to be numbered. This is to insure the identification of bettors in the ring. Hereafter, when a man who is unknown to a bookmaker appears to put down his wager, his badge number, as well as his name, will be taken. In paying off debts the badge must be produced. Numerous sharpers have obtained large sums of money by giving the names of bettors, having overheard them when they were given to the bookmaker.—N. Y. Com. Advertiser, July 17th.

EASTERN critics appear to think that Senator Fleischmann secured a good boy when he signed Jockey Henry Skeets Martin. The boy rode many a winner in California last winter and did fairly well for David Gideon. But that owner appears to be hard to satisfy in the matter of riders, and because Martin did not ride a race or two up to his expectations he let him go. Charley Thorpe is gaining friends every day by his improved work, but Jockey Joe Scherrer, after starting out like a winner, fell by the wayside.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

FOR the week ending July 10th Kendal, by Bend Or, out of Windermere, continued to head the list of winning sires in England, with a total of $96,895 to his credit. Thanks to the big win of Velasquez in the Princess of Wales Stakes and Dony's success in the Fulburne Stakes, Donovan, by Galopin, out of Mowerina, occupies second position with a total of $52,220. Few other changes of importance have taken place, except in that of The Sailor Prince, whose son Diakka landed the Duchess of York Stakes, worth $4,375, which makes the total of his sire $14,120.

THE three-year-old bay colt Orestes, by imp. Ormonde, out of imp. Kissing Crust, the property of Mr. W. O'B. Macdoncugh, picked up a nail a few days prior to the Realization. On Saturday symptoms of tetanus appeared, and on Wednesday the colt died from the disease. Great things were expected by Mr. Macdonough and Western turfmen of the son of Ormonde at one time, but of late he had disappointed expectations, though showing himself a much improved horse this season. Orestes was a remarkably handsome and powerful colt, and should have done well in the stud.—N. Y. Spirit of the Times, July 24th.

AT a meeting of the American Turf Congress at Cincinnati on July 21st it was ordered that after August 1st there shall be no foreign book on any track. If one be run, all horses, jockeys, owners, trainers and officials participating in such violation shall be declared outlawed. No race track at a city of 500,000 inhabitants shall give less than five daily purses of not less than $400 each. Cities of from 200,000 to 500,000 shall give five purses of not less than $300 each. This rule also goes into effect August 1st. Judge M. Lewis Clark of the Harlem track was given additional time to dissolve the injunctions secured against his track.

THE SINNER, a thoroughbred racer, for which D. C. Brown recently paid $600, ran away last Tuesday and was so badly injured that it was necessary to shoot the animal. It parted company with the rider at the Homestead and ran toward town at a lively gait. In turning into Baldwin avenue it collided with a telephone pole, badly fracturing a hind leg. The cries of the poor brute were pitiful, but its misery was soon ended by a well-directed bullet.—San Mateo Leader, July 17th. The Sinner was by imp. St. Andrew—Viola, and won three good races here last winter and spring, defeating some of the crack sprinters. He was quite erratic, and got H. H. Hunn into trouble by his in-and-out running. W. S. Hobart owned the colt.

CHARLES COCHRAN, of Denver, is probably the oldest jockey in the United States. He was riding fifty-three years ago. He was employed by Douglas Brown, of Woodford county, Kentucky, who was a prominent sporting man in that State half a century ago. Brown had a race track of his own near Versailles and Cochran rode his mare Mavis, who was the dam of Dolly Carter, the dam of Joe Daniels, Miss Carter, Phœnix Belle and Australind Cochran also rode the great race mare Motto, who was foaled in 1839. She was by Barefoot, who won the St. Leger in 1823, out of Lady Tompkins by American Eclipse. Mr. Cochran is full of information concerning such horses as Reel, Doubloon, Margaret Wood, Childe Harold, Magnolia, Peytona and others of that time.—Denver Field and Farm.

THERE was plenty of excitement at the Aqueduct (N. Y.), track last Monday. In the first place, on account of differences with the management, the bookmakers belonging to the Metropolitan Turf Association refused to go on, and thirty-one who were on the dead line at the other tracks took their places Then, in the fourth race, there was a bad start, which was hooted and hissed by the spectators. Rey del Tierra was the favorite. On the second break the starter sent them away with the favorite standing absolutely still at the post and Loch Glynn practically left. Manasses went to the front when the flag fell, but at the stretch Burlesque forged ahead and won handily in 1:43. Then the trainer of Rey del Tierra sent him over the track against time, and he covered the distance in 1:42, amid cheers.

THE Westchester Racing Association now has open the Juvenile ($5,000), The Fashion ($3,000) and The Eclipse (10,000), to be run at the spring meeting, 1898; The Nursery ($5,000), to be run at the fall meeting of 1898; The Withers ($5,000) and The Ladies $3,000), for three-year-olds in 1899; then there is the thirty-third renewal of the Belmont (foals of 1896) and the thirty-fourth renewal of the Belmont $5,000 added), for foals of 1897. The conditions are exceedingly liberal in all, and entries close with H. G. Crickmore, Clerk of the Course, Room 4, 173 Fifth avenue, New York, August 16, 1897. We have a few of the entry blanks, and will have the advertisement in our next issue. The increase in the value of many of these stakes speaks volumes for the management of The Jockey Club, under whose auspices these events are to be run.

CALLED into the stand at St. Louis last week to explain the sudden improvement of J. M. B., on whom a great killing was made, the owner declared the horse was "short" in his first race there. The presiding judge then read a lecture on the impropriety of running horses when not in condition, but as there is no rule to prevent such things, the official had to let go at a lecture. The chances are that until trainers serve a regular apprenticeship at their "trade" and are declared thoroughly competent by a board capable of passing on such matters horses will be run "short" and then come out and be "long" on speed and staying qualities. The trouble in this country is that we have too many amateurs in the ranks of "trainers," two many "blacksmiths" that will never learn how to fit horses for races, also a large number claiming to be "green" who are exceedingly "ripe"—in skullduggery.

THE trouble between the Harlem track (where Col. M. Lewis Clark presides) and the American Turf Congress is being watched with interest all over the country, especially after the stormy Turf Congress meeting, where Col. Clark came within an ace of shooting Ed. Corrigan over the alleged breaking of the latter's contract to lease Hawthorne track to the Harlem folks for four months or longer. President Condon, of Harlem, refuses to make any concessions to the Turf Congress people and threatens to join The Jockey Club, of which August Belmont is President. Col. Clark framed most of the Turf Congress laws and was the real founder of the organization. The foreign book edict of the Congress is the principal rock upon which the Harlem association splits, and it also does not fancy the new rule grading the size of the purses according to the size of the city near which tracks are situated.

THE California racing firm of Atkin & Lottridge were on the ragged edge of trouble last week at Brighton Beach. They started Manchester on a muddy track and at the finish he was not within telephone distance of the winner. Several days later the Wallace cast-off was entered again and defeated Sapelo after a sharp struggle by a neck, at the lucrative price of 15 to 1. The Brighton stewards sent for the owners and inquired about the horse's previous race, and were informed that his reversal of form was due to the difference in the condition of the track; whereupon the officials instructed the Californians not to start Manchester again on a muddy track. This is the kind of stewardship that racing needs. The stewards have a right to say when a horse shall be run, and how he shall be run, and a liberal use of their prerogative would tend much to the elevation of the turf, which has of late years been growing in disrepute. Later Manchester was sold to J. Colt for $1,500, and will be put over the sticks.

JOCKEYS ELLIS and Dorsey were successful in securing injunctions giving them opportunities of earning a livelihood as jockeys. Other boys who have been ruled off the turf for various misdemeanors are using the same methods. The latest to seek recognition on the turf through the courts is Jockey "Jerry" Chorn, one of the best lightweight riders in the West. Chorn has been on the ground ever since the sensational Chinaman Little Pete turf scandal in San Francisco, over a year ago, when he, Heinrichs and Chevalier were ruled off for life for alleged crooked riding. Chorn is a resident of Chicago, and has been loafing about the city for some time. He has been a constant visitor at the tracks in this vicinity, and from watching the boys galloping the horses and indulging in red-hot finishes in the races proper, the old feeling of sitting astride of a winner came over him. Knowing, however, that he was a "dead one," he followed in the footsteps of Jockeys Ellis and Dorsey, and yesterday filed an injunction compelling the Harlem Jockey Club to permit him to ride, or, as he put it, to give him a chance to earn his bread and butter.—Chicago Inter Ocean, July 18th.

THOROUGHBRED horses have been known to live thirty or more years, but for a mare the palm for longevity must be awarded to the New Zealand stud matron Althea, by Mæonides, dam Alice Gray (grandam of Yattendon), by Rous' Emigrant. She was foaled in 1845, produced a filly (Young Althea, by Ake Ake) in 1870, when twenty-five years old, and died in 1878, aged thirty-three years. American Eclipse died at the age of thirty-three years and over two months. Bonnie Scotland was twenty-seven years old when he died. Imp. Diomed was thirty-one years of when he was put under the turf. Imp. Glencoe was twenty-six at his death, Sir Archy twenty-eight, Lexington twenty-five, imp. Leamington the same. Marion, by Malcolm, is still alive at twenty-six years of age, imp. Second Hand (dam of Exile) died at twenty-seven, Picayune, by Medoc, twenty-six (had a foal when twenty-four), imp. Emilia (dam of Australian and Ulrica) thirty-two years old (the closest approach to Althea), the Australian mare Fairy Queen by Prince William had a foal at twenty-five years of age, and supposed to be in foal at twenty-six, Fantone by Tros had a bay colt when twenty-five years of age, Ada Cheatham had a foal at twenty-five years and died at twenty-six, Blue Bonnet was twenty-seven when she died, Bonnets O'Blue thirty, Brenna (dam of Strathmore, Kinkead and Brademante) lived to be twenty-eight years old and had a foal by Long Taw when twenty-five years of age, Canary Bird (dam of Harry Bassett) had a foal at twenty-five, Pastille by Æther foaled a colt by John Bull when she was twenty-five years old, Ada by St. Aubia was of the same age when she had a foal in New Zealand. Sylvia (dam of Martini Henry, Goldsbrough, Robin Hood, etc.), had a foal in Australia when twenty-six years of age and died at twenty-eight, while Ecliptic, by Eclipse, in this country, had a foal at twenty-six. Nina, by Boston, dam of Ecliptic, Planet, etc., foaled Algeria in 1875, when twenty-seven years old, and lived four years longer. She holds the record for producing, we believe.

The Circuit pens To-day.

The time has arrived for every friend and patron of light harness races in California to show by his presence at the Oakland track that he or she wishes to see this class of racing supported. The Pacfiic Coast Trotting Horse Breeders' Association is not leaving a stone unturned to have the best horses at the track and has engaged the best talent procurable to conduct the meeting.

For the past two weeks trotters and pacers from all parts of the Pacific Coast have been arriving, and we venture to assert that a better lot never occupied stalls at any track in California since trotting races were contested. New horses, new owners, and new drivers are there, and many a surprise is in store for those who, under the disguise of being known as members of the "talent," are sure they have selected the ones they know must win.

The interest in this meeting is increasing daily, and scores of men have watched the workouts over the smooth track. The visiting horsemen are delighted with the course, the stables and appointments. The weather promises to be all the most fastidious could desire, and it is earnestly hoped that a large delegation from the country will be present each day to add to the attendance from Oakland, San Francisco and vicinity. As the races do not begin until 2 o'clock each day, visitors either on business or pleasure will have plenty of leisure time to do as they desire.

The programme of the week's races appears in another part of this journal, and as this meeting has been the theme of all horsemen and their friends for the past two months, it is hoped that a good attendance will gladden the hearts of the self-sacrificing directors and members of this association, and show to the people of California, as well as all other portions of the United States, that for fine horses, fast horses, well-trained horses and horses that everyone in the world wants, California leads all other States in the Union. Come and bring your friends, and thus encourage the men who are doing so much to keep one of California's greatest industries in the very front rank. They need your presence to-day and every day during the races. You want to see first-class, exciting contests between the best horses in California. Now is your opportunity! Come!

GOV. JIMBUDD, according to some newspaper writers, has secured a new partner to prepare and train him for the Senatorship of this great State. He has Old Junk Martin Kelly, of stolen fire engine fame, the convicted burglar, Dave Smith, who looted his old rival's (Morris M. Estee) residence previous to election, and Sam Rainey against whom many indictments were filed a few years ago. It's a nice combination to draw to, and we are just as proud of Jimmy de Budd as ever. The leading evening journal of California, "The Bulletin," has been following the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN'S example in showing up this scheming fakir (Jimbudd) in his true light, and the farmers and stock breeders of California are anxiously waiting to see if this apparent friend of convicts will DARE run for office again!

The Paris Mutuel.

The bookmaker, his clerks and a few plungers may sneer at the mutuel system of wagering money on horse races and declare that it is "a step backward," "too slow," etc., but facts will not bear them out in their claims. It is the "fastest" system as yet devised, for by it a good operator can take in and pay out more money in a given time than by any plan yet originated. If the bookmaker says "nay," let him back his assertion with coin, for we know a man who says he will bet them to a standstill that we are right. By this we mean, handling the wagers of the ordinary run of race-players, the large with the small. It stands to reason that a mutuel ticket-seller can call four to five wagers and hand the tickets out while a bookmaker calls a bet and waits for the name of the horse and amounts to be written on a ticket and recorded on a sheet. All the mutuel ticket-seller has to do is to call the horse's name and number of tickets, and while he is calling take the tickets out of their receptacles right in front of him and hand them to the purchaser. In "paying off" the mutuel cashier fairly distances the bookmaker, who has to hunt for the name of the horse and the number of the ticket on the sheet, and when he has found it tear the corner off the winning ticket and make a ring around the number on the sheet, denoting that it has been paid. A mutuel cashier has it figured up how much one, two or two hundred tickets should bring to the man handing in the pasteboards, and can probably pay out four times as much as the book cashier in a given time.

Safeguards can be thrown about the mutuel system, however, which will make speculators absolutely certain of getting "a square deal." There is a wire running from the judges'stand to the betting ring at all well-appointed race courses, and when the presiding judge presses a button this rings a bell in the betting ring. It is a signal to cease betting. There could be two of these wires leading from the judges stand, one used as a warning bell, the other releasing a wire screen, which would cover all the boxes, making it impossible for an operator to "ring up" tickets insuring complete fairness. Tickets should be sold on every horse in a race, straight and place. An excellent suggestion was made the other day by a gentleman who has made a study of the different plans for wagering money. This is to have it understood that when betting is stopped and no tickets have been sold on one or more horses, the club under whose auspices the racing is given be allowed to purchase one ticket on the despised horse or horses, and if one of these proves victorious the amount thus won, less the sum required to purchase the ticket, goes to the owner of the horse winning that particular race. Should the "outsider" not win the club is to stand the loss. This would certainly appeal to the owners of the despised ones and there would be an actual winner in every race, no paying off on the second horse as a winner, as is often done at present. The racing club should also appoint as ring superintendent a man in whom the public had every confidence, and any inattention or irregularity of an employe would come under the notice of that official, who would see that it did not occur again. Then, with the posting overhead (in plain view of race-goers), in large figures, of the amounts paid on the various winning tickets, the comfort of the supporters of the sport looked after in every way, the mutuel plan would become immensely popular with the general public and the owners as well. The great loophole for fraud would be sealed tightly, racing purified in short order, and the owner who delighted in "dividing the sheet" with unscrupulous bookmakers would, perforce, have to deal honestly, for the standing reward for rascality, "running a dead one," would be but an unpleasant memory.

That there is a perfect tidal wave of discontent threatening the bookmaker and his methods is manifest to everyone who reads. The following anent the recent Detroit meeting is from THE HORSEMAN, Chicago's famous journal devoted to the man's best friend, and shows how well the Paris mutuel system of betting was regarded at the blue ribbon meeting of the grand circuit:

BOOKMAKERS OR MUTUELS.

At the blue ribbon meeting last week no bookmakers were in line, their absence being explained by the local press by the statement that the club demanded a price of seven hundred and fifty dollars to draw in, and the penciling fraternity was not willing to disgorge that proportion of its profits. In the bookmakers' stead were substituted mutuel machines, and the public, making its own odds, gained the greater satisfaction. Now, whether the Detroit Driving Club had a difference that could not be bridged over with the bookies, or whether it simply put in the mutuel machines of its own volition as an experiment, it matters not a whit; the fact remains that it made one tremendously long step in advance when it barred booking on heats. Betting in the books on heats has been one great incentive to jobbery among the drivers. Say, for the nonce, that in a certain race one horse has a very much better chance to win than the rest. He is possibly a one-to-ten shot in the betting, and it is whispered in the penciller's ear that he will not be driven for the first heat. Immediately the odds begin to lengthen ominously, and before very long even money or more, say seven to five, is on the slate. The dear people tumble over each other to get a little of the sure money, and make a present of their money to the accommodating bookmaker. Such things have been done often, as everybody knows, but they cannot be done with the mutuel machines. The public makes its own odds with them, and no owner can lay off a couple of thousand dollars against any horse. If any one desires to win some money on the heat, he cannot do it by laying the odds against a horse that is not to be driven for the heat. He must pick out the actual winner and buy his ticket bearing the winner's name. Then, when the tickets are low-priced, as they naturally would be in a case such as the one under consideration, no man will care to take the bother and risk incident to betting a large amount of money in a mutuel pool machine. A bookmaker makes such odds as he pleases, the figures being altogether of his own choosing. With the mutuels the public makes its own favorites and its own odds, the whole amount bet going to the lucky speculators, less the slight percentage retained to man the machine. All the money bet stays in the pockets of the many instead of the most of it going into the cash box of the one. Other associations might well follow the example set.

"Domino," one of the cleverest writers of the West, has very decided opinions about betting. In a recent article in the Cincinnati Times Star, he says:

"It is a fact that this year there is but one locality in the West in which racing is prospering—and that is on what is called the Montana circuit. There the bookmaker and his deceptive chalk is barred; there is no profit in losing, and in a sparsely settled country the sport flourishes to a degree only known locally in years gone by, before the tracks became festered by the unhealthy gambling spirit. On the Montana circuit only the mutuels are allowed. In 42 days' racing last year there were handled $1,615,220, and average of $40,380. At 5 per cent. the profit to the associations in the circuit from the mutuels was over $2,000 a day, equal to the revenue from 20 bookmakers. At no track in the West last year was the average better than 15 books, and the bulk of them association books. It was the fact that the mutuels bar fraud, by preventing a man benefiting by fraud, that has caused racing to prosper in Montana. Through the aid of the mutuels the public of the sparsely settled mining districts of the West have learned that the sport is through necessity on 'the square,' and they patronize it to an extent that is apparently incredible. If local tracks want to prosper they must abolish the ring and substitute the mutuels. The latter have shown they can do the work. There can be no possibility of fraud and the sport will prosper again. It is not probable this will be done now, but the day will come when, if the tracks desire to save the money already invested, they will be forced to it. There are at present too many racing angles, so-called, to permit racing under present conditions to be looked on by the public as a 'game' instead of sport. But more anon."

Then the Anaconda Standard follows with:

"It has been many a day since any of the local rings handled an average of $40,000 a day. It is a safe bet that it has been a long time since $50,000 has been bet in the local rings on one race. Yet under the mutuels—with a knowledge that fraudulent racing is impossible—in the little town of Anaconda, Mont., such is the case. It was in the Copper City handicap, won by Marcus Daly's Senator Bland, on July 5th, that over $50,000 was bet on one race. Despite the fact that Senator Blaud is owned by Daly, whose mines are at Butte, had been trained at the track and worked phenomenally fast, it was a great betting affair. Entitled to be an odds-on favorite, when the mutuels were paid Senator Bland $5 tickets called for $9.50, or odds of 9 to 10. This certainly answers the plea that big money cannot be bet in the mutuels. Why one of the local rings would be dumbfounded if $50,000 was bet on one race. And as to odds on the same day, one of the winners paid $204.45, nearly 50 to 1."

The above are certainly very strong arguments against the penciler and in favor of the mutuel system, and the betting and odds on the Senator Bland–'Ostler Joe race knocks the one prop from under the bookmaker and his followers, and their cry, "You can't get your money on," necessarily becomes fainter and fainter.

The Stockton Races.

The Stockton Driving Club is a live organization, and the way it is booming its great meeting, which is to follow the State Fair, is proof positive they will make it a grand success. Everyone is talking about the horses at the track and their chances for winning, while the glad news that a meeting will be held there has brought responses from horsemen from all parts of California. The following races and purses are offered and entries will close to-morrow, August 1st, but as this is a legal holiday entries made out and sent in on the day following, Monday, 2d, will be considered valid: 2:40 class, trotting, purse $400; 2:30 class, trotting, purse $400; 2:27 class, trotting, purse $400; 2:30 class, pacing, heat dashes, purse $400; 2:25 class, pacing, purse $400, and all the running stakes advertised in our business columns.

The track will be placed in splendid condition. Under the auspices of this thriving Club the very latest and best methods will be adopted to make the course fast and smooth. Everyone is talking about the meeting, and as a large number of horses now in Montana will no doubt be there to participate, we can look for many exciting contests. Do not forget to send in your entries to this great meeting at once. THIS IS THE LAST NOTICE! Every horse that is entered at the Sacramento State Fair should be there.

THE conditions to the various stakes to be offered by the C. J. C. are about completed, and as the club saw fit to adopt the suggestion of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN and start early to advertise these events liberally throughout the country, it is safe to predict a long entry list, containing the names of horses entered by turfmen who have never raced in the land of gold and sunshine, as well as those who have visited the Coast in recent years. The P. C. J. C. will shortly follow in the wake of its rival, and several brand-new kinds of races are promised. The big California racing clubs will undoubtedly find that it pays them well to begin advertising early in the season and keep it up for months. The sending of a large string of racers to this State by such a breeder and turfman as Marcus Daly will be but the precurser of an exodus of turf notabilities from other States to the Golden State. The result will be a marked improvement in our racing, which has, however, been far above the average, and, taken all in all, creditable to the organizations under whose auspices it was given.

Retirement of S. B. Whitehead.

There is not one among our thousands of readers who will not read with regret that S. B. Whitehead, of the well-known firm of S. B. Whitehead & Co., poolsellers and livestock auctioneers, has retired from business in favor of J. N. Killip.

For over twenty-five years he has been closely identified with the business, and has been prominent on all the principal racetracks west of the Missouri River. His reputation for honesty and uprightness is world-wide, and his strict business methods have made thousands of friends for him everywhere he has been. He inaugurated the idea of not wagering nor allowing one of his employees to do so during the time he had any work to do. His familiar face and clear, ringing voice will be missed, but it must be with feelings of gratification and pride he can look back over his long and honorable career and say he never discharged an employee who did not get every dollar owing him; he never failed to pay a winning pool ticket, and wherever he has officiated his services were in demand thereafter. In fact, there are few men in the business who made as many friends and as few enemies (even the latter say he has always been "square,") as Mr. Whitehead, and we earnestly hope that some day in the near future he will once more wield the baton he has for the present laid down.

The Last Call.

While the races are in progress at the Oakland track to-day a number of horsemen may become so excited as to forget that entries for the California State Fair for the following races will close to-day: Trotting, 2:40 class, purse $600; trotting, 2:24 class, purse $600; trotting, 2:30 class, purse $600, and pacing, 2:20 class, purse $600. Entries for the eight running stakes will also close to-day.

There should be no excuse for horse owners in regard to the filling of blanks and forwarding the same to Secretary Edwin F. Smith, as the blanks may be obtained at the Secretary's office at the Oakland track, or from any of the members of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN staff.

NOW THAT The Jockey Club has taken the lead and increased its scale of weights we would like to impress upon programme-makers the importance of giving NO UNDER-THE-SCALE RACES. If they do all in their power to raise the scale instead of lowering it they will put the "weeds" who can only win with a featherweight (generally a pin-head) on their backs into the business of pulling light carriages or short street-cars. We will then see a stronger breed of race horses and more competent jockeys, for riders will not be forced to ruin their health in order to get down to the low weights that horses have been carrying in this country for years, will be stronger in mind and body and be enabled to follow their calling for a much longer period, perfecting themselves in their art, something well-nigh impossible in these days, under the old "feather" scale. Handicappers, too, should use every exertion to make the magnates raise the scale materially, for the owners would then not scratch their horses and go in search of the weight-fixer with a gatling gun if he placed over 125 lbs.on his crackerjack. The abuse-taker-in-chief of race courses could "bring horses together" at the finish, furnishing sport exciting in the extreme, and with better sport would come an increased attendance and necessarily greater gate receipts. Therefore, let us hope for a speedy raising of the scale all over the country and the absence from race programmes of all under-the-scale events.

WE would very much like to see our big California racing clubs institute a great sires' produce stakes, mares' produce stakes for three-years-olds, some events exclusively for four-year-olds, many more filly and mare stakes, one or more for geldings and an International Champion Race (to be run early in November of each year), two miles, weight for age, with ten pounds allowed animals bred in the Colonies (up to five years of age), five pounds allowed animals foaled on the Eastern Hemisphere, the added money sufficient to act as a magnet upon the owners of the best horses in the world. We do not believe in racing two-year-olds as much as is the custom at present, and with the idea of improving the breed, making the racer sturdier and longer-lived, would urge racing associations to give fewer purses and stakes for racers of tender age and more for three-year-olds, four-year-olds and upward. This, in our opinion, would accomplish what we wish to see.

ATTENTION is called to the advertisement of the San Jose's race meeting, an extended notice of which will appear in our next issue.

ON Wednesday, August 11th, Messrs. Killip & Co., the live stock auctioneers, will sell at public auction at their salesyard a choice lot of fine trotting-bred roadsters, consisting of geldings and mares by such sires as Electricity, 2:17¾; Mambrino Boy, Alcona Jr., 2:19; Echo Royal, Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼; Steinway, 2:25¾; Sterling, Alect, 2:26; Danger, Altamont, Young Kisbar, etc., out of well-bred mares. Besides these, there will be a number of draft horses sold.

ENTRIES to the State Fair meeting running stakes close at 12 o'clock to-night. Address your entries to Edwin F. Smith, Secretary State Agricultural Society, Sacramento, Cal.

Domino Dead.

Domino, the best two-year-old of 1893, a record-breaker with big weight up, the largest-winning American thoroughbred, with over $203,000 to his credit, pride of the heart of the man that bred him (Major B. G. Thomas, of Lexington, Ky), died at James R. Keene's Castleton stud, of meningitis, last Thursday. Six veterinarians did their utmost to save the great, beautiful and game black horse, but their efforts availed naught. James R. Keene bought Domino as a yearling for $3,500, and the next year the handsome son of Himyar and Mamie Grey, by Enquirer, won eight of his nine races and ran a dead heat in the remaining race. The horse who has just passed away holds the world's record for six furlongs, running the distance when a two-year-old in 1:09, carrying 128 pounds. Following is his record in a concise form:

DOMINO'S RECORD.

	Times Started	Races Won	Times 2d	Times 3d	Times Unpl.	Am't Won
2 years	9	9	0	0	0	$179,640
3 years	8	6	0	0	2	19,150
4 years	9	5	2	0	2	4,545
Totals	26	20	2	0	4	$203,335

Domino had four crosses of Lexington, five of Boston, his sire, and traced three times to the famous mare, imp. Gallopade, dam of Reel, Fandango and other celebrities. His best performances were his win of The Futurity with 130 lbs. up in 1:12 4 5; the six furlongs in 1:09 with 128 lbs; his dead heat with Henry of Navarre at a mile and a furlong in 1:55½ (122 lbs.); six furlongs in 1:13¾ over a circular track (116 lbs. up); mile in 1:39 2-5 with 112 lbs. (weight for age) this being a record for a three-year-old; beaten a head with 133 lbs. up by Butterflies(3,109 lbs.)in 1:09 4-5,Futurity course, and ran a mile in 1:40 with 122 lbs. up when a three-year-old. He was a dead game horse, but did not fancy a long route,as his races after he was two years of age proved. He went to the stud young, and there will be two crops of his colts and fillies. With such a turf reputation behind him, Domino was easily worth $75,000 as a sire, and lovers of a good racer all over the world will hear of the great black horse's death with feelings of sorrow.

HOOF-BEATS.

THE winners at Butte, Mont., last Wednesday were Mary B., Argotine, Belle Dennit, Mollie R., Leora (half-mile in 0:48) and Tammany.

AN owner named N. Dyment started three horses at Windsor, Ont., July 24th, and all won. They were Flying Bess, The Duchess and Rosebery, by different sires. Songer was the rider.

R. CROKER'S Americus ran second to Lord Wolverton's Ugly for the Singleton Plate last Thursday at the Goodwood (Eng.) meeting.

Imp. Czarina, by Monmouth (brother to Chester) from imp. Zara, by Marvelous, has a yearling bay colt by imp. Friar Tuck. The half-sister to Chartreuse is owned by J. S. Gibson of Colusa county, Cal.

THE frequent winner Quarterstaff (by imp. Friar Tuck-Sister to Ruth Ryan) is now owned by C. F. Elmer, of Mono county, Cal. Mr. Elmer has several mares by Winnemucca that he will mate with Quarterstaff.

W. G. STEVENS' ch c Gluten won the Goodwood Stakes at Goodwood (Eng.) meeting last Wednesday, W. Newton's Eclipse second, the Prince of Wales' Gentil third. Seven ran the distance—two and one-half miles.

THE Butte winners on Thursday were Caryle Carne, Argoreat, Dr. McAllister, Montallade, Alcatraz and Plumeria. Jockey H. Brown was seriously injured by Shot Silk falling, and the filly will be of no account hereafter as a racer.

ZAMBRO accidently hit all of his knees in his first work at the Oakland track, and it was thought he would not be able to start in the races there, but Dr. Stimpson was called to attend him immediately and has brought it out all right, so he is again working well.

FLYING DUTCHMAN and Ecstaca, of Pat Dunne's string, ran one-two in a mile and a sixteenth race at Saratoga last Thursday, the former ridden by Willie Martin, who has apparently secured a Jockey Club license. Dunne's Dacien won the last race, five furlongs.

WILLARD STIMSON'S very promising Diablo colt has gone wrong in one of his legs, and as Mr. S. values him very highly,he will take no chances of injuring him permanently and will have him fired by Dr. Stimpson, the Oakland veterinarian, and let up for the season.

THE judges on the different race tracks in this country will evidently be pleased to hear of the death of Tarantum. This four-year-old filly has been used as a "ringer" by certain Detroiters for a number of years, but to their sorrow an attack of colic carried her off recently at Detroit. Tarantum was run at Newport as Miori; at St. Asaph as Wednesday, and at Ideal Park as Fantine.

Horse Colic.

The "American Farmer's" horse book classifies colic in its two stages as cramp colic and wind colic, the latter often being an outgrowth of the former, by the evolution of gases from the undigested food. To relieve the cramps is the only object sought in the treatment of the former. The medicine combines an anti spasmodic drug with a laxative. The two following formulas are given, either may be used in one dose, and the dose repeated in half an hour, if thought necessary: First, tincture of opium, one ounce; sulphuric ether, one ounce; water or oil, one pint. After recovery, these should be followed by a purgative pill made thus: Powdered aloes, one-half ounce; calomel, one drachm; vaseline, lard or water sufficient to mix.

Overloading the stomach with coarse or otherwise unsuitable food is quite liable to result in wind colic. The horse's stomach is small compared with that of the cow, and its feed should be accordingly concentrated; much more grain in in proportion to fodder is required by the one than the other. Another source of colic is giving a horse freely of water just after eating grain, by which much of the feed is washed out of the stomach in an undigested state and ferments in the intestines. The treatment for wind colic, in addition to relieving the spasm, neutralizes the gases. Two formulas are also given in this case, to be repeated, as before, when necessary, each constituting one dose:

First,one ounce each of tinctures of opium and oil of turpentine; linseed oil, one pint; mix. Second, extract of belladonna, one drachm; aromatic spirits of ammonia, one ounce; linseed oil, one pint. Using a funnel and hose, the bowels should be washed out by an injection of warm soapsuds. Hot application to the belly of flannel, rubbing with mustard and water or turpentine may prove beneficial. Three to five grains of sulphate of morphia injected with a syringe beneath the loose skin of the neck brings relief. Worms may cause colic, if there is reason to believe that a horse is affected with worms, and it should be immediately treated for their destruction. Careful preventive measures and prompt applications of effective remedies are the most that can be done for animals subject to colic. It would seem that constitutionally the parts affected are so sensitive as to respond painfully to the slightest unusual friction brought to bear upon them.

White Topaz.

Beautiful stones to be seen at THE DIAMOND PALACE. Every day in the week and every hour in the day, one can see crowds around the show windows of "The Chicago Diamond Palace." The cause of it all is the now widely known White Topaz. White Topaz or carbonated diamonds have come to be recognized as the nearest thing on earth to Genuine Diamonds; so near indeed is it that the proprietors of THE DIAMOND PALACE do not hesitate to place real diamonds in their windows amidst their display of White Topaz and allow the public to pick them out at the selling price of the Topaz.

The latter stones have all the lovely brilliancy of the diamonds, sparkling steadily and with wonderful fire. The thousands of these stones in the windows form one of the most gorgeous displays, and has proven an attraction which is one of the features of Chicago.

In order to find out the advertising medium best suited to their business, this enterprising concern offers to send a genuine White Topaz to all those who will cut out and send them their advertisement which appears elsewhere in this paper, together with 25 cents in stamps.

THE DIAMOND PALACE, like all successful institutions, has many imitators who endeavor to sell cheap rhinestones and other pastes, claiming they are Topaz. We caution the public to be careful, as THE DIAMOND PALACE, American Express Bldg., Chicago, are the sole importers of this stone.

DR. E. F. MCLEAN, one of the best-known turfmen in America, died of heart disease at the Oakley track last Thursday. His death was undoubtedly caused by excitement at the close finish in the stake race won by his filly, Taluca, who was "run up" by John Huffman to $3,000. The last race of the day was declared off on account of the death of the turfman, also the races of Friday and Saturday. The deceased was fifty-five years of age, and has been identified with racing for fifteen years. He left a family. Charles F. McLean, who went to Paris for the Oakley Club to see the workings of the mutuel, was, we believe, a nephew and stepson of the deceased turfman.

A. K. C. vs. C. K. C.

The special committee appointed to negotiate with the Canadian Kennel Club for closer relations between the two bodies, submitted its report, and the following articles of agreement accepted by the Canadian Kennel Club were approved and duly confirmed:

Articles of agreement entered into this 17th day of July, 1897, between the American Kennel Club and the Canadian Kennel Club.

ARTICLE I.

The Executive Committee of the Canadian Kennel Club shall be the Canadian Advisory Board of the American Kennel Club, and shall conduct all business in the territory under its jurisdiction, as hereinafter provided for in Article VIII.

II.

The Canadian Advisory Board, which will represent the Dominion of Canada, to be entitled to three duly accredited delegates as its representatives in the American Kennel Club, the chairman of said board to be one of such delegates, and by virtue of his office as said chairman to be a member of the American Kennel Club Executive Board.

III.

All cases of discipline and other matters relating to the Dominian of Canada shall be dealt with by the said Canadian Advisory Board, subject to conformation or otherwise by the American Kennel Club. In all cases acted upon by said board an appeal may be taken to said American Kennel Club.

IV.

Dog shows held in the Dominion of Canada can only be held under American Kennel Club rules upon the recommendation of the said Canadian Advisory Board, and for every show recommended the Canadian Advisory Board shall, on behalf of said show, pay the American Kennel Club the sum of ten dollars. The secretary of the Canadian Advisory Board shall file with the American Kennel Club a certified marked catalogue of each show so held, and awards made at such shows shall become recognized awards of record. The Canadian Kennel Club to be held responsible for the fulfillment of all requirements of the American Kennel Club by clubs holding shows under its recommendations.

V.

A complete roll of membership of the Canadian Kennel Club must be kept on file with the American Kennel Club.

VI.

The Canadian Kennel Club agrees to transfer all its right, title and interest in what is now known as the Canadian Kennel Club Stud Book to the American Kennel Club during the continuance of this agreement, and in return for said transfer the American Kennel Club agrees to register in its Stud Book each year, without cost, two dogs, the bona fide property of any member of the said Canadian Kennel Club in good standing, at its annual meeting, or who may have been subsequently elected and duly qualified as such member, upon the filing of an application for same, with his standing as a member duly certified thereon by the Secretary of said Canadian Kennel Club. Also to register all dogs, now registered with the Canadian Kennel Club, at one-half the regular fee charged by said American Kennel Club, upon application for such registration. To register all kennel names, prefixes and affixes now registered with the Canadian Kennel Club, provided same do not conflict with names already registered with the American Kennel Club, upon receipt of application and two-thirds of the regular fee charged by said American Kennel Club. To supply the Canadian Advisory Board with a copy each year of its Annual Stud Book and a copy each month of its Kennel Gazette. Also to allow it a special discount of 33 1 3 per cent. on the regular price for all Stud Books it may purchase. As a further consideration, the American Kennel Club agrees not to accept any kennel club in Canada as an active member unless recommended by the Canadian Advisory Board.

VII.

The following shall be the By-Laws of the Canadian Advisory Board until the same shall have been amended by the American Kennel Club:

Section 1. This organization shall be known as the Canadian Advisory Board of the American Kennel Club, from which it derives its powers.

Sec. 2. It shall consist of the Executive Committee of the Canadian Kennel Club.

Sec. 3. The officers of the Board shall consist of a Chairman, a Vice-Chairman and a Secretary. They shall be elected at the annual meeting of each year, and hold office until their successors are duly elected.

Sec. 4. It shall be the duty of the Chairman to preside at all the meetings, enforce a compliance with the rules and perform such other duties as usually devolve upon a presiding officer.

Sec. 5. It shall be the duty of the Vice-Chairman to preside in the absence of the Chairman and to perform in such case the duties of the Chairman.

Sec. 6. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep a true and correct record of all the proceeeings of the meetings of the Board; to transmit by registered letter within three days a full and complete copy of the same to the American Kennel Club; to conduct all its correspondence; to take charge of all books, papers, moneys or other property of the Board; to pay out such money only by order of the Board, and to turn over all books, papers, moneys or other property belonging to the Canadian Advisory Board and in his custody as Secretary to his successor in office.

Sec. 7. Five (5) members of the Board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The yeas and nays of all votes shall be recorded on the minutes.

Sec. 8. This Board shall be advisory to the American Kennel Club, and shall have jurisdiction in all questions arising in the Dominion of Canada between clubs and between show committees and exhibitors, and in all such matters as would otherwise be proper subjects for consideration by the American Kennel Club, and its decisions shall be binding upon all parties concerned until reversed by the said American Kennel Club or its Executive Board.

Sec. 9. It shall hear all appeals from the decisions of the clubs or their committees in the Dominion of Canada, under the same rules as govern in an appeal to the American Kennel Club, and report its decisions to the said Club, and its decisions binding on all parties concerned until reversed by the said American Kennel Club or its Executive Board.

Sec. 10. It shall receive and consider all suggestions from the several clubs under the jurisdiction regarding American Kennel Club legislation affecting the Dominion of Canada, and recommended such action as it may deem proper and for the best interests of breeders, owners and exhibitors of said Dominion to the American Kennel Club for its final action in the premises.

Sec. 11. It shall exert a general advisory supervision over the kennel interests of the Dominion; encourage the organization of new clubs, and the holding of bench shows wherever expedient; counsel harmony of action, good will, and promote a friendly feeling and unity of action between all sections.

Sec. 12. It shall adopt from time to time such rules and regulations not in conflict with the laws of the American Kennel Club, and which shall be approved by said club, as may appear from the condition of the section under its jurisdiction to be necessary to promote and develop the best interests of the owners, breeders and exhibitors of the Dominion and perform such other acts as it may be directed to perform by the American Kennel Club.

Sec. 13. The regular meetings of the Boaad shall be held in the city of Toronto, Canada, and special meetings may be called at any time by the Chairman, provided ten full days' notice thereof shall have been given to each delegate, either in person or by notice mailed to his last known address.

VIII.

This agreement, if ratified by both clubs, to be duly attested by the Secretary of each club, and true copies thereof must be filed with each club, and at any time upon six months' notice in writing given by either club to the other, this agreement may be cancelled and become null and void.

Cheap Collies.

The imported collies Rufford Ormonde and Champion Sefton Hero have always been sensational animals, chiefly, perhaps, on account of the big prices paid for them by Mr. Pierpont Morgan, the eminent financier, but in future they will be remembered as the heroes of a thrilling rescue from drowning of two human lives. Champion Sefton Hero was the real hero of the contretemps, which was brought about by Rufford Ormonde; but the latter made noble amend for his misdeed. Never was Cuvier's assertion that the dog is the most useful conquest ever made by man better exemplified than by the gallant behavior of these two animals last Friday morning. Bob Armstrong, manager of Mr. Morgan's kennel at Cragston on the Hudson, started to cross the river in a rowboat accompanied by his wife, child and a friend. The two women and the child were seated in the boat, and the collies, on shore, began to beg hard to be taken along. Armstrong did not want them, but Mrs. Armstrong pleaded that they be allowed to go. They were put one in each end of the boat, but they kept wanting to get together. The boat had scarcely left the landing when a fish jumped and Rufford Ormonde dived headlond after it. In doing so he upset the boat and spilled the occupants in fifty feet of water. Armstrong had the child in his arms and immediately struck out for the landing. The moment the women began to scream the dogs swam toward them. Mrs. Armstrong clasped hold of Sefton Hero, and her companion seized Rufford Ormonde. The brave collies then started for shore. Armstrong landed the child safely, and plunged in again, and went to Sefton Hero's assistance. The dog stuck to his work, and soon had his charge in shallow water. Rufford Ormonde was having a hard time with the other woman. When Mrs. Armstrong was placed on the bank with her baby, the kennel manager went to Rufford Ormonde's assistance. The visiting woman when brought to shore fainted. The dog had seized her by the shoulder, and the marks of its teeth were indented in the skin. The dogs, at Armstrong's command, then swam down the river after the overturned boat and brought it ashore It's a long way to the bottom of fifty feet of water, and it is safe to say that henceforth the grand old champion will own a very large share of Mrs. Armstrong's heart, while her friend, too, will undoubtedly feel deeply grateful to Rufford Ormonde, though her gratitude will be somewhat tempered by the reflection that her rescuer caused her immersion and fright. Rufford Ormonde, of course, would blame the fish. And it is good betting that Bob Armstrong will ever aver that Mr. Morgan did not pay a cent too much for these two dogs when he parted with $7,500 for them.—American Field.

A Rare Breed.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—This dog was presented to Col. Jack Dinue, but unfortunately died. You will notice the rarity of the breed.

Black puppy, Kaskaskias, whelped January 14, 1897, bred by Chief Peories, on the Miames Reservation, Kansas, U. S. A., by black dog, Pottawatomies, got by Assinaboines, out of Brules. First dam, Uncopapas, by Yancronnais; second dam, Poncas, by Menomees; third dam, Minneconjaux, by Kickapoos, and so on to the twentieth generation to the celebrated black dog with four white feet and blaze face, bred by the great Chief of the Arapahoes.

This breed of dog are noted for their keen scent. They are unequalled as hunters. Having for a century past been bred in lines to produce a certain type, they are all of the same size, when matured, same color and same marks.

It would seem, judging from the customs and manners of the people who breed this magnificent type of the dog, that they would be vicious, but on the contrary they become, when raised in civilization, very affectionate, their reasoning being almost human. I believe this dog, Pottawatomies, is the only one of his breed this side of the Rockies.

C. N. Deavor.

Cornered.

Our contemporary Turf Field and Farm gives the full report of the meeting of the A. K. C. Advisory Board in its last issue and in this report are two paragraphs that we have known to be on the programme for a long time but have not thought advisable to publish. They are as follows:

In the case of the St. Bernard Club of California vs. H. T. Payne, regarding the published statement against James Mortimer, the St. Bernard Club was ordered to file charges with the California Advisory Board.

Mr. James Mortimer requested an investigation of the statement published against him by H. T. Payne, and it was resolved that the Pacific Advisory Board be instructed to call on Payne to substantiate his statements and report to the American Kennel Club.

The "mischief-maker" will have a hard time to substantiate the imfamous lies he printed about Mortimer.

DOINGS IN DOGDOM.

Geo. Bell, of Toronto, is sending a cocker and a fox terrier to England to compete at some of the shows there, says Turf Field and Farm.

Mr. McCracken has leased the well-known greyhound bitch, Lady H. Glendynne, by Trales—Lady Graham Glendynne, to Mr. Hooper, who will bred her to Beau Brummel.

Nominations to the great Interstate Coursing Club's annual meeting on the plains of Merced close August 1st, with I. F. Halton, 220 Sacramento street. This will be the biggest meeting ever held in America.

Secretary Vredenburgh will leave New York on or about August 1st for San Francisco to investigate the proceedings of the Advisory Board. We would advise Secretary Vredenburgh to investigate both sides of the question this time. He has been blind about long enough.

It is the intention of Mr. S. D. Cobb of Stockton to establish a first-class kennel of fox terriers in the Slough city, and judging by his purchases of Warren Crack and a Warren Sage—Blemton Spinaway pup, we expect to see his name figuring in the prize list at future shows.

The English Kennel Gazette has with the last issue given its readers a splendid picture of Mr. Vicary's crack fox terriers Valuator and Visto. This, together with the picture of D'Orsay and Dame Fortune, Mr. Redmond's crack pair are unquestionably the best pictures of their kind that we have seen of fox terriers.

Judging by the number of fox terrier pups we have seen recently and pups expected to be whelped shortly, competition in this breed in the puppy classes next year promises to be the keenest yet seen on the Coast; pups by the sires Blemton Reefer, Warren Crack, Warren Sage, Veracity, Champion Warren Safeguard, Raby Rasper, and others will no doubt be shown.

The Forest and Stream Publishing Company announce a new publication—Nursing vs. Dosing, a manual of caring for the dog, by S. T. Hammond, author of Dog Training vs. Breaking. A copy of this work lies before us and a more useful book for the money would be hard to obtain. The chapters on Importance of Nursing and Common Ailments are alone worth the price of the book—$1.

The fox terrier dog Oriole Bluffer, by Champion Bachanal, out of Verdict, owned by Harry Lowden, was recently killed in a fight with a bull terrier. Bluffer was brought out by that enthusiastic fancier, W. H. McFee, and while not a show dog, his get were very fair specimens and generally game. We call to mind the following winners by him: Langtry, Dauntless, White Violet and Chutes.

Payne's crooked methods are to be investigated. It would be quite in accordance with the balance of the work of the Advisory Board to hold this investigation in Payne's office, with Payne as secretary to write or omit to write the minutes of the meeting, but these days will soon pass. The upright, honorable men on the Board have got about as tired of Payne as the public has, and if Secretary Vredenburgh succeeds in whitewashing him this time he will be exceedingly clever.

On the occasion of Mr. Vredenburgh's previous visit to this city he was told by members of the Pacific Kennel Club just exactly how the land lay. He was treated royally by the P. K. C. On his return he utterly ignored this good advice. H. T. Payne and his clique got hold of him and have apparently owned him ever since. Through his aid the P. K. C. and the Olympic Gun Club were thrown down. He will be received here by all parties as a gentleman should be, but any attempt to "whitewash" Payne will result in a Pacific Coast Kennel Club. A governing body entirely independent of the American Kennel Club.

Quite a number of transfers of St. Bernards have been made during the past two weeks. Dr. W. I. Terry and H. C. Kirkpatrick have purchased puppies of Mr. Brietweiser from the litter by Champion Grand Master—Sierra Queen. Miss Edwards has purchased a dog puppy of the Presidio Kennels by Brian—Laura Alton, Hugh McCracken received Champion Melrose too late to breed him to Irma and as Mr. Harker and he could not agree on terms he has returned him and purchased Champion Alta Berna and Nellie Queen of Wasatch. The latter is the dam of that good dog, Roxie Savage Taylor. Alta Berna has won her laurels on her merits. Her winnings include 1st's at Denver, Des Moines, Omaha, Chicago, San Jose, Oakland and San Francisco, and many specials. Hugh McCracken has sold Diablo, that good big pup that was shown at Oakland and San Francisco, to Mrs. Deekels, of this city. Nellie Queen of Wasatch was bred to him before the sale.

NOTICE TO ANGLERS.

Every angler is invited to drop us a line occasionally, telling us of the condition of the streams they have visited and the killing lure; of the number and size of the fish caught, or any other item of interest to anglers.

Salmon and Matrimony at Monterey.

MONTEREY, July 27, 1897.

EDITOR BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN—Salmon are very plentiful in the bay at present salmon season being in full blast. Last week some big catches were made by the market fishermen. The average for the week past was about 350 salmon daily, the fishermen are reaping a harvest as the present price is from 2½ to 3 cents per pound. The bay is quite an attractive sight between 8 A. M. 1 P. M., over seventy-five boats are seen daily trolling for salmon, some small, some large; all kinds of sailing and rowing craft are called into use, sometimes you will see most of boats bunched together on shore, some interfering with each other—the lines becoming entangled—then look out for a squall among the fishermen. Time is valuable, they must make land in order to catch the 9:30 P. M. train to ship fish to San Francisco market, and time lost in unraveling lines is money lost.

Anglers desirous of enjoying a good day's outing in trolling for salmon can have all the sport they wish—the fish are very plentiful, gamey and satisfy the desires of the most fastidious angler.

Friday Tom Stark, of Stanford University, enjoyed a fine day's sport; he landed three salmon, and he is a novice in this kind of sport. He enjoyed his outing very much. He will remain at Pacific Grove all summer or until the salmon cease to satisfy his sporty inclinations.

Mr. H. Smith of San Francisco, guest of "Papa" Carr, is with us. Last Thursday he and "Papa" went out on the briny sea—the bay—trolling for salmon. Smith was successful, landing a fine salmon. "The sport is fine, will try it again," so said Mr. Smith. On Friday and Saturday they again tried their luck—Smith 11, "Papa" 7, both days.

Yesterday, Monday, at 6 A. M., as Joe Dutra, the most popular and sporty fisherman in Monterey, was ready for his daily vocation, he was hailed by Rev. H. D. Snodgrass. "Joe, I wish you would take me and a couple of friends out for a troll." Joe, understanding his business, tumbled, the guests of the Reverend gentleman were Santos Hidalgo and Anita Borondo of Santa Rita. Did that boat fly? I guess yes. Soon the knot was tied—three miles off shore. The homeward journey was slower than the outgoing. Joe, by the way of amusement, cast his line out and pretty soon he landed a fine 22-pound salmon. Of course, the bride and groom about this time did not wish for salmon. Joe also had no use for the salmon. R. Dioz and N. Davis fared share and share alike. Even to runaways the salmon wish to make their presence known.

The Chicago Fly-Casting Club.

The regular contest of the Chicago Fly-Castiug Club was held last Saturday at the usual place in Garfield Park.

Mr. B. W. Goodsell won the long distance fly-casting event with a score of 100 feet, the best that has been made for some time, and Mr. Goodsell was justly applauded for his fine effort. Of course he won the medal. F. N. Peet was second with 88 feet, I. H. Bellows 80 feet, W. H. Babcock 75 feet, C. G. Ludlow and G. A. Murrell 77 feet each.

In the distance and accuracy fly-casting event F. N. Peet excelled, winning the medal with a score of 89 1-3 per cent., J. M. Clark following with 87 1-3 per cent., Goodsell 86 2-3 per cent., G. A. Murrell 86 1-3 per cent., C. G. Ludlow 80 2-3 per cent., I. H. Bellows 76 per cent., W. H. Babcock 69 2-3 per cent.

The dry fly-casting event was won by B. W. Goodsell, he scoring 91 per cent., I. H. Bellows following with 86 5-6 per cent., F. N. Peet 85 per cent., W. H. Babcock 83 1-3 per cent., C. G. Ludlow 80 1-3 per cent., H. A. Newkirk 74 per cent.

The bait-casting event was the toughest of all, as the buoys were surrounded by a dense growth of water weeds; the club should see to it that the lagoon be cleared of the rank growth of weeds which now interfere with the casting. Mr. G. A. Murrell did some very neat work, winning the medal with a score of 96 4-5 per cent., I. H. Bellows followed with 94 per cent., M. D. Smith 92 per cent., F. N. Peet 91 per cent., J. M. Clark 84 4-5 per cent., B. W. Goodsell 83 per cent., H. G. Hascall 79 per cent,, G. W. Strell 72 3-5 per cent., H. W. Perce 72 1-5 per cent., L. F. Crosby 60 1 5 per cent, C. G. Ludlow 73 per cent.

The next contest will be held at the same place, next Saturday—American Field.

The San Francisco Fly Casting Club.

The regular semi-monthly Saturday and Sunday contests of the San Francisco Fly Casting Club were held at Stow Lake on Saturday and Sunday last. W. D. Mansfield won the long-distance and distance and accuracy events on Saturday and the distance and accuracy event on Sunday. Dr. E. N. Lowry won the delicacy and accuracy event on Saturday with the highest score ever made under the new system of judging, and the long-distance event on Sunday. C. G. Young won the delicacy and accuracy event on Sunday. The scores were as follows:

The regular semi-monthly meeting was held on Tuesday evening at the office of the State Fish Commission. W. D. Mansfield's average was found to be well ahead of the other members, and he was chosen to represent the club at the Chicago tournament on August 13th and 14th.

The Executive Committee recommended that the ties be cast off on September 15th, and that the annual tournament be held on October 9th at Stow Lake.

Geo. W. Morgan of Duncan's Mills was in town the first of the week. He reports excellent black bass fishing at the mouth of the Austin. Catches of a dozen or more including several big ones, are quite common. Several striped bass have also been caught.

Doc Watt, Chas. Cate, Frank Dolliver, Al Smith, "Andy," Chas. Precht, Geo. Hinkle and C. Hinz were at Lake San Andreas last Sunday. Dolliver caught three bass and the others all made good catches of trout.

A S. Carman returned on Thursday from another trip to Cisco. He reports the Yuba in fine condition and trout rising well. Some of his catches were as good as could be made on any water in California.

Yuba and Sutter Gun Club.

The third annual dove stew and tournament of the Yuba and Sutter Gun Club will be held at Sheltons Grove, Marysville, on August 8th and 9th. There will be two thousand doves in the stew. The tournament is open to all and there will be two hundred dollars in added money. American Association Rules will govern the events.

Participants arriving a day or so beforehand will be able to participate in the shooting of 2000 doves for the stew.

All parties intending to accept the invitation to participate in the dove stew and tournament, will be furnished certificates that must be signed by the railroad agents at point of starting, which will entitle them to return at one-third regular rate. Address, F. H. Greely, Marysville, and certificate will be immediately forwarded.

In all live bird events high guns win except in events where other division is especially designated.

Winners of medals divide no money.

Dove Shooting.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—I notice items in the Breeder and Sportsman of dove killing by some of the Stockton sportsmen which are not quite as good as the following done by my son, Frank Crane, a day or two since at an unoccupied ranch between Turlock and the Merced river, where there is a little water furnished by a windmill. In less than two hours, just at night, he killed thirty-eight (they fly in at that time to get a drink) and to-day he bagged forty-eight, part of them on the river and the balance at the above place. S. H. Crane.

The Empire Gun Club.

The regular semi-monthly medal shoot of the Empire Gun Club held at Alameda Point yesterday was very well attended. Kerrison won the diamond medal, Gamble the second class medal, King the third-class medal and Javette the fourth. The scores out of a possible 25 bluerocks were:

CARTRIDGE AND SHELL.

Deer are very plentiful about San Diego.

Doves are reported very plentiful at Modesto and Fresno.

The Empires should have a record attendance to-morrow.

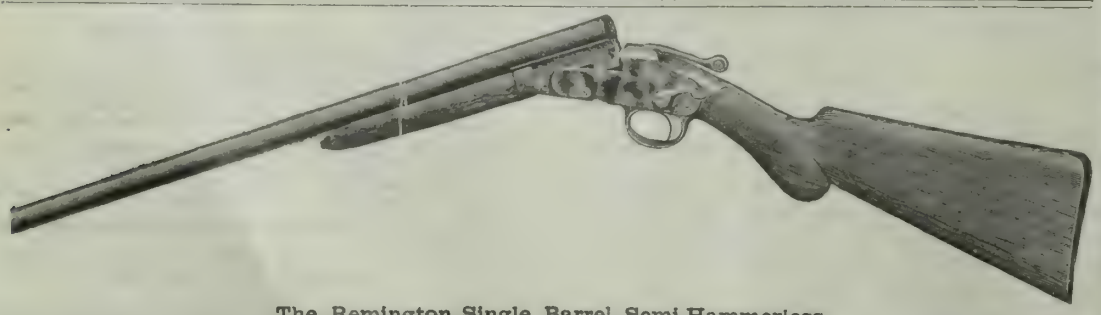
The California Wing Shooting Club will shoot live birds at Ingleside to-morrow.



The California Wing Shooting Club will shoot live birds at Ingleside to-morrow.

W. J. T. Orr, Chas. Rule and Fred Clark killed nine deer at Duncan's Mills last week.

A gun club starting with 33 members was to have been formed at Redding last Saturday night.

There is reported to be plenty of deer in Anderson Valley between Booneville and the coast near Point Arena.

The Remington Single Barrel Semi-Hammerless.

Unquestionably the best cheap gun on the market for the novice, amateur, youth or man with limited means is the Remington semi-hammerless as illustrated above. Like all other guns turned out by this firm it is A No. 1 in workmanship, reliable and durable. For sale by the trade.

Miss Maud Thelin of San Diego bagged eighteen rabbits in two short trips at Honey Springs ranch near Dulzura recently.

The members of the Shellville Rod and Gun Club are camping near their club house, where they will remain for a couple of weeks.

Wm. Berg, Paul Delmas and D. M. Delmas were hunting on the Tamalpais preserve last Sunday. Wm. Berg killed a small spike buck.

The event to trap-shooters to-morrow will be the handicap merchandise shoot of the Empire Gun Club. There are forty-four prizes at $2 entrance.

The Yuba and Sutter Gun Club's shoot and dove stew on Aug. 8th will take quite a contingent of shooters from the local events. There are nine members of the Olympic Gun Club going and many others.

Game Warden McKenzie, of Santa Clara county, reports that the pheasants distributed by him throughout the county last year are rapidly multiplying and by the time they become lawful game they will be plentiful.

Some boys broke into the Reliance Gun Club house last week and stole a lot of tools and 800 shells belonging to J. W. Orear, the Oakland sporting goods dealer. The door and furniture were badly smashed up by the miscreants.

J. Gorman of the Columbia Pistol and Rifle Club made a visit to Stockton last week that he will remember the balance of his life. At the Stockton Rifle and Pistol Club's range he made on the Columbian target the remarkable score of 2 1 1 1 4 3—12, with a Russian model revolver at 50 yds.

The Klondyke fever seems to have caught all classes and the sportsmen are among the first to go. Doubtless many of them are better fitted for the hardships and privations of camp life in the snow than many stronger men. Albion H. Whitney, A. A. Martin, L. Adams, W. Moore, Stanley Fay and others have already started and several others will go at the first opportunity.

SATURDAY, JULY 24.

The sport was of a sensational character at to-day's races. The talent received a tumble in the mile handicap. May W., who was so decisively beaten by Devil's Dream in a stake race July 20th, made the now shattered idol of Montana race-goers look like the cheapest kind of a selling plater. It was by long odds the most complete dump of the present meeting.

The free-for-all pace furnished the most exciting and the best contested harness race of the meeting. Never before in the history of racing in the Copper State has such a fast and well-matched quintette scored up for the word. There was a spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm when the Butte candidate paced five under the wire in the first heat. Equally as popular was the win in the second heat of Argoreat, who figured in so many sensational contests with Agitato in this State in 1896. To add to the interest of the side-wheel race, Searchlight, the gallant three-year-old son of Dark Night, annexed the third heat.

As the pace was best two in three, the fourth heat was to decide the winner. Argoreat came out of the battle a winner, and the daughter of Argot Wilkes was given a round of applause as she came back in front of the judges' stand. The time made in the various heats is no criterion of the merit of the performances. The wind along the backstretch was very strong. Argoreat was a rank outsider in the betting. There were other upsets during the afternoon.

Ed Corrigan on the New Turf Congress Laws.

In a recent interview with Ed Corrigan in the Chicago Inter Ocean, the leading figure in American Turf Congress affairs said that The Jockey Club and the Congress had a falling out about two years ago regarding territorial division and had not affiliated since that period. Last winter he met August Belmont (President of The Jockey Club) in San Francisco, and the latter declared he would be glad to see closer relations established between the two turf bodies, referring at the same time to the fact that while The Jockey Club had for years declined to countenance foreign books on its tracks, the Turf Congress allowed them to exist. Mr. Corrigan (who was supposed to be in favor of the operation of foreign books at race tracks and was also generally understood to have made a great deal of money in the one at Hawthorne, in partnership with Joe Ullman) then went on to say that in his opinion the rule of abolishing foreign books would lead to a marked increase in the number of bookmakers transacting business on Turf Congress tracks, and while war would not be declared on the pool-rooms, they are a menace to racing and he would be glad if there were no pool-rooms in Chicago. The big turfman declared that the reports of the trouble between himself and Col. M. Lewis Clark had been greatly colored by the newspapers.

"At the meeting of the Congress," said Corrigan, "Colonel Clark was requested to explain certain transactions at the Harlem meeting whereby the rules of the Turf Congress had been violated. Among other things, he was asked why, after his declarations that the Turf Congress rules would be strictly observed, he had allowed jockeys and horses to participate whom the enforcement of the rules would have barred out. In this connection he made an explanatory statement, which I showed to be incorrect. This nettled him, and soon afterward while we were discussing the proposed amendments to the rules, Colonel Clark held up a paper and declared that he held in his hand an agreement signed by me, whereby I contracted to lease to him the Hawthorne track, and bound myself to take no step to compete with them or interfere with the Harlem meeting in any way whatever. As the document which he held in his hand was simply a copy of a letter to my attorney, in which I expressed a willingness to lease Hawthorne upon certain conditions, I denied the accuracy of Colonel Clark's statement. He reiterated vehemently, whereupon I said, referring to his former misstatement, 'That is not the first lie that you have told.' Then the big gun came out. But Colonel Clark was the only person in the room who was in the least excited. He was as pale as a sheet, and I believe that if anyone had thrown a firecracker under his chair at that moment he would be running yet."

"Through the agency of John Brenock, who is interested with me in the Hawthorne track, I agreed a short time ago that in consideration of the sum of $9,000 per month, payable strictly in advance, I would not hold any meeting at Hawthore for a period of four months. The agreement was merely verbal, and I was paid my share, $4,500, of the first month's rental. There is not a scratch of a pen to show the terms of the agreement, as the Harlem people told Brenock that they would be satisfied with my verbal promise that I would not compete with the Harlem meeting. I was asked to agree to allow the meeting to be held at Hawthorne in case Harlem was closed under the old injunction, but positively declined to allow it."

"The fight on foreign books is not, as some seem to believe, a blow at the Harlem people," said Corrigan, "but is in good faith and would have been begun at this time even if Harlem had not been opened. That matter, together with the other amendments to the rules adopted at the Cincinnati meeting, has been under consideration since before the sale of the Harlem track, and I wrote to August Belmont about the proposed changes in the rules some time before that."

"If the recent action of the Congress was not intended as a blow at Harlem, why was the special meeting held immediately after the opening of the track?" asked the reporter.

"Well, Detroit had applied for membership, and we had to meet to pass on that application, so the other matters were taken up at the same time."

Santa Anita Foals of 1897.

Following is a list of the thoroughbred foals that first saw the light in 1897 at E. J. Baldwin's celebrated Santa Anita rancho, in the San Gabriel valley, near Los Angeles, Cal. The first lot sired by the once-grand racer, Santiago, is noted, and other "new sires," as far as this farm is concerned, are Honduras, imp. Chesterfield, imp. Islington, imp. Duncombe and Cerito II. Besides, there are a number of young mothers (their first foals), and Aloha (dam of Rey El Santa Anita) and Clara D. (mother of Winoma, Santa Ana, Santiago and Rey del Carreres) are not represented. If there is a large breeder in the country that breeds less scientifically than "Lucky" Baldwin we do not know where he resides, and there has been no real crackerjack off the place since Rey El Santa Anita's "day," a matter of three years. Mr. Baldwin has some grand stallions and mares from excellent racing families, but it certainly looks as if little judgment is exercised in the mating, if results go for anything. However, the farm needs, and needs badly, some horse tracing very many times to O'Kelly's Eclipse, especially in the male line. There's too much Herod blood in the mares and stallions at Santa Anita—too much of a good thing. Following is the list of thirty-six foals of 1897 :

ALL the horses who left California for Montana in June were supplied with the famous Toomey sulkies by J. O'Kane, the agent, who telegraphed a big order to Dover, Ohio, for another supply on Wednesday. It pays to advertise in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, for it is the only paper that reaches the best class of buyers on the Pacific Coast.

ARCHIE ("BOB") BURNS has the good jumper Mr. Reel, at W. H. Bower's place, Cornwall, Contra Costa county. The son of Strahmore and Madam Reel (half-sister to Domino) was supposed to be broken down, but may come around all right, under proper nursing.

PRINCEWAY, who showed a mile in 2:25 as a two-year-old just before the Fasig May sale in 1896, is going fast for Splan. He stepped a mile in 2:16 on Tuesday. Princeway is by Steinway and out of the dam of Derby Princess.

GOSSIP FROM GOTHAM.

In my previons letters I referred to the poor quality of horses running in the East and the miserable inconsistency of the two and three-year-olds. Since those letters were written many races have been run which have decided in some measure the vexed question of supremacy among the younger division. The quality of the horses still remains the same, but time, a great leveller, has enabled the public to sift the chaff from the good kernels. Among the three-year-olds there are just three good colts—On Deck, Rensselaer and The Friar. The latter won the Realization Stakes a half length in front of Rensselaer in the best time the race was ever run, and within two fifths of a second of the record made by Hindoocraft with 75 pounds on his back. Despite this more than creditable performance, he is, in my opinion, inferior to On Deck and Rensselaer in a contest over a mile. Those who witnessed the race for the Realization were almost unanimous to a man that Rensselaer was the best colt and should have won. He was ridden by Hewitt, a small, weak lad, who could not do the colt justice. The long ride weakened the lad considerably, and in the last quarter, when the colt needed assistance, he was utterly unable to give it. Bookmaker "Josh" McDonald has made considerable money on the turf, and has pulled off some of the biggest coups ever managed, but in his selection of jockeys he has been most unfortunate. For years he rode Willie Midgley, a boy who was utterly incompetent; when the latter took on fatty tissue at a great rate McDonald's friends all murmured prayers of thankfulness. Now they are sorry they wasted their breath, for Jack had hardly given Willie the good-bye kiss when he takes up with Hewitt. And his fondness for the latter cost him $20,000. Sam Doggett rode Rensselaer in all his winning races, but Sam and McDonald could not get along well together and the result was a loss for all three—prestige for the colt and common dross for jockey and owner.

On Deck, as I have written you, I believe to be the "coming" horse. He has beaten both The Friar and Rensselaer, but his victories over the last-named were such that, though I believe him capable of repeating the dose, I would much prefer to see him defeat them again under more auspicious circumstances before awarding him the laurel wreath. He defeated Rensselaer in the mud—going neither is partial to—McDonald's colt being jumped on. His defeat of The Friar in the Spindrift Stakes, at a mile and furlong, just previous to the Realization, was a most decisive one, but, in the words of Rudyard Kipling, "that's another story."

Never has the racing community in the East been so wrought up over the inconsistent running of a horse as they have been over The Friar. During all the years of the Coney Island Jockey Club's existence I have never witnessed the demonstration accorded The Friar on his return to the scales after his win of the Realization. He was received at first coldly. Then the wrought-up feelings of the angry onlookers gave vent in expression and hissing was emitted from their angry lips. Faint at first, but gradually stronger and stronger, the sibilant sounds grew until the noise was like escaping steam This was kept up for some time, long enough to reach the ears of Alfred Hennen Morris, the owner, and Wyndham Walden, the trainer of The Friar. Their faces were soon suffused with color, brought there by mortification and anger because of the displeasure manifested by the onlookers.

But the disapproval of the racegoers was as the gentle zephyr that sighs among the blossoms in springtime in comparison to the storm the papers kicked up the following day. They belched forth torrents of criticisms which fairly eat into the vitals of the owner and trainer of The Friar. They became distraught at the wordy bombardment and even condescended to explain the inconsistency of The Friar's running—a most magnanimous condescension for a millionaire. They sent out a letter stating that The Friar was a nervous horse; that his sire, Friar's Balsam, was a nervous horse; that Lizzie Baker, his dam, was a nervous horse; that his grandam was nervous, etc. When I got through reading the letter which contained so much reference to nerves I was greatly affected and was only saved from nervous prostration by a quick application of a "jolt" in the right place. Feeling somewhat relieved after this, I perused the letter again and down, way down in my heart, I felt sorry for The Friar. For, with all this hereditary nervousness, he was to be pitied. Why, with his pap and his mam, and his grandpap and grandmam all nervous, it's the greatest wonder in the world that The Friar was not afflicted with "St. Vitus' dance," the "ricketts" or some other nervous disease.

So great was the outcry against The Friar's running, that in order to stop it, the stewards of the meeting and the stewards of the Jockey Club ordered an investigation. Things are very warm when this action is taken, for if there is one thing the stewards of a meeting hate, it is to do a little something to earn their salaries. They can sit and sit and sit and look at races from early morn till night, but to act, whew! I guess not. It would be too much like work.

Well, the investigation was held and the result was what everybody said it would be—a whitewash. The stewards found the cause of The Friar's reversals in form was due to nervousness. They said that neither Mr. Morris, Mr. Walden or Fred Littlefied bet, so there could be no other reason for The Friar's inconsistency except through nervousness. So they let it go at that.

That the public and the press had some reason for their outcry against The Friar there can be but little doubt in the minds of fair-minded men. The first time The Friar started he ran under a choking pull in the ruck all the way, and in the stretch died away, finishing far in the rear. The critics were amazed, but friends of the owners said he could not go in the mud, so this explanation was accepted. In his next attempt, on a dry track, different tactics were pursued. He was taken out out with Voter to the front and with him raced to the stretch. He ran the winner of the Metropolitan Stakes into the ground and then came on and won, the mile and a sixteenth being covered in 1:49½. This was an excellent performance, as the weight carried was 126 pounds and the track at least two seconds slow. In his next race he was again choked in the rear of his field and restrained till the race was nearly over. When his head was given him he could not respond and was beaten, his stable companion, or one trained by Walden and running in another man's name, Buddha, winning easily. It might be stated here that the "educated" money made Buddha the favorite while The Friar went back in the betting. The Friar finished a bad fourth. The papers came out, and commenting on the two styles of riding The Friar, said that it would be advisable to let him go to the front instead of choking him. Viewed from the way the horse ran under the two different styles of handling, this appeared to be the common sense view, and that he would be ridden to advantage. But no, he was to have another experience with a tight rein. His subsequent race with On Deck was another of this kind, he being restrained in the rear till the race was virtually over. In the Realization he was taken to the front and he galloped all his field with the exception of Rensselaer, into the ground in the first mile and a furlong. His competitors could never get near him except Rensselaer, and they were beaten off. Then came the howl from the public and press.

Wyndham Walden, feeling justified by the whitewashing of the stewards that his handling of The Friar was correct, took umbrage at the criticisms of the newspaper men and immediately the decision was rendered started in to square up matters. He circulated a paper asking the owners and trainers to combine for protection against the newspapers. He said that he wanted the owners and trainers to form an association in order to bring suit against newspaper men for libel whenever they wrote anything that was not replete with sugar-coated taffy. This attempt at muzzling the press found favor among those owners and trainers whose reputations can not stand the searchlight of truth, and they signed. This action caused the newspapers to again attack the turf. It soon became serious. Members of the Jockey Club saw that their former ally, the press, was turning against them, and fearful of the papers' powerful influence in the Legislature next winter to have the Percy—Gray bill repealed, took action in the matter and soon called Mr. Walden down. Since then Mr. Walden has not been very much in evidence with his little paper. Some say that it has been quashed. I hope it has not, because Mr. Walden evidently has more time on his hands than he knows what to do with and he should have something to occupy his time. I would respectfully suggest here that if he has not already selected a name for his brotherhood of trainers that he call the new association the Brotherhood of Nervous Friars. With that name always before him he would remember the animus which called forth the brotherhood.

Hamburg is unquestionably the best two-year-old in training. He has proved himself by beating his horses in a gallop every time they met except once, and his defeat was due, not to his own lack of ability to race, but sickness. Hamburg, who is a slashing big bay son of Hanover with a blaze face and two white "stockings" on his hind legs, has been the sensational colt of the year. The first time he started he was made the medium of a big plunge and stories were sent broadcast how his owner, John Madden, won a large fortune over his win. As a matter of fact Madden won considerable money, but not nearly as much as he was credited with. And the reason he did not was all due to a telegram. A friend of Riley Grannan's in Kentucky wired him about the colt the day he first started. Riley showed the telegram to Johnny Coleman and Charley Quinn. When the odds were posted on the race these young men went around the ring and "plastered" Hamburg good. Madden, who waited to see his colt warm up before going into the ring, had to be content with what was left of the odds. He got a good price, but not nearly as good as those who forestalled him. If it had not been that Madden had a lot of agents in the out of town pool rooms he would have won but a small amount. A big winning was made over the race, but "there were others" besides Madden.

Hamburg is a very quick beginner. I do not know of a youngster, unless it was Tremont, who showed similar ability about getting into his stride. He beat Previous on two occasions by outbreaking him at the start when everybody said it was a gift of the flag. His third attempt and first defeat was in the first part of the "Double Event." He ran third to Bowling Brook and Laudeman. After the race Mike Dwyer offered John Madden a good price for the colt. Madden wanted more than offered and Mr. Dwyer asked to have a close look at the colt. So they journeyed over to his stall. When they got there they found Hamburg stiff and sore and hardly able to move. Mr. Dwyer took a long look at Hamburg and said: "I don't want him at any price." Mr. Madden said the colt was suffering from muscular soreness caused by catching cold from a draught. He said that he would round to under treatment. Mr. Dwyer differed with him in opinion and said that the soreness would get worse instead of better. Then he left for home. Young Patterson, who is training John Madden's horses, went to work on Hamburg the next day and for the succeeding ones. For three days his shoulders and muscles were steamed out, so that by the time he started on the Great Trial Stakes, worth $20,000, he was almost as good as the day he was foaled. After a long delay at the post, Hamburg took the lead at flag-fall, and leading by open daylight throughout, won in a gallop. He next tried for the second part of the Double Event. He picked up a seven-pound penalty and won just as easily as he did in the Great Trial. Since then he has not started. With Howland, John Madden's other crack, he has gone to the Springs to recuperate. Hamburg is not in the Futurity, but Howland is. The latter could always beat Hamburg in his work, and if he does not train off Madden has a first-class mortgage on it.

Firearm is undoubtedly a high-class horse, but his temper is against him. He is one of the best-looking two-year-olds seen in years and runs when he is in the mood, but his temper, which he inherits from Rayon d'Or, his sire, is all against him. It would be a pity to add him to the list, but this looks to be his only chance.

I'm glad to say that some of the men who wintered in California are doing well in the East with their horses. The Sinks are doing well and win on an average a couple of races a week. Pat Dunne only started his horses at the latter part of the sheepshead Bay meeting and has great luck since Brighton opened. He started Estaca four times, was first three and third once. He won all his races at Brighton in the mud. He bought a colt called Savango a few days ago for little or nothing and has won two races and second with him out of three starts. Pat knows where to place his horses. Thorpe is riding for him here, as Willie Martin has been refused a license.

W. Murry was unlucky with Michael III. The colt was beaten three times three short heads. Bad starts killed his chance in every instance. He sold the youngster a couple of days ago to Charley Dwyer. He got $1,000 cash and $500 the first time the colt wins. He is still training Michael. Atkin & Lottridge won a race with Manchester the first time he started on a dry track. They failed to back him much, as they did not think he was quite ready. After the race they sold him for $1,500 to J. W. Colt, who will make a jumper out of him.

Horses at the Track.

Los Angeles will be well represented at the coming breeders' meeting at Oakland. On Monday last a carload of twenty-six horses, comprising the strings of Walter Maben, L. J. Rose Jr., Willard H. Stimson, J. H. Kelly, P. W. Hodges, John Baker and Mrs. Severance arrived at the Oakland track from the citrus belt. While there are no world-beaters in the lot, nearly all are handy horses, capable of winning their oats on the circuit. The horses shipped well and most of them show that they have been well conditioned on Los Angeles' race course.

Walter Maben, one of the most popular and capable drivers on the Coast, will handle not only his own horses, but those of Lee Rose and Mrs. Severance. He has Native State by Star Sultan, to start in the 2:13 class trot, and the black mare Galette, by Jud Wilkes, to race in the 2:15 trots. Then he has Florette Belle, a six-year-old pacer, by State of Maine; Daisy Wood, trotter, 2:17, by Silkwood; and Etta Wilkens, a trotter, by Kaiser. For Mrs. Severance he will train and drive Bet Madison, by James Madison, who obtained a two-year-old trotting record of 2:30, and Uncle Green, a three-year-old trotter, by James Madison.

In W. H. Stimson's string are the game trotter, Challenger Chief, 2:15, and the speedy Miss Jessie, a bay mare by Gossiper, who has a record of 2:14. Besides this he has the pacer, Sophie R., with a record of 2:13; the trotter, Atto Rex, 2:19; the three-year-old pacer, Muskegon, by McKinney; the three-year-old trotter, El Diablo, by Diablo. This string is considered one of the most formidable that will be seen racing this season.

In John Baker's string is the sensational pacing mare, Birdroe, 2:10, by Mark Monroe—Birdie. She was not raced last season. He has also the pacer, Floracita, by Red Cloak.

J. W. Kelly will pin his faith in the chances of Conn, 2:15, and a few green ones.

HART BOSWELL

No. 13,699. This splendidly-formed trotting stallion was sired by ONWARD, 2:25 1-4 (son of GEO. WILKES, 2:22, and DOLLY, dam of DIRECTOR, 2:17, THORNDALE, 2:21, etc.), sire of 113 in 2:30 list; dam NANCY LEE (dam of NANCY HANKS, 2:04, and DICTATOR WILKES, sire of six in 2:30 list), by Dictator; second dam SOPHY (grandam of Mike Wilkes, 2:15¼, Ira Wilkes, 2:22¾, and the sires Adrian Wilkes and Ira Wilkes) by Edwin Forrest 49; third dam Sophronia, by Brown Pilot; fourth dam by Bertrand; fifth dam by Lance, son of American Eclipse; sixth dam by Gray Dungannon. This is the acme of fashionable breeding. In conformation, disposition, color and pure trotting action, HART BOSWELL is perfect. He has never been worked for speed. His progeny are strong-limbed, level-headed and very promising, and are conceded by competent judges to be the finest-formed youngsters in California. Terms $50 for the season. Address K. O'GRADY, Laurel Creek Farm, San Mateo. Splendid pasturage, and mares kept in any manner owners may desire.

We defy the Experts

We have demonstrated, experts admit, and every one is convinced that Genuine White Topaz cannot be detected from real diamonds. White Topaz is the stone you have read so much about. The one that has fooled the pawnbrokers. Place them side by side with genuine diamonds and no one can tell the difference. We have sold thousands of these stones at from one to ten dollars, but in order to introduce them quickly as well as to find out the advertising medium best suited to our business, we make this

We will send you a beautiful, brilliant, genuine White Topaz, which can be mounted in a ring, scarf or necktie pin, stud, cuff buttons, locket or pair earrings, like any article in this border on receipt of.....

These stones are exactly the same as those we have advertised at one dollar.

This Offer for a Few Days Only

Cut out this advertisement and send it to us together with 25c. in coin or stamps and we will send you a White Topaz by return mail; a stone that you can be justly proud of and one that positively cannot be detected from a real diamond. In ordering, be sure and state whether small, medium or large stone is desired. NO ORDER FILLED UNLESS ACCOMPANIED BY THIS ADVERTISEMENT.

GENUINE WHITE TOPAZ

bears no relation to other so-called imitation diamonds no matter under what name they are advertised. They are the hardest of semi-precious stones, impossible to detect from real diamonds and warranted to retain their brilliancy. All others pale to insignificance when compared with White Topaz.

OUR GUARANTEE:

We warrant each and every Topaz to retain its brilliancy and the mountings to give perfect satisfaction.

We will give you One Thousand Dollars if you can show that we have ever refused to replace a White Topaz that was returned as unsatisfactory.

DIAMONDS DUPLICATED IN WHITE TOPAZ.

Royalty and the four hundred who own celebrated and costly diamonds set in necklaces, tiaras, brooches, bracelets and girdles, keep them in burglar proof vaults, while they wear in public the exact duplicates in White Topaz and no one ever detects the difference.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME..... Don't Miss It.

Send us Twenty-five Cents in coin or stamps and you will be delighted with the White Topaz that you receive.

MONEY REFUNDED IF GOODS ARE NOT SATISFACTORY.

A horse distancing the field shall only be entitled to first and fourth moneys, but in no other case will a horse be entitled to more than one money.

The Board of Directors reserves the right to change the hour or date of any race except when it becomes necessary to ante-date a race, in which instance the nominator will receive three days' notice of change by mail to address of entry. Right reserved to declare off or postpone any or all races on account of the weather or other sufficient cause.

Entries not declared out at 5 o'clock P. M. on the day preceding the race shall be required to start, and declarations must be in writing and made at the office of the Secretary at the track.

When there is more than one entry to any purse by one person or in one interest the horse to be started must be named by 5 o'clock P. M. on the day preceding the race.

Any race that may be started and unfinished on the last day of the meeting may be declared ended and money divided according to rank of horses in the summary.

Otherwise than is specified in these conditions, National Trotting Association rules to govern.

Six Trotting and Pacing Races additional to the above will be named at a later date, when the amount of purses will be announced.

BY CHARLES MARVIN.

This great practical horse book is a handsome, three hundred page octavo, bound in cloth, elegantly printed superbly illustrated, and explains in every detail the remarkable success of CHARLES MARVIN and the whole plans and methods pursued at Palo Alto as to breaking, training, shoeing, gaiting, driving, keeping, racing and breeding trotters.

Read what J. C. Silby, the owner of St. Bel, says of this book: "In this work Marvin has let out all the mysteries of the craft, and it is so simple and plain that any breeder, owner, trainer or rubber who has any relish for his business can take a colt as a yearling and develope to the highest and fullest extent that colt's capacity as a trotter. The work impressed me so strongly that I have ordered twenty copies, and shall place one in the hands of every rubber on our farm.

P. C. T. H. B. A. RACES AT OAKLAND

Superb Sport Witnessed by Fair-Sized Audiences—Surprises Galore the First Two Days—All the Events Described.

Many were the adverse opinions expressed regarding the new track at Emeryville. It was claimed by some that it would be "slow," but to-day's races proved otherwise, and a more delighted audience never wended their way home than that which passed through the gates this evening.

The weather was delightful, and its balmy influence was felt by many who came over out of curiosity to see if the light-harness horse races were as good as they were a few years ago. The grandstand contained a large number of ladies and their escorts, while the betting ring was better filled than the one at Ingleside was last year when the meeting opened there. Mingling with the crowd were many whose faces were familiar to all of the trotting-horse fraternity, and hand-shakings and greetings were the order of the day.

Among the two thousand there we noticed D. E. Knight, Thos. H. Williams (President of the California Jockey Club), S. N. Androus (Pesident of the Pacific Coast Jockey Club), Claus Spreckels, J. D. Spreckels, J. J. Crooks, P. E. Dalton, D. M. Burns, Lee Rose, Jos. Cairn Simpson, T. J. Crowley, Wm. Vioget, E. Sanders, H. W. Meek, W. Meek, E. Sweasy, F. F. Moulton, Jas. W. Rea, Harry Agnew, Geo. T. Beckers, Benj. Harris, Dr. Masoero, John A. McKerron, P. Jarboe, E. Erkenbrecher, W. Stimson, Park Henshaw, P. Farrell, C. A. Hug, John A. Boyd, H. P. Perkins, Harry Wise, Fred Mercker, A. J. Martin, A. Rosenbaum, J. McKenzie, J. O'Kane, H. M. Copeland, J. M. Hale, P. J. Crimmins, Chas. Breidenstein, O. N. Reynolds, J. N. Nelson, W. Murray, Robt. Milroy, Louis Lissak, W. Godfrey, S. H. Crane, Major J. L. Rathbone, J. Sutherland, Robt. Woods, Prof. E. P. Heald, J. Hughes, Wm. Schmidt, T. S. Montgomery, Henry Pierce, Ira Pierce, F. S. Malone, C. S. Crittenden, Wm. Cunningham, S. E. Kent, H. A. Ranlett, Supervisor Church, Mr. Emery, Dr. H. Latham, Judge W. E. Greene, Milo Knox, J. F. Farley, J. Marlin, Chas. Davis, Geo. Woods, Jas. Young, R. Clary, P. Brandon, D. Cool, W. Donathan, Messrs. Buckman and Carragher, F. W. Talbot, Geo. T. Covey, Allen Mayhew, Dr. I. Barker Dalzell, Dr. G. W. Stimpson and many others.

The starts were good, the betting showed that the wave of prosperity has at last struck California, and the racing superior to anything we have had at any opening meeting on the circuit; the drivers looked well, and not a fine was levied, every one trying to do their best. The arrangements were perfect and not a murmur or complaint was heard. The idea of cooling out the horses in the paddock is most excellent, and this place was thronged with many admirers of the handsome horses.

The judges' stand was occupied by A. H. Cohen, John F. Boyd and Robert S. Brown, the timers were: T. J. Crowley, Geo. Berry and Thos. Pierson. Frank W. Covey acted as starter, and his work in this trying position gave entire satisfaction.

For the opening event, which was for the 2:19 class trotting, there were ten entries, and a finer lot of good-looking horses (such as would find buyers in any part of the world) never faced a starter. The drivers were attired in neat fitting satin suits and seemed to take pride in trying to obey the injunctions of Starter Covey as they scored for the word. The beautiful Eros mare Dione was made first choice in the betting at $20, the field $20, and Peko $7. Poolseller J. N. Killip was taken suddenly ill in the morning and his place was taken in the box by Messrs Eismann and Common. Before the horses were given the word more money had been wagered than at any opening event in the history of this thriving organization.

When the field of horses was sent away Jack W. by Waldstein was seen to forge to the front, Dione at his wheel and Iran Alto a length further away, the balance were strung along in one-two-three order. At the three-quarter pole Iran Alto broke and fell back, Peko moving up in his place. Dione passed up and was abreast of Jack W., as the home stretch was reached, when the latter slipped away from her and opened a gap of four lengths at the paddock gate. Haas, his driver, looking back, slowed up and jogged in an easy winner in the excellent time of 2:12¾, Dione a length and a half behind. Iran Alto had passed those who had trotted by him and was third, Columbus fourth, a half length in front of Peko, the rest straggling in.

The backers of Dione saw in an instant the Humboldt horse was too speedy for her and they determined to "hedge," so their money poured into the auction box coffers at the following odds: Jack W. $20, field $7, Dione 5. Jack W. led his field like a drum major, and as Haas, his driver, looked back coming near the judges' stand, he eased up on his grandly-gaited horse so as to allow all the balance inside the distance mark. The battle for place between Peko and Columbus S. was won by a nose by the latter, with Faro Bank fourth. Dione came in a tired seventh, time 2:16.

When the word was given in the next heat Jack W., near the pole, began to bob up and down and before he got level he was away back in the race. Dick Havey with the Palo Alto mare Peko took advantage of the discomfiture of the favorite and was soon in the lead, and remained there to the wire. Jack W. came very fast from the half home, passing every horse but the leader, but she managed to keep in front until the goal was reached, winning in 2:18¾ by a neck. Columbus S. was third and running, so the judges set him back to a further place behind Iran Alto, Clay S. fifth again.

H. Haas, the driver of Jack W., used a little more discretion in getting his horse away in the next heat and had no trouble in getting him to lead his companions all the way home. Nina L., a heretofore unknown one in the race, making a sprint at the finish, came in second, a head in front of Peko. Time, 2:18.

The winner, Jack W., is a large, well-formed, dark, chestnut stallion, sired by the great Waldstein, 2:22, out of an old mare by Rifleman, son of imp. Glencoe, and was bred in Humboldt county. He got a record of 2:19 two years ago, but this year he was placed in Mr. Haas' hands, and bids fair to trot well inside the 2:10 mark before the circuit ends. He belongs to Dr. Otterman of Eureka.

The next race was for the 2:13 class trotters. All kinds of opinions were expressed as to the merits of the performers, and everyone seemed to be at sea as to which should win. Ethel Downs was installed favorite at $20; the field, $15, and Mamie Griffin, $8. There were no long delays at the post, Starter Covey sending them away on even terms. Walter Maben, the favorite reinsman of Los Angeles, was behind Galette, and before one hundred yards were passed he had this daughter of Jud Wilkes in the lead. Ethel Downs was at her sulky wheel, and Zombro and Jasper Ayres were battling side by side for a better position all along the backstretch and down past the three quarter pole. Jasper left the great Zombro here and soon had a length the best of Ethel Downs, while Galette was doing her best in the lead. Coming toward the goal Jasper was rapidly overtaking the mare, but he made a skip and fell back, being beaten a neck by his rival in 2:12½; Ethel Downs third, in front of Mamie Griffin, Challenger and Zombro.

Pools on second heat sold: Field, $10; Jasper Ayres, $8. This heat was a repetition of the first, Jasper Ayres making a sprint at the finish exactly in the same place, but he passed under the wire on a gallop, a head behind Galette. Mamie Griffin was third, a mile and a half behind and half a length in front of Ethel Downs. Challenger Chief was fifth and Zombro last. Time, 2:13¼.

Galette won the last heat in 2:14; Jasper Ayres second, and Zombro, who made a keen fight for a good position, showed some of his old-time speed and gameness, notwithstanding a swelled knee, and was a good third, one length behind the leaders.

Galette, the winner, is a black mare, by Jud Wilkes, 2:29 (son of Ira Wilkes), out of Gale, by Dictator. She was recently purchased by Mr. E. Erchenbrecher, a wealthy young man of Los Angeles, for $400, and in Walter Maben's hands will prove to be one of the best trotters in the California circuit. P. W. Hodges drove her last season and won many races with her.

Everyone was on the qui vive to see the field of green side-wheelers come out, and the absence of hobbles on most of them shows that these articles, called "leg jewelry," are not considered the safest things to have even on a pacer nowadays. There were fourteen entries and as they jogged past the judges stand they presented a pretty sight. There is always a chance for speculation in races of this kind and the public is never backward in taking advantage of it. Annie Rooney, a remarkably well-made, handsome chestnut mare, was not installed favorite, the field being the kind bettors wanted. They gave $20 for $10 on Joe Wheeler and $8 on Annie Rooney. J. J. Crooks, who represented Mr. Rudolph Spreckels, the owner of this mare, backed her heavily. When Covey gave them the word Blue Bells, Prince H., Floraceta and Adjunct took the lead, Annie Rooney dropped back until she was ten lengths behind the leaders and was apparently "pocketed," but her driver, Overholser, managed to get her clear in the backstretch, and at the half was close to the front. Going down the three-quarter pole the mare seemed to fly and at the head of the stretch was abreast of them. She led to the wire and won in 2:17. Prince H. was second, Adjutant third, Floraceta fourth, the rest straggling in.

The ease with which she won the heat and the smooth, frictionless way she had of going caused those who bet against her to flock to the auction pools and "hedge." She sold for $10 against $12 for the entire field.

Everyone watched the flying Annie in the next heat, for she led from start to finish, Floraceta being the only one apparently able to give her any encouragement to go faster. Aleka, a big, fine-looking sire of Chas. Derby, was a good third and Beau Brummel, a son of Wildnut, belonging to the Santa Rosa Stock Farm, was fourth. Blue Bells, Adjutant, F. W., Cleon, Waywood and Floretta Belle and Prince H. landing inside the distance flag. De Bernardi Basler choked down in the backstretch, throwing his driver, Hodges, out, but not injuring him. Joe Wheeler and Lynette were distanced.

Annie Rooney won the last heat and race in 2:18½ without being extended to her full limit. Floraceta was a close second and Beau Brummel third. The summary will tell the rest of the tale.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 3.

Favorites fared badly at Oakland this afternoon—in fact, threw their admirers far out into the Lake of Despondency and kept them there until the last race was over. The buyers of "field" tickets had mouths that expanded and expanded until at the conclusion of the festivities their faces reminded one of a ripe summer moon. Prince Ansel, by Dexter Prince-Woodflower, winner of the first event, a special trot for two-year-olds, is one of the sweetest-gaited youngsters we have seen come down a homestretch or backstretch in a long time, and Dr. Frasse, the Iran Alto colt which secured second money, is both game and speedy, and with a little more track experience will assuredly make a great name for himself, for it was only his unsteadiness that encompassed his defeat. Det Bigelow's superb driving of Prince Ansel called forth the plaudits of the assemblage, and he richly deserved the round of applause tendered. His charge is the first two-year-old Dexter Prince that ever entered the 2:30 list. Our Boy took the 2:13 class pace in straight heats and Our Jack the class trot after losing the fourth heat, cleverly won by the Palo Alto-bred Palo Alto, Pasonte.

Prince Ansel was the original choice in the two-year-old trot, but along toward post-time he and Dr. Frasse brought $10 each, Lynhood, the remaining youngster, $7. Det Bigelow rushed Prince Ansel to the front as soon as "the word" was given, and as Dr. Frasse "went up" on the first turn, the leader was not headed. However, Lynhood made up about four lengths from the head of the homestretch, where the prince tired a bit. Time, 2:33½. In the second and last heat Dr. Frasse broke again, losing perhaps ten lengths, and though he came like a bull dog after Prince Ansel, that colt managed, through the able pilotage of Bigelow, to win by a length in 2:29½—pretty good for a two-year-old so early in the action.

In the 2:13 class pace, before the first heat, Arthur L. (son of the great little Direct) sold for $10, the field $10, Our Boy for $8. There was lots of Our Boy money, too, to exchange for tickets at the above rates. Arthur L. tangled up badly on the first turn and had to be pulled down to a walk Allie Cresco set the pace, leading by five lengths past the quarter and on the backstretch, Dudley and Our Boy close together. The pair behind steadily drew up to the mare, especially Our Boy, and when he reached her neck she softly said, "Take it, and mercy upon your soul," the Boy winning with ease by six lengths, Dudley second, half as far from the wee Petaluman, Plunket. Time, 2:19½. Before the second heat there was lively speculatien at the following figures: Our Boy, $15; the field, $12; Arthur L., $8. Our Boy went out in a most business-like way, making every pole a winning one, and, eased up, finishing a block in front of the second horse, Dudley, Roan Wilkes third, within long distance telephone range. Time, 2:16½. The judges, with the consent of owner and driver, substituted Jimmy Sullivan for Chapman before the third and last heat, and although he was beautifully nursed to the homestretch and then sent along, Our Boy, leading throughout, won in a jog, Arthur L. second and Plunket third. Time—2:17½. Our Boy's easy win leads us to predict that he will come very close to being a 2:10 pacer before the circuit is closed.

When the twelve 2:30 horses appeared many were the speculations which should win, Osito being the only holder of a record. Pools sold: The field, $10; Pasonte, $5; Osito, $5. Our Jack, one of the fielders, a fine bay gelding, by Steinway, ably driven by James Sullivan, won the first heat, with Osito a half length away, Shelby third, the rest in singles and pairs along the homestretch. Richmond Chief was set back from third position by the judges to twelfth place, which was a pretty severe punishment, as the horse lost ground when he broke, but when he got straightened trotted away from his field. The time made in this heat was 2:21½. Our Jack's splendid exhibition made him a strong favorite, but the holders of Paris mutuel tickets on him felt sore when the heat ended, for Our Jack got pocketed at the start and the blue roan stallion, Richmond Chief, as if to get even on the judges for setting him back, trotted to the front and came in a winner by two lengths from Osito in 2:22½. Joe, by Pilot Prince, who developed running horse qualities of a high degree also got settled in this heat and came in third. Ned Thorn was also close up and acting well. Pasonte was fifth and the favorite sixth.

There was a scramble among the speculators to get their money on Richmond Chief, and many a ten-dollar piece was played on him against $6 on the field and $6 on Our Jack. The latter was sent along for all he was worth from the word "go," Richmond Chief hanging on gamely to the half, where the Boy broke. Sullivan pulled him together quickly, however, and catching the Chief opposite the paddock, beat him out a head after a sharp fight, the roan pulling up quite lame. Osito was third. Time, 2:22. Though it now looked all over but the whooping, Jack broke when about twenty feet of the wire, and Pasonte, with a wonderful rush, just beat him out, as did Osito. Time, 2:19½. The opinion now gaining ground that Jack was getting shaky, there was money in plenty to wager against him, pools going: Our Jack, $10; Pasonte, $6; the field, $6 Osito and Joe trotted in close order to the far turn, with Our Jack strictly in the hunt. Here Joe fell back beaten, and is looked Osito's heat, but Sullivan sent Jack along on the outside like a Kansas cyclone on a lone shanty, winning in the most surprising fashion by a good length, Osito second, Harry Marvin third. Time, 2:21½. Though it was nearly 7 o'clock, no murmurs of disapprobation were heard, and the crowd came home well satisfied with the afternoon's sport. Following are the

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 4.

The attendance today was very light, the programme not being one that would draw a large crowd. There were but two regular events on the card and a special. The first was for the three-year-old trotters and only three appeared. Nordeau, by Norris, Lynall by Lynmont, and Cordray by Coeur D'Alene. Nordeau was the favorite at 10 to 6, but in the first heat she made several breaks and lost considerable ground, Cordray taking the lead. Havey got Nordeau settled and passed the last-named filly winning by a length. Time, 2:25½. Cordray staggering at the wire and fell down. His driver withdrew him from the race as he seemed to be badly distressed. W. Hogoboom, the young man who trained Lynall having been confined to his room, his place was taken by his brother, H. Hogoboom, and, as he did not thoroughly understand the disposition or manner of driving this gelding, the showing made was not as good as expected. Nordeau getting in the lead in the first two heats won easily in 2:31 and and 2:32. Nordeau will be heard from hereafter and so will Lynall.

The next race was for the 2:17 class pacers. The entries were Adele, Bess H., Meridian, Visalia, Sophie R., Estelle Wilkes and Roseman. Visalia had been converted for the trotting gait and many thought she would win. Meridian being known as a remarkably fast pacar he was made favorite selling at $25, Visalia $16 and field, $10 and Auctioneer Eismann had all the lively work he could do for some time previous to the heat.

Starter Covey started them off on even terms, Meridian being a little headstrong broke twice on the first time so all his chances for winning the heat were lost. Estelle Wilkes led to the half with Bess H. and Sophie R., behind her. At the head of the homestretch, Estelle fell back in the stretch and Adele came like a whirlwind, passed every horse in the race and won by two lengths in 2:20½.

The scoring in the second heat was marred by the erratic actions of Adele, the winner of the preceding heat. Starter Covey levied a fine of $10 on Mr. Lieginger, the driver, but it was plainly the fault of his mare, for no driver could do better with her. However, the field got away very evenly. Estelle Wilkes and Sophie R. leading, Meridian dropped back ten lengths behind them at the half, but from there home, Moorhead, the driver of this game son of Simmocolon, made up for lost time and lost space, and soon passed those in front of him. Sophie R. fell back in the homestretch as if there was no hope for her to win. Meridian won amid great applause from his backers in 2:19. The driving of his owner, Mr. Moorhead, stamps him as a general in a sulky.

The other two heats were won in hollow fashion by this horse and the way he won them was exactly the same. He does not seem to get away from the post fast, but on the homestretch he comes to the wire like Klamath, and nothing seems to be able to make him break or cause him to falter. The summary shows how he won these heats and the race, and made the hearts of his backers leap for joy.

The third event called a Butcher's Race was a tame procession and as one old cleaver wielder remarked, whoever 'sausage' such a race." It was a procession, Butcher Boy outclassing his competitors so far that a heavy cart did not handicap him for he won as he liked in 2:29½ and 2:38½ and then in the last heat paced a hundred and twenty yards ahead of the of the trio and distanced them easily in 2:27. He was prepared for the races by Dan Mizner of Petaluma. Following are the

The racing today was of high order and the crowd lingered until the last heat of one of the best contested races between three-year-olds in California was decided. The attendance was an improvement on that of yesterday and the card was a good one. The sun shone brightly and the track was in splendid condition. Starter Cover had very little trouble getting the horses away and the decisions of the judges (as they have since the meeting began) met with approval. D. E. Knight of Marysville acted as one of the judges.

The first race was a special betwen Prof. E. P. Heald's Pilot Prince and Park Henshaw's horse Chico. It was won by the former in two heats, time 2:24¼ and 2:22¾. The winner is a splendid individual and one of the best bred Dexter Princes in California. The next race was a special for the members of the Alameda Driving Club. In the betting Much Better sold for $10 against $5 for the field. A. H. Cohen held the ribbons over the faverite and drove like a veteran, winning both heats and the race in 2:29 and 2:25¼. King Cadenza was second in the first heat and the gray mare Unita the concluding heat. The winner is a well-made bay mare bred at the Oakwood Park Stock Farm and is owned at present by Dr. C. G. Bull, President of the Alameda Driving Association. She was sired by Chas. Derby 2:20 out of None Better 2:23¾ by Allandorf, second dam Carrie (dam of Strong Boy 2:12, etc.) by Bashaw 50. She is a pacer.

The next event was for the 2:16 class trotters for a purse of $600. The entries were Galette, Humboldt Maid, Lady O, Margaret Worth, Conn, Faro Bank, Clay, Santa Anita. Everyone conceded that Galette would win if she did not fall down. Galette won easily and could have gone faster, all interest was centered in the battle between that game little mare, Humboldt Maid and Margaret Worth for place horses in the first two heats. In fact, the interest of the audience was centered in the struggle between these two. In the third heat O. Marchand with Lady O. captured the place honors by a superb piece of driving. Holders of Paris mutuel tickets on his mare consider it one of the best exhibitions of driving they had ever seen. For every two dollars they invested they received $$19.55 as their share of the pools.

The next race was one long to be remembered by everyone who witnessed it; by the time standard it was one of the best driving in the meeting. It was a race for three-year-old pacers. The entries were Hijo del Diablo, Majella B. Arthur W. and De Bernardi Basler. Pools sold: Hijo del Diablo $15, the balance selling in the field at $7. When the word was given Basler was over a length behind the trio. The Diablo colt was at the half in 1:07 with Majella B. and Basler a length behind. Around to the three-quarter pole Basler moved up and was at Diablo's sulky wheel all the way to the wire, Hodges and Murray driving as if a $10,000 stake depended upon them. Diablo was the winner by half a length Time 2:16½. The last quarter in 32 seconds. Basler was timed separately in 2:16¼ in this heat. Leading to the stretch in the next heat, much to the surprise of his backers, the Diablo colt was outfooted in the stretch and defated by Basler in 2:16¼.

The excitement of the people at this remarkable exhibition of speed between these babies ran high. The big Wayland W. colt, Arthur W. and the smooth-turned mare Majella B. were also evenly matched regarding speed and paced their miles well inside of 2:20. There was a rush to the pool box and the field sold for $8 (including Diablo) against $20 on Basler when the pacers came out again. Basler captured the next heat Diablo being unsteady and falling back to the last position in the homestretch. Arthur W. was second and Majella B. third. Time 2:21¾.

Diablo's hobbles had broken in the preceding heat and a new pair substituted, which was one cause for his poor showing.

In the next heat was properly rigged and the battle he gave Basler down the homestretch was one which reminded us of the great races made by his sire, Diablo, a few years ago. It was a whipping finish from the seven-eighths pole, but the Diablo was the speediest and came in a winner in 2:17¾. Hats were thrown in the air and everybody became excited.

Basler had been cut off after the word had been given in this heat and the remarkably good fight made by this colt under the circumstances stamps him as a race horse of a high order.

In the next and concluding heat Diablo won the heat and race, Arthur W. coming in second, Basler third and Majella B. last. Time 2:21¾. The backers of the Diablo colt almost lifted Murray, his driver, off the ground. It was a well-earned victory but in the field he vanquished he met others that are in every way worthy to be his competitors.

De Bernardini Basler was sired by Robert Basler, 2:20 (son of Antevolo 2:19¼) and his dam was Peerless Maid by Strathway 2:17 (son of Steinway 2:25½ second dam Susie K. by Alaric, son of Hercules, thoroughbred. He was bred by R. O. Newman of Visalia, Cal. Hijo del Diablo (Spanish for the little Devil), was sired by Diablo 2:09½, out of the mare Bonner Jr., son of Bonner (a brother to Whipple, he by Whipple's Hambletonian out of Maria Mink (dam of the sire Whipple, sire of 2 in the list) by Capt. Fisher, etc. This colt was bred by Ross Hansen of Isleton, Sacramento county, and has only been in William Murray's hands a little over six weeks.

HOOF-BEATS.

A HARRIS starting gate will be used at the coming Glenbrook Park meeting. One was shipped yesterday.

ANYONE desiring to secure the services of a thorough horseman to break or train thoroughbreds can do so for a reasonable sum by addressing "W. S.," this office.

JOHNNY WEBER put Terrier over the plate a winner at St. Louis on Tuesday last. Schreiber's Siva, Slaughter up, on the same day won at five and one-half furlongs.

ELSIE FERGUSON, a Rancho del Paso-bred mare, by Longfield, has won many races at the Windsor meeting. Last Tuesday she ran six furlongs in 1:14 flat. She won again on Tuesday.

FRED DAY, a once well-known jockey, is dead at the Norwegian Hotel, Brooklyn, from internal hemorrhages. He was found last Saturday at the beach at Coney Island in a semi-conscious condition.

AT the Brighton (Eng.) meeting last Tuesday Richard Croker's two-year-old colt, Leather Stocking, ran second to Valide for the Patchen Stakes, and Mr. Croker's Americus (Rey del Carreres) finished second to Orthery in the Marine Plate.

RUINART is muscle-sore at Saratoga and can hardly raise a gallop. Porter Ashe, who has gone to "the Springs" will be bitterly disappointed, as great things were expected of his grand handicap horse. Ben Brush, one of the best horses in training, pulled up very lame in the Midsummer Handicap, won by the Californian, Sir Walter.

SAM SUMMERFIELD, the well-known bookmaker, comes out strongly in defense of Barney Schreiber in the Chicago Inter-Ocean over the insult offered the genial German by a reporter regarding Blitheful's running in the Caddie C. race. He declares Barney has not a crooked hair in his head, never even thinks of doing any wrong, and declares any one who says to the contrary lies.

C. T. PATTERSON has bought of H. P. Headley the latter's interest in the race horse Ornament, on a basis of $14,000. Ornament is by imp Order out of Victorine, by Onondaga, and has won in his turf career about $70.000. He won the Melbourne stake, Kentucky Futurity, Double Event and Flatbush stakes as a two-year-old and the Latonia, St. Louis and Oakley Derbies and Himyar stakes this year.—Lexington (Ky.) dispatch of August 4th.

LONDON, August 5.—At the third day's racing of the Brighton August meeting today, Richard Croker's brown colt Leather Stockings ran a dead heat with Daisy Wreath filly in the race for the crown plate. This event is for two-year-olds. There were ten starters, the course being about five furlongs. Mr. Croker's five-year-old bay horse Americus won the Southdown plate. This race is of 200 sovereigns, and the distance six furlongs. There were four starters.

HAMBURG carried 134 lbs. and won the Congress Hall stakes at Saratoga last Wednesday and broke the track record for five furlongs by half a second. The Hanover colt led from start to finish, conceded everything in the race from 15 to 35 pounds, and is pronounced the best two-year-old in America. He should be a good one, as he is by the greatest racer of the day, from Lady Reel by Fellowcraft. She is a half-sister to the wonderful Domino, the heaviest American winner.

PETRONEL, one of the stallions of the Cobham Stud, England, died suddenly Saturday, July 3, from the rupture of an artery. Petronel was a brown horse, bred by the Duke of Beaufort at Badminton, foaled 1877, and was by Musket (sire of Carbine, Trenton, Chain Shot, etc), out of Crytheis, by Hesperus. His most important victory on the turf was the Two Thousand Guineas in 1880, which he won by a head from Muncaster, who was three-quarters of a length in front of The Abbot. He may win many other races, including the Doncaster Cup, in which he beat Tristan and two others. Petronel had comparatively few chances at the stud until he was sent to Cobham. The best of his get thus far were Son of a Gun and Ragimunde.

REVIVAL OF HARNESS RACING.—Nearly thirty thousand people on the Hartford track the day that Star Pointer beat John R. Gentry. Twenty-one thousand tickets sold by the Washington Park officials when the great pacer gained a victory over Joe Patchen. Both of these immense assemblages were due to the appearance of the pacing kings of the track, and, therefore, it might be termed, that it was not a fair token of harness sports of an inferior class regaining the popularity of former days. But there have been crowds of such goodly dimensions at nearly all points in the middle and eastern parts of the country, where the bright planets did not appear, that it is safe to claim that there has been a genuine revival of interest in the performances of trotters and pacers, and that in place of it being a transitory excitement the truly American recreation has gained its former prestige, with good promise of still better times for harness-racing tracks and owners of horses that can successfully compete on them. From present indications California will also have a revival.

Few, indeed, who had any faith in the success of the meetings which preceded the State Fair. With so many horses away, big stables on a pilgrimage, and smaller establishments keeping them company, it was held that entries would be wanting, and, should the offerings be accepted, light fields of of starters and sparse attendance.

The entries published in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN for the meeting ch have closed do away with any necessity for amplification on that feature, the starters on the opening day of The Breeders' Meeting, viz., ten in the 2:19 trot, six in the 2:13 trot, and fourteen in the 2:25 pace, thirty in all, being ample proof that this second important point was also decided in favor of the hopeful division. The attendance on the opening day came fully up to the expectations.

There were quite a number of people in the grand stand, a due proportion of which were ladies, a fair quota of speculators in the bourse, and when the horses were taken into the saddling paddock previous to, and between the heats, many critical observors sought to obtain a line to guide them in their investments.

The full account of the races in this number does away with the necessity for further elaboration in the special department, and though about the only contest was in the 2:13 trot, when Jasper Ayres battled with Galette, with somewhat of a struggle in the 2:25 pace, there were points of interest which fully repaid a visit to the track. The performance of Jack W. can be cited as the notable event of the day, and so far as can be determined by one race the stoutly built chestnut is likely to take a high position among California-bred celebrities of the tracks. Should he get on one of the upper rounds of the ladder, which Arion, Palo Alto, Directum, Sunol, Flying Jib and several others have climbed, it will give him a conspicuous place, and that the topmost rung is not an inaccessible peak to the son of Waldstein and Bessie Rifleman is conceded by many of the experts of horsedom. With the exception of the third heat, in which he made the disastrous double-break, soon after the word was given, he was going at his ease, and there is no counter voices when the claim is made that quite a reduction from 2:12¾ was within his capacity.

A remarkable coincidence that the time of St. Julien, when he secured the world's record on the same ground in 1879, should be equaled in the first regular race that has been decided on the reconstructed track, and when that is accepted as an augury of future greatness it is not as far-fetched as other prophesies that have been verified. His dam is claimed to "be strictly thoroughbred," by Rifleman, and her dam by Shiloh, and as Waldstein's second dam was by a son of imp. Trustee, there is the stoutest kind of "backing" to the Director and Electioneer.

Dione was evidently not "up to a race," though she was not far behind in the fast heat, and should she have no further drawbacks—sick a short time ago—there may be "brackets" opposite her name before the circuit is ended.

The victory, in straight heats, of Annie Rooney in the 2:25 pacing, brought the opening day of the "grand circuit" to a close, and as Annie is the property of Mr. Rudolph Spreckels, there is a general concurrence in the opinion that Mr. S. will become a supporter of harness-racing, and that on a scale commensurate with his financial standing, which is very high.

The second day, Tuesday, August 3, brought out three two-year-olds, of more than ordinary promise. Each worthy of high commendation and "more than likely" to gain prominence. Prince Ansel, the winner, has a "near infusion" which certainly has not impaired his powers, being both fast and steady. The grandson of my prime favorite, Palo Alto, Dr. Frasse, will surely go very fast if nothing happens him, and that he will stay is beyond all reasonable question, after demonstrating in the last quarter of the second heat that he could carry a very fast clip to the end of the mile. Lynhood, too, is well worthy of favorable mention, so that this trio of youngsters can be set down as having a bright prospect before them.

Our Boy won the 2:13 class pacing so easily as to divest that race of interest, though the 2:30 class trotting was a horse race, fairly speckled with notable marks, as the account will show. The winner Our Jack is another good one to the long list of celebreties bred at the Oakwood Park Stock Farm. Richmond Chief demonstrated that in point of gameness he is no discredit to his grandsire, A. W. Richmond, and a flight of speed, notwithstanding lameness, that would entirely disable a majority of stout horses, was, to say the least, surprising. Pasonte will "bear watching" and I am greatly mistaken if after a few more races she does not add to the already high fame of her sire. Outside of the heat winners, Osita showed the best, and Joe also proved that he possessed a combination of speed and erraticism.

Nordeau by Norris from Miss Maude, won the three-year-old purse on the third day and gave satisfactory evidence that she is a worthy representative of the great breeding farm where she was bred and reared. Like so many of the Palo Alto celebrities, the thoroughbred blood is close up and on both sides, too, as Norris is a son of Norma, and Nordean's grandam by Wildidle.

The pacers, so far, have been somewhat of a disappointment in the way of making fast time, though the races which they have participated in were good contests, though Meridian outclassed his opponents in the 2.17 class, while Visalia will have to improve a good deal before she ranks as high at the lowest gait as she did when she gained when trotting.

The fourth day brought out a field of three-year-old pacers that are sure to gain celebrity if fortunate enough to escape bad fortune. Five heats necessary to decide whether Diablo, the younger, or Bernadillo Basler was the best, and the big son of Wayland W. showed handiness almost wonderful. Tripped by the hobbles he went down, some claiming that his knees touched the ground, and he rose pacing.

The time of the heats close, and so far these foals of 1894 are entitled to the best pacing performances made on the new track.

I am greatly in hopes to state in the next number of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN that the attendance on the fifth and sixth days clearly proved that the revival of harness racing had extended to this section. A capital bill for today, the last of the meeting, should bring out a "big crowd."

"HIGH FA-LU-TIN."—If not a "dictionary word," the one used for this caption is certainly appropriate, especially when emphasized with a trio of hyphens. The extract was cut from the Detroit Free Press:

Detroit race-goers have not seen John R. Gentry since he first flashed into prominence here by winning a sensational race at the grand circuit meeting of 1894. Since then he has gained the world's record, the champion stallion record and the race record, and has defeated at one time or another every great pacer of the day. Gentry is traveling in horse show style now, as becomes the king of the turf. Lewis G. Tewksbury, the wealthy New York banker, who purchased the stallion last winter for $19,900, has spent a good deal more money than he paid for both John R. Gentry and Robert J. in fitting out his two turf champions with a palace horse car, a retinue of attendants and a campaigning equipment which have been the talk of the horse world for some months past. Although the world-beaters are the only horses in Mr. Tewksbury's campaigning stable, there are ten men on the staff. John Haines, the old-time New York opera manager, who brought out Adelina Patti, is the manager of the stable. Gurney Gue, of the New York Sun, is putting in his summer vacation as advance agent of for the pacing kings. E. R. Bowne, the talented young reinsman who was formerly a member of the New York Exchange, trains and drives Mr. Tewksbury's crack-a-jacks, and he has a private secretary and stenographer, J. F. Willicombe; an expert farrier, Lewis A. Bellis, who doesn't do a thing but look after the shoeing of Gentry and Robert J., besides whom their are five grooms and helpers to care for the horses and handle their elaborate trappings.

One end of the private car in which the horses travel while they are out on the circuit is fitted up in sumptuous style as a combined drawing room and sleeping compartment for Trainer Bowne, Manager Haines, Shoer Bellis and Secretary Willicombe. The room is finely finished and furnished and looks more like a finely appointed bachelor's apartment than like a section of a railroad car. Sporting prints, portraits of famous horses and silk hangings adorn the walls, and costly rugs are spread upon the floor. Off this compartment is a private dressing-room fitted up like a Pullman sleeping car. The horses and their paraphernlia, together with sleeping quarters for the attendants, fill the other end of the car.

Bellis carries a complete blacksmith shop, which is set up under a tent wherever the horses go, and there is a larger office tent where the other paraphernalia of the stable is placed on view. The equipment throughout is most elaborate and luxurious, and the effect is enhanced by the fact that every detail of the outfit is carried out in gold and black, the chosen colors of the Tewksbury stables. Even the grooms wear neat, dressy uniforms, and the soaking tubs, pails, brooms, pitchfolks and everything else about the stable are embellished with the gold and black.

That Mr. Tewksbury has a clear title to surround his two famous "sidewheelers" with all the pomp described in the above quotation is beyond controversy. A manager that has held the same position with the world-renowned cantatrice is not out of place when put in charge of nine other men and the king and ex-king of the pacing world. One an auricular delectation, the other gladdens the eye, with the greater advantage of a stage that dwarfs that of the largest theater in the world. That the manager has a private secretary and stenographer and a gorgeously fitted "palace-on-wheels" is in harmony with other parts of the grand panoply, and the gonfalon of black and gold is peculiarly appropriate, as it is a token that plenty of oro can relieve the somberness typified by the dark streaks.

A second Barnum this showman of the pacers. So far in the lead of all who have preceded him in that field there is no chance for comparision.

The owner of the great Harkaway put that "horse of the century" in a tent and charged a half crown or a crown for tickets of admission, but that vulgar way of conducting the business has been greatly improved upon, if even there is still an odor of th original taint.

Eoff was the inventor and high priest of the hippodrome when he took Princess from this country in 1859 to star with Flora Temple, but Budd Doble improved on the plan Dexter being his first performer on the show stage and then came Goldsmith Maid, Nancy Hanks, et. al. "Bud" had a private secretary when Goldsmith Maid was brought to the coast the second time, and may have been known to the manager of the gold and brown, when he went one better by adding a stenographer and advance agent.

Perfectly legitimate business on the part of Mr. Tewksbury to engage in this theatrical venture, but it is not good policy for harness-racing associations to make the scheme profitable by paying large sums for the stars to appear on these tracks. No matter if there is present profit in that kind of specials, any kind in fact, except additions to fill gaps in programmes, being detrimental to the regular sport

The Cleveland Association has firmly resisted the blandishments of harness-horse showmen, and the position it holds is the best proof of the wisdom of its policy. Years ago coercion was attempted. The man who was then manager of the star, and who had in addition to the "drawing card" a large stable in his charge, refused to make entries unless he was paid a large amount for the exhibition of the queen of the tracks. Colonel Edwards could not be moved by threats or the solicitations of the denied members of the association, and though prosperous before, it is not going too far to say that not a single association in the country has a higher standing; flourishing pecuniarly, a model for others to follow. Humbug may pay, "highfalution" may attract public notice, true sport victorious in the end.

THE SULKY.

F. W. Covey as a starting judge is a success.

Do not forget to send in entries to the San Jose meeting.

Remember the great auction sale of trotting stock next Wednesday at Killip & Co's salesyard.

If you are in need of a sulky you will make no mistake if you get a "Toomey." It is the best made.

St. Andrie, a bay gelding by St. Bel, was driven to a record of 2:23½ by Chas. Marvin, July 22d.

There will be some grandly bred trotters sold Wednesday at Killip & Co.'s salesyard. Do not fail to attend.

The Marysville meeting commences next Monday. Great preparations are being made to receive all visitors.

El Diablo, by Diablo,2:09¼, has been sent to Los Angeles. He was shipped on the same car with McKinney, 2:11¼.

Van Bokkelen has a money winner in the Altoona mare, May B., in Montana. She is always inside the money.

Col. Dan M. Buens has joined the P. C. T. H. B. Association, and no doubt will take an active interest in its affairs.

Lady Bird, a three-year-old filly by Bay Bird, earned a record of 2:28¼ at Anaconda, July 13th. Bay Bird is at Rancho del Paso.

L. 96, by Electricity, lowered his record to 2:21¾, at Akron, Ohio, July 22d. He is also known as Wilder and is out of May by Wildidle.

Javelin won the 2:14 class pace at Detroit, Mich., July 24th, in 2:10½, 2:11½, and 2:10. She seems to be the mainstay of Salisbury's string.

Searchlight, the great three year-old pacer, has a mark of 2:09¼ now. This ties the record made by Agitato at the State Fair, Sacramento, last year.

Athanio, 2:11¾, came up to third position in the third heat won by Derby Princess at Detroit in the 2:10 class pace. The heat was won in 2:11¾.

The horse business is improving in California and the Breeder and Sortrman is keeping up with the procession.—North Pacific Rural Spirit.

Zombro, 2:13, under Chas. Durfee's guidance, will be lowering his record before many weeks. He is a good, reliable trotting horse in any company.

The Miss Sidney, who won the 2:35 class trotting race, is the first Eastern-bred Sidney to win a race; she is out of a mare by Dan Cossack. Time, 2:25½, 2:25¼ and 2:26½.

Flowing Tide is the name of a new comer to the pacing ranks. She is by Norval, out of Eva, and won the 2:45 pace at Quincy, Ill., in 2:25, 2:27 and 2:27½ on Monday last.

Conrad 5381, brother to Anteeo, Antevolo, Anteros, etc., and owned by Capt. Ed. Pyle, of Humboldt, Neb. enters the table of sires through the performance of Zelmut, 2:30.

Now that Silkwood is in training it is presumed Jas. Mack will take up Waldo J., 2:08, soon, and he will be fitted for a match against this horse at the great Los Angeles meeting.

The Monk, by Chimes, has a record of 2:10½. This is a good mark for a green one and verifies F. W. Covey's prediction that Chimes is the greatest sire of extreme speed in America.

The Abbot, by Chimes, is the first trotting champion of 1897, his mile in 2:11¾ being the fastest ever trotted by a four-year-old gelding. Previously the record belonged to Praytell, 2:12.

Capt. Roberts, of San Lorenzo, has a good pacer in the chestnut colt, Aleka, sired by Chas. Derby. He was third, in 2:17½, on Saturday in the second heat of the pacing race won by Annie Rooney.

David Young has bred Bessie, by Nephew; second dam by John Nelson; third dam by Morgan Rattler, to McKinney, 2:11¼. Bessie is the dam of of J. Tresconey's handsome stallion Robin 2:22.

Fresno Prince, 2:17¾, the black stallion which first came into prominence at the Fresno meeting, has been gelded, and at Stanhope, New Jersey, he paced third in a race won by Ivandorf, by Allandorff.

The bay mare, Floraceta, by Red Cloak, which made such an excellent showing on the opening day at Oakland, is liable to make a killing for her friends before the circuit ends. She is a rattling good pacer.

Pasonte, 2:19½, by Palo Alto, another new one in the list, is out of Sontag Dixie, dam of Commotion, 2:30; Sonnet, 2:24½; Del Mar, 2:16¾; Elma Sontag, 2:29, and Boydell, the sire of the great trotter, Boydello, 2:14¾.

A large number of horsemen were present at the opening day of the California circuit, at Oakland, and all of them having horses in training stated they would have them ready for the Woodland and all other meetings following.

Mr. Fred Steinway's fast mare Elf, by Steinway, was third in the first heat of the 2:24 pacing class at Detroit last week in 2:08¾, and she finished inside the money, July 27th, at Cleveland, in fast time, beating a lot of good horses.

Secretary Barney, of Woodland, writes: "All the events at our meeting filled well, and the prospects for a splendid gathering of horsemen are excellent." The list will be published next week.

On or about September 10th, L. A. Richards of Grayson, will sell at his home place about fifty head of fine trotting stock,principally to get of his grandly-bred stallion Richard's Elector, out of some choice mares.

Norris 2:22¼, has a new one to his credit in the fine looking filly Nordeau, that won the trotting race for the three-year-olds at Oakland on Wednesday, in 2:25¼, 2:31 and 2:32. Nordeau is out of Miss Maude 2:29½, by Electioneer.

The exact value of the M. and M. stake for this year was $11,800, and it was distributed as follows: Rilma, $55,12 50, Oratorio, $2,450, Red Star, $1,837.50; consolation purse, $2,000, won by Octavia, with Mosul second and Tacomis third.

Satin Slippers, by Delancey, son of Director, the black mare which Alex. McKay drove successfully for several years, taking a record below 2:20, is out this year as a pacer and has already won several races, taking a record at Ottumwa, Ia., of 2:13¼.

Joe, the bay gelding that trotted in the 2:30 class on Tuesday was sired by Pilot Prince, 2:26½, out of Laura T., by Nephew, second dam by Jack Hawkins, third dam by Boston. He was bred by Dave Young, of Stockton. Laura T. was bred to McKinney this year.

Prince Ansel, the two-year-old that won on Tuesday belongs to the Walnut Grove Stock Farm, and got a mark of 2:29½, is the first two-year-old by Dexter Prince that ever entered the 2:30 list. His dam, Woodflower, by Electioneer, is also the dam of Seylax, 2:15¾.

We desire to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the sale of the handsome Anteeo mare, Maud Fowler. As an individual she is without fault and if taken in hand would lower her record. As a broodmare, she is destined to become one of the greatest.

Two thousand dollars has been refused for the Diablo colt Daedalion. He is only a two year-old and his dam is Grace (dam of Creole, 2:15, sire of Javelin, 2:08½) by Buccaneer. He has paced quarters in 31½ seconds and then did not seem to be extended to his full limit.

Waxana, by General Benton, out of Waxy, by Lexington, is the dam of the great Sunol, 2:08¼, and General Wellington, 2:30, and four of her sons are sires, viz: Woolsey, General Wellington, Sunol and Warrener. She has a chestnut filly by her side by Advertiser that is the pride of Palo Alto.

Two carloads of horses passed through The Dalles, July 28th, Wednesday, bound for the cannery at Linnton. The horses were shipped from Heppner. It is estimated 4.000 horses will be boiled and canned, at this place, before January 1, 1898. It is a case of "passing of the horse" by "cancer!"

Not agreeing with the Board of Directors, President F. D. Cobb, of the San Joaquin Agricultural Society, has mailed his resignation to Governor James H. Budd, to be acted upon when so desired by the chief executive. The board elects the president, so Mr. Cobb simply sent in his resignation as a director of the association and the board will select another president, probably at the next meeting.

The sire of the green pacer, Joe Wheeler, was by a son of Sidney, 2:19¾, owned by John Arnett of Wildflower. If any of our readers can give us the name or breeding of this horse we would feel indebted to them. If there is anything that is annoying in the trotting registry it is the pedigree of a horse sired by a "son of ——." Any horse that can sire a fast trotter or pacer is worthy of a name.

Alma Wilkeswood is the mare of a handsome bay mare owned by David Young, of Stockton. She was sired by Alcantara, 2:23, out of Emma Nutwood (dam of Lottery Ticket, 2:19½, and Pilot Prince, 2:26½), by Nutwood, 2:18¾; second dam by Black Hawk 767; third dam by Gen. Taylor; fourth dam by Williamson's Belmont. Mr. Young bred her to the great McKinney, 2:11¼; the produce should be able to "go the route."

Cornelia Belle, who gave the two-year-olds a mark to shoot at, with the first mile in 2:17¼, at Peoria, Ill., is a product of inbreeding as well as developed ancestors. She is by Onward. 2:25½, and her dam is Belle Onward (2) 2:23, by St. Bel, 2:24½; second dam by Onward, 2:25¼; third dam by Bell Morgan. She is a bright bay filly, 15¾ hands high, and as fine an individual as ever pulled a bike, and she paces without hobbles.

The New York State Agricultural Department has divided the money derived from the tax levied on the receipts of the racing associations among the various agricultural societies of the State. Fifty thousand dollars was distributed, of which $35,000 goes to county societies and $15,000 to town societies. There are fifty of the former and twenty-one of the latter. The State has so far this year distributed $84,679 received from this source.

The nominators in the several stakes of the Monterey District Colt Stakes Association that still remain in the stakes to be decided this fall are the following: Two-year-old trotting stake—J. D. Carr's nominations, J. B. Iverson's two, C B. Dawson's one. Two-year-old pacing stake—J. B. Iverson's one and H. P. Brown's one. Three-year-old trotting stake—R. I. Orr's one, P. L. Nash's one, C. Z. Hebert's one, J. B. Iverson's one. Four-year-old trotting stake—R. I. Orr's one, Delaney & Co.'s one. Yearling trotting stake—P. L. Nash's one, R. I. Orr's one, C. C. Allen's one, J. B. Iverson's one, Charles B. Dawson's one.

By the splendid performance of Our Jack, at Oakland, last Tuesday, when he won one of the best contested races in California, getting a mark of 2:21¼ in the fifth heat, Steinway gets a new performer, and Inex, the dam of this colt enters the great broodmare table, she being also the dam of Alamo, 2:29½. Inex is by Sweepstakes, out of Dolly Bull (dam of Inez, 2:22¼) by Kentucky Bertrand, Our Jack was named after the son of John F. Boyd, the proprietor of the Oakwood Park Stock Farm.

The Anaconda track record for harness racing was broken by both Argoreat and Searchlight, each of whom paced a mile in 2:11¼. The performance of Searchlight is especially meritorious, as he is only a three-year-old, and the Anaconda track in its best condition is fully two seconds slow in comparison with the generality of other tracks. Klamath had the free for-all trotting classes at his mercy, especially after Stam B. went lame. Kentucky Union was one of the disappointments of the meeting. The only harness-horses to win three or more races were Stam B., Searchlight, Chris Peterson, Klamath, Edith W., and Argotine. Caryle Carne, May B., Lena, N. Argoreat, Tom Tucker, and Kate Medium each won two races.

Jay Beach in sending his check for his advertisement of Altamont writes: "I assure you that I never paid a bill with better grace, for I consider the Breeder and Sportsman the best advertising medium in California, and every horseman, it seems to me, swears by it. Its influences in upbuilding and sustaining the interests of light harness horses (as well as thoroughbreds on this coast),is widespread and powerful, and it should receive more patronage than it does from those whose prosperity it is rapidly advancing every day. Please accept my thanks for the many kindly notices you have made of Altamont and his get. He is in splendid condition and I believe has every mare that has been stinted tohim in foal."

At Ingleside on the opening day of last season the 2:30 class trot resulted in a victory for Homeward in 2:21¼, 2:23½, and 2:23. In the second race for 2:15 class trotters Stam B. won after Toggles has captured the first two heats. Time, 2:20½, 2:20¼, 2:18¾, 2:19 and 2:21½. The third race, 2:25 class pace was won by Prince Bismarck in straight heats in 2:24, 2:24¼ and 2:25. At the opening meeting at Oakland Saturday, Jack W., won the 2:19 class trot in 2:12¾, 2:16, 2:18¾ and 2:18. Galette won the 2:13 trot in 2:12½, 2:13¼ and 2:14. Annie Rooney won the 2:25 class in 2:17, 2:17½ and 2:18½. The average time at Ingleside last year was 2:22, while the average at the Oakland track was 2:15¾. This shows which is the faster course.

Although it is nearly a month before the great Harriman-Daly-Forbes $7,500 sweepstakes will be trotted at Goshen, N. Y., the racing is absorbing much local interest, and the doings of the three two-year-olds are being closely watched. The Daly colt, Limerick, by Prodigal, is reported to be one of the best colts in Kentucky this year, and his recent work over the Lexington track seems to bear out this claim. The Boston entry, Nowaday, by Lookaway, is receiving her preparation over the Readville track, where Trainer Titer recently gave her a workout in better than 2:25, to the great surprise and pleasure of Mr. Forbes, her owner. Mr. Harriman's entry, Elsie S., by Stamboul, is at the Goshen track, in charge of Trainer Ryerson, and though they say nothing of her work, both trainer and owner express themselves as thoroughly satisfied with their interest in the stakes. No event in recent years has created such general interest as this sportsmanlike affair, and the Goshen half-mile ring will be taxed to its utmost to accommodate the crowd on the day of the race.

The directors of the Eureka Mechanical and Agricultural Fair Association met last night and began active preparation for the second annual exhibit of the association. The fair will begin Monday, September 6th, and conclude with a sacred concert on Sunday, the 12th. Daniel Murphy and L. L. Ayres were re elected President and Secretary of the organization. The following committees were appointed: Finance Committee—W. S. Clark, Alexander Connick and L. L. Ayres. Pavilion Committee—T. B. Cutler and J. F. Quill. Track Committee—Alexander Connick, L. L. Ayers, W. S. Clark and F. H. Ottmer. Printing and Advertising Committee—T. B. Cutler, L, L. Avers and P. W. Mathews. The woman's department was placed in charge of Mrs. R. Sweasey, Miss Eliza Clark, Miss Mary Carr and Mrs. R. Young, A. Dauphiny was appointed to assist the ladies on this committee. The committee engaged in soliciting for the guarantee fund has been successful and will probably hand in its final report at the meeting on Monday night. Endeavors will be made to secure the best possible attractions for both pavilion and track. Excursions will be run from Coos Bay, Crescent City, and other coast towns, and every inducement offered to secure even a larger attendance than at last year's exhibit.—Humboldt Times, July 29th.

We do not believe that there ever was a time when harness racing was what it is this year—so uniformly interesting to spectators, says the Western Horsemen. At every meeting of any consequence nearly every heat is a genuine race, and in no particular class does any particular horse seem to have anything like a "sure thing" of it, and if there is any one thing more monotonous to spectators than all others it is to see the same horses go out week after week and walk off with first money in a given class. Through good breeding and clever education our horses are much more evenly matched than they used to be, are better conditioned for racing before being started, and the appearance of a stranger to track fame in the 2:20 or 2:15 class does not argue that he will not prove the winner. Then, too, there are many times fewer "fixes" in harness races than there used to be. Indeed, "fixing" a harness race now is a very hazardous undertaking for the "fixers." Both drivers and horses have got in the habit of doing their best work when the money is in sight, and the very horse that is left out of a "combination" is likely to sprint away and win the money, thus fixing the fixers. The world grows better (not weaker) and wiser, and trotting horsemen grow more honorable and more ambitious. The great majority of owners trot to win, and win on merit. All of these things combined are doing much for the trotting turf—lifting it to that exalted position that it should occupy among outdoor entertainments, and clothing it with that degree of interest and excitement that means popularization. Indeed, the trotting turf has about reached that point where the best horse always wins—a sentiment dear to every true American.

THE SADDLE.

Burns & Waterhouse have changed the name of their colt Thorpe to that of Sybaris.

At St. Louis last Saturday two Midlothians were successful—Senator Morrill and Greyhurst.

Father Bill Daly got a cheap horse when he paid $1,250 to Dave Gideon for Kaiser Ludwig last week.

Merry Glenn won at odds of 100 to 1 at Harlem last Monday. Pepper won a mile and seventy-yard race; track muddy.

Harry Blaylock, the well-known jockey, had a stroke of paralysis last Monday at Hamilton, Ont., and his physicians say he will likely die.

Tom Ryan has shipped Howard S., together with other performers, to Saratoga, and Benson's good mudder David is en route to the some place.

Charley Thorpe piloted two winners at Saratoga last Monday. Shasta Water was favorite in a mile and a furlong race, but third was the best she did.

There is friction about Mr. Pettingill's starting in the East, and Kit Chinn has gone to New York, on invitation, to confer with the Jockey Club folks.

The New York Journal winds up a lengthy eulogy of Tod Sloan with: "Truly, Sloan is the most remarkable rider this country has seen since Garrison's time."

Midlight, formerly owned and raced by Green B. Morris, is now the property of the Kittleman Bros., and won a six-furlong race at Fort Erie, recently, track slow.

J. N. Killip, the well-known and popular auctioneer, lies dangerously ill at his home in this city, and as he is well advanced in years, his friends fear the outcome.

Both Harlem and Newport have decided to fit their racing to the recent action of the Turf Congress. No foreign book will be operated on either track after Saturday next.

Troy Cooper, an Eastern bookmaker, has disappeared and left $10,000 or so of debts behind. They are said to be in the form of "phony" checks mostly to bookmakers.

School Girl, a bay filly by imp. Dandie Dinmont from the good mare, Miss Courtney, won a six-furlong race for two-year-olds at St. Louis, July 29th, beating a good field.

Libertine ran unplaced in a six furlong race at Saratoga last Monday won by Lord Zeni. San Venado, second to The Huguenot the same day, was highly thought of by the Santa Anita people.

Ed Purser's crack timber-topper Three Forks was cut down when he made his debut this season on the Eastern turf. The stewards were unable to place the responsibility for the accident.

The dates set for the running of the big English events are as follows: Doncaster St. Leger, Sept. 8; Cesarewitch, Oct 13; Cambridgeshire, Oct. 27; Manchester November Handicap, Nov. 27.

Lochiel, by Prince Charlie (sire of Salvator), is proving the most successful stallion in Australia, his sons and daughters winning right along and not long since capturing five races in two days.

Sir Walter won the Midsummer Handicap, one mile, at Saratoga, last Saturday, Havoc second and Ben Brush third. Bernardillo and Woodford Filly, also bred in California, won the same date at "the Springs."

An error crept into the article on "Hennie Farrow" in last week's issue regarding California. We are informed that he raced and won. It was intended to say "Not raced much," instead of "never raced."

Bloomsbury worked a mile at Sacramento the other day in 1:42 with 107 pounds up. Bob Lawless, the owner, expects to win many races next winter with him, as the colt has had a good rest and looks fine.

The Harlem Racing Association has taken up most of the complimentary badges it issued and began this week to have a free gate for the ladies. Wednesday of each week is set apart for the free admittance of the fair sex.

At the first day's racing of the Birmingham (Eng.) August meeting last Monday, the Lorillard-Beresford stable's three-year-old chestnut gelding Dorado won the Water Orton selling plate. There were eight starters over the straight course.

Billy Murry's charges were very much in it at Aqueduct last Saturday, Yankee Doodle and Rey del Tierra winning in fine style. Premier, by Sir Modred—Premium, won the Carter Handicap the same day. Doodle ran seven furlongs in 1:26¼.

Little Dick Clawson caused a lot of excitement July 28th by his careless ride of Double Quick, whom many thought had beaten Burlesque. The crowd hissed and hooted the decision of the judges and the Stewards afterward fined Clawson $50 for his poor showing.

In the Harlem paddocks, July 26th, thirty-nine head of yearlings sold for $6,205, an average of about $160. They were from East Meade and Belle Meade. The best prices were: $600 for br c by imp. Dandie Dinmont—Silvanna, H. E. Leigh; $400 for br c by imp. Loyalist—Sif, L. Ezell; $500 for br c by imp. Dandie Dinmont—Longing, L. Ezell; $400 for ch c by imp. Great Tom—Lillie B., J. J. McCafferty; $350 for b c by imp. Great Tom—Flamingo, J. C. Casher, Detroit, and $325 for ch c by imp. Dandie Dinmont—Gyda, T. W. Coulter.

W. S. Hobart, the popular young millionaire who owned Bright Phœbus and other turf celebrities, is lying at the point of death with appendicitis in his San Mateo home. The physicians in charge will allow no visitors. Mr. Hobart's faithful young wife watches by his bedside day and night.

We will gladly furnish owners of thoroughbreds with entry blanks for the rich stakes of the Westchester Racing Association (Morris Park, N. Y.). Entries close at midnight, Monday, August 28, 1897. Send your entries to H. G. Crickmore, Clerk of the Course, 173 Fifth avenue, New York, N. Y.

The weanling filly, at Palo Alto by imp. Loyalist from imp. Flirt is declared to be the raciest-looking foal the famous daughter of Hermit ever produced, as well as the hardiest. Flirt's foals have been delicate almost invariably, as youngsters, but this one has strength, substance and "quality." She will undoubtedly bring a good price if she comes to the yearling sale of 1898.

About 125 running horses quartered at the Sacramento and other tracks will be sent to Grass Valley to race there between August 16th and 23d. Harry Lowden, one of the officials of the California Jockey Club will manage the meeting. Handicapper J. W. Brooks of the California Jockey Club will serve as presiding Judge, and John Humphreys will control the betting privileges.

Tommy Murphy, the champion plater who was with E. J. Baldwin several seasons and who shod Rey El Santa Anita just before he captured the American Derby, now owns Walter J. After quite a legal controversy in Sacramento over the ownership of the horse, Murphy paid all the bills owed by "Gloucester Red" McDermott and accepted a bill of sale of the honest and fleet son of True Briton.

The injunction suit of Jockey Edward Ellis against the American Turf Congress and the Harlem Jockey Club in which the complainant received an order restraining the racing officials from interfering with his riding at Harlem, was heard by Judge Tuly last Monday. The Court, after a short hearing, dissolved the injunction, holding that it could not be sustained in equity.—Daily Racing Form, July 30.

The bookmaking organization seems to have paid the Queens County Jockey Club, Aqueduct, $1,000 per day last season Aqueduct asked $50 per book per day for the meeting which opened Monday. There was a jangle in consequence. The association threatened to put in mutual machines and bar bookmakers. The matter was compromised and thirty-one books are doing business and paying $25 per day.

E. J. Baldwin, who left for Saratoga last Saturday, is to invade the Klondyke country next winter. He renewed the $750,000 plaster on his property before leaving, and now has the sinews of war for a mining siege in Alaska. He says he will look for the mother lode and send up a lot of the latest machinery. In "Lucky's" opinion thousands of adventurers will come from the land of snow and long nights empty-handed.

From St. Louis comes news that not a bookmaker there has made any money. Barney Schreiber is reported $30,000 loser, to have turned his slate to the wall and to be endeavoring to chase the "hoodoo" away. Walter, of Walter & Hayden, is mentioned among the heavy losers in the ranks of pencilers, and altogether, between the privilege money they have to pay and the large "educated" play, the bookies are in a bad way.

The New York Journal and Advertiser says: "Robert Fitzsimmons, champion pugilist, is about to gratify the ambition of his life. Soon his colors will be shown on the race tracks by thoroughbreds from his own stable. Already he has purchased several horses. Fitzsimmons says next year he will be in possession of a fine racing stable." He can probably purchase Jim Corbett at a small figure just now—of "Bob" Burns.

Ornament is at Saratoga and the question as to whether he is the peer of the Eastern cracks of that last division will soon be settled. Howland is also at Saratoga. The reopening of the gambling houses in Saratoga will undoubtedly attract a large delegation of card devotees, and the financial end of the meeting should be a success. Saratoga has had no more brilliant prospects in years, and with decent weather some grand sport will be seen.

A special to the New York World from London says: Richard Croker has been in attendance upon the Goodwood races each of the four days of the meeting. He has been living at Portsmouth, going to Chichester each day and driving to the course in an ordinary landau. His horses have been stabled at Singleton, two miles from the track. Each day he crossed the paddock and placed a few orders with the bookmakers. It is said that he has been a large winner.

The Westchester Racing Association has a number of rich stake events open now, ranging in value from $3,000 to $25,000, and breeders and owners of thoroughbreds will be sorry if they do not embrace this opportunity to enhance the value of their youngsters or win a fortune in one race. Entries should be sent to H. G. Crickmore, Clerk of the Course, 173 Fifth avenue, New York, N. Y. We will gladly furnish blanks upon application. Entries close at midnight Monday, August 16, 1897.

A writer on the London Truth having thrown doubts on the reported big prices offered for Galtee More and Perthshire, the Special Commissioner of the London Sportsman says: "In reference to the observations made that the reported big offers for Gattee More are fairy tales, I may say that the offer of 25,000gs and 2500gs contingency out of both Derby and Leger, was offered by me through Mr. Vigors, on behalf of a gentleman whose name I will publish so soon as I obtain his authority. The offer was made by wire to Mr. Gubbins and refused by him. I have since been told that an offer of 30,000gs was likely to be made, but of this I know nothing. The offer of 10,000gs for Perthshire was also made by me in writing, and I advised Mr. Dewar to accept it, as in a season of exceptionally good two-year-olds, such as the present is going to be, the offer is one which, as a matter of business, should certainly be entertained for any one animal Mr. Dewar, however, took the sportsmanlike view that, having got a good colt, he would like to keep him.

D. J. (White Hat) McCarty is summering at Fresno where he is putting in his time breaking 160 trotting-bred horses into roadsters and giving slow work to Bernardo, whom he expects will face the starter again this fall. Those well-known gallopers, The Lark, Captain Coster, Talbot Clifton and Guadalupe may occasionally be seen doing duty in a road cart, with Dan as reinsman, A two-year-old colt by King Thomas which McCarthy is developing is reported to be a warm youngster, working a quarter recently in 0:24½ in handy style.

At the American Horse Exchange recently, the following yearlings brought $400 or upward: Blk or cr c by Jim Gore Muscotrude, to J. E. Cushing, $1,000; ch c by Jim Gore or imp Order—Highland Love to W. H. Roller, $2,100; ch c by Fonso—Cassilla, to J. W. Schorr, $500; br c by Jim Gore—Quintette, J. E. Cushing, $500; b c by Jim Gore—Nourmahal, $650; br f by Jim Gore—Bagpipes, $550; b c by Jim Gore—Aurora IV., F. W. Coulter, $450 and br f by Eolo (now owned by A. B. Spreckles), dam The Black Squaw, H. B. Durham, $425.

The report of Treasurer F. I. Burgher of the Westchester Racing Association, on the receipts of the extra day's racing given at Morris Park on May 26, for the joint benefit of the Fresh Air Funds of this city and the Fund for Disabled Jockeys, was made public yesterday. The grounds of the Westchester Association were given, but the association in no way directly contributed to the charity. Even the State racing tax of $443.17 was deducted from the receipts, as were the salaries of all the employes, the cost of stationery, music, etc., and the purse money. The gross receipts were $8,735.44, of which $5,344.98 was deducted for expenses. Of the remaining $3,408.46, one-half was given to the fund for disabled jockeys and the other half divided among deserving charities.—N. Y. Times, July 23.

George E. Smith ("Pittsburg Phil"), one of the shrewdest and most successful of plungers, is said by the ring to be at present $125,000 winner on the season. David Gideon has been unusually unfortunate, and Joseph Ullman, who backs his friend Gideon's opinions, has suffered by his ill luck. They lead the losing column. More than twenty per cent. of the professional layers of odds have had to retire from business within the past three weeks, which would indicate that the general public may have won some of the money that has been lost. The winners are George Smith, $125,000; M. F. Dwyer, $75,000; Edwin Burke, $20,000; C. I. Irish, $15,000. Riley Grannan has lost $20,000 and David Gideon and Joseph Ullman are losers $40,000 each.

There was considerable rivalry for supremacy at Anaconda between the two leading jockeys, Lamle and Q. Morse, during the Anaconda meeting. As a result both of these young men rode their very best. Q. Morse was at first engaged to ride for John Campbell's division of the Daly stables, but they fell out. Then Campbell sent for Lamle, who did most of the riding for the copper and green. It was nip and tuck between them, and though the Standard gives Lamle credit for the greatest number of winning mounts, it is an error, the honor going to Q. Morse, who beat Lamle out just one. The record stands: Morse—First 16 times; second 14; third, 15; unplaced, 10. Total mounts, 55. Lamle—First, 15; second, 6; third 12; unplaced 17. Total mounts, 50. Ham has the highest percentage of winning mounts. Of the 15 mounts he won 7, was second 6 times, third 1 time and unpaced 1 time. There were 98 running races during the meeting, and about one-third of them were won by Lamle and Morse.

The following won $100 and upward at the Anaconda (Mont.) meeting: Marcus Daly, $6,665; W. D. Randall, $2,410; D. Cameron, $1,900; F. Farrar, $1,495; B. C. Holly, $1,490; F. T. Wood, $1,305; R. E. Dolan, $1,170; Lee Shaner, $1,130; Sandahl & Taylor, $940; Mrs. Carrie Reed, $910; Ryan Bros., $885; F. T. Nichols, $850; Mrs. E. Starkey, $740; J. O. Reis & Co., $730; F. Van Ness, $700; Higgins Bros., $700; Bratton & Farrar, $700; A. S. Way, $610; Twin Stable, $550; A. Neal, $475; Clark & Whitman, $385; Charles Campbell, $365; Silver Stable, $340; T. D. Warwick, $290; J. R. Swan, $285; Ralph Brown, $280; F. McMahon, $285; Barney McGinley, $280; George Smith, $275; F. M. Pugh, $250; J. S. Steward, $250; Frank Howard, $240; Joseph Kinney, $230; Fowler & Dooner, $230; Horton & Ross, $220; J. W. Fuller, $220; Robert Smith, $215; Frank Roberts, $210; J. Gagan, $200, Copper City Stable, $200; C. A. Young, $200; Stewart Bros., $200; H. J. Jones, $180; Williams & Morehouse, $175; F. Callaway, $170; J. P. Wilson, $140; H. Abertson, $100. The statistics that appear above were kindly prepared for the Standard by Charles McCarthy, the representative of the Chicago Horse Review. It is safe to assert that never in the history of racing has such a pretentious meeting been given in any city in America of the size of Anaconda as the one just past.

The Anaconda meeting of 1895 will go down into history as the most successful meeting ever held in this city in spite of the many disadvantages encountered by the association. Never in the memory of the oldest inhabitant has the weather in June and July been so fickle. There were no less than 16 days in which the weather seriously affected the attendance, nevertheless the paid admissions were approximately the same as in 1896. This is a wonderful record, especially when the falling off in the crowds of nearly all the Eastern and so-called Western tracks is taken into consideration. Another matter which demonstrates that the hard times have not affected Anaconda is the great volume of money handled during the meeting. It will be remembered that the Anaconda meeting in 1896 lasted 15 days, and when it was announced that the present meeting would cover a period of 25 days there were quite a few who prognosticated that the management was making a mistake. The present meeting has shown the wisdom of such a move, as no less than $300,000 more in the aggregate passed through the auction and pool boxes than in 1896. The nine additional days are to be taken into consideration, but the betting averaged $2,000 more than last year per day. The system of betting in vogue in Montana is growing in popularity with each succeeding year. In this connection, it is perhaps only just to compliment the staff of men employed in the pool boxes and mutual machines for the efficiency and care displayed in the discharge of their duties. There were a minimum of mistakes, and it is no exaggeration to state that no betting ring in America was handled to any better advantage.—Anaconda Standard.

Opening of California's Grand Circuit.

Just a week ago today the gates of the new race track at Oakland were opened to receive all lovers of light harness racing who wished to see if the sport had deteriorated or to observe if the class of horses had improved during the past two years, and that sterling organization, and, by the way, the largest of its kind in the United States, the Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders Association, had, as usual, advertised this meeting as the one to open the California circuit. This meant a meeting which, like all its predecessors, was not one to which the average croaking race-goer anticipated a large attendance, because nearly all the horses entered would not be driven to their limit for fear they would get out of their classes. The temptation to "pull," as these dismal croakers predicted, was so strong that fast time would not be made nor good contests would not be witnessed. A review of that day's racing and every one which followed proved conclusively that the tendency to drive every horse in every race to his fullest capacity was all-powerful, and every driver, whether he owned the horse he was driving or not, seemed to realize how important it was to do his very best. No better evidence is needed to prove they did this than a careful perusal of the summaries which appear in another part of this journal. New and old drivers made records that they might well be proud of, and the splendid condition in which they had their horses reflected great credit upon these pains-taking men.

The surface of the track was different from any their horses had been trained upon, the center being high and rounded off on the sides, "turtle-backed" as one driver termed it. The turns, however, were thrown up in a manner which might be copied by every other race track builder in California. Horses seldom left their feet when entering them and the grade was so perfect that the time made around these curves was as fast as on the stretches. Great credit is due Track Superintendent Wm. Fieldwick for the condition of this course during the meeting, especially when it is known that it was never used for a trotting track before. The visiting horsemen who had not seen what changes had been wrought here during the past year were more than agreeably surprised. And when the audience gathered in the betting ring and grand stand to view the races many were the expressions of admiration. The band played some inspiring music, the drivers came out neatly attired in new satin and silk suits and caps, Starter Frank W. Covey rang the bell, and the first meeting on the circuit was ushered in under the most favorable auspices.

The attendance was better than on the opening day at Ingleside last year, the races were more spirited, consequently speculation was livelier and a better pleased gathering of people never left a track. Starter Covey did remarkably, considering the fact that this was the first time many of the drivers had made their debut on a California track and all of the horses were more or less "rank." The finishes were close and exacting and remarkably good time was made in every event.

On Tuesday and Wednesday the attendance was not as good as was expected, but when it was shown that high-class racing was being given, on Thursday and Friday there was a marked increase, and many purses that had been closely fastened were loosened whenever the poolseller commenced work. Money has been and is scarce in this city, and at a race track this is more noticeable than anywhere else. As the months roll on and returns from agricultural products, mining and mechanical works of all kinds are received, there will be a more liberal response to the disposition to speculate than at present. The long winter meetings, at which many, many millions of dollars are wagered and most of the winnings taken out of the State, also had its effect. Men who used to wager hundreds on races of all kinds became more cautious at the end of those meetings and limited their investments in tickets they purchased for five and ten dollars. They became afraid, and this fear kept many from wagering at our meeting during the early part of the week, but yesterday there was a strong play, and investors, even if they lost, had no complaints of the judges, the drivers or the horses.

When the fall meeting takes place many changes will be made. These have become necessary, and profiting by this meeting the P. B. T. H. B. Association will have a rousing good meeting and come out financially ahead on the year. Every horseman of this Coast should take an interest in the success of this organization hereafter for the splendid work it is accomplishing to enhance the value of their horses and bring our glorious State forward as the best place in the United States to breed, train and race light harness horses cannot be denied.

How to Improve Our Breed of Racers.

The question, How to breed great race horses? is agitating the breeders of America just now, and the controversy in the New York Spirit of the Times between "Portland" and other excellent writers will aid considerably in answering the vexed question, for the arguments advanced by each cannot but result in opening the eyes of breeders throughout the land to the errors they have committed and cause a resolve to follow in the footsteps of the successful. The breeder who had the most success was Lord Falmouth, and, according to W. S. Vosburg, a great student on the subject of breeding, these are some of the principles he followed: 1—To breed from mares which have raced at two and three years old, and won the great stakes, thus stamping themselves first-class. 2—That the mares shall be from dams, and if possible, grand dams, tried by the same high test. 3—That mares so tested should not be trained after their third year. 4—That they should be bred to a different stallion each season. It could be added that he believed in breeding his mares only every other year, holding that the foals were stronger and better equipped to race.

The majority of our breeders will not have the patience or the courage to follow the teachings of the world's most successful breeder, notwithstanding the rich reward that is more than likely to be theirs were they to do so. How many racing men in this country will stop racing good mares at the end of their three-year-old form, when the same are sound in wind and limb? You can count them on the fingers of one hand, it is safe to say. Excessive two-year-old racing results in our having an unsound, vealy breed of horses, and until racing associations take the matter in hand, combine and offer fewer races for thoroughbreds of such a tender age, the breed will assuredly deteriorate. Think what excessive two-year-old racing and hard training did for Sensation, Trémont, El Rio Rey, King Fox, French Park, His Highness, Domino and many others. The first five never appeared in public after they were two-year-olds, while His Highness and Domino were nothing like as good in after years as they were the first season they appeared on the turf. The "iron horses," Barnum and Logan, never ran as two-year-olds, Kingston on but three occasions. Few racers are ever retired perfectly sound these days. Tammany, Marcus Daly's horse, is one of the few instances, and when he is mated with a sound mare that was not raced to excess, and from a first-class racing family, a real champion is almost sure to be the result of the union. "Like begets like or the likeness of some ancestor" is an old and true saying among turfmen. Therefore, if for generations horses are not retired to the stud until they are "cripples," mares likewise, what are we, in all conscience, to expect? Certainly nothing but a long line of unsound horses, "weeds," with perhaps some speed, but with the ability to carry that speed but a short distance.

Were mares put to the stud at five years of age (they are fully developed then), not raced above eight times as two-year-olds, retired as sound as the proverbial dollar, after three seasons on the turf, then given six months on grass, so that their muscles would have time to relax, we would have more horses of the stamp of Isinglass, (who ran but eleven races in three seasons), Ormonde, St. Simon, La Fleche, Galtee More, Hanover, Kingston, Tammany, Ornament and Salvator.

"Portland," however, while mistaken in several instances, makes a good point when he says: "Why is not Requital now retired? He will never again be a race horse, and Crescendo should have been taken out of training after he had the catarrhal fever, although he was in the middle of his two-year-old year. Neither Friar's Balsam nor St. Frusquin broke down more decidedly or completely than Crescendo and Requital, yet they were immediately taken out of training; and what kind of a sire is Friar's Balsam proving to be? Look at Voter and The Friar; whereas we now see Crescendo being beaten by cheap selling platers; and it must be absurd as well as ungrateful to the horse's owners to continue the hopeless training of Requital."

While it may not be right to breed mares year after year to the same stallion, if the "nick" proves a happy one it would not be unwise to return the mare to a particular successful stallion at least every third year. There have been too many high-class brothers and sisters to prove the correctness of this theory. Had Marion been mated but once with Norfolk we would have had no El Rio Rey, no Emperor of Norfolk, no Czar (two unbeaten racers and two real champions). Had Belle Knight foaled the selling-plater, Bell Boy, and never been bred again to Longfellow, we would not have applauded a Freeland, Long Knight, Lavinia Belle or Unite. Had Colossa stopped at Getaway, we would never have seen an Inspector B. or Bella B. If Susquehanna had not been bred to St. Blaise after she gave birth to Chesapeake we would never have shouted the praises of the mighty Potomac or the good two-year-old Brandywine. Imp. Barbarity threw Ruthless, Relentless and Remorseless in succession, all pretty nearly of the champion class, and imp. Britannia by Muley was the mother of the good racers Verifier, La Verite, Vandyke and La Victime, by imp. Belshazzar, of Voucher and Vale, by Wagner. Madam Dudley and Brown Prince, high-class stake-winners, were by Lexington from Britannia IV. Magnolia by imp. Glencoe threw three grand race horses by Lexington—Kentucky, Daniel Boone and Gilroy—and three of stake caliber by imp. Yorkshire (Madeline, Madonna and Skedaddle). In England Perdita II. threw the two great racers and full brothers, Florizel II. and Persimmon, in succession. Lord Falmouth did not always adhere to rule 4, as is shown by Mr. W. H. Rowe in the July 31 issue of the New York Spirit of the Times. Many instances might be cited which go far to prove that a good nick, properly handled, is like a well-managed gold mine—it can be made to show good results if the pans in the mill are so treated that the fine gold can be saved.

The Marysville Race Meeting.

Next Monday the two hundred or more horses now at the Oakland track will be safely stabled at the track at Marysville, and at two o'clock on that day the races will be called. Great interest is being taken in the meeting, and in Sutter, Yuba and Colusa counties everybody contemplates attending. Following is the programme of each day's racing during the week:

Friday, Aug. 13—Three-year-olds, pacing, purse $300; 2:20 class, pacing, purse $300; 2:20 class, pacing, purse $600; three-year-olds, trotting, purse $300.

Saturday, Aug. 14—2:30 class, trotting, purse $400; 2:13 class, trotting, purse $500 and 2:10 class, pacing, purse $500.

Everybody who wants to enjoy a good week's sport in one of the most prosperous cities in California should attend this meeting.

The Stockton Entries.

Secretary J. W. Willy, of the Stockton Driving Club, forwarded the following list of entries of events which which were advertised in the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN to close August 1st. The meeting there promises to be a most excellent one:

Running—The purse $150, for maiden two-year-olds. Five furlongs. Lona Ma ie, Geo W Dodge: br c by Kylo—Magetta, J Sullivan; Glen Ann, J Sullivan; b m Lady Boots, W Gardner; Atom, b f, by Sunwarrow—Charlotte, E D McSweeney; Amasa, by Capt Al—Lady Intruder, Owen Bros; Bright Mars, b g, by Kylo—Amanda D, J H Klebeck; Sabaoth G H Raab; Xopes, b c, by Judge McKinstry—Lottie L, Ferguson & Plancich; Bottlewasher, ch f, F M Starkey.

Handicap, purse $150, for three-year-olds and upwards. One mile.—Blue Belle, A Y Stephenson; Lorena II, b m, by Apache—Rill, W Gardner; Sheray, ch g, by Hidalgo—Veracity, W Gardner; Gibbettiflibbet, E D McSweeney; Grady and Minta Owen, Owen Bros; Masoero, G Pacheco; imp San Pedro, Ferguson & Plancicn; Mr Reel, A Burns.

District maidens, purse $100. One-half mile.—Utica, g c, by Cyclone—Canate, L M Hudson; br g by Kylo—Magetta, J Sullivan; Glen Ann, J Sullivan; Slydell, b m, by Partisan—Sally Brown, E M Powell; b c by Kylo—Decana R and Bright Mars, br g by Kylo—Amanda D, J H Elebeck; Little Haidee, ch f, by El Rio Rey—Mattie Glenn, A E Muenter; Sabaoth, G H Raab.

San Joaquin County. Maiden, purse $100. One-half mile.—Glen Ann, J Sullivan; br c by Kylo—Decana R, J H Elebeck; Little Haidee, ch f, by El Rio Rey—Mattie Glenn, A E Muenter; Sabaoth, G H Raab; Bottlewasher, f, by Silver King—Bar Maid, E M Starkey.

Selling, purse $150. For three-year-olds. Three-quarters of a mile.—John N, b g, by Black Points—Ala Baba, by Hit or Miss, E P Hamilton; Gibbettiflibbet, E D McSweeney; Major S, Owen Bros; Masoero, G Pacheco; Lady Tray, b f, by Cassatt—Jessie E, by Frogtown, Ferguson & Plancich; Jim Boseman, F M Starkey.

The 2:27 trot did not fill and was declared off.

In the running race card announcement a mistake was made in the printing, and races No. 1 and No. 5 are combining as to entries.

2:30 pacing, purse $400. Heat dashes.—Dictatus, ch h, F M Day; Floretta Belle, b m, Byron Erkenbrecher; Nautahka, b m, A E Waern; Beau Brummel, blk s, Santa Rosa Stock Farm; Little Thorn, b g, W A Shippee; Belle R, b m, P W Hodges; Cleon, ch m, J H Kelly.

2:25 Pacing, purse $400. Heat dashes.—Lynette, b m, Agnew Stock Farm; Hazel B, b m, J R Leavenworth; Adjutant, br s, Geo. Phœnix; Majella B (formerly Majella), b m, Alex Brown; Florin, blk m, Santa Rosa Stock Farm; Ceeano Belle, b m, E P Hamilton; Little Thorn, b g, W A Shippee; Cleon, ch m.

IN looking over the files of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN we find that the attendance at the Flemington race course on Melbourne Cup day, 1886, was 150,362—that 90,362 went by rail and 60,000 came on foot, on horseback or in vehicles. As the total population of Melbourne at that time was not over 400,000, it can be seen what interest the people took in their greatest racing event. The interest manifested can be accounted for, in a great measure, by the heavy speculation on the race, which really begins about eleven months before the next "cup" is to be run. It is no exaggeration to state that fully half the inhabitants of all Australia have a wager of some sort on the great event. Until we follow in the footsteps of the Antipodeans (pronounced the greatest sport-loving people on earth) we cannot hope for anything like such an attendance at our race courses, no matter how much money is "hung up" for any race. The largest crowd ever gathered on a race course in America was at Washington Park, in 1893, when Boundless won the American Derby, worth to the owner of the winner $50,000. Estimates on the crowd ran from 70,000 to 90,000. Yet Melbourne, less than half the size of Chicago, had, eleven years ago, from 60,000 to 80,000 more persons looking at her big race, which was worth considerably less to the owner of the winner, while the total population of Australia proper at that time was 4,000,000. The population of the United States then was perhaps 60,000,000. All this teaches us that we have something to learn in the line of "booming" racing from our cousins of the Colonies.

THE utility of the thoroughbred horse is astonishing. If the farmer would just stop to consider the matter, he would always have a stallion or mare of the breed on his place. Should he not desire to bred a galloper for track purposes, he could mate a thoroughbred stallion with a Norman, Cleveland Bay or any clean-limbed large mare, and the result will be just the kind of carriage horse for which the people are seeking and will pay handsomely for. If they have a fairly well-bred trotting mare on the farm, a union between a thoroughbred horse and this one would result in a first-class cavalry animal for which $150 can readily be secured, or else the foal would make a fleet roadster, one for which no route is too long or work too hard. If you have an under-sized thoroughbred stallion and mare you can bred the finest polo ponies on earth and get from $200 to $800 for them. These points are well worth considering, and we shall look for a host of sensible farmers to attend the coming sales of thoroughbreds this winter, having in view the breeding of animals of the character spoken of above. It costs no more to raise a thoroughbred 2-year-old that will bring $2,000 at a sale than it does a "scrub" that will not bring $40 at the same age. The demand for good thoroughbreds is always strong.

THE second combination sale of trotting stock by Killip & Co. takes place at the salesyard in this city next Wednesday, August 11th, beginning at 11 A. M. In the consignment are trotters by Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼, Alect, 2:26, Mambrino Boy 844, Seale's Nutwood, Smith's Anteeo, Price's son of Guy Wilkes, Decision, Eclectic 11,321, Young Kisbar, Alcona Jr., 2:19, Steinway 1808 (sire of W. H. Wood, 2:07, Agitato, 2:09¼ at 3 etc.) Danger by Director, Roscoe of Brigadier, Sterling 6,223 Jim Mulvany, 2:19, and Electricity, 2:17¾, from beautifully bred mares. Don't miss this sale if you want to secure a well bred trotter or work horse cheap.

The recent action of the American Turf Congress in grading the size of the purses hung up by the various racing clubs under its jurisdiction by the population of the cities near which the race tracks are situated is to be commended. No more equitable plan could have been devised. The abolition of the "foreign book" feature of race courses is also to be applauded, and now, if the Congress will just raise its scale of weights about six pounds, and give no "under-the-scale" races, they will do a great deal toward "improving the breed," the primary object of the American Turf Congress.

THE Westchester Racing Association, Morris Park, Westchester, N. Y., announces that a number of rich stakes are now open, entries to close April 16, 1897. Breeeders who do not enter their horses in these liberal stakes will regret it exceedingly, should their youngsters turn out well. The stakes for flat racers range in value from $1,500 to $20,000. Read the advertisement in this issue and send to us for entry blanks if you have not been provided with them. Entries should be addressed to H. G. Crickmore, Clerk of the Course, 173 Fifth ave., New York. N. Y.

Entries to the various events of the great five-day meeting for harness racers at San Jose (Oct. 4th to 9th inclusive) close August 15, 1897, with F. J. Brandon, Secretary. The San Jose Association has one of the best tracks in the country, and the meeting is certain to be an attractive one. Read the advertisement in this issue.

New Association Formed.

One of the most important matters consummated in the racing world in the month of July is the incorporation of the Butte Horsemen's Association, at Butte, Montana, with a capital stock of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The incorporators are Ed. A. Tipton, Alfred C. Holmes and Thomas Lavell. The objects of the corporation are, as quoted from the document filed with the Secretary of State, as follows: "The maintenance of facilities for innocent sports and amusements; the transaction of and carrying on the business of raising, buying, selling, training and dealing in horses; or buying, selling, and dealing in hay, grain and other agricultural products; of feeding, caring for and stabling horses, and all other merchantile and industrial businesses relating to or having to do with the horses and their care, training and breeding, and also the improvement of the breed of horses by importation, sale purchase, trials of speed and otherwise." This simply means that at Butte there has been incorporated a new racing association, with a share capital of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and that Ed A. Tipton will manage its affairs. We cannot have too many of such strong associations as this one is, nor, indeed, can we have greater proof that the people of Montana like racing. Since Mr. Tipton betook himself to the mountains to manage the Butte and Anaconda meetings, racing has made giant strides forward in that entire region. The meetings have been very successful, and it must be cheering for horsemen now to know that they are to have at Butte a permanent association, which will hold a good meeting annually. The investment of so much capital in a racing plant has a most beneficial effect on the interest as a whole, for so strong an association can afford to offer large purses, and is able to weather any financial squall that may burst on the first of any subsequent meeting. When the Detroit Driving Club put its three hundred and seventy thousand dollars into its plant right at a time when it was almost impossible for rich merchants to obtain money from the banks to carry on their houses with, people marveled greatly and doubtless took heart of grace. If, they argued, the club could put so much into a plant in which to hold meetings, the owners of the horses could surely afford, with not a tithe of the investment, to hold a little longer—and many did. When prominent men take hold of racing and invest such sums of money as these, a better class of owners always comes to the fore, and thus again is a benefit wrought to the industry.—Horseman.

LATE TURF NEWS IN BRIEF.—Braw Lad won for Henry Stull at Saratoga on Thursday.———Estaca won at the same place, mile and a sixteenth, W. Martin up.———"Skeets" Martin piloted Queen of Beauty and Flax Spinner to victory at "the Springs," Thursday, the former capturing the Filly stakes for J. R. Keene.———Damien carried 123 pounds to victory in a six-furlong race at Saratoga Thursday.———Our Gertie, by Salvator, landed first in a five furlong race at HarlemThursday, as did old Simmons, by Sir Modred, in a mile and seventy-yard handicap.———Satyr, taken East by Ed Corrigan, won a mile race in 1:42 at Newport, Ky., Thursday.———At Butte, the same day, the winners were Reliant, Ruby Messenger, Salmera, by Salvator (Silver Bow Stakes $1,000), Latah, I Don't Know, Oak Leaf and Lulu Horton.———Strathmore, the famous Waverly — Brenna stallion that sired Strathmeath, Balgowan, Cash Day, Suisun, etc., died at McGrathiana Thursday.

LOWEN TUCKER has thirty-two yearlings in charge at Santa Anita, among the number a colt by Rey El Santa Anita—Magdalena and a bay colt by Honduras—Arritta (dam of Lady Bess and Lady Diamond). George Baldwin, the popular nephew of "Lucky," has twelve horses at the ranch in training for the Los Angeles races, including Ramiro, Argentina, Los Trancos (Emperor of Norfolk—Cleopatra), El Salatta (Emperor of Norfolk—Atalanta II.), Rey de Diablo, 3 (Gano—Lillita), Al Gorta (Emperor of Norfolk—Florilla), Palo Blanco, Los Cerrilos, De Los Reyes, 2 (Amigo—Belinda), Chihuahua, 2 (Emperor of Norfolk—Esperanza) and Albina, 2 (Emperor of Norfolk—Arritta). This is young Baldwin's maiden effort as a trainer.

AT the third day's racing of the Goodwood (Eng.) meeting, July 20th, Mr. Lebaudy's five-year-old chestnut horse, Count Schomberg, won the Goodwood Cup. The Duke of Westminster's Labrador was second and the Prince of Wales' Oakdene third. This race of 800 sovereigns, for three-year-olds and upwards, distance two and one half miles. In the event for the Singleton plate Richard Croker's five year-old bay horse Americus ran second. Lord Wolvertan's five-year-old bay horse Ugly was first. The race is for 150 sovereigns, for three-year-olds and upwards, distance five furlongs.

CHARLES THOMAS Sr., has engaged William Yaeger to handle his thoroughbreds for the coming races. Mr. Thomas will leave this week for the Oakland racetrack and will have his game little mare Mary Neivez shipped to Los Angeles. Besides Mary Neivez Mr. Thomas has two two-year-olds by Honduras and two yearlings, one by Honduras and one by Gano-Ameda Howard, being a full brother to Charles T. and Pescador.—Los Angeles Herald.

MORGANETTE, the dam of Galtee More, was bought by Mr. Gubbins, the Irish sportsman, for 50 guineas. Yet the gentleman efuses $125,000 and one-half his winnings in the St. Leger and other stakes for the winner of the Derby and 2,000. There are certainly great possibilities for making a fortune in breeding thoroughbreds. The dam of Isinglass was old for a song, too, if we remember aright. The latter won $290,000 on the turf.

THE Daily Racing Form of Chicago thinks The Futurity, to be decided Tuesday, August 24th, will be won by either Burns & Waterhouse's Morello filly, Recreation, or by J. E. Madden's Howland, by Hindoo—Richochet. The editor of this paper estimates that The Futurity of 1897, will by worth $44,620. Let us hope the liberal California firm will carry a long enough pole to knock the persimmon.

IN the Two-year-old Handicap, seven furlongs, booked to be run July 3d at the V. R. C. meeting, Key was asked to carry 10 stone, 7 lbs., or 147 lbs. In another race he was asked to carry 152 lbs. and in the Winter Handicap, mile and a quarter, for all ages, the youngster is down to carry 118 lbs. Verily they believe in putting weight on a good 'un in the land of the kangaroo.

AUGUST BELMONT'S Rayon d'Or—Lady Margaret filly, Lady Marian, won the Flirtation Stakes at Saratoga last Tuesday. E. S. Baldwin's San Antonio (H. Shields up) won the first race that day, six furlongs for two-year-olds. Tod Sloan rode the winners, Beldemere and Joe Miller, was second on Banquo II, third on Black Cock.

Mortimer's Payne-Killer.

Hempstead, L. I., July 24, 1897.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman—Dear Sir: During many years I have refrained from public discussions with such exhibitors as were disappointed and controversial concerning the awarding of prizes, for the simple reason that no information, will change a belief founded on self-interest blended with a deep affection for the dog which failed to win. The average kicker in the cause of his dog feels that he is wounded in his pride, his affection and his pocket. The one who kicks for commercial advantages and for the advertising to be gained, cannot be convinced, for that would be diametrically opposed to his pre-arranged calculations. Moreover, I feel that my judgments are fit topics for true criticism, and to such I have no objection; in fact, I invite it. But wholesale vilification is not criticism.

However, the virulent attack upon my honesty in connection with the judging of the late Oakland show, made in the columns of a journal which barely exceeds the dignity of a circular, has, by some of my friends, been thought of sufficient importance to warrant an answer, although it is difficult to answer a charge which has no specification; one which is made up of mere assertion, as is this one. But as the Pacific Coast is, in a way, as far as its canine interests are concerned, an unknown country to Eastern fanciers, and as new complications have been brought into the case through factional action, I have decided to throw some light on it and on other matters.

First, as to the man, Mr. H. T. Payne, who publishes the attack through the columns of the literary bantling afore-mentioned. He dawned upon the journalistic sporting world but a few short years ago, and with no substantial or adequate experience in the dog world, or knowledge of dogs, he assumed a critic's knowledge and maintained it with an audacity which was marvelous.

His stay in the dog world is not from any public belief in his pretensions, or that his estimate of himself is correct, or that he is a genuine power. It is from his affiliation with factions, which indentifies him with certain contending interests such as they may be for the time being; and from the multiplicity of factions which have made up the formative period of the dog world in California, and from the many mutations of it, combined with the absence of any serious journalistic competition, he has managed to keep his head uncertainly afloat. All his writings are marked by coarseness of thought, insolent assumption and acrimonious invective; opinionated, intolerant, narrow and much given to beluading his own importance, doings and purposes.

With a rival paper on the coast, his only competitor, he has been bitterly quarreling for years. The two kennel editors do not hesitate to call each other liars, self-seekers and mischief-makers, and to belittle each other's knowledge and worth with all the wealth of epithets which can be compiled by diligent application; and yet, whatever others may think and write of him, Mr. Payne never fails to publish himself the censor of judges, the preserver of honesty and the champion of right; this man who recently came into the kennel world a fancier ready-made. Yet this is not all his true greatness. The American Kennel Club, a few months ago, was the subject of his intemperate virulence in a paper which circulated among his acquaintances, that is, his own paper. Reforms affecting the Pacific Coast, which the Club had for a long while contemplated making for the betterment of kennel interests there, and which it eventually made, he had the effrontery to claim as being the direct result of his editorial diatribes, though the latter were mostly irrelevant, yet irritating coincidents. When the Pacific Advisory Board was formed he became its Secretary, although denounced by some as unworthy of the office. Nevertheless, the new office gave a new prestige to the editor of the journalistic bantling; his knowledge of dogs was confirmed more certainly, for he wrote more as one in authority, and a new impetus was given to his editorial insolence. Nor did all these comprise his activities in the cause of dog interests. Be it known, he was and is a dog breeder, a dog exhibitor and a dog broker—when a good opportunity presents itself. Such diversity of talent cannot belong to a man of little capacity. Editor, secretary, dog-breeder, dealer, exhibitor and broker, all in one person! Is not that comprehensive? For an ordinary man it might be difficult to disassociate the editor from the dog exhibitor, or to disassociate the exhibitor's interests from those of the secretary's office, or any one from all the rest; and with his factional affiliations and interminable editorial brawlings, it is difficult to determine which office he would hold aloof from personal matters if he did not hold them all, or how he could benefit the canine world.

These editorial criminations and recriminations, relentless factional strife, malignings, detraction and promotion of constant trouble are unknown in the East. The attack referred to if made by one of the responsible Eastern journals would be treated by the public as being serious and worthy of respect, for the public would know that it was the result of the deep conviction of the editors who were free from any of the resentments of the disappointed exhibitor, and also that their was a material responsibility behind the journal. Financial irresponsibility, as in this undisciplined novice, by accident turned editor, might impel him to take long chances for the sake of the possible advertising gain. However, habituated to concede much confidence to the writings of Eastern journals, the dog fanciers in the East might take for granted that the same conditions governed the publication of all sporting journals on the Pacific Coast. Such is not the case.

It has been said that for the libelous article which Mr. Payne published against me, I have a remedy in the courts either in a civil or criminal action against him. At first thought this has a plausible force, but as a matter of fact, it would afford no remedy at all. An action for damages, if won, could result in no material gain, and if prosecuted criminally, there would be but a remote possibility of conviction, for it is a notorious fact that in libel cases it is extremely difficult to secure a conviction, be the case ever so well established, for the jury will confound the liberty of speech with the license of speech, and will be reluctant to decide against the press. The prosecution of a libel suit, moreover, is a long, expensive matter. There are many ways of securing delays, and generally it is years after one is instituted before it is decided. There is also in this case the formidable obstacle of a distance of some 3,000 miles to be overcome, and besides it might be extremely difficult to convince a jury that anything printed in Mr. Payne's paper was really published, since the few copies circulated among his aquaintances could hardly do so much injury as to impress a jury with its criminality.

In what was presented to his band of readers as a report of the Oakland Show, but which was a combination of abuse of the judge and illtempered vilification of him and others, for no apparent reason other than that Mr. Payne thought differently from him, the following appeared. It is not all, but it gives the substance of the charges, and a fair presentation of that gentleman's style. The factional spirit appears in this. He said that "even the intelligent winners, realizing the brazen-faced trickery of the judge (?), blushed with shame that they had been the recipients of his favors." Again: "The fiasco of placing the awards was done by Mr. James Mortimer, and done in the most shameful and brazen-faced manner possible, far eclipsing his dirty work at San Francisco a year ago." He states that it was quite generally understood how the awards would be given "from the character of the men who forced his engagement." Of the home fanciers with whom he disagrees he says: "It was the plan of those who forced him upon the Oakland Club to ruin dog shows on the Coast if possible by disgusting the people, but the zeal in this direction of their confederate so over-reached itself that the intended tragedy became a farce." It should be kept in mind that Mr. Payne was an exhibitor at this show. He then alleges that some of the bystanders could name the winners from the circumstance of what men were showing the dogs. Here is a sample of a criticism: "Almost from beginning to end the St. Bernard awards were a farce, while the handling of the specials were actually damnable." Again: "Mr. Chas. A. Harker, of San Jose, had been visited by three of these officers at as many times, each importuning him not to show in this city. But Mr. Harker is a gentleman far above being a party to their low, spiteful work and refused to comply with their demands, THEREFORE (italics mine) in the specials his Alta Berna, a bitch that is far more than a good specimen, was turned down for a long-nosed, hound-headed, flat-sided bitch that should not have won in her class. Dr. Taylor's fine young dog, Roxey Savage, was also turned down for a long-headed, smooth-coat of inferior quality that belongs to an officer of the club." This is the style of ranting about officers, dogs and judges that is served up by Editor Payne when he takes the public into his editorial confidence.

Mr. Payne averts to the dirty work I did a year ago, that is to say, my awards did not meet with his approval, but the mild (?) reference to it gives the reader no idea of the abuse which was bestowed upon me at that time. If Mr. Payne believed what he wrote last year, he should have opposed me in every way this year. However, under date of February 15, 1897, Mr. John E. de Ruyter wrote me that the San Francisco Kennel Club had made an application for membership in the American Kennel Club with the intention of holding a show in May, and asked for my terms for superintending the show and judging some classes.

In a postscript he added: "If the A. K. C. should grant us our charter, would you be willing to accept the appointment as our delegate? MR. PAYNE OF —— —— HAS SUGGESTED YOUR NAME TO ME."

Under date of March 12, 1897, Mr. H. H. Carlton, Secretary of the San Francisco Kennel Club, wrote me as follows: "I have the honor to inform you that at a meeting of the San Francisco Kennel Club, held last evening, you were unanimously elected our delegate to the American Kennel Club * * * We shall feel grateful if you will represent us, as there is no one to whom we would entrust our interests who we feel such confidence in and who would represent us more faithfully."

March 10, 1897, Mr. Payne published in his paper the following: "The well-known judge, Mr. James Mortimer, who officiated at the San Francisco show last year, has been engaged." On April 24th he said: "Mr. James Mortimer will judge all classes. Mr. Mortimer is a well-known judge all over the Coast, having judged once at Los Angeles, twice at San Francisco, and once at Seattle. While —— —— has critized some of his awards, the same as it feels at liberty to do, and does do, with any and all judges when it thinks errors have been made, it recognizes in Mr. Mortimer a gentleman of ability, and one whom it can unhesitatingly recommend to the fanciers of the Coast."

May 1st he said: "That it (Oakland show) will be a success is already assured. Mr. Mortimer, who has twice officiated on the Coast will do the judging, and this fact alone should lead to a large entry."

On May 15th he said: "Mr. Mortimer judged all classes. The majority of his awards were based upon good judgment and no reasonable fault can be found with them." All this was published before the special prizes, in which Mr. Payne was interested as a competitor, were awarded. Mr. Payne's dogs did not win. This will explain the "damnable" character of the judging of the specials.

Thus it will be seen that the sudden turn against me by Mr. Payne, as editor, was co-incidental with his defeat as an exhibitor; Mr. Payne, the exhibitor, palpably having a great deal of influence with Mr. Payne, the editor, who again might have some influence with Mr. Payne, secretary of the Pacific Advisory Board.

As showing the harmless nature of Mr. Payne's displeasure and how little it is heeded by the world at large, or even by that portion of it over which he assumes a dictatorship, the following is interesting. Under date of June 8, 1897, the St. Bernard Club of California wired me as follows: "Annual election ninth. Will you act as delegate? Answer." On June 12th Mr. Fred Johns, secretary of the Oakland Kennel Club, wrote me: "The Oakland Kennel Club requests that you will represent it at the American Kennel Club. I enclose credentials herewith. Hoping that you will pardon our taking this action without first consulting you, and that you will be able to accept, I am very truly yours, Fred Johns, Secretary." Under date of June 17th, Mr. A. P. Vredenburgh, Secretary of the American Kennel Club, sent me the following: "I beg to advise you that I have this day received credentials from the Milwaukee K. & P. S. Ass'n. appointing you as its delegate to the A. K. C."

The Breeder and Sportsman (San Francisco) of May 15th, in its report of the Oakland show, said: "Mr. Mortimer judged all classes and gave excellent satisfaction to the critics. He reversed several of "Uncle Dick's" decisions, and withheld prizes where he thought the exhibits were not worthy of mention, a practice that cannot be too highly commendad, but on the whole he pleased both exhibitors and visitors." On May 22d the same journal said: "Mr. Mortimer judged all classes * * * His method of hewing to the line cannot be too highly commended. Mongrels and third-raters have won prizes enough and it is time the public were taught what representative specimens of the different breeds look like."

Had the matter stood as above I probably never should have taken any notice of Mr. Payne's "criticism," for while to the Eastern fanciers it seems very earnest, in Mr. Payne's paper it is merely a weekly, commonplace incident, a trifling detail of endless quarreling. Malicious wrangling is the life of his paper; by it he gains his notoriety, his advertisiug. By an assault on me he seeks to gain a wider fame and that is why I have studiously refrained from mentioning the name of his paper in this.

At the recent meeting of the A. K. C. Executive Board charges were made formally against Mr. Payne, by the St. Bernard Club of California for his malicious attacks upon me. I appeared before the Board and requested that the matter be given the fullest investigation. The Pacific Coast Advisory Board has been instructed to ask Mr. Payne for his evidence. As an officer of the A. K. C. he could have preferred charges against me at once and immediately. If he believed his own statements it was his duty to bring forth his charge and proof at once. That, however, would not have advertised his paper as he desired it done. When he published his denunciation he should have produced his proof—if he had it. He did not have it; but that is a trifling matter in his style of journalism.

Now that the matter is to be investigated officially I ask him to bring forth every particle of proof he has and do his worst.

In the meantime the following may be an interesting comparison as showing the opinion of Mr. Payne, the editor, as he published it before the show, and the opinion of Mr. Payne, the editor-exhibitor, as he published it after the show:

"It (his paper) recognizes in Mr. Mortimer a gentlemen of ability, and one whom it can unhesitatingly recommend to the fanciers of the Coast."—Apr. 24th.

"Mr. Mortimer judges all classes The majority of his awards was based upon good judgment and no reasonable fault can be found with them."—May 15th.

"Mr. Mortimer may, undoubtedly has, won the friendship of those who brought him here and who have been condemned and kicked forever out of San Francisco dogdom. At the same time he has won the condemnation, aye, loathing of every intelligent fancier who had no axes to grind, by the disgraceful awards.—May 22d.

Alas! that the calm, judicial editor could so cheaply be turned into the frenzied exhibitor. Yours truly, James Mortimer.

The Great Dane Club.

San Francisco, Aug. 2, 1897.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—The last meeting of the California Great Dane Club was a very enthusiastic one. The members present being greatly interested in studying the points by which the Great Danes are judged by the most prominent judges of dogs; and the breeders have decided to use the greatest effort to produce, if possible, the dog which will win the club's special prize to be given at the bench shows of the California circuit.

Several members of the club with their dogs took a little outing on Sunday and had a very agreeable time, while the dogs were greatly admired. Six new applications for membership were received since last meeting. Since the Klondyke excitement several letters have been received for mining men seeking information in regard to using the Great Dane as pack animals and for drawing sleds and the Secretary is kept quite busy answering them. At the present time there are very few good dogs for sale. Mr. Wm. F. Williamson has been chosen to represent the club at the meetings of the Pacific Advisory Board of the A. K. C.

Respectfully Yours,
F. H. Hartman,
Secretary Cal. Great Dane Club.

The Collie Club.

San Jose,

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—An enthusiastic meeting of the California Collie Club was held at the parlors of the St. James on the 24th. After a few changes the Constitution and By-Laws were adopted as reported by committee, consisting of Albee, Berrett and Lopez.

Mr. E. D. Nairn, of Balston, Ore., was admitted to membership. If he shows in California, as no doubt he will, he is likely to carry off a share of the money.

Respectfully,
Miss Beach, Secretary.

Hector of Hauenstein.

Our readers will learn with regret that Franz Frey's grand S. C. St. Bernard Hector of Hauensten, by Barry of Hauenstein—Gemma, died at his home in San Rafael on July 28th. The cause of his death was the bursting of an abscess in the bowels, causing peritonitis and death in a few hours.

Hector was raised in Switzerland and through his sire was a direct descendant of the Hospice dogs. He was imported in 1894, and after being shown at the Chicago World's Fair and the Midwinter Fair was sold to his late owner. In his hands he won several first prizes in San Francisco and was always well up in the money whenever he was shown. He was exceptionally good in body legs and feet. He possessed the massiveness combined with soundness and great strength that is of so much importance in the Holy Breed, and we think that our breeders made a great mistake in not breeding to him more. Mr. Frey has a puppy by Hector that promises to excel his sire.

Death of Midnight.

Santa Clara, August 3, 1897.

Editor Breeder and Sportsman:—I wish to inform you of the death of the grand old grey hound Midnight owned by me, and without the shadow of a doubt the greatest dog of his breed ever imported to California. He was bred by H. H. Smith, Massachusetts Mills, Worcester, Mass., by imp. Friday Night out of imp. Mother Demdyke.

Midnight has proved himself the greatest sire in America. Skyrocket, Headlight, Moonlight, Twilight, Shortstop, Happy Jack, Applause, etc., etc., all sons, grandsons and grandaughters, Royal, Buck, Flying Back, Daisy Creek, Royal Daisy, Blackette Commodore, Ruby, Westside, Rocket Cavalier, Rosette, Joe, Sly Boy, Conamara, Magnet, Pleasant Boy, Jasper and many more. Midnight was 11 years October 25 last.

Yours Truly,
W. E. Wadams.

DOINGS IN DOGDOM.

Secretary Vredenburgh should arrive in this city to-day.

The St. Bernard Club will meet at this office on Monday evening, August 9th.

Who said the members of the Advisory Board were advised to use Payne Killer for the relief of all ailments?

The proceedings of the Advisory Board will be "Paynefull no longer," said an old friend of the kennel interests after the Advisory Board adjourned last Tuesday.

There are 80 entries to the Interstate Coursing Clubs Merced meeting. As the limit is 64 some of those who have entered more than one or two will probably have to withdraw.

The "mischief-maker's" ways peculiar will be investigated at a special meeting of the Pacific Advisory Board at the Occidental Hotel to suit the convenience of Secretary Vredenburg.

The smooth St. Bernard bitch, Eulalie II. died on June June 26th. She was by Champion Altoneer, out of Clara Barton. She was owned at the time of her death by G. W. Patterson, of Worcester, Mass.

Champion Io, the crack R. C. St. Bernard bitch, has joined the great majority. She was by Champion Victor Joseph and was unquestionably one of the best, if not the best, American bred bitch ever shown.

The postponed annual meeting of the Pacific Advisory Board was held on Tuesday evening last. The following officers were elected: Dr. F. W. D'Evelyn chairman; W. M. Gibson, vice-chairman; R. T. Gardner, secretary-treasurer.

Jas. Mortimer was first choice of the American Spanish Club for club judges. The list is as follows: Jas. Mortimer, E. M. Oldham, A. C. Wilmerding, C. H. Mason, S. J. Bradbury, Geo. Douglas, Jas. Watson, J. F. Kirk, Andrew Laidlaw and J. P. Willey.

What a terrible sight to see;
He wiggled and groaned, he kicked and he moaned
As Mort drew his sharp snickersnee.
But his cries were in vain, though they drove one insane
By their fearful intens-i-ty.
Jeems spat on his fist, gave one extra twist,
And swung on his neck, don't you see?

A Mr. Newman, of Stockton, is said to be purchasing dogs with the view of taking them to Alaska to sell. The popular idea that only long-haired dogs are suitable for this work is erroneous. Any long-haired dog that possesses an open coat is totally unfitted for Alaska. In the Alps, the monks discard the rough coated St. Bernard puppies and only retain the smooth coats, but it should be borne in mind that the coat of a smooth St. Bernard is short but very dense. There probably is no dog living except the Esquimaux so well fitted for that climate as the Chesapeake Bay dog, and next to that a close coated English retreiver. Smooth St. Bernards that are sound will of course prove the most useful on account of their size, great strength and docility.

NOTICE TO ANGLERS.

Every angler is invited to drop us a line occasionally, telling us of the condition of the streams they have visited and the killing lure; of the number and size of the fish caught, or any other item of interest to anglers.

Fishing in the National Park.

Lieut. Elmer Lindsley, Sixth Cavalry, Ft. Yellowstone, sends the following timely communication on the fishing resources of National Park. He seems to show foundation for the mooted title of "angler's paradise," and all who know the park can appreciate his enthusiasm. He says:

"The Yellowstone National Park furnishes more miles of fresh water fishing to the acre, with better fishing as to quality, quantity and variety than any other spot on earth.

"Nature seems to have designed it for a 'real angler's paradise,' and her generous gifts have been ably and intelligently supplemented by the U. S. Fish Commission in 'planting,' and the Superintendent in 'watering,' if I may use that expression, and God has given a bountiful increase.

"The Park is the source of three great rivers, the Missouri, the Yellowstone and the Snake; and its numberless cold, clear mountain streams and glacial lakes are admirably adapted to trout of all species. Many of the streams in their lower courses are the natural home of Salmo mykiss, the native trout of that region; but where the waters leave the great volcanic plateau the cataracts form an impassable barrier to the ascent of fish, so the upper courses of all the streams were naturally devoid of fish life. A notable exception to this is the Yellowstone Lake, and that part of the river above the falls, these waters being abundantly stocked with the mykiss. As the falls (465ft, in height) form an absolutely impassable barrier, the explanation is sought, and found in the fact that at a comparatively recent date (from a geological standpoint) the waters of Yellowstone Lake drained through Snake River to the Pacific. It was then abundantly stocked with the mykiss of the Pacific slope, and when the outlet became dammed up by ice or other natural agency the lake found a new outlet in the opposite direction and so the mykiss crossed the continental divide by natural means. My authority for the above statement is Professor Arnold Hague, of the U. S. Geological Survey, who has probably studied the natural features of the Park more thoroughly, and knows them more accurately, than any man alive. But to return to our fishes. Since 1889 the U. S. Fish Commission has planted about 100,000 yearling trout in the barren streams and lakes of the Park, and these have, with scarce an exception, grown and multiplied almost beyond belief; so the angler can now take his choice of pursuing the native mykiss, the whitefish, or the rare and gamy grayling; or he may take the European brown trout (Vohn Behr) the eastern brook trout (fontinalis), the rainbow (irideus) of California, or the ouananiche of Canada.

"The summer climate is delightful, the scenery superb, and, as though the shade of good old Izaak Walton exercised a special guardianship over this region, there is such a combination of cold, snow fed streams, with others fed by geysers and boiling springs, that the angler cannot only take a fine trout on his fly at any season of the year, but he can, in hundreds of places drop him into a convenient hot spring and cook him without moving from his stand.

"I have just consulted my map with a view to tabulating the streams, with the mileage of each, which furnish good sport with each particular variety; but had to give it up. It will suffice to say, that from any hotel in the Park one can go out and have an excellent day's sport, returning to this hotel for dinner at night. To get real first-class sport with the grayling, however, one should take a wagon and drive about thirty miles from the Fountain Hotel to Dwelle's ranch, on the South Fork of Madison River. This is probably the best grayling stream in the United States now, and Mr. Dwelle will furnish good accomodations to sportsmen at reasonable prices. To catch the ouananiche one has to take a wagon or pack train and camp outfit, and go one day's drive from the hotel and camp on the shore of Shoshone Lake; and this, by the way, is the only fishing proposition in Park that is the least doubtful. This heretofore barren lake was stocked in 1889 with the naymacush, and up to last season had never been finished.

"Last July I cut a trail to the lake and took a boat there in a wagon. We camped on the lake shore, near the outlet, and saw the fish breaking about 50 yards off shore. The next day we fished for them with a fly and trolled with a spoon, but could not get a strike, though they are surely there. Since then I have studied the ouananiche some, and hope to get after them again with live bait.

"As to the accommodations for anglers in this region. The Park is reached from the East via the N. P. R. R. or the Livingston, and from the West via the N. P. or the U. P., which runs a stage line into the Park from Beaver Canon, Idaho. Once within the borders of the Park, and the rest is easy and only moderately expensive. The Park Association has four first-class hotels, one day's drive apart, and they make reduced rates to anglers, who wish to stay in the Park longer than the necessary time for making the regular trip. The transportation company runs elegant 4-horse covered coaches between the hotels, and at each hotel they keep buckboards and saddle horses for the use of tourists who wish to go fishing, while about the Park are several individuals who will furnish to a party of sportsmen, transportation and camp equipage, and guide them to the best fishing resorts.

"All of these people do business in the Park under the supervision of the Government, enforced by the local superintendent, which guarantees the sportsman or tourist against fraud or exorbitant charges.

"I have been on duty here for more than five years, and I advise every angler to come here for his outing if he can, and every angler who has arranged for the regular sightseeing tour of the Park, taking five days, should not fail to plan for ten days more, to enjoy the unparalleled sport with rod and reel."—Forest and Stream.

Fresno's Net Ordinance.

SECTION 1. It shall be unlawful for any person to cast, extend or set, or to assist in the casting, extending or setting any seine or net of any kind, or to use the same, or assist in using the same, in any manner for the catching of fish, in any of the waters, within the County of Fresno, State of California.

Sec. 2. Every person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon a conviction thereof shall be punishable by imprisonment in the County Jail, not to exceed six (6) months or by a fine, not to exceed five hundred dollars ($500) or by both such imprisonment and fine.

Sec. 3. Nothing in this ordinance shall be construed to prevent the United States Fish Commission, or the California Fish Commis- from taking fish from any of the waters of Fresno county, for the purpose of propagation.

Sec. 4. All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Sec. 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the 15th day of August, 1897.

Ayes—Supervisors Garrett, Rose, Smith and Sayre.
No—Supervisor Manly.

J. H. SAYRE,
Chairman Board of Supervisors, Fresno County, Cal.
[SEAL]
T. G. HART,
Clerk Board Supervisors Fresno County, Cal.
By J. B. JOHNSON, Deputy Clerk.

Some remarkable and true fish stories are coming from the Sound section. In one night last week at Village point. Allsop's trap took approximately 50,000 fish, the single night's haul netting the trap-owner about $5,000. At all points the catch is reported as immense and the canneries hardly able to handle the fish, though operating at full capacity. The Island Packing Company's big double trap took 30,000 salmon last Thursday night and the cannery at Friday Harbor is packing from 1,000 to 1,200 cases daily.

W. D. Mansfie'd will leave to-day for Chicago to compete in the Chicago Fly Casting Club's tournament. We wish him well. He will unquestionably give a good account of himself. The members of the Chicago Club will find a man that it will try their metal to beat and above all they will meet a gentlemanly sportsman angler. If he is beaten he will be the first to congratulate the winner.

The "regulars" were at Lake San Andreas last Sunday. Al Smith, C. Cate, Geo. Hinkle and John Butler all caught a few fish. E Clark's 13 and John Butler's 10 were the largest catches reported.

Henry Skinner is enjoying a much-needed rest at Boca. Trout fishing in the Truckee is reported good and Prosser and the Little Truckee always provide good sport.

Gus Alderton is enjoying huge sport up in Shasta county. He sent Edgar Forster a fine box of trout on Tuesday last.

Black bass fishing continues good at Duncan's Mills, Russian River station and Guerneyville.

The Empire Tournament.

The tournament and handicap merchandise match of the Empire Gun Club held at the club's grounds at Alameda Point last Sunday was attended by 61 shooters. The events were run off rapidly, A. J. Webb shooting from scratch, W. N. Wetmore with a handicap of two birds and I. R. D. Grubb with a handicap of four, tied for the first prize, a pretty onyx and enamel medal, with a full 20 each. The tie was shot off at the original number of birds, Webb winning the medal and Wetmore second place. Webb broke 105 out of 110 birds during the day.

King 9, Andrew 13, Webb 13, Nauman 13, Bekeart 13, Miller 9, Gamble 12, F. Feudner 11, Kerrison 11, Olsen 12, Javette 9, Klevesahl 12, Ricklefson 10, Hauer 11, Young 7, Debenham 11, Daniels 12, Sears 8, Golcher 13, Fishbeck 13, McCutchan 14, Stevens 10, "Edwards" 12.

The second event, same conditions; three moneys: King 12, Gamble 14, Webb 14, Nauman 13, Bekeart 12, Miller 11, Neustadter 7, Klevesahl 9, Daniels 13, Fishbeck 13, W. Golcher 15, Grubb 7, Kerrison 9, Javette 8, F. Feudner 14, McCutchan 12, Debenham 8, Andrus 8.

Third event, 10 birds, entrance 75 cents; three moneys. High guns to win. The scores were: McCutchan 8, Andrus 8, Webb 10, Nauman 10, Bekeart 9, Gamble 9, O. Fischer 7, Fishbeck 10, W. Golcher 9, Daniels 6, F. Feudner 5, Javette 8, Kerrison 10, Justins 8, P. McRae 7, Palmer 9, Thom 7, Lewis 7.

The California Wing Club.

The regular monthly shoot of the California Wing Shooting Club was held at the Olympic grounds, Ingleside, on Sunday last. The shooting was an extremely high class, very few birds escaping. C. A. Haight, the popular agent of the Dupont powders won first place with a straight score, and during the day he killed 39 out 40 and the one marked lost fell just over the boundary. The scores were as follows:

C A Haight	211122111112—12	H C Golcher	*212212112112—11

"Slade"	2*11121111112—11	F. Vernon	221211021*— 8

Several "freeze-outs" followed. Haight and Feudner divided the first. Haight won the second and Feudner the third.

A Mendocino Deer.

One of the most exciting deer hunts ever chronicled in the sporting annels of Mendocino took place last week on Pine ridge, a few miles west of this city.

Together with their hounds Floss Vaughn and Fred Frazier left camp near Low Gap and ascended the ridge that trends southerly from that point. Vaughn traveled along the summit of the divide while Fraser took his position lower down the mountain side. The hounds soon ran a fine buck from cover, and the animal passed about a hundred yards from Fraser, who succeeded in wounding him badly.

After being shot the deer ran into a thick patch of undergrowth and was lost to sight. Fraser hunted through the brush for some time, but was unable to discover the hiding-ing place of the deer. He finally whistled for the dogs, and when they arrived he sent them into the tick cover to drive out the wounded animal. The dogs ran directly past the deer the first time, the animal lying within a few feet of where Fraser was standing. They finally came back, however, and discovered the deer.

When the deer found that he had been scented by the dogs he sprang to his feet and savagly charged on Fraser, who had exhausted his ammunition. Fraser clubbed his rifle and dealt the frenzied animal a heavy blow on the head. The blow stunned the animal for an instant, and before it could recover Fraser grasped it firmly by the antlers in order to save himself from annihilation.

Fraser soon found, however, that it was far easier to hold onto the deer thon it was to let go, and he immediately called to Vaughn to come to his assistance. The buck in the meantime was plunging frantically and trying to cut Fraser with its sharp hoofs. Vaughn quickly went to his companion's rescue, and after a prolonged and exciting struggle the buck was forced to the ground and his throat cut.

The antlers of the savage animal are now on exhibition at Vaughn's fruit store.—Ukiah Press.

Garden City Gun Clu.

At a recent meeting of the Garden City Gun Club a reorganization was effected, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Charles P. Owen; Vice-President, C. S. Hall; Secretary, Arthur Holmes; Captain, W. B. Hobson; Treasurer, E. S. Gilbert.

The new club starts out with a membership of fifty, which it is expected will rapidly increase. The organization will hereafter be known as the Garden City Gun Club, the object being to promote trap and wing shooting and yachting. New rooms are being fitted up which will soon be occupied by the club.

It is the intention of the club to renovate the old club house on the Alviso marsh, where some important functions will be held during the season.

CARTRIDGE AND SHELL.

The South End Gun Club shoot at Colma to-morrow.

The Olympic Gun Club will shoot bluerocks at Ingleside to-morrow.

The Reliance Gun Club will shoot at Webster street, Alameda, to-morrow.

Geo. Winkle and Ed Shulties killed three deer in one day on Soquel creek recently.

The popular weapons for Alaska are Colt's revolvers and Remington or Parker guns.

If you are going to the Klondyke take with you a Parker gun. E. T. Allen has them.

Young Miller, of Capay, killed a 200-pound brown bear on Salt creek, Capay canyon last week.

F. Parker shot an eagle on his farm near Capay last week that measured seven feet from tip to tip.

Frank Von Dorsen killed a fine large buck on Soquel creek, Santa Cruz county, last Sunday week.

Jos. Bassford, Beech Basford and B. Brooks killed three deer on Putah creek canyon last Sunday week.

The regular semi-monthly shoot of the Empire Gun Club will take place at Alameda Point, to-morrow.

Seth Loomis, H. Maguire, Carl Stoddard and Frank Miller killed three deer near Santa Barbara last week.

J. H. Durst, of Wheatland, won the Appeal diamond medal at Marysville, last year. Who will win it to-morrow?

The Yuba and Sutter Gun Clubs' dove stew will attract the attention of a great many sportsmen to-morrow and next day.

Judge Burnett and Attorney Leppo of Cloverdale made a successful trip after deer on the Crawford ranch last Sunday week.

C. H. Shaw killed a fine two prong buck on Boulder Creek near Felton, the first of the week. It weighed 100 pounds dressed.

The Santa Clara County Sportsmen's Association has more than doubled its membership since the initial meeting three weeks ago.

Klondyke parties should bear in mind that a couple outfit can be purchased of either Clabrough, Golcher & Co. or E. T. Allen Co.

W. H. Bryan, M. Dinkelspiel, Ross Barnes, Harry Miller and F. P. Weinman bagged 72 doves and 16 jack-rabbits near Suisun last week.

Quite a number of the local bluerock shooters will miss their club shoot to-morrow and will attend the Marysville tournament and dove stew.

John P. Lovell, founder of the John P. Lovell Arms Co., of Boston, joined the great majority on the 29th. He started in business in Boston in 1841.

The Klondyke fever continues to spread among the sportsmen. Three more members of the Mira Monte Club have followed in the footsteps of Whitney and Adams, and a Lincoln Gun Club member, C. Josweski, will go to-morrow on the "Farralon."

E. J. McClanahan, of Eugene, Oregon, has closed a contract with J. P. Babcock, Secretary of the Board of Fish Commissioners for 400 Mongolian pheasants to be delivered this year. They are to be sent to different parts of California in lots of twenty-five for propagating purposes.

The reception committee of the third annual outing of the Yuba and Sutter Gun Club to-morrow will be: Mayor W. T. Ellis Jr., W. W. Ward, J. W. Steward, F. W. Lipp, Dr. J. L. Howard, W. H. Parks, F. W. Johnson, Col. Edwin A. Forbes, I. G. Cohn, D. P. Donahoe, Dr. J. H. Barr and Geo. Harney.

In a fifty-bird match held at the range of the Marysville Gun Club Sunday week there were three contestants. John W. Steward killed 46, Frank Lipp, 45, and E. Barthe, 36. In the ten-bird match Barthe got 10; Frank Lipp, 10; J. W. Steward, 10; F. H. Greely, 8; Wiley Steward, 8; Ed Rideout, 7; A. P. Lipp, 5.

The Point Arena Rod and Gun Club was organized at that place a couple of weeks ago. The following officers were elected: F. E. Gallison, President; C. Griffith, Vice-President; George Pursell, Secretary; J. C. Halliday, Treasurer; E. F. Williford, W. R. Berry, R. Willits, C. Griffith and G. Johnson were appointed Directors.

The Mount Shasta Gun Club was organized at Eureka last week. The following officers were elected: M. E. Dittmar, President; A. F. Dobrowsky, Vice-President; Dr. T. J. Edgcomb, Secretary; George H. Schiller, Treasurer; C. K. Penner, Property man; Directors—A. F. Dobrowsky, R. M. Saeltzer, Frank Brightman, Dr. J. T. Rohm and S. F Vickers.

Deputy Fish Commissioner C. W. Hebberd arrested Le-Roy Lee and H. Hetherton, charging them with shooting deer out of season. Both men are prominent residents of Mott, and came to Yreka on the 29th to have their examination before Justice Howell. It is said that the names of a number more are in possession of the officers, who will be arrested on the same charge.

Elmer Rea's choice pack of deerhounds (keps near Gilroy) is a boon to Pajaro valley hunters. Elmer's dogs are good trailers, and when the deer hear the tones of those dogs they strike out for the Santa Cruz side of the mountains; and then Pajaro hunters get venison. The still hunters of this side get many more deer each season than Rea and friends. They ought to remember Elmer with venison occasionally.—Pajaronian.

Fred Myers, of Salinas, has invented and patented what he thinks a great desideratum in the way of a rifle sight. It is made of oxidized steel. A slot is cut the entire length of it in which an ivory wire is set, making it plainly visible if shooting in a thicket or shooting from a dark back ground into the open. Mr. Myers has had the matter in mind for more or less for ten years and he thinks he has arrived at about perfection in this particular article.

The last shoot of the Lincoln Gun Clubs season takes place on August 15, and after the regular shoot there will be a handicap pool on a new system. The shooters will be classed in three clases by their previous performances and the first class will shoot in the regular way, the second class will have the use of both barrels the second barrel break to count ½. The third class will have the use of both barrels and a break with either barrel will count the same as if only one barrel was used. This is an idea of Edgar Fosters and it will unquestionably prove a popular method of handicapping in events of that character.

A gentleman from Russian Gulch brought a good story to town Monday morning, one which is a good joke on the genial proprietor of the "Oberon" on Fourth street. Mr. Meyers was out hunting the other day, the gentleman says, and began banging away at something on top of a hill about 200 feet away. Two, four, six, seven shots were fired by the bold Charley. A friend happening that way asked Charley why he was wont to waste so many good cartridges? To this sally he replied rather warmly, "why, you fool, can't you see that I am firing at that sand hill crane sitting on top of that hill?" The other gave a loud guffaw and said, "why, you —— ——, heavenly visitant, I mean, that's no sand crane, that's a plow handle." An examination proved that such was the case. Seven good cartridges had been wasted on a plow handle with no damage to the handle. "Well," said Charley, "if that don't beat me. The curve in that handle looked exactly like a crane's neck.—Santa Rosa Press.

In a recent three-handed match at sparrows shot on the grounds of the Hazelwood Gun Club, John G. Messner, winner of the Grand American Handicap in '95, scored 40 out of 50 sparrows; J. N. Crossland scored 47 and F. Wilbert, 42, a total of 138 out of 150; tough on the sparrows. On another occasion recently, Crossland, Messner, Stilley, A. H. King and W. S. King shot for the Sparrow Championship of Western Pennsylvania, 25 birds per man, Crossland won with 24; Messner scored 23, the King brothers 22 each and Stilley 21. The club championship was also won by Crossland in the next event, another 25-bird event; he again scored 24 birds.—Forest and Stream.

Judge Lorigan, Matt Arnerich, Vic Scheller, Clem Arques, J. H. Freyschlag, Harry Plummer and Berthel Lorigan arrived in San Jose on the 28th from a three-weeks' hunt in Oregon. The party left San Jose on July 6th, arriving in Oakland, Oregon, on the 8th, where they hired a guide and took teams for Umpqua river, where they took a pack train and went to Upper lake. They remained there a week and killed five deer and one bear. They then went to Umpqua river and got ten deer and two bears. The party visited Bear camp, in Coos county, and hunted for elk, but on account of the thick brush the dogs worked slow and no shots could be obtained. The returning hunters report very good salmon fishing, and killed plenty of grouse and pheasants. The bear skins were brought home and will be tanned. The members of the party say that they saw many people starting north to prospect for gold.

Within a week after the opening of the season a dozen deer had been killed by San Jose hunters, and from all accounts the sport was exciting enough to bring on a number of severe attacks of "buck ague." Up at Vic Poncelet's Mountain Home resort on the Llagas all the hunters had luck, Poncelet's pack of hounds doing good service. There are still a number of deer in the vicinity, as the hunters got shots at the game before it got away. Sam Lowe killed a deer a few days ago a short distance this side of Mount Hamilton, in the canyon. Back of Almaden A. Withers shot two deer. Dennis Kelliher, John Tully and Mr. Edwards, of Evergreen, who went to Stanislaus county, came back with two deer, and report some exciting sport. The three Cox boys, of Saratoga, went to the headwaters of Alameda creek and succeeded in bringing down three deer. C. M. Hatcher has returned rom Sonoma country. He was with a party of hunters who killed three deer. Henry Richards, of Alviso, at a point back of Barker's ranch, near Black mountain, got one deer. One deer was also brought down by William Massey and John Decost near the headwaters of the Soquel creek, in the Santa Cruz mountains.

Australasian Totalizator Notes.

At Chartres Towers, Queensland, a country mining town, the totalizator receipts for two days' racing were $68,500, profiting the club $6,850, besides the gate receipts.

At the South Australian Jockey Club races sor one day's receipts through the totalizator were $51,895, against $60,350 for the same one day's races in 1896.

At Adelaide (S. A.), during a three-day race meeting, the totalizator receipts were $209,670, against $250,440 put through the three days' racing in 1896.

The Auckland Racing Club (N. Z.) for five meetings in 1896, amounting to twelve or thirteen days' racing, received through the totalizator $501,830, against $406,485 for 1895.

During 1896 the Canterbury (N. Z.), Jockey Club put through the totalizator during ten or twelve day's racing $435,000.

At Napier (N. Z.), the first days's receipts in the totalizator were $21,480 and $23,425 for the second day, making $44,905 for two days.

The Dunedin (N. Z.), Jockey Club received through the totalizator for 1896 (about two days' racing, $243,437, against $261,612 for 1895.

Answers to Correspondents.

Subscriber, Santa Monica.—Can you inform me of the breeding of a mare called Sessina (or something similar), by Wildidle. She was sold at an auction sale at San Francisco conducted by Mr. McShafter some years ago, and came from Sacramento. Answer—The name was Sossimo, a bay mare by Wildidle, dam Proserpine, by Daniel Boone; second dam, Anna H., by Lee Paul; third dam by Foreigner, etc.

There need be no more talk about the softness of the Diablos which jealous horsemen love to revel in. His first representative, Hijo del Diablo, won an extraordinary game race at Oakland on Thursday last. He is only a three-year-old and his driver, Wm. Murray, weighed over 200 pounds, yet he won the first heat in 2:16½ and was second in the next to De Bernardi Basler, another great three-year-old in 2:16¼, was fourth in the next in 2:17¾ and won the next two heats and race in 2:17¼ and 2:21½. Hijo del Diablo was bred by Ross Hanson of Isleton, Sacramento County, and is out of a mare by Bonner J., second dam by Black Ralph. He is a strong, well proportioned bay colt and is a smooth-gaited, level headed pacer, as game as a pebble and legs which look as if they would never break down.

R. O. Newman, the breeder of the good game three-year-old pacer, De Bernardi Basler, 2:16½, has reason to be proud of him, for he will be one of the best in California before the year ends. He was sired by his horse, Robert Basler, 2:20 (formerly called Consolation), out of Peerless Maid, by Strathway, 2:19 (son of Steinway, 2:29¾); second dam, Susie K. (grandam of Homeward, 2:13½), by Alaric, son of Hercules, thoroughbred. Robert Basler was sired by Antevolo 2:19½, out of Elizabeth Basler (dam also of Steinway, 2:12½), by Bill Arp; second dam, Mary, by Wakefield, son of Cracker, by Boston; third dam, Jane, by the Barn horse, son of American Eclipse.

Ray Heath, a half sister to William Pinkert (by Flambeau—Fannie Lewis) beat Los Prietos and others at Butte, Mont., last Tuesday. The filly has shown great improvement in Montana and won several good races for Farrar & Tuberville.

The Champion American Racers, 1800 to 1897.

It is my endeavor, in the table that follows, to give as complete a list as possible of the American racers that had claims to championship honors from the beginning of the present century up to the present day, also the age of the dam of each when she foaled the celebrity of after years, while the outer column indicates whether it was the mare's first foal or her second, third, or whatever it might be. Previous to 1800 Slammerkin, by imp. Wildair, was never beaten, and her sire became so famous that he was reshipped to England. Other very celebrated racers were Wildflyer (foaled 1774), "Overseer's Mare," Bellair, Calypso, Virago (called the Irish Beauty), Shark (owned by Gen. Wm. Washington, a nephew of Gen. George Washington) and Gallatin:

Nancy Norman was twenty-four years of age when she gave birth to Tally-Ho, and she was the eldest of the mothers of champions. Truxton was the property of General Andrew Jackson, the hero of New Orleans, afterward President of the United States. Of Florizel (Major Ball's), like the English Highflyer, it is declared he never paid forfeit, was never defeated and never knew the touch of whip or spur. Over a damp track, where each footprint was plainly visible, his stride measured twenty-six feet. Virago was such a great racer that she once ran outside the Annapolis course, was brought back and set going again, winning the heat over some distinguished horses. Hanie's Maria was invincible in her day. The unbeaten horses in the above list were Ball's Florizel, American Eclipse, imp. Monarch, Norfolk, Asteroid, Sensation, Tremont, French Park and our El Rio Rey. Lexington, the great, was practically an undefeated racer, the only time his owner lost the big end of a stake being when Henry Meichon pulled him up in a race at New Orleans after the grand horse had gone three miles, thinking he had gone four. Lecompte won in 7:26, 7:38¾, the best race ever run to that date (1853). Sally Hope won nineteen races in succession, without losing a heat. Wagner's one defeat was when Gamma beat him, but it was claimed the great racer had been drugged. Kentucky was beaten but once, Betsey Malone once in twenty-two races (then she fell to her knees) and Falsetto once (by Lord Murphy in the Kentucky Derby). Ariel won forty-two races in fifty-seven starts, seventeen of her wins being at four-mile heats. Boston won forty of his forty-five races, thirty-four mile heat races, nine at three-mile heats. Harry Bassett won all his three-year-old races. Marion, by Malcolm, threw three champions in Emperor of Norfolk, El Rio Rey and Yo Tambien. Imp. Barbarity was the mother of two—Restless and Remorseless. Boston ought to have been the champion he was, his sire, Timoleon, being a champion, while the dam of Boston was by the invincible Ball's Florizel. The "Napoleon of the Turf," Col. Johnson, of Virginia, declared Reality to be the greatest racer he had ever seen. She was the grandam of Fashion, who defeated Boston in the fastest race ever run up to that period. Sensation, Tremont, El Rio Rey and French Park only ran as two-year-olds. To Kingston belongs the credit of winning the largest number of races (87), and he retired to the stud when eleven years old as sound as a dollar.

Lady Lightfoot, Gabriella, Betsey Malone, Nina, Magenta, Maiden and Salina were the champion mares to throw respectively Black Maria by American Eclipse, George Martin by Garrison's Zinganee, Charmer by imp. Glencoe, Planet by Revenue, Duke of Magenta by Lexington, Parole by imp. Leamington and Salvator by imp. Prince Charlie). Lexington was not only the greatest race horse of his generation, but proved the most wonderful sire of racers America has ever produced, siring a larger number of truly great performers than any horse that ever lived. Most of these were from mares by imp. Glencoe, and this Lexington-Glencoe "nick" was the most successful ever known in this country. The next best was the imp. Lexington-Lexington.

With the exception of Amanda (dam of Duroc), imp. Monarch, Fashion, Balloon, Planet and Magenta the champions bred from 1800 to 1864 were from the Herod male line. "Herod blood" on top of "Herod blood" was "all the go" with our breeders until the late '60's, when Eclipse stallions like imp. Eclipse, imp Leamington and imp. Bonnie Scotland and the great scion of the Matchem line, imp. Australian began, through the performances of their sons and daughters, to attract a vast amount of attention to themselves, and their successes were followed up by the sons and daughters of imp. Phaeton, imp. Glenelg, imp. Billet, imp. St. Blaise, imp. The Ill-Used, imp. Order and others of the "Eclipse male line." It is safe to assert, therefore, that there is just as strong a "boom" for Eclipse male line horses as for many years there was for those that traced straightaway to Herod, for of the thirty-eight champions I mention foaled after 1871, twenty-eight are of the Eclipse male line, nine of the Herod, one of the Matchem.

The dams of Hanover and Henry of Navarre were put to the stud when but two years of age. Of the ninety-six champions in the above table, forty-nine were bays, thirty-one chestnuts, seven grays, five browns and four blacks Thirteen of the champions were first foals, thirteen second foals, sixteen third foals, sixteen fourth foals, nine fifth foals the rest greatly divided, going to show that the third and fourth foals are the best, first foals fairly good. The small number of geldings that could be accounted champions (four) sets one thinking that entire horses are really the most phenomenal racers, though geldings are generally supposed to last longer upon the turf. Taking those mares of known age in the above tabulation, I find the average to be eleven years and ten months when the champions were foaled, indicating that at this period a stud matron is at her very best as a producer. Trusting that the brief history and compilations will prove of interest if not of value to your readers, I am yours truly,

Ralph H. Tozer.

White Topaz.

Beautiful stones to be seen at THE DIAMOND PALACE. Every day in the week and every hour in the day, one can see crowds around the show windows of "The Chicago Diamond Palace." The cause of it all is the now widely known White Topaz. White Topaz or carbonated diamonds have come to be recognized as the nearest thing on earth to Genuine Diamonds; so near indeed is it that the proprietors of THE DIAMOND PALACE do not hesitate to place real diamonds in their windows amidst their display of White Topaz and allow the public to pick them out at the selling price of the Topaz.

The latter stones have all the lovely brilliancy of the diamonds, sparkling steadily and with wonderful fire. The thousands of these stones in the windows form one of the most gorgeous displays, and has proven an attraction which is one of the features of Chicago.

In order to find out the advertising medium best suited to their business, this enterprising concern offers to send a genuine White Topaz to all those who will cut out and send them their advertisement which appears elsewhere in this paper, together with 25 cents in stamps.

THE DIAMOND PALACE, like all successful institutions, has many imitators who endeavor to sell cheap rhinestones and other pastes, claiming they are Topaz. We caution the public to be careful, as THE DIAMOND PALACE, American Express Bldg., Chicago, are the sole importers of this stone.

In an article on "The Importation of American Horses," the London Field estimates that the number of horses shipped from New York and Boston to all parts of Europe at 1,200 per week. This is a heavy drain upon our supply, and if it keeps up prices are certain to advance. "The London Omnibus and Tramway Companies,' says the Field, "use a very large number of American horses, but all classes are imported — trotters, harness horses, chargers, 'bussers,' trammers, vanners, cabbers and draft horses. The last-named, however, seldom have enough for their size." The complaint about lack of bone in draft horses sounds odd when we remember how many heavy New York horses were brought to this country from Europe a few years ago and placed in the stud. The horse which has trotting blood in his veins seems to give the most satisfaction on the other side of the water.

Results at Anaconda.

J. H. Leonard appears at the head of the winning owners among the light harness division, but Tom Keating is in reality entitled to the honor, as he has Tuttle Bros.' Stam B. in his stable. The money-winners for Leonard have been Argoreat and Argotine.

Keating has driven no less than eight winners at the meeting; in 14 starts has only been outside the money twice. Benson and Jeffries are very close together for second honors, while Judd, Wall, McDowell and Shaner are also very close together. The record of the winning drivers follows:

Notes From Hueneme.

Leon, 2:22¼, died at the Matilija Springs June 29. He was the property of A. Levy, who regretted his loss very much.

Ben Corbett just finished a very good season in the stud. He was mated with Nellie, dam of Lion, 2:22½, also dam of Richmond, Jr., 2:15, and other good dams. Everybody who has a Corbett foal thinks he has the best one.

Jas. Mack moved his string of eight horses over from Santa Paula. He has the grey ghost Waldo J. with him, but is not working him. His horses are all by the well-known sires Gossiper, Longworth, Wilkes, Moor, etc.

James Sanford has bay colt Fitz-Corbett, sired by Ben Corbett, dam Bride, dam of Hunter, 2:22, that is entered in the 2:30 pace at Los Angeles. He is quite a promising green pacer. He will be worth keeping in mind, also a Silkwood filly (2) property of J. Scarlett, a sweet young filly.

A. Garcia has a string of young horses. He is also working Riceta 2:2½, and Ida, property of C. B. Gruwall.

J. E. McCoy is working McCorbett, by Ben Corbett, dam Mollie. He is doing well in his work, also Ben Corbett who seems to be going smoother and faster than ever.

Trainer Harry Howard is getting C. I. Thacker's gallopers in shape for the Los Angeles meeting. He has Saticoy, Santa Paula and Santa Maria all looking well and is breaking four as fine-looking yearlings as are in the State by Sid and Surinam out of Carmalita (dam of Peru), Dotty Dimple, (dam of Hueneme, Santa Paula and Saticoy), also the good race mares Lewanee and Lottie L. We look for some winners out of the lot.

Susie Wilkes, by Wilkes Moor, arrived from Salinas last week, where she has been in the hands of Henry Delaney.

Hueneme boasts of having the finest buggy and carriage horses in the State. Hueneme.

George Thomas has the great sprinter Bourbon and a full sister to the horse in training at Hemet, Riverside county. Jim Thomas, a brother to George Thomas, has leased the old stand-by, Pescador, from Doc Dickey, and is getting himself ready for the Los Angeles meeting.—Los Angeles Herald.

QUINN'S OINTMENT FOR HORSES

stands at the head of all veterinary remedies. Such troubles as Spavins, Curbs, Windpuffs, Splints, Bunches have no terrors for a horse if the master keeps and applies Quinn's Ointment. All well-known horsemen speak of it in the highest terms:

Miller & Sibley, of Franklin, Pa., owners of St. Bel, brother of late Bell Boy, write, "We have used Quinn's Ointment with great success and believe it fulfills all claimed for it. We cheerfully recommend it to our friends." For Curbs, Splints, Spavins or Bunches, it has no equal.

BUTTE RACES.

Meeting Opened Under Most Auspicious Circumstances—How the Events Were Contested.

TUESDAY, JULY 27.

The opening day of the Butte races was a brilliant one. It is estimated that there were over 10,000 people on the track at 3 o'clock, the Anaconda contingent of 3000 helping to swell the grand total. All the favorites on the card, with the exception of Cadinka, won.

Won driving by a neck. A nose between second and third. Omah Wood, 103, General Steptoe, 100, and Lurline, 112, also ran.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 28.

The feature of the races on the Butte track was the contest between Mary B. and Golden Star in the first race, which took six heats to decide. May B., was the favorite at $25 with the field at $12, and she captured the first two heats in easy fashion. Golden Star backers were numerous in the third heat when it was learned that Andy McDowell was behind the chestnut gelding. McDowell landed him a winner, after a hard struggle, and when the fourth heat ended with honors even between the two principal contestants the backers of May B. became very uneasy. The fifth heat was taken by Domitian, Golden Star behaving badly and breaking from the start. The sixth heat was the most exciting one of the day. Golden Star again broke and lost several lengths at the start, but McDowell brought him to his feet and played to win. May B., however, had too good a start and won by a very narrow margin.

In the second race of the day Glen Arthur took the first heat. The next heat was taken by Argotine, but the judge declared off all bets on this heat.

In the first running race of the day Belle de Nuit, a rank outsider, finished first and paid the snug sum of $154.90 in the mutuals.

The Betting and Judging at Anaconda.

Taking everything into consideration, the Anaconda meeting, which ended so brilliantly on Saturday evening, was a phenomenal one. The miserable weather interfered to some extent with the attendance, but with that single exception there was not a detail in which a marked improvement was not shown over last year, and Manager Tipton is deserving of unstinted praise for the manner in which the meeting was conducted. The betting was the heaviest that has ever been known, nearly $800,000 passing through the pool boxes during the 25 racing days. The daily average of the betting was more than $31,000, while last year with much better weather and a larger attendance it was only about $29,000. Last year the Anaconda meeting was favored with 16 days of perfect weather, while this year the weather was bad during 18 of the 25 days, yet in spite of the unfavorable conditions on that score the gate receipts amounted to within $75 a day of those of last summer.

The greatest betting race of the meeting was the Copper City handicap, in which Senator Bland and 'Ostler Joe were the great contestants. Next came the Isidor—Joe race, and the hurdle race, which was won by St. Jacob, was third in order. The records of the betting show that Butte and Anaconda are still very chary of wagering their coin on the harness races and that they will not bet cents on a high-class trotting or pacing race while they will bet dollars on an ordinary running event. The principal reason for this condition of affairs probably lies in the fact that most of the harness events are walk-overs, while those which are contests are too difficult a problem for the ordinary race-goers to solve. This, together with the fact that the hard track worked an injury to imp. Isidor's legs, will probably result in the abolition of harness racing from the Butte and Anaconda tracks. The owner of Isidor, who is one of the cracks of the Daly stables, was greatly displeased over his injury, and it is altogether likely that the Butte and Anaconda meetings will hereafter be given over entirely to the runners.

The handling of the betting by the track management has proven a popular feature and the heavy increase in the betting may doubtless be attributed largely to this fact and to the absolute confidence which the bettors repose in the men on whose decisions the pools are paid. E. C. Hopper, the presiding judge of the runners, has created a most favorable impression, and every man who puts up his coin on the bangtails has confidence that he will get a run for his money or that some one will suffer.—Butte Miner.

W. F. Young, P.D.F.—Dear Sir:—I think ABSORBINE is the best remedy I ever used for Puffs or Soft Swellings, and used according to directions it will certainly do all you claim for it. I removed a badly filled ankle of two years' standing and sold the horse as sound after two veterinarians had said it was incurable. I have several cases on hand now needing treatment, and I know ABSORBINE will do the work.

Yours truly,
Wm. M. Sprengle, D. V. S.

Quick in Results and Safe.

New Ulm, Minn., Oct. 29, 1896

Regarding the merits of your Balsam I purchased can say my pacing mare strained her suspensory ligament so badly that she could hardly walk. This was in the middle of June, and every horseman expressed his fears that she would not be able to race again this season. I gave her a stiff blister with Caustic Balsam, repeated it 10 hours later, and left her in the barn for two weeks. July 4th I started her in a half mile race and won, best time, 1:20. From Aug. 28th to Sept. 18th I started her five times and never was behind the money, being second four times and third once.

Willing to Pay $5.

Mr. H. E. Jewell, prominent horseman at Concord, N. H., writes: "Enclosed find $1.50, for which send me another bottle of Quinn's Ointment. I would give five dollars for it rather than be without it in my stable." For Curbs, Splints, Spavins, Windpuffs and all enlargements it has no equal. Regular size $1.50, small size 50 cents. If you cannot obtain it from druggist or dealer, address W. B. Eddy & Co., Whitehall, N. Y.

CURINE! CURINE! CURINE!

I WILL GUARANTEE MY CURINE

To be the most powerful paint that medical science can formulate. It will reach deeper-seated troubles and produce better effects for lameness and ur healthy sores than any other preparation in the world, for which local medication is indica ed, such as

W. A. W. TURNBULL, V. M. D.,

CURINE is the most powerful paint known, and supersedes all cautery or firing. It contains no grease and will not blemish or remove the hair.

Its effects are absorbent, alterative, penetrative and antiseptic, and is the only preparation capable of reaching the deepest seated troubles.

Horses can be worked as usual while using this marvelous paint.

It is used with phenomenal success in Europe, and in the leading trotting and running stables in the United States and Canada. Any person who purchases a bottle, and after using half of it according to explicit directions, and finds it will not do what we claim, can return the bottle and money will be refunded. References:—First National or Citizens National Bank, Latrobe, Pa. WE WILL WAGER $100 that one bottle of CURINE f used according to explicit directions will reach deeper seated troubles, produce better effects for the same uratives than any other compound in the world.

VIVA LA

BY WHIPS, SIRE OF AZOTE, 2:04 3-4, COBWEBS, 2:12, AND SEVERAL OTHERS IN THE LIST

FIRST DAM—JOE VIVA, by Joe Hooker.

SECOND DAM—LADY VIVA, by Three Cheers (dam of Electioneer Rex, showed when a two-year-old quarters in 36 seconds.)

FOURTH DAM—LADY LANCASTER, by imp. Monarch. The dam of Malcolm Regent, Ontario and several other winners. Marion, the dam of Emperor of Norfolk, El Rio Rey, Yo Tambien, and several other high-class race horses, is by Malcolm, and the breeding of Viva La-Electioneer, combined with strains of thoroughbred which have shown adaptability to acquire trotting action, is now greatly fancied by intelligent breeders.

VIVA LA is sixteen hands high, a rich seal brown in color and more than usually handsome, combining muscular power and quality in an eminent degree. He was trained a little in his yearling form and showed a 2:40 gait and was improving rapidly when his training was suspended. He can scarcely fail on the right sort of mares to get fast trotters, and with nearly a certainty of securing good-sized, fine-looking horses which even in these times are in demand.

No. 13,699. This splendidly-formed trotting stallion was sired by ONWARD, 2:25 1-4 (son of GEO. WILKES, 2:22, and DOLLY, dam of DIRECTOR, 2:17, THORNDALE, 2:21, etc.), sire of 113 in 2:30 list; dam NANCY LEE (dam of NANCY HANKS, 2:04, and DICTATOR WILKES, sire of six in 2:30 list), by Dictator; second dam SOPHY (grandam of Mike Wilkes, 2:15¼, Ira Wilkes, 2:22¾, and the sires Adrian Wilkes and Ira Wilkes) by Edwin Forrest 49; third dam Sophronia, by Brown Pilot; fourth dam by Bertrand; fifth dam by Lance, son of American Eclipse; sixth dam by Gray Dungannon. This is the acme of fashionable breeding. In conformation, disposition, color and pure trotting action, HART BOSWELL is perfect. He has never been worked for speed. His progeny are strong-limbed, level-headed and very promising, and are conceded by competent judges to be the finest-formed youngsters in California. Terms $50 for the season. Address K. O'GRADY, Laurel Creek Farm, San Mateo. Splendid pasturage, and mares kept in any manner owners may desire.

We defy the Experts

We have demonstrated, experts admit, and every one is convinced that Genuine White Topaz cannot be detected from real diamonds. White Topaz is the stone you have read so much about. The one that has fooled the pawnbrokers. Place them side by side with genuine diamonds and no one can tell the difference. We have sold thousands of these stones at from one to ten dollars, but in order to introduce them quickly as well as to find out the advertising medium best suited to our business, we make this

We will send you a beautiful, brilliant, genuine White Topaz, which can be mounted in a ring, scarf or necktie pin, stud, cuff buttons, locket or pair earrings, like any article in this border on receipt of.....

These stones are exactly the same as those we have advertised at one dollar.

This Offer for a Few Days Only

Cut out this advertisement and send it to us together with 25c. in coin or stamps and we will send you a White Topaz by return mail; a stone that you can be justly proud of and one that positively cannot be detected from a real diamond. In ordering, be sure and state whether small, medium or large stone is desired. NO ORDER FILLED UNLESS ACCOMPANIED BY THIS ADVERTISEMENT.

GENUINE WHITE TOPAZ

bears no relation to other so-called imitation diamonds no matter under what name they are advertised. They are the hardest of semi-precious stones, impossible to detect from real diamonds and warranted to retain their brilliancy. All others pale to insignificance when compared with White Topaz.

OUR GUARANTEE:

We warrant each and every Topaz to retain its brilliancy and the mountings to give perfect satisfaction.

We will give you One Thousand Dollars if you can show that we have ever refused to replace a White Topaz that was returned as unsatisfactory.

DIAMONDS DUPLICATED IN WHITE TOPAZ.

Royalty and the four hundred who own celebrated and costly diamonds set in necklaces, tiaras, brooches, bracelets and girdles, keep them in burglar proof vaults, while they wear in public the exact duplicates in White Topaz and no one ever detects the difference.

CONDITIONS.

Entries to close AUGUST 15, 1897.

Eight entries required to fill, but the Association reserves the right to declare a race filled with a less number, and deducting a proportionate amount of the purse for each entry less than eight.

Purses will be divided into four moneys, 50, 25, 15 and 10 per cent.

Entrance, 5 per cent. Five per cent. of the amount of the purse will be deducted from each money won.

The Board of Directors reserves the right to declare two starters a walk-over. When only two start they may contest for the entrance money paid in, to be divided, 66 2-3 per cent. to the first and 33 1-3 per cent. to the second. A horse distancing the field shall only be entitled to first and fourth moneys, but in no other case will a horse be entitled to more than one money.

The Board of Directors reserves the right to change the hour or date of any race except when it becomes necessary to ante-date a race, in which instance the nominator will receive three days' notice of change by mail to address of entry. Right reserved to declare off or postpone any or all races on account of the weather or other sufficient cause

Entries not declared out at 5 o'clock P. M. on the day preceding the race shall be required to start, and declarations must be in writing and made at the office of the Secretary at the track.

When there is more than one entry to any purse by one person or in one interest the horse to be started must be named by 5 o'clock P. M. on the day preceding the race.

Any race that may be started and unfinished on the last day of the meeting may be declared ended and money divided according to rank of horses in the summary.

Otherwise than is specified in these conditions, National Trotting Association rules to govern.

Six Trotting and Pacing Races additional to the above will be named at a later date, when the amount of purses will be announced.

EDW. TOPHAM, President. F. J. BRANDON, Secretary.

BY CHARLES MARVIN.

This great practical horse book is a handsome, three hundred page octavo. bound in cloth, elegantly printed superbly illustrated, and explains in every detail the remarkable success of CHARLES MARVIN and the whole plans and methods pursued at Palo Alto as to breaking, training, shoeing, galting, driving, keeping, racing and breeding trotters.

Read what J. C. Silby, the owner of St. Bel, says of this book: "In this work Marvin has let out all the mysteries of the craft, and it is so simple and plain that any breeder, owner, trainer or rubber who has any relish for his business can take a colt as a yearling and develope to the highest and fullest extent that colt's capacity as a trotter. The work impressed me so strongly that I have ordered twenty copies, and shall place one in the hands of every rubber on our farm.

P. C. T. H. B. A. MEETING.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 6.

This was termed "Ladies Day," as it was set apart as one to which the gate was declared free to the fair sex. The idea was a good one, for no day since the meeting commenced was the grand stand better filled.

The programme offered was a most excellent one and furnished many surprises. There was a bad "piece of work," however, and its destruction was brought about by the persistence of those keen observers, known as turf reporters headed by that champion of fair racing, Jos. Cairn Simpson, of the BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN. No blame must be attached to the Golden Gate Driving Association as an association, but to the scoundrels, calling themselves gentlemen, who attempted to carry their jobbing methods to a successful issue, not knowing that the judges would make an example of them.

It was the first race termed Gentlemen's Road Race for members of the Golden Gate Driving Club. The entries were Fred Wilkes, entered by Eugene Cerciat, Lady Van Ness, W. Johnson; Our Joe, E. Aigeltinger; Correct, L. Richardson; Belle, A. Schwartz; and Headlight, E. Stewart. In the pools Our Joe opened up favorite for the first heat, selling for $10, with the field of five for $7. Our Joe was pulled in the heat, and allowed Fred Wilkes to win with ease. E. Aigeltinger, who drove Our Joe, did not make a move with him all the way around. Aigeltinger had a whip with him, but did not use it. In the second heat Our Joe was still the favorite, selling for $15 and the field for $10. Our Joe won on his merits in this heat, with Lady Van Ness second and Correct third. Fred Wilkes broke badly and was distanced, but the judges, who were told of the job, let Fred Wilkes start in the last heat, because they thought the betting looked peculiar in the previous heat, and they put a driver in the sulky that they could trust. The driver selected was James Chesley, who had a horse entered in the last race named Delmas. Fred Wilkes took the third heat and never broke and the driver's splendid exhibition convinced the judges that there was a fraud, so they declared the betting on the last heat in the mutuels off, and those who had auction tickets on Fred Wilkes won, while the holders of the tickets on Our Joe lost. This was perfectly fair, and the job was spoiled. The "gentlemen," as they called themselves, would be the first to kick if they saw such crookedness in any race between professionals. The officers of the Golden Gate Association were glad that this effort to job races was nipped in the bud and will no doubt take action at their next meeting regarding it. Such schemers should be expelled at once.

After the excitement incident to this race had died away, Starter Covey called out the horses for the 2:24 class trotting race. Seven responded, viz: Helen T., Claudius, Peko, Iora, Daisy Wood, Emma Abbott and Dollican. By the showing made by these horses while warming up it seemed as if every body thought they had picked a winner by the way they crowded around the pool boxes and paid $20 for the field, $10 on Iora, and $10 on Daisy Wood.

There was considerable scoring before they were sent off, Daisy Wood, a beautiful bloodlike daughter of Silkwood, leading the way. Peko was second but at the first turn, Claudius passed her and the two kept the Palo Alto mare in a pocket to the half. Coming to three-quarter pole Daisy Wood moved up and was two lengths ahead of Claudius. Bunch essayed the task of gaining this much ground and passing the Los Angeles mare, but the latter moved away and won the heat easily by the two lengths in 2:16¼. Peko, on the inside, was only beaten for place by a head. Iora was fourth with Emma Abbott at her shoulder, Dollican and Helen T. bringing up the rear.

Peko got away better in the next heat and Havey, her driver, had no time nor inclination to look back, for Iora, a very large, handsome mare from Humboldt, came on the outside of the field of horses at the head of the stretch and forced Peko to win the heat in 2:16¼, being only half a length behind at the finish. Daisy Wood acted rank and broke several times during this heat which forced her to fifth position. Claudius came in third, with game little Emma Abbott fourth.

Pool selling became brisk, Peko selling for $20 to $10 on the field and every one, it seemed, wanted Peko. This heat was a repetition of the former one so far as Iora and Peko were concerned, and it looked at the three-quarter pole as if Havey with Peko carried Iora to the outside of the track and even then it looked as if Iora would win with this disadvantage but she cast her shoe at the seven-eighths pole and broke. Peko passed her at this point, but on the inside close to the fence, Maben had slipped in with Daisy Wood, and came within an ace of getting the heat. The finish was an exciting one and it was with a sigh of relief holders of Peko tickets saw their favorite land a winner by a length, time 2:19. Claudius was distanced.

Poolseller Eisman could only get a very few bets on Peko at $10 against the field at $3. When the word was given Peko assumed the lead after getting the worst of the start; as soon as she got in front Iora came alongside. The first quarter was made in 33½ seconds, to the half they moved as if hitched to a single cart. They passed that point head and head in 1:05½. Twenty yards further Peko fell back, but Iora came on apparently as fast as ever. At the three quarter pole Daisy Wood moved up to her, but that was all. the good she accomplished, for Iora jogged home an easy winner in 2:17½. Emma Abbott was fourth again, Helen T. fifth and Dollican distanced.

Talk about a Klondyke fever! In three minutes after the result was announced there was a jam around the poolboxes that was perfectly solid. The holders of Peko tickets were enlisted in the ranks called fielders and a few of the shrewd ones felt as if Iora would "pull them out even." The betting continued brisk until the horses went to the post. Daisy Wood tried to pass Iora, but in vain. The big mare shook her off on the homestretch and won the race handily in 2:17½, Peko third, Helen T. fourth and Emma Abbott fifth.

The last heat of this race was finished as the sun was disappearing behind the horizon. Iora won it, but game little Peko forced her to trot in 2:17½ to do so. Daisy Wood was third. Thus ended one of the most exciting and best contested races of the week.

The winner is a large, handsome bay mare, sired by Ira, 2:24½ (son of Piedmont, 2:17¾), out of Daisy Hayward, by Poscora Hayward; second dam, a mare known to almost everyone in Humboldt county as Old Mandy. She was claimed to be nearly thirty years of age when Daisy Hayward was foaled. R. Noble, the owner and driver of this mare, has quite a local reputation as a horseman, and the able manner in which he piloted this mare in this race stamped him as one worthy of taking a high rank among the first-class drivers.

Daisy Wood, who won the first heat, was sired by Silkwood, 2:07, out of a mare brought to California by Mr. Willets, owner of this splendid stallion. Daisy Wood belongs to Mr. Lester (Walter S. Hobart's brother-in-law) and is one of the handsomest mares we have seen this year. Walter Maben handled her with skill.

Peko is an eight-year-old mare belonging to Palo Alto Stock Farm. She earned the record of 2:24 as a three-year-old and was at once placed in the breeding ranks. She has had three foals, one by Langton and two by Dexter Prince—and only this year was taken in hand. She has a mark of 2:17½, and considering the fact she was the contending trotter in every heat, demonstrated that she was game to the core. Peko is by Electioneer, out of Penelope (dam of Pedlar, 2:18½), by Mohawk Chief.

The second division of the roadster race was "on the square" from start to finish. The entries were Ida R., Dion, Maud and Peanuts. Pools sold: Ada R., 10; field, $8. In the first heat, Dion, by Dawn, had a struggle down the stretch to defeat Ada R., but he did so, getting a mark of 2:26. In the second heat the tables were turned, Ada R. winning from him, but Peanuts, a Sidney gelding, was always dangerously close. Time, 2:24½. In the third heat, Peanuts, ably driven by Frank O'Kane, the well-known harness dealer and agent for the Toomey sulky, took the lead and was well driven. He managed to get to the half in 1:10, and on the homestretch he kept so far ahead of the favorite that the latter had to feel the whip to get near him. It was a royal battle, but Ada, being a little the speedier, won in an exciting finish by a neck from the horse with the circus fruit name. Following are the LAST DAY, SATURDAY.

This was the closing day of the Summer meeting of the P. C. T. H. B. Association and if the public has not shown the interest it ought in this splendidly-conducted meeting it was not because the horse owners and drivers as well as the officials, did their utmost to please. During the whole week there was but one event which looked suspicious and that was in a race in which "gentlemen" held the lines. An account of its exposure appeared in the report of yesterday's races. The old cry of "fraud" at trotting meetings has, we believe, been "silenced," and in the realm of clean legitimate sport this comes nearer being perfect than any other that is now engaging the attention of the public. There were several causes advanced why the public does not attend light harness horse races better, and several of these will be explained in these columns hereafter. The Association, we believe, has not made any money but has given races that are a credit to it and will do more to encourage breeders and horsemen than any meeting ever held in California.

The programme of events was far above the ordinary, and nothing could be thought of to leave a more pleasant recollection of this meeting and arouse a wish to see good racing again than this afternoon's sport. From start to finish it was an A No. 1 programme. The starts were excellent, the racing fine and the finishes close and exciting. So close, in fact, that in several events the judges had to take considerable time in making their announcements. Thirteen heats were decided, leaving out the first two, no heat was slower than 2:20—a most remarkable showing.

The first race was a special for 2:30 class; only two contestants appeared, Pilot McClellan and Joe, both sired by Pilot Prince. The last named colt won in 2:34¾ and 2:29½. He is out of Bessie Young (dam of Paloma Prince, 2:17½) by Gen. McClellan 144, and he is owned by Prof. E. P. Heald.

The next event was one which will never be forgotten by those who saw it. It was for the 2:40 class trotters and there were twelve entries, viz: Durstine, Dr. Leek, Shelby, Fanadma, Jaspine, Kensington, Diana, Pasonte, Sable Francis, Etta Wilkes, Eureka and Harry Marvin. Before the heat the field sold for $20, Pasonte $20, Sable Francis $10, and Jaspine $10.

There was little time lost in scoring with such a large field. Dr. Leek, ably driven by Wm. Donathan, got away in the sixth position in the first heat and passed every horse but Eureka and Shelby before the three-quarter pole was reached, and from there to the wire the angelic William drove with such care and skill that he captured the heat in 2:19¾.

There was a wild scramble to get tickets on Dr. Leek after this exhibition and the splendid manner in which this grandly-formed chestnut trotter captured the last two heats by a length each from that Humboldt trotter Eureka, who proved to be a stayer, and was splendidly handled by H. Haas elicited well merited applause. Durstine, by Director, was third in the last heat in 2:18. All these 2:40 class trotters finished inside the distance flag. The winner, Dr. Leek, belongs to a dentist of this city by that name. He was sired by Sidney, 2:19¾, out of Miss Roy, by Buccaneer, and has heretofore been used as a road horse.

Only four sidewheelers appeared to contest for the $600 offered by the association for the 2:10 class pacers, they were Our Boy, Birdroe, Dudley and the erratic Col. Benton. Everybody from the San Jose contingent to the Humboldt stable followers believed Our Boy had a "lay down" and the way they backed their judgment was enough to make anyone think they were just holding the tickets until all were sold, then they would meander around to the cashier's desk and "rake down the ducats." But alas! "The best laid plans o' mice and men gang aft aglee!" There were a few other "natural-born" pacers in that race and one was driven by a "natural-born" horseman, Billy Donathan. Pools sold: Our Bay $15, field $8. The horses came for the word and were dispatched on even terms, lame little Birdroe took advantage of a jimtown break that Our Boy made, and sailed in winning the heat in 2:17½—remarkably slow time for 2:10 pacers. Dudley was second, and acted as if a little of the whip used at the drawgate might have awakened him to the fact that he was in a race. Col. Benton, after making a couple of breaks, managed to land in third. Our Boy, the favorite, last.

Although last in the race he was first in the minds of his backers, for they paid $10 for $7 on the others in the field with a recklessness that was appalling. He won the next two heats from Birdroe in 2:13¼ and 2:16½, while Donathan on the backstretch and around the turns was getting acquainted with Col. Benton's best methods of pacing. In the fourth heat there seemed to be a bond of sympathy between these two. They acted as if they were both willing to give up unsteady habits and be fast for a little while, just for three heats anyway. The way the two came from the rear in each heat and won elicited applause such as not been heard since Billy Murray landed his Diablo colt a winner the other evening. The rest of the 2:10 performers were nowhere. Dudley was distanced in the third heat, while Our Boy and Birdroe were just in the race for company. Holders of field tickets crowded around the Angelic William and kept him as busy as McKinley was the night he was nominated. It was a great race and was won by good generalship in the sulky.

Hardly had the hum of excitement at the conclusion of that race been silenced when another splendid field of horses, the 2:20 class pacers, appeared. A number of these had never paced before in company, and as they moved to and fro in front of the judges' stand many were the words of praise for them. Twelve pacers, and out of this lot a bay stallion, Dave Ryan, belonging to Dr. McCallum, the veterinary surgeon of Rancho del Paso, was the one some of the talent selected should win. Jimmy Sullivan was his driver and this was tip enough for many. The field sold for $10 and Dave Ryan for $5; Floraline, $4. It was anybody's race in the first heat until within 100 yards of the wire, where Johnny Gordon lifted F. W. to the front and won by a length from Prince H. in 2:16¾. Floraline was close up, a good third; Lynette, fourth; Dave Ryan, fifth; the balance well inside the distance flag.

In the second heat Dave Ryan notwithstanding his position received a boost in the betting. F. W. being almost overlooked. When the word was given, F. W. having the pole, shot to the front with Floraline second, Waywood third and Dave Ryan fourth. There was a changing of positions until the head of the stretch was reached, Sullivan taking Dave Ryan out on the top of the ridge, and as F. W. was in the heaviest going fairly out-paced him to the wire in 2:17¾. Waywood third, the rest, with the exception of Joe Wheeler, being well inside the distance flag.

Dave Ryan won the next heat just as Teddy the Roan looked to have it well in hand, but by some of those wonderful accidents, the horse with the Irish name jumped up in the air when he was at the paddock gate and steady-going Dave Ryan passed him to the wire. Adele, by Dexter Prince, third, the rest scattering. Time, 2:18¾.

In the next heat F. W. having taken it easy in the preceding one set the pace, and as Dave Ryan challenged him in the homestretch and was having his ribs tickled with the chain Sullivan was carrying, he slipped ahead and was a winner by three lengths from his white-eyed rival.

Everybody tried to get rid of the Dave Ryan tickets, but no one wanted them. When the horses came out F. W. led to the stretch, and the race looked bad for Ryan. The excitement among the spectators became intense as Dave came like a whirlwind from out of the bunch at the seven-eighths pole, and was seen to gradually gain on F. W. Just as every one thought the latter had a mortgage on the heat he broke and Jimmy Sullivan, sitting like a sphinx behind his heavy-headed pacer, lifted him almost imperceptibly past the score a winner by a neck, while Gordon, behind F. W., was just getting his horse down to pace. The applause that greeted Jimmy Sullivan became deafening. The race was one that was a credit to every pacer in it, and the way they tried to win gives good reason for their owners to hope that ere the circuit ends everyone will be well inside the 2:20 list.

MARYSVILLE RACES.

MONDAY, AUGUST 9.

The Marysville track record, 2:18½, was made by Laura Z, four years ago, but the hummer from Humboldt, Jack W., took three and one-half seconds off that mark without being fully extended. He is a regular "eat-'em-up-cookie" horse whenever he is called on and a Robert McGregor bull dog in the homestretch. When one harked back to the Oakland meeting of the previous week, it was but natural to make Jack W. a big favorite, and before the first heat his price in the pools was $15 against $5 for the field, but the short price did not interfere with his speed. He spun off three heats without being extended, Iran Alto being the only horse that was any sort of a contender. He laid behind his field in each heat, and never making a skip, ate up space in the stretch with an ease that stamps him as one of the best horses on the circuit. Billy Donathan drove Bay Rum, and going steady in the second heat, showed an astonishing improvement over his Oakland form. A bad break in the concluding trial ruined his chance of getting sound money.

The opening event developed the best three-year-old so far on the circuit, Dr. J., a colt from Meridian, Colusa county, being the one to distinguish himself and elevate his owner to the seventh heaven of delight. Reports of his fast work got around early in the day, and Palo Alto people scratched Nordeau, especially as she showed signs of lameness.

Dr. J. was favorite and should have won off the reel, but Driver Donnelly is a novice in the sulky and could not keep the colt steady. He won the first heat after breaking, and closing up the gap of ten lengths, finishing easily in 2:21½, which is nearly three seconds faster than Nordeau's best mile at Oakland. The second heat he lost through several disastrous breaks, but in the third kept his feet and jogged home in 2:26. No less than four breaks were made by the Colusa colt in the fourth heat and he finished last, Lynall being the heat winner.

The inability of Donnelly was so palpable that the judges were requested to put up Walter Maben. The change showed remarkable difference in the skill of the two reinsmen. Maben handled him with such skill that he got around the sharp turn without a bobble, and after going to the half in 1:10 jogged the remaining distance, the mile being covered in 2:23. Had he been pushed out he could doubtless have negotiated the distance five seconds faster.

*Dead heat for fourth.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 10.

The San Jose gelding, Our Boy, turned the tables on the Hollister crack, Col. Benton, in the 2:13 pace, and did it in straight heats. Those who expected broken heats were disappointed, as the Colonel did not negotiate the sharp corners, while Our Boy was as steady as a clock and redeemed himself from the defeat administered to him at the Bay by the speedy but erratic son of Brown Jug. Frank L. and Plunket were never dangerous, Our Boy stepping the first mile in 2:13½ without being extended. Col. Benton was the original favorite, but his unsteadiness soon changed matters.

Another horse from Humboldt county came to the front this afternoon in Eureka, a slashing-looking son of Ira, sire of that fast mare Iora, who upset the talent at the Bay. Palo Alto thought they had a royal chance with Pasonte, and she received considerable support. Dick Havey went right after Eureka and gave him such a hot chase that the stallion broke after stepping the half in 1:07½. The mistake cost Eureka the heat, not being able to overcome the disadvantage of his mistake, although coming strong at the end. The son of Ira won the next three heats, hotly pressed by the Palo Alto mare to the far turn, where she broke on each occasion and thereby lost her chances. In the third heat her check rein snapped and threw her off her gait just when she had Eureka on tip toe.

Perhaps the largest field that ever started on the track appeared in the closing event, eleven pacers being started by their optimistic owners. Rudolph Spreckels' Annie Rooney was the first choice at $10; field, 8; Floracita, $3, but she was not as good as when she showed her heels to her field at Oakland. She went out like a skyrocket in the field and was leading Joe Wheeler by four lengths at the half. Nearing the far turn she had a dizzy streak, Joe Wheeler and F. W. both giving her a farewell saluation. At the end F. W. won handily, Joe Wheeler two lengths away. After that F. W. annexed the remaining heats with remarkable ease, Gordon doing his utmost to pull him to a walk to avoid getting a lower mark. Joe Wheeler was credited with being a clever sand-shifter before the Oakland meeting, but no one believed it then, and he was still less respected after being shut out in the opening start. Wheeler's performance to-day was a revelation.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 11.

Humboldt county is certainly prolific of sensational horses. On the first day Jack W., of that section, broke the long-standing track record and set a mark of 2:15. This afternoon Iora, by Ira, from Daisy Hayward, and bred up in Humboldt, trotted in 2:14 flat. The racing was red-hot, and pronounced the best ever seen in this part of the world.

Many moons will wax and wane ere those present will forget the hair-raising finish that wound up the day's sport, when Sophia R., driven with masterly skill by her owner, landed a heat and race from Meridian. This exciting finish was the climax of the 2:17 pace, which had as starters Meridian, Sophia R., Visalia, Rosemon and Bess H. The son of Semicolon won from practically the same field at Oakland in so impressive a manner that Auctioneer Sprague exercised his throat in vain pleading for buyers to take the field against Meridian, whose supporters were so confident of his superiority that they were willing to accept $3 for $10. Not a single pool was sold, no one having the pluck to take the short end.

Meridian broke in the first heat on the initial turn and before he could be steadied he was the last horse and 100 yards behind Bess H., who led her field by four lengths into the turn for home. At that point she fell back and Sophia and Rosemon assumed charge of affairs. Gradually improving his position, Meridian swung into the stretch four lengths behind the leaders, but coming like a whirlwind passed the pair and won with apparent ease by two lengths. Meridian looked like such a sure proposition that speculation settled upon picking a horse to win second money, Sophia R. being the hot choice.

The next trial was a surprise, for Meridian made a disastrous break, and after a desperate effort could only land in third position, the Los Angeles mare winning handily from Rosemon. John Morehead lost confidence in himself then and secured Walter Maben as pilot. The favorite was just as bad in Maben's hands and finished third, Sophia R. annexing the heat. In the final heat Meridian was on his good behavior, and negotiating the first turn successfully, sailed out in front and looked to be a sure winner at the head of the stretch. He commenced to break up in the last sixteenth, and coming with superb burst of speed, Sophia R. caught Meridian just as he broke within five yards of the wire, and beat him out by a nose in 2:16¼.

Iora, the favorite for the opening event, captured the first heat in commanding style, breaking the track record. Dropping second to Dollican through a break, the mare won the next two as she pleased.

Revival of Harness Racing.—When I chose these four words for a side-head to the article in the paper of last week it seemed appropriate for California as well as the States east of the Missouri river. Not entirely out of place now, as apart from the attendance being lighter than was expected, nearly everything else was indicatory of better times in the future. Notwithstanding the large number of horses in Montana and the East, it is beyond question that never before so many horses, and these of a high class, at an opening meeting of the circuit, and it is not out of bounds to state that numbers, class, breeding and high form being taken into consideration, the show was never excelled in this State.

The parade, which, by-the-way, was a commendable feature of the meeting, proved that high form and beauty were not lacking in the fast harness horses of California, and were it otherwise than that "comparisons are odious" some of the participants in the cavalcade so eminently endowed in respect with qualities outside of speed, would be worthy of full length portraiture. Size as well as good looks, nearly all of them from medium to large, and color in keeping with size and form.

In the last paragraph of the article, under the same caption as this, last week, I expressed the hope that Friday and Saturday would show an attendance that clearly proved that the revival of harness racing had extended to this section.

While larger than that of preceding days, the increase fell short of my expectations. It set the managers to thinking and among the various plans evolved was one that will bring out fervent discussions. "A great deal can be said on both sides of the question," and I, for one, must acknowledge some hesitancy in arriving at a definite conclusion. The question being the propriety of a mixed programme, viz., the incorporation of running races in the programme of the September meeting.

Mr. Williams gave a hearty consent that the "innovation" should be tried, another added to the many kindnesses he has shown the harness-racing folk, and as it was also necessary to secure the approval of the president of the Pacific Coast Jockey Club, Mr. Androus was equally as willing that no obstables should be presented.

There are many valid objections to the proposed plan, there are arguments in favor which are of ponderous weight.

The track when prepared for harness racing is very hard, and that will preclude the participancy of racehorses which which have claims to "class." There might be a division of days, say Monday, Wednesday and Friday devoted to the gallopers, the other days to trotting and pacing. But the main object would be defeated by this plan, as those who had a strong partiality for either sport would not attend on the "off" days. And then there are thirteen events which "filled," and these could not be crowded into three afternoons, especially when the large number of entries are considered. Four days would hardly suffice to bring them all off, five none too many, six provided for with a few specials to give those a chance who cannot contend in the regulars. There are seventy entries in the 2:40, 2:30, 2:27 and 2:24 trotting, forty-seven subscriptions in the 2:20, 2:17 and 2:13 trotting. The "green class," 2:30 and 2:25 pacing, shows forty-five entries and the 2:20, 2:17 and 2:12 pacing present thirty-four subscriptions. The 2:10 class pacing was "held pending correspondence relative to entries," the free for-all trotting and pacing did not fill. Were these three classes added, then sixteen will be on the bill, so that with two specials there would be five races for each afternoon of the six days. Should running races be annexed to the programme not less than twelve purses will be required to give that department of the meeting any prominence. Added to the events already on the bill there will be twenty-five to handle, and though this could be readily accomplished but as each purse could not be less the $300, and if, in accordance with the racing usages that prevail here, there is no entrance fee, $600 would be the cost of the experiment for each day.

There is only one substantial reason for an association, organized "for the promotion of the American Trotting Turf," incorporating running races in a harness-racing programme, necessity. The "mother of invention" does not seem to be present in this case. The entrance money in the 2:40, 2:30, 2:27 and 2:24 class trotting is $180 in excess of the amount named in the purses; in the green, 2:30 and 2:25 pacing the aggregate of entrance fees is $50 short; in both an overplus of $90. After making liberal allowances for non-payment of entrance, the main portion of the money hung up will be paid by the owners of the contending horses.

I came very nearly overlooking part of the programme of the fall meeting, and that is so important that it will settle the question, in my opinion. In addition to the thirteen races named above there are four stakes to be decided. Palo Alto stakes, 2-year-old trotters, thirteen still in; Palace Hotel stakes, 3-year-old trotters, thirteen in; Western stakes, 2-year-old pacers, eight in, and Pacific stakes 3-year-old pacers, with seven eligible. The time cannot be extended, as from Monday to Saturday, inclusive, following the Stockton week, all these will have to come off.

While the "legitimate races" to be decided at the fall meeting preclude others that are foreign to the object of the P. C. T. H. B. A. taking up the time, there are other reasons for objecting to the introduction of the gallopers. Quite safe to state that if the question were submitted to the members of the association there would be an "overwhelming" majority in the negative. An emphatic No! Not from antagonism to legitimate racing, as a large portion of trotting horse people in this State are not in opposition and take an active part in defeating schemes that would be prejudicial to the jockey clubs.

But if a meeting with the support so freely given by owners of trotters and pacers cannot be made successful with proper ma[illegible] on its own standing, let it fall.

[illegible]ness-racing here, an acknowledgement that it has retrograded, an admission that a strictly harness-racing association is out of place in California. And that without the adverse statutes that compelled the North Western Breeders' Association to close after its meeting of last year. The first time in the history of the P. C. T. H. B. A. that such a move was contemplated, and the probable reason that the proposition found favor with a number of the directors, when first broached, was due to a lack of knowledge, the large number of entries and the full complement of races being overlooked.

There is a genuine revival all over the trans Mississippi country, and harness racing is attracting larger crowds and more general interest than it has for many years. The claim is not based on untenable ground when the statement is made that the trotting meetings in the vicinity of large and small towns have been more largely attended than ever before. Notwithstanding a race meeting was in full and successful operation across the river from Detroit, the "Blue Ribbon" gathering was a pronounced success, and reports from all the places on the Grand Circuit, and others as well, are repetitions of the same story.

A reasonable assumption that the revival will reach the Pacific Coast if even the ripple of the wave is not yet felt, and the entries show that owners have recovered from the depression—unless those in charge interpose obstacles, endorse and emphasize the statement, that harness-racing is "played out," and can only be revivified by the incorporation of fifth-class running races.

Criticisms Commendatory and Adverse.—A prominent official of the California Jockey Club made a statement to me last week that he did not object to criticism that was justified if even it was adverse. Further than that, if there was enough to warrant condemnation, the critic should not be blamed for using strong language. Now there are cases when "sugared words" are plainly out of place, others, apparently sufficiently gross to demand denunciation, when explanations modify the case and clear the person or persons from guilt, and again there are wilful violations, not only of rules and laws, but transgressions, involving a breach of honesty and principle that cannot be condoned, that demand plain and emphatic terms of disapproval. The opening meeting of the circuit was fortunately quite free from jobbery.

That one case, when the conspirators were gloating over the success of their scheme, when those who had profited, innocently perhaps, by getting on the horse selected to win were chuckling over their gains, the judges reconsidered their decision, secured evidence that was abundant justification for bringing the distanced horse back into the race, put up another driver and thwarted the robbers, was the only one on the regular programme that was beyond any question fraudulent.

Outside of the regular bill there were two specials that were wrongly presented on the programme, which, if intentionally done, in order to secure a race record in place of a "tin-cup" mark, should have been punished notwithstanding the prominence of the parties in error. The programme called it a match. It was reported in the dailies, "First race, special match, best 2 in 3 heats.

Pilot Prince, by Dexter Prince—Emma Nutwood	Sullivan	1	1
Chico, by Monroe Chief	Downer	2	2

"Time, 2:24½, 2:22¾."

Pools were not sold and it was well understood by the horse folk present that it was "against times," but where a horse with a a record of 2:14½ was evidently pulled back to let Pilot Prince secure the mark, there was plenty of adverse verbal criticism.

The second of the kind was programmed: "First race—Special for 2:30 class; purse $75, 2 in 3" and Pilot McLellan won it over Joe in 2:34¾, 2:29½, though Joe had been a fair third in the second heat of the 2:30 class on the previous Tuesday, the time 2:21½.

Tin cup trotting has fallen into such disrepute that "Columbus" in the Western Horseman states: "So far as heard from, the only tin-cup performer of the year is the St. Joe mare, Cordelia, by Ashland Wilkes. At the recent meeting in that city Cordelia trotted a mile in 2:23.

Further comments are not required, as it is settled beyond all reasonable question that after this the breeders will guard against the recurrence of a similar offense. Had these races been in good faith, a genuine match and a real purse, the judges would have compelled the drivers of Chico and Joe to contest in lieu of acting as "teasers."

The management on the last day was capital. From the opening to the close scarcely a minute lost. Unfortunately, on the first days of the meeting there was a lack of promptness, and the races were delayed to a late hour. This told against the attendance, but hereafter the machinery will run more smoothly; and then when the horses come together for the first time they are far more difficult to handle, and the starter has a more difficult task than he will have in the future.

The parade was an admirable feature, and when it can be introduced without a serious loss of time, well worthy of having a place at every meeting.

When the grand array of horses passed and repassed the stand, Starter Covey acquainting the large collection of people through the megaphone, so that his words were plainly heard all over the grounds, with their pedigrees and records, there were tumults of applause for nearly every animal in the procession. Safe to assert that never before in this State such a collection of light harness horses, and when beauty and high form are added to pedigree and performances as the basis of awards difficult to beat in any country.

Well entitled to fuller description than can be given now, and much as I was impressed with them in the necessary brief explanation as they passed in single file, the favorable opinion was hightened when there was a better opportunity to see them when they were put on the cars at Shell Mound. A more thorough inspection will give still better grounds for portrayal, and to select the few that were the most conspicuous for their performances at the late meeting, and leave others out would scarcely be fair.

The facilities for shipment from, and, of course, the same advantages for bringing to the California Jockey course, could scarcely be bettered.

A gateway close to the stables, so near, in fact, that horses can be left in the stables until all that has to be done is to walk them into their respective cars, the platform being of a length that three cars can be loaded at the same time.

In order that there might be no chance for errors in regard to the "specials," heretofore commented upon I went to the secretary's office and took the evidence presented by the "Stand Book"—en passant I can say it was admirably kept by Mr. Covey, who was clerk of the course as well as starter—expecting that it would show that programmes and papers were in error, and that in place of races, "trials" that would give a place in the calenders, rules for the government of which have been adopted by the American Trotting Register Association, familiarly known as "tin-cup" records.

Chico	2	2

Time—2:24¼, 2:22¾.

Pilot McLellan	1	1
Joe	2	2

Time—2:34¾, 2:29½.

A partial copy from the record, which by this time is probably on its way to Hartford.

The matter is of too much importance, however, to be dropped without further remonstrance against a practice so discreditable and likely to work serious injury if passed without hearty disapproval.

TURF AND TRACK.

THE SULKY.

Javelin, 2:08¼, won another good race at Fort Wayne, August 10th. Best time, 2:08¼.

The Trotting Horse Breeders' Association meeting at Oakland was a financial success.

Entries to the San Jose race meeting will close to-morrow, August 15th. Do not overlook it.

Algona, the sire of Flying Jib, 2:04, has a new trotter in Shakespeare 2:23¼, a record made at New Paltz, N. Y., Saturday.

Chehalis defeated Searchlight and Edith W. at Butte, Mont., August 7th, and paced the third heat in the remarkable time of 2:07¾.

Sphinx secures his first producing son in Surplus, the sire of Peter Swift, 2:24¼. Surplus is nine years old and his dam is by Pilot Medium.

St. Andre, a black gelding by St. Bel, driven by Chas Marvin, won the 2:40 class trotting race at Grand Rapids Mich, July 27th, in straight heats. Time—2:24¼, 2:25¼ and 2:25¼.

Anaconda, by Knight, 2:22, won the pacing race at Butte, Mont., August 10th. Time, 2:13¼. And Chris. Peterson, by Deputy, son of Echo, won the 2:17 class trot on the same day. Best time, 2:14¼.

C. R. Walter, of this city, is the owner of the handsome chestnut mare, Nelly W., 2:15¾, by Woolsey, out of Nelly R., by Ioca, and very few in Golden Gate Park can pass him as he jogs out morning and evening.

King Altamont, by Altamont, dam Lady Ophir (Bob) by Ophir, and dam of the phenomenal trotter Klamath, won his first heat July 27th at Butte, 2:22¼. He paced well below 2:20 in losing heats at Anaconda.

At length Sphinx, who was in the short list of successful sires last year, has made a start for this season. He has two new performers, both pacers and both below the 2:20 line. They are Don Sphinx, 2:19½, and Princeton R., 2:18¼.

Dr. Leek, 2:18, the good game trotter that won the 2:40 class trotting race last Saturday is full brother to San Souci, 2:28¼, being by Sidney, 2:19¾, out of Miss Roy, by Buccaneer; second dam, Ella Roy, dam of Ellen Roy, 2:07, and Sanders, 2:26¼.

Cornelia Belle, 2:17¼, the fastest two-year-old pacer of the year, is by Onward, son of George Wilkes, while Improvidence, 2:20, the fastest two-year old trotter of the year, is by Prodigal, out of a mare by William L., son of George Wilkes.

J. H. Williams of Santa Ana, was in Los Alamitos Monday, with Silkwood, 2:07. Mr. Williams has leased the "black whirlwind," for the season from his owner, Mr. J. Willits, and the public may look for some very fast work this fall.

Robert I. Orr, a leading rancher and breeder of trotters was in Salinas from Hollister, on Monday last, conferring with the Agricultural Association directors relative to the fair and of mutual help with the proposed fair to be held at Hollister the week after the fair there in Salinas.

It is a shame to give two mares the same name. We have a mare called Flowing Tide, 2:14¾, by Albert W., and now comes another pacer by Norval that is called Fowing Tide. Her record is 2:21¾. The N. T. A. should take some action regarding nomenclature which would be effectual.

Prof. E. P. Heald has a remarkably good horse in Pilot Prince, by Dexter Prince, who reduced his record to 2:22¾ in his race on Thursday. He has color, size, disposition, speed, and a gait that is well nigh perfect for a sire to have. We believe he will get a mark below 2:20 in the next race he starts.

The only Electioneer in Honolulu, Chas. M. Chase, was sold last month by J. Sterling to Dr. Shaw. Chas. M. Chase is a blood-bay horse, foaled in 1892 by Antinous, dam, Bonnie Piedmont; grand dam, Bonnie, 2:25, by General Benton, etc. Antinous, the sire is by Electioneer, out of American Girl. Bonnie Piedmont, the dam, is by Piedmont out of Bonnie.

The Baron Wilkes gelding Bumps is quite the wonder of the Grand Circuit. At Cleveland he defeated the 2:08 pace with the same ease as at Detroit, placing his record at 2.05½ in a heat in which he finished eased up. When it is taken into consideration that the fastest mile paced by either of the Tewksbury stars is 2.05½, and that against time it certainly looks as though Bumps is quite good enough for the free for-all.

Sam Hoy departed from Winters on Thursday for Chico with his string of speedy horses, and will begin the season there, going later to the State Fair in Sacramento. The Hoy stables contained some very fine stock, and with average good fortune the owner is sure to win some races. The string comprises the following: Monroe S,, by Monroe Chief, dam by Bell Alta; record 2:20½. Lizzie E., by Electirous, dam by Tilton, Almont; record 2:33½. Ante Ort by Anteeo; record, 2:45. McNally, a green three-year-old by McKinney, dam Alcazar. Bayswater Wilkes, green colt by Sable Wilkes.

The racing at Oakland last week surpassed any heretofore given in California. From beginning to end not a decision was disputed nor did an accident occur. The P. C. T. H. B. Association cannot be too highly praised for the work it accomplished in showing the public that trotting races are honestly conducted and no excuse for crooked work will be tolerated.

The Alameda Driving Association met last evening in the offices of H P. Morealt. The arrangements for the race meet on the 9th of September at the Association's track was the principal matter under discussion. The distribution of prizes to the winners at the meet on July 19th also took place. Blankets, robes, etc., were spread out on the counter and as the horsemen came in they were asked to choose whichever prize suited their fancies.

Thomas Clark, of Hueneme, is the owner of a fine broodmare, by Abbottsford, 2:19½, out of Fly, by Sonoma, he by Geo. M. Patchen out of a thoroughbred mare. Fly is the dam of the good pacing gelding, Peanuts, which Frank O'Kane drove in the race, Friday, at Oakland, and was only beaten a head in 2:21½ in the third heat. Mr. Clark has several very fine foals from her one in particular by his horse Wilkes Moor (Fez), which he calls Talisman.

The bay three-year-old filly, Much Better, that got a record of 2:24½, in the race she won at Oakland, Thursday, is another Oakwood Park Stock Farm bred youngster. She being by Chas. Derby, 2:20, out of None Better, 2:23¾, by Allandorff, 2:19½, second dam, Bashaw Belle (dam of Strong Boy, 2:12, None Better, 2:23¾, Secure, 2:30 and Carrie, 2:29¾, dam of Manager, 2:06¾) by Green's Bashaw, etc. She belongs to Dr. C. Geo. Bull of Alameda and is one of the most perfect-made fillies in California.

At the beginning of the season Heir At Law 2:07½ had not a single representative in the 2:30 list, but now when the Grand Circuit is only three weeks old, and with all the big stake meetings yet to come off, he has to his credit Passing Belle 2:09½, Elsinora 2:13½ and Judge At Law 2.15½. It is evident that in this brother to the lamented Prince Regent, the Hamlins have a wonderful sire of speed. Mr. Hamlin always spoke slightingly of Heir At Law, "A regular Wilkes," said he, "with short neck, rat tail, and no more like Prince Regent than a pug dog is like a greyhound."

The three-year-old Lynall, who took a record of 2:29½ at Colusa, California, in May, is not by Lynwood, son of Nutwood, but is sired by Lynmont, 2:23½, the eleven-year old son of Almont Medium, 2:18¼. As Lynall is the first of his sire's to get a standard rank, so is Lynmont the first of the sons or daughters of Almont Medium to produce speed. Lynall was bred and owned by D. E. Knight, Marysville, Cal. He is a chestnut gelding and his dam is Balance All, 2:29¾, by Brigadier, 2:21¼, while his grandam, Nellie McCracken, is in the great broodmare list, so that he has plenty of good blood in his veins.

The rule of the road in driving is to keep to the right; on the trotting track this rule is reversed and all keep to the left. It is the custom on all tracks for horses speeding to go to the right of the track and keep close to the fence, or "pole," as it is technically termed, and all horses going slow are driven the left way of the track, and keep close to the outer fence. With this rule followed, there is perfect safety on the track to all, but every little while some careless or smart "Alick," in going the left way of the track, insists on getting down next to the pole instead of keeping to the outer side, where he belongs. Along comes a horse going a 20 shot, and a collision is inevitable. Many fatal accidents have occurred in this way.

The old Melrose track, where some of California's early race records were made, has changed hands. And it brought but $80 over and above a mortgage of $3,000. The track has been for some time past the property of Col. P. A. Finegan, of San Rafael, who recently went to jail rather than pay alimony to his wife, who was suing him for a divorce. On Saturday morning, F. M. Cochrane, assignee of Col. Finegan, sold the race track, subject to the mortgage for $3,000, to a man named Lang for $80. Since the Alameda Driving Association, who drove their horses there before the building of the straight-away speed-track on the north side, the track has not been used, and the buildings which once stabled crack trotters are now used as a slaughter house for horses to supply the demand for cheap meat for chicken raisers. What the new owner proposes to do with the track is not known.

The bay stallion, Dave Ryan, which won such a game race last Saturday at the Oakland track, best time, 2:17¾, belonging to Dr. McCallum, one the leading veterinarians, of Sacramento. Dave Ryan is a deep dark bay stallion with peculiarly white or pie-bald eyes. He is a heavy set fellow, and althought a little sluggish is as game as a fighting rooster. He is exceedingly well bred and the few colts by him at Sacramento are remarkably handsome and well proportioned. He was sired by Anteolo out of a mare by Algona, his second dam was a sister to the dam of Arion, 2:07½, and his third dam is the grandam of Flying Jib, 2:04. Anteolo was sired by Antevolo, 2:19¼, out of Mabel (sister to the broodmare queen, Beautiful Bells) by the Moor. Great credit is due Jas. Sullivan, of Willows, for the splendid manner in which he not only brought this horse to the post, but also for the manner in which he drove him in this race.

F. P. Lowell, of Spokane, Wash., writes: "I noticed in one of the last Breeder and Sportsman an item under 'Turf and Track,' in regards to Wilkesdale, 2:29, stating he was sired by Guy Wilkes and formerly owned by Geo. Hancock, which is incorrect. He was bred by Randall & White, Mass., sired by Alcantara, 2:23, first dam Thorndale, (dam of three in the list including Miss Alice, 2:13½) by Thorndale, second dam by Rysdyk's Hambletonian, etc Wilkesdale is the sire of Walsingham. 2:18¾ trotter, and the pacer Munyon, 2:22½, and Abdine, 2:30 I was joint owner in him, bought him and brought him out to this State (Cal). He was afterward taken East by Millard Sanders and sold to parties who took him to Australia, where he is now owned. I care nothing about it only that the Breeder usually has turf items and pedigrees about correct, and I did not care to see it publish things that will be commented on by other turf journals as incorrect."

An act of the board of supervisors, of Yolo County Tuesday, has assured the proposed fair at Woodland this year a certainty. An appropriation of $250 was granted for the purpose, the supervisors voting for it unanimously. Accompanying it was a resolution expressing the views of the supervisors in regard to the benefits to be derived by the community generally from such events. The $250, in addition to the sum already subscribed by business men and citizens of that city, will make the total within a couple of hundred dollars of the amount asked for by the fair directors which was $1,500.

If the present rush to the Klondyke gold fields continues long, and the cannery at Portland continues in operation, the demand for horses from these and other sources should have a good effect on the horse market. Walla Walla parties have a contract to furnish 300 head of horses for use in the Klondyke trade, and the cannery at Portland has contracted for 10,000 head in Umatilla county, Oregon. The great amount of grain raised this year will increase the demand for horses quite materially, and taking everything into consideration the future of good work animals should be somewhat brighter than the present.

Many schemes have been tried to place proprietary medicinal remedies favorably before the public, but it is doubtful if any patent medicine vendor has ever before essayed to advertise his goods by giving their name to a fast trotter and then campaigning that trotter through the region in which he desires to establish his market. Nevertheless, that is what Dr. J. A. Deane is said to be now doing with Dyspepsia Pills by Equinox, son of Electioneer, out of a mare by Nutwood the chestnut mare who has been winning races in central New York, at Elmira and elsewhere. She has won a number of victories and possesses the peculiar merit of being advertising matter of the most successful sort, and not only does not cost anything, but actually brings in a direct revenue. Great indeed are the uses to which the American trotter may be put. Generally it costs much money to advertise effectively, but the trotter apparently supplies an agent that may be made to do the work and earn instead of costing money to keep it going.—Horseman.

The grand circuit meeting opened at Columbus, Ohio Aug. 2d. The track was a few seconds slow on account of the rain the previous night. The most sensational finish ever seen on the track was witnessed in the third heat of the 2:11 pace. There were nineteen starters in this race. Billy C. won the first two heats. In the third heat there was a bad spill in the second quarter, and the drivers of both Billy C. and Nicol B. were thrown. Billy C. stopped at the three-quarter post, but Nicol B. kept right on with the field, running wild. In the stretch the runaway horse pushed ahead and followed right behind the sulkies of Pearl Onward and Castleton. Just before reaching the wire the runaway horse passed in close to the rail, and, while the spectators held their breath, expecting to see a smash-up, Nicol B poked his head under the wire just ahead of Pearl Onward, who won the heat. The runaway horse slowed up and turned at the first quarter, when he was caught by the stable men. Although Murphy and McLaughlin, the drivers, were badly bruised by the spill, they drove their respective horses, Billy C. and Nicol B., in the fourth heat, both having been given places. Nicol B. won the heat, pacing clear around the bunch. Darkness prevented the race being finished.

It has become the mode now for an intending prospector to the Klondyke mining region to take along a pack animal. The steamship companies are experiencing some difficulty in handling the number of horses. The better passenger boats have but little space for horses when room is so needed for human beings. Horses have achieved a sudden popularity and almost any kind of a nag brings $25 to $40 when sold on the streets of the city. In almost every open square down town can be seen a group of men standing about, dickering. A rude saddle of wood is usually thrown in for the price quoted. With the freight rate of $30 a head added, the actual cost of a horse at Dyea would be between $50 and $60. Some of the animals look as though they would double this expense on feeding. The pack over White pass, at Skaguay is thirty-five miles to Taku arm, Lake Bennett. It will take a pack horse, carrying 200 pounds, three days after leaving with one load to get back for another. Even with the number of horses going north by every steamer it is apparent that a great jam of freight will hold a number of impatient men at Dyea. The necessity of taking in pack horses has been recognized so clearly that it is now calculated upon by almost every man who is going by the overland trail. "Take me, take my horse," says the prospector.

Mrs. Frank Starr writes the "Horseman" from Russia "I enclose you a photograph of the late Dan McPhee, the pioneer in importing and racing the American trotter in Europe. McPhee has done more to prove the worth of the American trotter abroad than any other man. He has successfully campaigned trotters throughout all Europe from the sunny shores of the Mediterranean to the ice-bound regions of Russia. He expired almost immediately after winning a race Vienna, Austria, in which he drove a three-year-old by the American bred horse Prince Warwick, sired by Alcona and which was purchased from O. A. Hickok of California several years ago. The American drivers are holding their own as usual. Frank Caton and his son Will are away in the lead, with over 50,000 rouble to their credit at Mascow, and the meeting is only half over. Dennis Clarke, the Salisbury of this country, has employed George Davidson to do his driving. I think this will make a great combination later on, as Davidson is quite handy in the sulky and Mr. Clarke is acknowledged one of the best conditioners in Europe, but he has been badly handicapped with poor teamsters recently. Frank Caton won the Derby trial stake for three-year-olds with Cleopatra, who was sired by the Alcona horse Prince Warwick, and the dam was a Russian Orloff. Will Caton won the big Moscow prize for three-year-olds with a native-bred colt and Frank Caton was second with Cleopatra. The winner's time was 2:29¼, and Cleopatra's time was 2:30¼. Charlie Page won the big International free-for-all with Nominee; time, 2:29½, 2:19 2:20 Valley Queen, second, Monette, third. The Russian horse Dill was fourth and Maspero, by Brown Wilkes fifth. Mr. Page, having married a Russian lady, is now looked upon as a full-fledged Russian. His win with Nominee in the International was exceedingly popular. The ovation from the grand stand is said to have been the greatest ever given to a driver, either native or foreign."

THE SADDLE.

CLIFF PORTER, a well-known and clever horseman, died recently at Lexington.

BOTH Halma and Hornpipe have been sent to the stud. Their legs will not stand racing.

CHARLEY SLAUGHTER rode three winners and a place horse last Saturday at St. Louis.

HOWARD MANN carried 126 lbs. to victory in a handicap at Saratoga last Saturday, Tod Sloan up.

E. J. "LUCKY" BALDWIN is credited with a good win on his San Antonio, an 8 to 1 shot, at Saratoga, August 3rd.

LA VENTURA, a recent Saratoga winner, is by Emperor of Norfolk from Violetta, one of the young Santa Anita mares.

VERIFY, a two-year-old gelding, by Victory, out of the great race mare, Bonnie Lizzie, won a five-furlong race in 1:02½ at St. Louis, August 6th.

THE fleet Whitney is the sire of a winner in Easter Eve. Cherlee sired two that won on the 6th—Sun Bonnet at Windsor and The Plutocrat at Harlem.

AT Butte, Mont., last Monday, Sylvester, by Salvator, equalled the mile and three-furlong hurdle record, 2:35, made by Guy many years ago at Latonia.

AT St. Louis last Monday old Braw Scot ran second to High Test in a six-furlong dash. Free Lady won at five furlongs. Montgomery ran second to Utopia, Nicholas third.

IT is settled that Vengeance ran as Blucher at Windsor June 2 last. But B. M. Solymon, the horse-owner, presented good case of non-participation and the horse has been reinstated.

TO-DAY, Aug. 14, the widow of the late Byron McClelland will sell his entire racing stud by auction. This will be a good chance for Chicago buyers to pick up some ready-made race horses.

G. A. TUPPE 's fine colt, Diamond, broke loose a few nights ago, and coming into close proximity to a sack of barley, was badly foundered. A week's work saved her, but it was a bad one.—Santa Rosa Press.

BARNEY SCHREIBER'S horses did well at Harlem last Tuesday. Greyhurst won a mile and a furlong race in 1:54, Arrow five furlongs in 1:02⅘, while Ursula ran second to Theresa H., six furlongs in 1:14⅘.

SENATOR BLAND won the West Side Handicap, mile and furlong, at Butte last Saturday, running the distance in 1:55 flat. Ray Heath beat Salmera, and three other Californians were victorious—Lady Hurst, Flashlight and Gussie.

AT Harlem Borden won a five-furlong race for two-year-olds, with 112 lbs. up. This colt, bred by the late Col. H. J. Thornton, is by Morello from Cimeter, and owned by D. J. Hogan. This makes the tenth Morello to win in 1897.

SOUTHWORTH, the half-brother to Howard S., won a mile and quarter hurdle race by a dozen lengths on August 4th at Harlem, and strange enough, the runner-up was our ex-champion sprinter, Digges. Both were new at the jumping game.

AMERICAN horses have been very successful in England thus far this season, having already won $38,000. The alliance which Mr. P. Lorillard made with Lord Marcus Beresford has been a very successful one,as the horses in that stable have already won $30,000 in stakes alone.

LITTLE DICK CLAWSON, who hails from Woodland, Cal., piloted four winners at Brighton Beach on Tuesday last, among the number Buckwa and Perseus, of Ed Purser's stable. Buckwa ran a mile and a sixteenth in 1:47¾. Lincoln II. ran second to Lehman in a mile and a quarter race.

LA GOLETA (by Amigo—Rosebud) won a five and one-half furlong race at Saratoga last Tuesday. Ferrier, with 138 lbs. up, defeated Good Times, San Antonio and others at six furlongs, while Brambles ran one-two in the Citizens' Stakes, mile and a quarter, Ben Brush first, Clifford second, time 2:07½.

A DISPATCH from St. Louis last Saturday says: The "breeders" law under which poolselling and bookmaking are prohibited excepting on race tracks, was pronounced unconstitutional to day by Judge Murphy of the Court of Criminal Correction. This will probably have the effect of reopening down-town poolrooms.

THE HUGUENOT, own brother to Henry of Navarre, easily defeated a field of nine youngsters at Saratoga August 2d; track slow. Willie Martin had the mount. The brother to champion carried 122 lbs. and ran the five furlongs in 1:01½. Moss Rose is likely to prove a great matron. She went to the stud when she was a two-year-old.

THE principal topic of conversation here to-day was the report that August Belmont, the President of The Jockey Club, probably would purchase the Saratoga race track. Several prominent turfmen have hinted that Mr. Belmont has already opened negotiations for the purchase. It is probable that such a change would be advantageous, for under the present management the club has not been much of a paying property for several years.—N. Y. Com. Advertiser.

ORNAMENT, with 125 lbs. up, captured the International Derby last Tuesday, running the distance in 2:36 easily. Meadowthorpe (125 lbs.) was second, Moncreith (112) third. The winner's portion was $7,065, $700 going to the owner of the second horse, $300 to third. This was Ornament's fourth Derby victory, he winning Derbies at Latonia, St. Louis, Oakley and Detroit.

THE stewards did not like the performance of Shasta Water, the favorite in the fourth race, who finished third, and asked the trainer, James McCormick, for an explanation. McCormick said that while he was disgusted with Jockey O'Donnell's riding, he believed he tried to ride to orders. Joe Miller won the race by a length in a drive from Carib.—N. Y. Times.

IN Mr. Osbaldestone's match against time in 1831 (200 miles in ten hours, carrying 168 pounds) twenty-eight horses were used. Tranby, five years old, made the best time, four miles, in 8:00, with 168 pounds up. Afterward Tranby (who was a son of Blacklock) was brought to America, where he sired many good ones, perhaps the best being the dam of Levity and Vandal.

SEVERAL Australian horses recently landed in Singapore, says the Asian, the lot including Ellengerah, by Grandmaster—Cobweb ; Aysgarth by Sunrise—Despite; Petunia, by Fusilier—Persephone; Hush, by Sommeil—Blonde; Corroboree (brother to imp. Crighton) by Clieveden—Ghinni Ghinni ; Lord Vivian, by Flageolet—Mignonette; gelding, three years, by Splendor—Heather Bell; a two-year-old filly by Autonomy—Beta. They were too late to take part in the summer meeting.

AMONG the records accredited to horses in England might be mentioned: In 1883 the Liverpool Cup, about one and one-half miles, was won by The Jilt, four year-old, 88 lbs., in 2:27 3-5. The Stewards' Cup, at Brighton, one mile, was won by Rout, 109 lbs., in 1:32 3-5 (wonderful if correct), and in the Alexandra Plate, at Ascot, Faugh-a-Ballagh carried 126 lbs. and won, three miles in 5:24 3 5. The last-named horse sired the mighty Leamington, sire of our Iroquois, Sensation, Longfellow, Enquirer, etc.

THE young but prosperous Fort Erie Jockey Club, which is composed of the leading citizens of Buffalo, was so much encouraged by the success of its spring meeting that it has decided to give an autumn meeting, beginning on Sept. 4th. The meeting is to continue three weeks, and as the purses are to be liberal, the management is bound not only to attract a large percentage of Eastern and Western horses, but practically all of the Canadian contingent that is represented at Saratoga, and who will be on their way home after the conclusion of the meeting at at the Spa. The Hamilton meeting now on in Canada is a practical failure, but the liberal management at Fort Erie is sure to meet with success.—N. Y. Com. Advertiser.

A ST. LOUIS paper purporting to get its information from the "inside," gives the following goodly list of losses and winnings of bookmakers to the public: Losers—Barney Schreiber $40,000, Joseph Ullman $40,000, David Gideon $40,000, Hayden Dargan $20,000, Riley Grannan $20,000, George Wheelock $20,000, Isaac Thompson $20,000, John Duffy $15,000, G. S. Bennett $15,000, Leo Meyer $10,000, Sam May $5,000, Will Davies $5,000, S. Silver $5,000, Pop Shepherd $3,000, Billy McGrane $2,500. Winners—Pittsburg Phil $125,000, Ed Burke $25,000, Hank Wilder $10,000, Billy Kerwin $10,000, Captain Sinclair $10,000, Alex Ullman $10,000, Coley Ullman $5,000, Herman Hoffman $4,000.

FOLLOWING are the dates set for the running of the remaining English racing fixtures of 1897: August 25, Great Ebor Handicap, one and three-quarter miles ; Sept. 7, Great Yorkshire Handicap, one mile, six furlongs, 132 yards; Sept. 8, St. Leger Stakes, one mile, six furlongs, 132 yards ; Sept. 25, Prince Edward Handicap, one mile; Sept. 30, Jockey Club Stakes, one and one-quarter miles ; Oct. 9, Duke of York Stakes, one mile ; Oct. 13, Cesarewitch Stakes, two miles, two furlongs thirty-five yards; Oct. 15, Middle Park Plate, six furlongs; Oct. 27, Cambridgeshire Stakes, one mile, 240 yards; Oct. 28, Dewhurst Plate, seven furlongs; Nov. 12, Liverpool Autumn Cup, one mile, three furlongs; Nov. 27, Manchester November Handicap, one and three quarters miles.

SOME of the gossips in the paddock at Aqueduct claim that Premier will not run kindly for Jockey Sims, and that was the excuse given for the horse's defeat, when, as an odds-on-favorite, he was badly beaten by Double Quick and by Marsian, a 100 1 shot, on Monday. Whether or not Premier is such an intelligent horse as to be able to discriminate between jockeys remains a question, but the fact that he has judgment enough to know when the bookmakers are laying a good price against him was proved to the satisfaction of visitors to Aqueduct yesterday. The conditions of yesterday's race were the same as those of Monday, with the exception that Premier had more weight up yesterday, that an inferior jockey rode him, and that his price, instead of being 1 to 2, was 4 and 5 to 1. On Monday he was disgracefully beaten. Yesterday he won easily, his jockey having only to sit still and keep him going straight. In his recent performances Premier somewhat resembles the nervous Friar, for his price yesterday had a steadying effect on his nerves, with the result that his owner, "Jimmie" McLaughlin, took enough out of the ring to make a comfortable trip to Saratoga.—N. Y. Times.

THERE are several new owners and new horses in the various State Fair stake events. In the Victor Stakes we notice the name of imp. Devil's Dream (by Chittabob), entered by B. C. Holly, Timmons & Marks' b m Marquise, by Miser—Monte Rosa. George Miller looms up as an owner, entering the excellent performers, San Mateo and Altanera, in the Ladies' Stakes. A. B. Spreckels has the ch g Frank James (by Ecuador—Tomato) in that stake also. In the Sunny Slope stake the new ones are Cosina (by imp. Duncombe—Cuisine, dam of Casper), H. Byrnes' Maqueda (by imp. Midlothian—Mabel), same owner's gr f Finalis, by Tyrant—Lizzie Lucas), M. F. Tarpey's Querida (by imp. Islington—Jennie Belshaw, F. M. Starkey's Bottlewasher (by Silver King—Barmaid) and A. B. Spreckels' blk f Zinfandel (by imp. Idalium—Frera), b f by St. Saviour—imp. Yarranabee and b f by Prince of Norfolk—Lady Cleveland. In the California Annual Stake we note Napogue (by imp. Midlothian—Kissing Ring), Negligence (by imp. Inverness—Namonia), Nick o' Time (by Joe Hooker—Countess Zeika) and A. B. Spreckels' Ragio, by Racine—Fidelia. Ignacio and Highland Ball are also unknown to our race-goers.

THOMAS CLARK, of Hueneme, Cal., a pioneer of pioneers, over eighty years of age and one of the most interesting men in the country, being the possessor of a wonderful memory, writes us, among other things: "I was at the sale when the Mailliard horses were sold at Sacramento, and bid on the yearling known since as Joe Hooker. I think he was knocked off at $160. There was some talk around that he was out of a mustang mare, on account of a white spot on his side." Verily there were many white spots on Hooker, but he proved a truly great sire, and there was nothing to back up the talk of his being from a mustang mare.

MR. COLVIN, Barnum & Bailey's horse buyer, was again at the track. In consequence Indifferent, The Delavan, Scorcher and Hammond will,in future race on sawdust, a great relief to the pikers who have in the past lost many a good dollar on these good-looking counterfeits. In future no horse will be allowed to start in any hurdle race or steeplechase unless it shall have been schooled to the satisfaction of Superintendent Wells and its owner can produce a certificate to that effect. Nor will any one, even the owner of the horse, be allowed to ride unless he convinces Wells that he is capable of taking care of himself and his mount. The unfortunate Crane would have been prevented from riding Wednesday if the animal he attempted to steer had not been his own property, but the management was loath to interfere with the liberty of an owner to ride his own horse.—Chicago Inter Ocean, August 6th. This is brand-new. It opens up a future for the "skate." The certificate of ability to jump is also good, and many serious accidents in hurdle races and steeplechases will be prevented under this plan.

IT seems that the correspondent, "Hidalgo," thinks he has found something unusual in the pedigree of Howard Mann, the horse that won the Brooklyn handicap, inasmuch as he had seven crosses of Catton, a horse who got one winner of a classic race, Mundig (Derby, 1835). We have a filly here in Colorado by imp. Ute Chief out of Unique II, who has in her pedigree twenty-one crosses of Orville (St. Leger 1802) who was the sire of two Derby winners—Octavius 1812 and Emilius 1823; 1,000 guinea winner in Zoe and one St. Leger winner in Ebor. She has seven crosses of Sultan, one through Bay Middleton (Derby, 1836), and one through his sire Glencoe (2,000 guineas, 1834.) Sultan was the sire of four Two Thousand Guinea winners, two One Thousand Guineas, one Derby and two Oak winners. This filly has six crosses of Tramp—one of the foremost horses in the English stud blood—and five crosses of Touchstone, three of them through Orlando, Derby 1844, one through Annandale, the other through Paragone. She has also two crosses of Stockwell, one through St. Albans (St. Leger 1860) and the other Lord Lyon (Derby and St. Leger 1866.)

PRESIDENT REILLY and his associates in the Queens County Jockey Club have every reason to congratulate themselves over the success of their brief summer meeting, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. The first four days were spoiled by the dismal weather, but Friday and Saturday more than made up for previous losses. On Saturday the attendance was simply brilliant in numbers. I feel convinced that it was the largest that ever gathered at Aqueduct. During the entire meeting there was not a single scandal. The racing was honest, the officials vigilant and Mr. Reilly's fight against the Metropolitan Turf Association of layers of odds had the effect of establishing what will be a powerful rival to the bookmakers' trust in the Manhattan Turf Alliance. The results of Mr. Reilly's firmness may not be felt this year, but by next season the professional layer of odds will find that he is not and never will be in a position to dictate to the clubs what shall and shall not be done in the way of payment for certain privileges. Mr. Reilly has done yoeman's work for Mr. Belmont, who might be called the father of the regenerated Eastern turf, and during the winter, when there is ample time for deliberation, we will no doubt see some wholesome new measures devised.

THE Lingfield Summer Handicap, $4 375, was won by the brown gelding Sandia, by The Sailor Prince, out of Saluda, beating a field of six, and the well-known writer, "Vigilant," has this to say in the London Sportsman of July 12th: Next came the event of the afternoon, for which the American gelding Sandia was a strong order, and Amphora, who never looked better, was pretty freely supported. The result was never in doubt at any part of the race; indeed, Sandia was not really extended, but romped home at his ease, thus scoring for Mr. Lorillard and Lord William Beresford the twentieth victory they have won since racing in partnership. That Sandia showed to vastly greater advantage than at Kempton was obvious enough, but then he had no Victor Wild to beat this time, and the Lingfield mile, which is downhill from start to finish, is a good deal easier one than that at Kempton. Besides, we may now be only just beginning to see Sandia at his best. Mr. Lorillard, who was present, has come to the conclusion that American-bred horses need to be at least a year in this country before they can show their true form, and as he has had more experience of running them here than anyone else, he ought to know, and doubtless does know. A gelding like Sandia, clean, lithe, wiry and with the soundest of limbs, may go on winning good races for years to come.

LOUIS EZELL will run no more horses at Harlem, nor will Bozeman ride any more. Ezell, after the running of Pepper in the fifth race, was ordered to vacate the track—stable and all. Bozeman, the boy who had the mount on the favorite, was suspended. In a nutshell, Ezell and Bozeman are both accused of shady work, the one of running his entries "in and out" and the other of "riding for a bookmaker." According to Judge Clark, the stable and boy have long been under surveillance, and the final reckoning up came yesterday with the running of Pepper. So close has the watch been kept that a table of Bozeman's mounts was brought into the work of investigation. Curiously enough, Bozeman has in every case where he has been astride a losing mount pulled his whip with the left hand down the stretch. Every time he has ridden a winner the lash was drawn and plied with the right hand. The action of the judges in declaring off all bets and disciplining the owner and rider of Pepper was generally commended. The measures adopted are harsh, but radical treatment warranted.—Chicago Inter Ocean, Aug. 7. Ezell's horses ran very strangely here last winter and spring, and on many occasions this journal called attention to their acrobatic feats. The turfman was an intimate friend of one or two of the judges, however, and no punishment was ever meted out, nor was he ever even called up, if we remember aright.

Review of the Meeting.

For weeks previous to July 31st there were many misgivings and predictions of failure, heavy financial losses and in fact some were to the effect that the opening meeting of the P. C. T. H. B. Association would be the means of destroying this sterling organization. The meeting has been held, it was a success in every way, and the directors of the P. C. T. H. B. Association are already devising ways and means to make the meeting which follows the Stockton meeting a still greater success, and they will accomplish their object, for the public has been taught that at trotting meetings no jobbery will be countenanced and everything must be conducted on a legitimate basis.

When the large crowd passed through the gates of the beautiful course last Saturday, many were regretting they did not attend all week, for they saw exhibitions of racing the equal of which they had never witnessed in California. Many new people were noticed among those who love light harness racing, and the praises they had for the management were very gratifying to those who have always contended that the trotting horse of America is and always will be the pride of the nation.

The beautiful grounds, track, buildings and stables, which were kindly loaned by the California Jockey Club to this organization, were kept in first-class order, and the course especially, even though it was rounding, was extremely fast and its condition reflected credit upon the track superintendent.

Racing of such a high class deserved encouragement, and a review of the events of that seven days' meeting shows conclusively that a better class of horses are in training than ever before. They are better trained and as well driven as any heretofore shown on California tracks. Not an unruly, unmanageable horse was seen, not an accident to driver or horse occurred, not a fine was levied, and every driver seemed to do his utmost to help the judges by getting their horses away on even terms. With the exception of one race, "a gentleman's race," not a driver was taken from the sulky. Such a record is one everyone should be proud of, and the public, always quick to recognize meritorious work, has been sincere and earnest in its acknowledgement of the good work done.

The racing Friday was prolonged until after dark. Fred Wilkes, by Nutwood Wilkes, getting a mark of 2:28½, and Our Joe, by Sidney, a record of 2:26½. Iora, by Ira, had a hard battle, but won, the fastest heat she trotted was in 2:16¼. Peko, 2:24, by Electioneer lowered her record to 2:17½ and Daisy Wood, by Silkwood, 2:07, will have 2:16½ after her name until she trots faster. Ada R., by Adirondack (whose pedigree we do not know), won her race and got a mark of 2:21½, while Dione, by Dawn, got a mark of 2:26.

Saturday Pilot McClellan, by Pilot Prince, won his race, getting a mark of 2:29½, and Dr. Leek, by Sidney, captured the 2:40 class trotting race, best time 2:18. The 2:10 pace was won by Col. Benton, best time 2:14½, and the meeting ended by the winning of the 2:20 class race by Dave Ryan, a son of Anteolo.

On Saturday, July 31st, there were ten heats decided, the winners being Jack W., 2:12½, by Waldstein; Galette, 2:12½, by Jud Wilkes, and Annie Rooney, 2:17, by Strathway, 2:19. The Electioneer mare, Peko, captured one heat and lowered her record to 2:18¼.

Tuesday the fastest two-year-old representative of the great Dexter Prince, named Prince Ansel, won in 2:29½. Our Boy, by Vernon, won the pacing race, and the Steinway colt, Our Jack, on his first appearance, won an excellent race, getting a mark of 2:21¼ in the fifth heat, Richmond Chief, by Monroe Chief, got a mark of 2:24¼, and Pasonte, by Palo Alto, got a mark of 2:19½ in the fifth heat.

On Wednesday the Norris colt, Nordeau, won his race and got a mark of 2:25¼. Meridian, by Semicolon, won the pacing race, and Butcher Boy, by Secretary, the butchers' race.

Thursday's programme was a long one. Prof. E. P Heald's Dexter Prince horse, Pilot Prince, lowered his record to 2:22¾. Dr. Bull's fine Charles Derby filly, Much Better, won her race in and got a mark of 2:24½. Galette has no trouble in winning in straight heats, not having to trot faster than 2:14½ to do so, while Hijo del Diablo got a mark of 2:16½ and won his race, defeating that other great three-year-old, De Bernardi Basler, who paced a mile in 2:16¼ in this race.

It can be easily discovered whence these winners and new-comers to the 2:30 list have emanated. Sons and daughters of our best trotting-bred sires, bred to produce early and extreme speed, with such representatives of the names of Electioneer, Steinway, Sidney, Dexter Prince, Norris, Chas. Derby, Strathway, Diablo, Robt. Basler, Ira, Dawn, Silkwood, Pilot Prince, Brown Jug, Vernon Boy, Anteolo and Dorseys will not pass into oblivion, and the showing made by these trotters and pacers in this, their first meeting, is in every way creditable.

Thoroughbred-Breeding and the Market.

The prices paid for thoroughbred yearlings in 1897 are encouraging to breeders, the average being higher than in 1895 or 1896, going to show that racing, especially at the far East, is in a very healthy condition. This state of affairs is largely attributed to the excellent working of the Percy-Gray law in New York, and partially to the admirable management of turf matters in the Empire State.

When "the gate" is made the chief support, causing those at the helm in the racing ship to attend to the issuing of programmes attractive to the general public as well as to the turfmen, then the health of the sport is assured. The Jockey Club undoubtedly realizes that fact and is profiting thereby.

For many years the average price of yearlings in England has been at least $1,200, and no reason can be advanced why our youngsters should not find an equally good market. Our horses go to the "tight little isle," and, without being thoroughly acclimated, more than hold their own with their English cousins on their own ground. The Lorillard-Beresford horses have won over $30,000 on the English turf thus far this season, Richard Croker's have captured some good races, while last year Duke & Wishard's American flyers made a grand showing and were sold at the conclusion of the racing season for large sums.

Discussion of breeding problems will do much toward opening the eyes of our breeders, and the mistakes of the past will be carefully noted, resulting in a vastly improved breed of racers making their appearance on our tracks.

J. B. Haggin, Marcus Daly, the late Simeon G. Reed and Leland Stanford saw the need of outcrosses for their mares, and the importation of many celebrated stallions has been as beneficial as the most optimistic could have wished. What a host of high-class horses have made their appearance in California in the last seven or eight years! Think of the following, either by an imported horse or from an imported mare: Racine, Tournament, Dorian, Sir Walter, Nomad, Flambeau, Crescendo, Flirtation, Tea Rose, Michael III, Chartreuse II, Lucky Dog, Bernardo, Greyhurst, Howard S., Indio, Miss Rowena, Rowena B., Vinctor, Installator, Peter the Great, Lucretia Borgia, Rosormonde, The Roman and Zamar II.

When more attention is paid to size, conformation and soundness, we will have a superior race of gallopers. The governing turf bodies of this country have given their attention to the pedigrees of our horses, but had they passed a rule, and enforced it, eliminating from all programmes any race where the distance to be run was less than a mile, they would have put the "half-breeds" out of the business just as quickly and all breeders would have been satisfied. Many will contend, and justly too, that if a short-bred animal, or one whose pedigree is untraced, can defeat those bred on fashionable lines, at a mile or over, they should certainly be allowed to do so. Had the present rule always been in vogue in America, we would have hidden the capabilities of Duke of Magenta, Jim Renwick, Dynamite, O'Connell (a record-breaker,) Premium, Magnetic, Charmer, Betsey Malone, Diggs, Tim Murphy, Ed. Murphy, Modoc Chief, Al Farrow, Revolver, Doublon and others of the great family of Picayune by Medoc and Dick Doty (who ran the fastest three-mile heat in his day).

The new rule in regard to registration will cause the retirement of many good performers that first saw the light on the Pacific Coast, not because they might not have "five uncontaminated crosses," but because their pedigrees cannot be traced. In the old days our turfmen paid little attention to blood lines, and the result is that the breeding of many superior racers and "stayers" is lost for all time. The fourth dam of Diggs was a grey mare brought across the plains in the fifties and said to be by Grey Eagle. Maid of the Oaks, by Jack Hawkins, was a truly grand race mare that could "go any route," and her dam, "said to be by imp. Glencoe," was brought to California along with Jack Hawkins. Revolver comes from this family, also Mt. Air and Bryan W. A sister to Maid of the Oaks (Lady Hawkins) was a splendid producer. G. Wash. Trahern, of Stockton, declares the dam of Maid of the Oaks traced to a mare from the stud of Harrison of Brandon (from whence came all the Hennie Farrow tribe), but not being interested in the family of horses at that time, paid little attention to the pedigree. The original owner of the mare, Matthew Borland, died insane, and the pedigree, which he declared was in Borland's brother's house, was never given to the stud-book compiler. Now several good performers from the family will be debarred. Of course, the value of the animal with the long pedigree will be enhanced by the enforcement of the registration rules, and with closer attention given to the breeding of thoroughbreds, no doubt better prices will rule in future, a consummation devoutly wished for by our breeders. However, the breeders of California have had no complaint to make on the score of poor figures for their flyers.

The Running Brigade at Los Angeles.

The programme of running races for the agricultural fair there is published in this issue, and the entries for the several events will close on Monday, September 6th. There are twelve stake races and about fifteen overnight purses, varying from $300 to $400, according to the distance traveled; and the conditions of the purses are arranged to suit the horses that are stabled at the track. There is the Los Angeles Derby, for three-year-olds, with two other races for three-year-olds and upwards; four stakes for two-year-olds, two of which are at five furlongs, one at five and one-half and one at six. The rest are all-aged events, varying from one-half mile up to a mile and a quarter, with the exception of the hurdle race, which is a mile and a quarter. The local stables are much stronger now than in former years and it would not be astonishing to see three or four of these stakes annexed by local horses. Huenene, Saticoy and several others in the Ventura and Santa Barbara contingent will surely be represented in the all-aged events below a mile, and if Venador is as good this year as he was last year he will give almost anybody's horse a stiff argument in the Derby. He is a big colt by the English horse, Conveth, and his dam is by Milner, the sire of Marigold. Captain Thos. Merry tried to get several of his friends to buy him last year on the strength of a race he made here, in which he was last into the stretch and first to the wire. Old Nomad is in training, and though it is not believed he will stand preparation for a long race, yet turfmen should fear him in the Main street or the Van Nuys handicap. He is very rugged and looking splendid.

In the two-year-old events, at least twelve nominations from south of Fresno is looked for, including that point of course. The Owens Bros. have always been prominent factors in all races in the south, and have invariably expressed themselves as well satified with the way they were treated. John G. Hill has given up races altogether, but his brother-in-law, Mr. Thacker, has occasionally a good thing to uncork; and as the get of Sid are generally good performers, it would not be astonishing to see several of his progeny in the two-year-old events. Charley Thomas, of Hemet Valley, who bred old

Pescador, always has a lot of Honduras colts and fillies, so he is likely to happen in with a bunch of nominations.

The new Board of Directors of the Sixth District Fair have probably seen the need of giving more money for the gallopers than their predecessors did. Most of the old Board were themselves breeders of trotting horses and wanted to encourage the breeding of "diagonals" as much as possible, regardless of the fact that the largest attendance and heaviest pool-selling was always on the days when there were the most running purses given. An equal consideration of all these interests hereafter is looked for. Remember the advertisement is in this issue. Every owner should make entries.

The San Jose Fair.

There are no people in California so well blessed with prosperity as those who live in the Santa Clara valley. The long-expected and thrice welcome wave has swept across that valley, and its effects have been so beneficial that it never will be forgotten. Vineyardists, orchardists, seedmen and those who have harvested their fields of grain have few complaints to make this season. Crops heavy, prices good and help plenty. Three things which are always followed by good deposits in the savings bank. The stock-breeders have no cause for complaint, for prices are increasing for cattle, sheep and horses, and as the fame of Santa Clara county for raising horses is known from the steppes of Russia to the walls of the Chinese Empire, across both great oceans, the demand for more of the equines bred there is increasing and prices for them are sure to improve. We, knowing this, feel assured that the horsemen will make plenty of entries, the officers of the Santa Clara Valley Agricultural Association having framed a programme for their fair, which will be held October 4th to 9th, the week following the Breeders' meeting at Oakland, and have advertised a splendid list of purses, for which entries will close to-morrow, Sunday. It being a legal holiday, however, entries forwarded before Monday at 12 P. M. will be eligible. Let us see the best meeting ever held in San Jose this year. We can do it if you only help them. Make entries in all the events possible. There is no need to refer to the excellence of the climate, race track or its appointments. Those who have visited San Jose will surely want to go again. Do not overlook this very important matter of making entries.

Death of J. N. Killip.

Jasper N. Killip, the well-known horseman and senior member of the auctioneering firm of Killip & Co.,died at his residence in this city at 10:30 o'clock last Saturday night. Death resulted from an operation for kidney complaint.

Mr. Killip was well known all over the Pacific Coast. His face was one of the most familiar at State and district fairs, where he engaged in pool selling on the auction plan.

Mr. Killip was of German ancestry. He was born in Racine, Wis., in 1835, and there he received his education in the city schools.

He accompanied his parents to California in 1852 when a boy of 17,they settling in the city of Sacramento, where they remained till 1854. Thence he proceeded to the mountains and spent some time in mining in Nevada and Sierra counties. He was not, however, very successful, and going to Virginia, Nev., in 1859, he embarked in the liquor business. He came to this city in 1861.

He first engaged in the livery stable business, in which he remained for eleven years. While in this business he had for a partner E. J. Baldwin, with whom he remained for six years. J. Nathan then shared his fortunes for a couple of years more, James Craig being his partner for the balance of the time. In 1870 he engaged in the auction business, being at first in partnership with H. R. Covey, his specialty being the sale of live stock.

A few years later Mr. Covey resigned to take the superintendency of the Palo Alto Stock Farm, and Mr Chase has continued in business with Mr. Killip ever since—twenty-five years, Associated with these two gentlemen were H. R. Covey and J. R. Dickey, who were the projectors of the Bay District Fair Grounds Association, and built that track and buildings, which were demolished recently.

Thousands in California will read with regret of the sudden death of this most estimable man. Quiet and unassuming in all his business relations, he endeared himself to everyone, rich and poor alike. He was never known to say a word derogatory of any person. His judgment was unerring and his opinion on almost any subject valued highly. He was a loving husband and father, a genial companion, true friend and one who tried to make everyone happy around him.

To his children we extend our sympathy, and as we take a retrospective view of the many scenes in which he was always a central figure and recount the countless kindly deeds he performed in an unostentatious manner, we can only say of J. N. Killip that in the fullest sense of the term "he was a man, taking him all in all, we ne'er shall look upon his like again."

THE first stake book of the California Jockey Club has been issued, and thirty-six liberal stakes have been arranged, an increase of four over last season. The Burlingame, the Flood and Athenian club stakes, hurdle races last year, have been changed to flat races. The brand-new stakes to be run at the fall meeting are the Racine, value $1,000, for two-year-olds, to be run Wednesday, December 15th, six furlongs, and the Oakland Prize, for two-year-olds, value $1,250, to be run Wednesday, December 22d, one mile. The ten stakes of $1,000 each offered to horsemen, free entrance, last season, have been increased to twelve this year, two of these amounting to $1,250 each. The new stakes to which there is no entrance fee are the Flirtation Stakes for three-year-old fillies (that are two-year-olds now),six and a half furlongs; the Reliance Club Handicap named for the Reliance Club of Oakland, a high-weight handicap for all ages, value $1,000, seven furlongs, the Acme Club Handicap, named for the Acme Athletic Club of Oakand, a handicap for all ages, value $1,000, six and a half furlongs. and the Cadmus Stakes, for three-year-olds (that are two-year-olds now) that have never won a stake or five races of any value up to the closing date of stake, value $1,250, one mile. On the first day of the meeting there is the Opening Handicap, $1,000, distance one mile. Events like The Flirtation will encourage turfmen to buy and race fillies, and we would like to see more stakes for members of that sex instituted. However, if the stakes offered by the C. J. C. do not suit all turfmen they will be hard to please, for races are provided for horses from two years old upward, those of mediocre ability receiving allowances in many cases that give them a chance with the cracks.

WE BEG leave to announce in this week's issue some great sales to be made under the management of The Easton Company, William Easton, auctioneer. On the 21st, 22d and 23d of next October,at Morris Park track, Westchester, N. Y., this celebrated knight of the hammer will dispose of the entire Brookdale stud and stable of horses in training, property of the estate of the late Col. Wm. P. Thompson. In this list are some of the most noted horses in the country. In this stable was the wonderful Requital. During the last week in Nov the Easton company will hold a combination sale of thoroughbred stallions, mares and horses in training at Lexington, Ky., during the latter part of this month they will place under the hammer consignments from the famous Hurricana, Elmendorf and McGrathiana studs. See the advertisement in this issue.

WE wish to call special attention to the stake advertisement of the Westchester Racing Association, Morris Park, N. Y. Entries close at midnight Monday,August 16, with H. G. Crickmore, 173 Fifth avenue, New York, N. Y. The stakes in the flat races range in value from $1,500 to $20,000, and are conditioned to suit all classes of horses, from the two-year-old at the shorter distances, to the aged horse,over two and one-half miles of ground, with a few fences thrown in. Breeders cannot afford to overlook the Belmont stake of 1889 and 1900 and the National Stallion Race to be run in the spring of 1899, for foals of 1897. Entries for stallions in the latter close Sept. 7, 1897, for foals of 1897 late in November or early in December. Blanks can be obtained in this office upon application.

NOTICES have been sent to all our delinquent subscribers. It is hoped these "reminders" will not be overlooked or cast aside. We need the money and need it NOW. The BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN is contributing its share towards enhancing the value of thoroughbreds and trotters on this coast and is always in the front with everything that will assist our horsemen. When our readers, who are delinquent, will stop and consider that it takes money to carry on this work, it is hoped they will pay their subscription bills and thus encourage us to go on with the good work.

HON. D. E. KNIGHT, of Marysville, is not only one of the most enterprisingmen in the State, but one of the most generous as well. He showed his enterprise when he assumed all the financial responsibility of the Marysville meeting and his extreme liberality when it became nessary,on account of the width of the Marysville course to divide the 2:40 class trot into two races. There were thirteen entries in the event. It is the usual thing to divide the purse when there are two divisions, but when the 2:40 trot was "split" Mr. Knight voluntary directed that $400 should be hung up for each end. It was such a generous act that the horsemen highly appreciate it, and will always have a warm regard for the donor and for Marysville. Mr. Knight brought the harness horses to his home track to race on his own responsibility and said in advance that he would give purses equal to those of any association on the circuit regardless of what the venture may cost him. His enterprise will probably mean a loss of about $2,000 to him, but so ardent an admirer of the harness horse is he that he will not lose any sleep over the financial loss. An innovotion that met with high favor at the Marysville meeting was the idea of calling the owners of the money-winners to the stand at the conclusion of each race and handing them their money.

HENRY J. CROCKER, Vice-President of the Pacific Coast Jockey Club, has been elected President of the Winegrowers' Corporation, and by his action in extending financial aid to our vineyardists he has endeared himself to many thousand who have at heart the great industry of which he is now the head and front. Mr. Crocker will doubtless make as great a success in this undertaking as he has in everything he has taken an interest in—in fact, Henry J. Crocker and success go hand in hand, smiling and confident of the future. With a few more men of the Henry Crocker stamp in her midst California would soon challenge the admiration of the world—at least those inhabiting it who admire pluck and enterprise.

ON August 24th Messrs. Killip & Co. will hold an auction sale of all the horses belonging to the L. U. Shippee estate, consisting of sixty head of fine trotting horses, descendants of the great Nutwood stallion, Hawthorne and some of the choicest mares bred in this State. Besides these, there will be a number of Clydesdales sold. A detailed description of this consignment will be published in our next issue.

READ the Fresno Fair Association and Santa Ana advertisements of their speed programmes and enter your horses at once.

THE Glenbrook Park meeting opens next Monday, and some of the best horses in the State will take part. Capt. Ben Harris' starting gate will be used. J. W. Wilson will act as presiding judge. During the progress of the meeting there will be a miners' day, at which time all the mines will be closed down.

JAVELIN 2:08¼,won another good race last week,at Columbus, O. She captured the last three heats of the 2:14 pace. Time, 2:11½; 2:10¼, 2:10¼, 2:10¼

(Copyrighted.)

Adopted.

To take effect Janaury 1, 1898.

I. The word dog, where used in these rules, includes both sexes.

II. Every dog shown under these rules must either be registered in the Stud Book or listed in The Gazette. The fee for registration is $1, and for listing 25 cents.

The penalty for non-compliance with this rule is the disqualification of the entry and forfeiture of the entry fee and any prizes won at the show.

III. Exhibitors must abide by their own errors in making out their entry forms. Show officials cannot transfer a dog that has been wrongly entered.

IV. Every dog must be the bona-fide property of the person making such entry on the day of closing the entries. If an entry is made in the name of an agent, and the name of owner not given, the dog shall be disqalified. The entry must clearly identify the dog to be exhibited by name, and, if known, its date of birth, name of sire and dam, and the name of its breeder. Should any of these particulars be unknown to the exhibitor it must be so stated on the entry blank. If the dog is already registered in the American Kennel Club Stud Book, the Stud Book number of the dog must be given with the entry.

V. If the name of the dog which has won a prize has been changed, the old name must be given on the entry blank and published in the catalogue, together with a list of all prizes won by the dog, until such time as it wins a prize under its new name.

VI. If a dog has been entered without being identified, as directed in Rules IV and V., it shall be disqualified and forfeit any prize which may be awarded to it.

VII. The breeder of a dog is the person owning or leasing the bitch at the time of her being bred.

VIII. The authorities of any show may decline the entries they see fit, or may remove any dog on account of disease, vice or other cause.

IX. Blindness, deafness, lameness, castration or spaying shall absolutely disqualify, except that if the judge or veterinary surgeon is satisfied that the deafness or lameness be temporary the dog shall be allowed to compete.

A dog suffering from any hereditary, contagious or objectionable disease shall be disqualified and forfeit the prize which may be awarded to it, and shall be at once removed from the show building A regularly appointed veterinary surgeon shall alone decide as to the condition of the dog, and his decision must be given in writing.

X. Should an appointed judge be unable to fill his engagement the committee shall have the right to fill the vacancy. All the separate classes ot any breed of dogs must, however, be adjudicated upon by the same judge, or judges acting in conjunction.

Full discretionary power is given to the judge of each class to withhold any or all prizes for want of merit. The judge's decision will be final in all cases affecting the merits of the dogs, and appeals can only be entertained where misrepresentation or breach of the rules is alleged.

A judge shall disqualify a dog which in his opinion has been improperly tampered with, subject to the decision of the veterinary surgeon. Should the judge's disqualifications not be sustained the class must be rejudged.

XI. In any class where there is a limit of weight the person in charge of a dog entered in such class may claim of the Show Committee the right, at any time after the opening of the show and before the judging, to have the dog weighed, and the weight of the dog shall be registered and hold good at the time of judging. Any competing exhibitor or handler shall have the right to demand the weighing of any dog during the judging of the class, other than those whose weight has been officially registered. Any subsequent protest must be made in the formal manner provided for in these rules.

XII. Dog show committees may provide such classes for dogs of recognized breeds as they choose, provided they do not conflict with the conditions of the undermentioned classes.

CLASSES.

1. The Puppy Class shall be for all dogs over six months and under twelve months of age, and no entry can be made of one under six months, or whose date of birth is unknown.

2. The Novice Class shall be for all dogs never having won a first prize at any recognized show, wins in the puppy classes excepted.

3. The Junior Class shall be for all dogs never having won four first prizes at any recognized show, wins in the puppy classes excepted.

4 —The Senior Class shall be for all dogs having won four or more first prizes at any recognized show, wins in the puppy classes excepted. In entering a dog in the Senior Class, it is necessary to specify on the entry blank a sufficient number of first prize winnings, giving name and year of show, to entitle it to compete in such class, until such time as it has won in a Senior Class, after which, one Senior win shall be sufficient. These wins must be published in the catalogue.

5. The Free-for-All Class shall be for all dogs of any age over six months. No prize winner shall be debarred from competing.

6. All shows offering cash prizes for three of the above classes, for any one breed, one of which must be the Free-for-All Class, shall be empowered to provide for that breed a Winners' Class for the dogs which have won the first prizes in said classes, and the winner of first four prizes in such Winners' classes will thereby become a Champion of Record, and be so registered by the American Kennel Club. No class winner can be withdrawn from competion in the Winners' Class.

"A dog that has already won one or more firsts in the Challenge Class shall retain these wins to his credit toward becoming Champion of Record, the remaining qualifying wins to be gained in the Winner's Class."

7. The Miscellaneous Class shall be open to all dogs of established breeds for which no regular class has been provided in the premium list. Entries in this class must specify the breed of the exhibit. Failure to comply with this condition shall disqualify the dog, and cancel the award.

XIII. In estimating the number of prizes a dog has won, no award received by it, on or after the date of closing of the entries shall be counted.

XIV. If a prize winner is disqualified the next dog in order of merit as placed by the judge shall be given the prize thus forfeited, and the win shall count in every respect the same as if it had been the original award. An equal first prize shall be counted as a win for each dog, dividing first and second money; the next dog in order of merit shall receive third prize.

All prize money must be returned to the show officials in case the dog shall be disqualified by the American Kennel Club subsequent to the closing of the show.

XV. No dog eligible for special prizes can be withdrawn from competition unless it has been stated on the entry blanks, "Will not compete for special prizes."

No special prizes can be accepted or offered by a show committee after the show has opened.

XVI. The age of a dog shall be calculated up to and inclusive of the day preceding the show; for instance, a dog whelped April 30 shall not be eligible on May 1 of the following year to compete for dogs under twelve months of age.

XVII. An objection to a dog may be made by any member of a club a member of this association, but must be in writing, and be lodged with the secretary within seven days of the last day of the show. No objection shall be entertained unless accompanied by a deposit of $5 (to be returned in case the protest is sustained), except the same is lodged by the secretary of the American Kennel Club, which may be made at any time. (For subsequent proceedings in protest see Rule XIV of club regulations).

XVIII. A person or club guilty of misdemeanor of any kind in connection with dog shows or field trials, may be suspended by the President of the American Kennel Club, or in his absence by the Vice President, or by the committee of the show or trial where the offense was committed. The disqualification of an owner shall apply to all dogs owned by him, or connected with the perpetration of a fraudulent act.

XIX. No person under suspension or sentence of disqualification can make an entry, exhibit, or take a prize, act as agent for an exhibitor, or take a dog in the judging ring at any show held by a member of the American Kennel Club. The privileges of the stud book are withheld from all persons under suspension or disqualification, for registration of dogs owned or bred by them.

XX. Entries made in the name of a kennel must be accompanied by the name of the actual proprietor or proprietors, but not necessarily for publication. The partners in a kennel will be deemed equally culpable in the case of fraud perpetrated in their name.

XXI. The person presenting the identification ticket shall be recognized as the agent of the owner in the latter's presence, and his receipt for prize money shall be binding on the owner, unless notice to the contrary is endorsed on the identification ticket.

XXII. The Secretary of the American Kennel Club must cancel all wins, when he has satisfied himself that these rules have been violated by the exhibitor in the following instances:

When an entry has been made after the advertised date of closing of entries.

When a dog has not been registered or listed.

When the dog has been entered in the name of an agent only.

When a dog has been pronounced deaf by competent authority.

When a dog has been pronounced by the Veterinary Surgeon as suffering from any contagious or objectionable disease.

When a puppy is entered, being under six months of age or as date of birth unknown.

When a dog is entered in the Senior Class, and the necessary first wins are not specified as to place and year of such wins.

When a dog is entered in the Miscellaneous Class and the breed is not specified or recognized.

When a dog is led into the judging ring by, or is in charge of, a person not in good standing.

When a dog is entered by an owner or his agent, if either is not in good standing.

XXIII. The above rules must be published in all Premium Lists of shows held by members of the American Kennel Club.

AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB RULES GOVERNING CLUBS HOLDING SHOWS.

(Copyrighted.)

Adopted.

To take effect January 1, 1898.

Any Club or Association, a member of the American Kennel Club, or that may be recommended by the Canadian Advisory Board, may hold a dog show under American Kennel Club rules, provided it abides by the following regulations:

I. Applications for dates must be filed with the Secretary of the American Kennel Club for approval by the Executive Board or such sub-committee as may be empowered to grant dates

Such approval, however, shall be subject to the subsequent indorsement of the Premium List as being in accordance with the American Kennel Club.

II. Applications for dates must be accompanied by a fee of $25, which will be forfeited in the event of the show not being held.

III. Section 1. The show shall not extend beyond four days.

Section 2. Entries shall close not less than seven days prior to the first day of the show. No alteration of the advertised day of closing shall be allowed.

Section 3. The classification shall be confined to established breeds, which may be divided or limited by variety, weight, color, height, or sex, or otherwise, as provided for in the dog show rules. No change in classification will be allowed unless announced in the kennel press, before the date of closing entries, unless such change is covered by the published regulations of the show in the premium list.

IV. Section 1. Every Dog Show must employ a qualified veterinary surgeon.

Section 2. A qualified veterinary surgeon is a graduate of a recognized college entitled to confer the degree of V. S., or one who, without having a diploma, has had at least five years' practical experience to fit him for the practice of his profession.

V. The Premium List must contain the dog show rules of the American Kennel Club and a list of recognized shows corrected up to the date of closing entries, as published in the American Kennel Gazette; also a list of the officials under whose management the show is to be held, who, with the exception of the paid employes, shall be held responsible for the payment of all prizes within sixty days of the last day of the show, in default of which the said officials shall be suspended or disqualified for such time as the American Kennel Club shall determine.

VI. No special prize shall be offered except for dogs of established breeds, and none can be accepted or offered by a show committee after the show has been opened. No special or regular prize can be accepted from any person or club under suspension or disqualification.

VII. All prizes must be in accordance with their description in the Premium list. Prizes of gold or silver must be of the purity of United States coin. All prizes in a given class shall be awarded regardless of the number of entries and reserve given in all classes.

VIII. No person under sentence of suspension, disqualification or expulsion can be employed in any official capacity, or exhibit, or take a prize or act as agent for any exhibitor, or show a dog in any judging ring. No entries can be accepted from any person who is not in good standing, a list of which must be obtained from the Secretary of the American Kennel Club before the closing of the entries.

IX. No entry shall be accepted of any puppy under six months of age or marked date of "birth unknown" either for competition or exhibition.

X. No entry can be accepted of any dog not marked "listed" or having its stud book number on the entry form, as per dog show Rule II.

A club may act as agent for exhibitors by accepting the fee of registration or listing, but must make returns thereof to the American Kennel Club within ten days of the date of closing of the show. The amount deposited with application for dates cannot be applied as payment for said fees.

XI. The catalogue of the show must give all the particulars required of exhibitors in entering dogs as provided in Rules II., III., IV., XII. (sections 5 and 6) of the dog show rules. It must also contain a list of the officers under whose management the show is held, together with a copy of the dog show rules and such other regulations as were announced in the Premium List. A marked catalogue, duly certified by the Secretary or superintendent, must be filed with the American Kennel Club within seven days after the closing of the show.

XII. No record of wins at any but recognized shows shall be permitted in the catalogue, and it is optional with the club to give any, except in the case of any senior class entries, which must be catalogued in accordance with Rule XII, Sec. 4, of the dog show rules.

XIII. In the event of a protest being filed in accordance with Rule XVII, of the dog show rules, the mode of procedure shall be as follows:

Immediately upon the lodging of a protest with the secretary during the show it shall be his duty to request the judge to select reserve numbers if he has not already done so, in order that any prize which would be affected by the disqualification of the protested dog, may not fail of being awarded.

If the objection is lodged subsequent to the show, it must be decided by the committee within twenty days from its receipt. Five days' notice of the date and place of the meeting for that purpose must be given to all parties in interest.

From any such decision or decisions appeal may be taken to the Executive Board of the American Kennel Club, but such appeal must be forwarded to the secretary within seven days of the decision being rendered, together with a deposit of $10. If the decision appealed from is sustained the deposit shall be forfeited to the American Kennel Club, but if the decision is reversed then all deposits must be returned to the applicant.

XIV. In the event of the suspension by a Show Committee of any person for misconduct as provided for in rule XVII. of the dog show rules, notice of such suspension shall be forwarded within twenty-four hours to the secretary of the American Kennel Club, who shall at once notify the President, or in his absence the Vice-President, who shall investigate the case, and, if he see fit, suspend the penalty of disqualification for such a period as they may decide upon.

The disqualification of an owner shall apply to dogs owned by him, or connected with the perpetration of a fraudulent act. The Executive Board is, however, empowered to use such discretion in the enforcement of this penalty as shall protect innocent parties.

No person shall, however, be disqualified without due notice, and formal charges and specifications, and an opportunity given of being heard in his own defense.

XV. Such regulations or additional rules may be adopted for the government of any show as shall be considered necessary, provided they do not conflict with any of the foregoing or of the dog show rules.

XVI. The secretary of the American Kennel Club must enforce the following penalties for violations of the foregoing rules, the same to be reserved from the deposit made with application for dates, after having satisfied himself that said violations were due to the carelessness or negligence of the managers of the show:

For excepting entries after the advertised date of the closing of entries—Five dollars for each entry.

For accepting special or regular prizes for persons or clubs under suspension or disqualification—Five dollars.

For accepting entries for puppy classes under six months of age, or marked "date of birth unknown."—Five dollars.

For accepting entries not marked listed, or not having stud book numbers—Two dollars.

For failure to publish in catalogues the necessary winnings to entitle an entry in the senior class, provided same is specified by the exhibitor ou his entry blank—Five dollars.

For accepting entries signed with agent's name only--Two dollars.

For delay beyond ten day in forwarding to the office of the American Kennel Club all listings or registrations, with fees for same—One dollar for each day.

For failure to file a marked catalogue, certified to by the Secretary or Superintendent, within seven days after the closing of the show—One dollar for each day.

For transferring a dog, as published in the catalogue, that has been wrongly entered by the exhibited—Five dollars.

For any violation of the rules not specified in this article, or for conduct prejudicial to the best interests of the American Kennel Club, such action may be taken, and penalty imposed by the American Kennel Club, or its Executive Board, as may be deemed proper.

XVII. The above rules are published for the guidance of Bench Show Committees only, publishing in Premium Lists and Catalogues not required.

The Merced Meeting.

Nominations for the Great California Cup Stake, which is to be contested for at Merced, November 9th, closed yesterday, and a glance at the list gives ample assurance that the meeting is more than likely to be one of the greatest in the history of coursing in California. The names of the dogs will, as is the custom, not be known until the drawing takes place a week before the meeting. The owners who have made nominations, however, and the number of their entries are as follows:

C. C. Griswold, San Francisco, 2; E. V. Sullivan, San Francisco, 4; Walter Elmer, San Francisco, 4; William Halpin, San Francisco, 1; Roy Scott, San Francisco, 1; James Byrnes, San Francisco, 1; M. The St. Bernard Club.

The regular monthly meeting of the St. Bernard Club of California was held on Monday evening last at the office of Dr. Cluness Jr. President Thos. H. Browne in the chair, Messrs. White, Greenbaum, Kirkpatrick, Littrell, Dr. Terry, Dr. Cluness Jr., McCracken, Stutz, Cutten, Wegener and Crowell were present.

L. L. Arguello, of Chualar, Monterey Co., was proposed for membership.

The resignation of Geo. M. Bargate as delegate to the American Kennel Club was accepted and he was tendered a vote of thanks for his labors in behalf of the club and on his suggestion Geo. B. Sykes of New York was elected to fill the vacancy.

Communications were read from A. P. Vredenburgh, Jas. Mortimer and C. J. Adair.

The charges against H. T. Payne were formulated, adopted unanimously and copies ordered delivered to R. K. Gardiner, Secretary of the Pacific Advisory Board, A. P. Vredenburgh and H. T. Payne. The charges are falsehood, libel, conduct unbecoming a gentleman etc., etc.

The meeting adjourned to the call of the chair. A special meeting will probably be held during Mr. Vredenburg's visit to this city.

To Whom It May Concern.

"The Secretary of the American Kennel Club begs to inform the kennel public that he will visit San Francisco as the representative of the A. K. C., and hereby invites all persons having business of any description in connection with kennel affairs that they may desire to present for a hearing, to address him on the subject, care of The Colonial, Pine and Jones streets, on or before August 18th.

Yours truly, A. P. Vredenburgh,
Sec'y A. K. C.

DOINGS IN DOGDOM.

Wm. C. Brown advertises in our Kennel advertisement columns for two dogs trained on bear and mountain lions.

It is rumored that Salazar's well-known smooth-coated St. Bernard bitch, Bianka II has been stolen.

Mr. Britweizer has lost a fine St. Bernard puppy by Champion Grand Master—Sierra Queen. Distemper was the cause.

J. E. Cutten, one of the proprietors of the Humboldt Kennels, reports Alpinula heavy in whelp to Bryan, Princess Alice ditto.

Alfred Seale, of Mayfield, has lost that good puppy Flora by Hauenstein, by Hector, of Hauenstein—Laura Alton. Accidently choked.

Some enterprising miner should get up a dog show at Klondyke this winter. If all the dogs that have started, should get there, it would be the greatest mongrel show on earth.

The interest taken in fox terriers does not seem to abate any, judging by the number of sales made recently. Mr. Shannon has disposed of all of his Sage—Stiletto pups at good prices and Mr. Moore has sold two of his Reefer—Violet pups although they are only four weeks old.

Don Bernardo, the winning St. Bernard at the late San Francisco show, unquestionably the best son of California Bernardo yet shown, died in Napa last Saturday. The cause of death was a large stone that he had swallowed. Mr. Grant was very much attached to the young dog and the loss is a severe one, independent of the dog's quality.

Judge Wilson, of Honolulu, has lost by poisoning, his fox-terrier bitch, Hawaiian Scamp, by Blemton Shiner, out of Fancy, by Le Logos, bred by W. R. Lewis, who considered her the best yet bred on the Islands, resembling her sire very much. She was a terror on mongoose and all kinds of vermin, the Judge deplores her loss greatly, but like a true fancier he is now negotiating for another one of the same breed.

Henry Skinner returned from Boca the first of the week. The trout are not rising exceptionally well in the Truckee, but he made some very fair catches. He found the Benn's Professor the best fly, but the hares ear and yellow, brown hackle, yellowbody all caught trout. Some of the fish were of very good size but the average was about ½ lb. each.

Should Horace Smyth and A. Cumming attend the Chicago Fly Casting Club's tournament to-day, as they intend, the San Francisco Club will be well represented. Cumming and Smyth will try the delicacy casting and Mansfield will give a good account of himself in the distance and accuracy events.

J. P. Babcock presided at the meeting of the Fly Casting Club last Tuesday evening and about ten members were in attendance, but no business of importance was transacted. The evening was spent in telling fish yarns and telling of the trials and tribulations of Deputy Fish Commissioners.

Chief Fair, of the Oakland Fire Department, Judge E. L. Lawrence, Geo. W. Weaver and W. J. Ahern, all of Oakland, leave on Sunday for a two weeks' fishing trip to Shasta county. They will fish the lakes of the plateau.

Steelhead and trout fishing promises to be unusually good this fall at Fortuna and all along the Eel river. The water is very low and the season promises to be early.

G. H. Kellogg caught six black bass on fly and spoon in the Russian last Saturday. They averaged nearly a pound each.

The Lagunitas and Paper Mill are about fished out, but there is fair fishing at Point Reyes in tide water.

The Fly Casting Club will hold its thirteenth semi-monthly contests this afternoon and to-morrow morning.

John Gallagher is enjoying good black bass fishing in the Russian near Duncan's Mills.

H. Battu and a friend caught 10 black bass in Crystal Springs lake last Sunday.

It was said that 800 trout were caught on the 3d in the Soquel paper mill flume.

The barracuda are plentiful at Santa Cruz.

The streams of Alaska abound in trout.

THE GUN.

Coming Events.

Sept. 12—Reliance Gun Club, Webster St., Alameda.
Sept. 12—Empire Gun Club, Alameda Point.
Sept. 12—Olympic Gun Club (blue-rock), Ingleside.
Sept. 12—South End Gun Club, Colma.

NOTICE TO SECRETARIES.

If secretaries of gun clubs will send us the full scores of their regular monthly shoots we will be pleased to publish them; but we must receive the copy on Wednesday to insure its insertion that week.

The Game Law.

The open season for shooting quail, doves, deer and wild duck as fixed by the State law is as follows: Doves, 15th July to 15th February. Mountain quail and grouse, 1st September to 15th February. Valley quail, wild duck and rail, 1st October to 1st March. Male deer, 15th July to 15th October.

The clerks of all the Boards of Supervisors have advised us that no changes have been made this year, but the ordinances passed last year hold good if they do not conflict with the State law. The following counties have not passed any ordinances that alter the open season as provided by State law: Alameda, Amador, Butte, Inyo, Los Angeles, Modoc, Mono. Mendocino, Mariposa, Nevada, Napa, Plumas, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Joaquin, Santa Clara, Sacramento, Solano, Sonoma, Santa Cruz, Siskiyou, Tehama, Yolo and Yuba.

South End Shoot.

The South End Gun Club held its regular monthly medal shoot at Colma Sunday. The main event was at twenty-five birds. The scores were: C. Kewell 12, A. Preece 12, J. Bickerstaff 21, J. McDonnell 15, P. McRae 16, M. McDonnel 14, F. Surmann 9, J. Schroder 12, F. Walpert 14, J. Peel 12, G. Huser 6, R. Stien 12, J. Dwyer 9, F. Surmann Jr. 7, R. Ohe 1, Mr. Schwarke 11.

Santa Clara County Sportsmen.

The Santa Clara County Sportsmen's Association met at San Jose on Friday of last week and elected the following officers: T. W. Hobson, President; D. M. Murphy, Vice-President; Fen Massol, Secretary; C. H. Herrington, Treasurer.

The next meeting will be held on Sept. 1st.

The Marysville Tournament.

The third annual dove stew and tournament of the Yuba and Sutter Gun Club held at Marysville on August 8th and 9th was, like its predecessors, an unqualified success. Over two hundred sportsmen participated in the stew. Otto Feudner won both the live-bird and bluerock medals. We give below the scores of the live-bird events, but owing to lack of space this week we must postpone the balance until our next issue.

The programme opened at 10 o'clock Sunday morning with the first contest in the shooting tournament. It was a six-bird match, $5 entrance money, $10 added, at known traps. There were twenty entries, among them the crack marksmen of the State. The following score shows the result:

In a six-bird match for side money, $2.50 entrance, nine out of ten who entered tied and divided the money.

Olympic Gun Club.

The regular monthly bluerock shoot of the Olympic Gun Club on Sunday last brought out a fair attendance although several of the members were at Marysville. Nauman was high man in the medal shoot with 23. The scores were as follows:

Bier vs. Roos.

One of the most interesting match events of the season was shot at Ingleside on Thursday between Achilles Roos and Hyp. Bier. The birds were a very fair lot, but many of them refused to fly promptly. Bier started off well, but on the 15th round Roos was one bird ahead. On the 25th round the score stood 16 each. Between the 25th and 35th rounds Roos lost the race, but finished strong, killing his last nine birds in good style and reducing Bier's lead from three to one, Bier winning the match and the purse—$100—with the score of 35 to 34.

Bier lost five birds dead out of bounds and Roos four. C. A. Haight officiated as referee, F. L. Judd as scorer, and Wm. Murdock trapper. The scores were as follows:

	*0*10011111*1200111111212—17—34

After the match Haight and "Papa" Carr shot at 24 birds each. Carr killing 23 straight, missing his 24th bird and Haight 22 out of 24.

Empire Gun Club.

The regular semi-monthly bluerock shoot of the Empire Gun Club, held at Alameda Point last Sunday, was poorly attended, owing to the greater attraction of the dove stew and tournament at Marysville. Palmer won the regular monthly medal match with 21, Debenham's score not counting as he has not shot regularly this season. Judd won the fifty-bird coast record medal match with 42. The score were as follows:

Debenham	11111111111110111111111111—24

Reliance Gun Club.

The Reliance Gun Club held its scheduled club shoot on Sunday at the grounds at Webster-street bridge. The first event was a ten-bird match. The scores being as follows: "Trombone" 10, Sands 10, Mitchell 6, Waggoner 7, Robins 7, Stewart 7, Knight 8, Willis 4.

"Trombone" won the Heeseman Cup for the third time after a very exciting shoot, having tied with Sands no less than three times hand running. The scores of the shooters were: "Trombone" 19, Sands 19, Mitchell 15, Robins 16, Stewart 13, Knight 15, Willis 10. In the shoot-off "Trombone" and Sands tied again at 17. They made another attempt to decide it when each man made a straight score of 20. To settle the tie twenty-five birds were then shot at, "Trombone" winning with 24 to Sands' 22. In eighty-two consecutive birds in the match and its ties, "Trombone" lost but two.

Killed a Mountain Lion.

Judge Ogden, A. V. Mendenhall and fox hounds left Mendenhall Springs, Thursday evening, Aug. 5th, for Aurelus Ladd's mountain home about eight miles from the springs, for a deer hunt, says the Livermore Herald. The first day the judge killed a nice buck. Mendenhall was quite discouraged having hunted the ground over for three days, two weeks previous, without success. Mr. Ladd, who is noted for his goodness of heart, suggested that another days' hunt might be more successful to the party.

Saturday morning, they left the house at five o'clock for Corral Hollow Creek. After travelling some distance, they separated. Mr. Ladd and Judge Ogden going together and Mendenhall alone,

The hounds soon got a track and treed something, some distance up a rough ravine. Mendenhall climbed to where the animal was treed, expecting to find a wild cat, but much to his surprise a lion sprang from the tree before him before he had gotten sight of it, and it was not till it was well under way that he saw it between some brushes, fired, hit it in the shoulder and thus checked its gait so much that the hounds caught it. A fiercer fight was never before seen by the hunter. The dogs soon bested the lion and were none the worse off, save a few scratches which did not injure them. Twenty minutes after, while Mendenhall was on his way to join his companions, the dogs started up a fine buck. Asa dismounted and caught his deer at a distance of 300 yards, just as it was running over the ridge.

When he reached his companions, they were happily surprised upon learning of his success. Mr. Ladd, who was the happiest on account of the number of calves which possibly were saved, presented Mr. Mendenhall with a hunting knife which he highly prized on account of its antiquity.

CARTRIDGE AND SHELL.

Doves are very plentiful about Visalia this year.

The California quail introduced into New Zealand have multiplied remarkably.

The season for shooting grouse and pheasants opens in Washington on the 15th.

Mountain lions are becoming a nuisance to the ranchers about Big Basin and Waddell Creek.

Geo. P. Schaefer, formerly of the Stockton Gun Club, is editing the Coast Advocate, of Halfmoon Bay.

Otto Feunder won both the live bird and bluerock medals at Marysville. He killed 46 out of 47 live birds.

C. W. Budd of Clear Lake Ia., will shoot his match with J. A. R. Elliott on Aug. 28th at Eau Claire, Wis., in place of Aug. 14th.

E. A. Nicolaus and Frank Ruhstaller Jr., shot a private match at live birds on the 4th, at Sacramento, Nicholas winning with a score of 12 to 11.

Dr Fred Clarck and a few friends took their dogs out on a coon hunt one night last week on the Smith ranch, north of Stockton. They only killed eight coons.

W. T. Van Burgen and party returned from Shelter Cove, Humboldt county the first of the week. They killed eight buck and enjoyed excellent fishing.

It is different in Washington. W. M. Wiley shot a grouse on the last Sunday in July near Spokane. He was promptly fined $15 and costs and committed to the County jail.

U. Nieman, a resident of Hemet, Riverside county, killed a mountain lion in the San Jacinto mountains a couple of weeks ago, with bird shot. The animal was only ten feet from him when he fired.

Three men and a brown retreiver were shooting quail back of Trestle Glen last Sunday. Over 200 shots were fired an p the number of quail killed out of season may be conjectured. The Game Warden should keep one eye on this locality.

Club rooms for the Garden City Gun Club are now being fitted up in the Druids building on South First street. The apartments will be handsomely furnished. Trophies of the chase will form a pronounced feature of the decorations.

The vandal pot hunters have already begun to slaughter the young ducks "floppers" in Yolo and Sutter counties. These two counties are "penny wise and pound foolish" and not having any game wardens the game must take care of itself.

Dr. C. W. Hibbard is having a very ragged experience as a deputy Fish Commissioner. The hunters that he caught in the act of killing deer out f season were pronounced not guilty and now they are trying to prosecute him for malicious mischief or some such trumped up charge.

Sunday two hunters killed a buck on Soquel Creek. As one of them was under the bank of the stream and the other was in the act of pushing the deer down to him, a third hunter down the creek, seeing the head of the animal through the bushes, fired at it, the ball passing between the successful hunters.—Santa Cruz Sentinel.

Fred Gilbert of Clear Lake, Iowa, shot a match with Roll A. Heikes of Dayton, O, on July 31st for the E. C. cup and the championshep of the United States at bluerocks. The race was at 150 targets, 50 from five traps, known traps, unknown angles, 50 from five traps, expert rules and 25 pairs from three traps. Gilbert won with a score of 142 to 136.

Frank Hoefling and party returned from the Van Duzen on Monday. During their three week's stay they killed eighteen bucks and they pronounced the fishing superb. Charles Monroe, of Ferndale, officiated as guide. He is thoroughly acquainted with the country, and the party speak of him in the highest terms of praise. He took the party to the headquarters of the Van Duzen, a grand trip for a sporteman.

The final shoot of the Lincoln Gun Club for the season of 1897 will be held at the clubs grounds at Alameda Point tomorrow. After the regular club event there will be a handicap prize shoot as described in our last issue, ties to be shot off at reverse angles. The merchandise prizes are numerous and valuable. A five man team shoot will also be shot during the afternoon. After the club shoot the shooting will be open to all.

The Mongolian pheasants recently imported from Oregon by J. Homer Fritch and the Petaluma Sportsman's club, says the Petaluma Courier, are doing nicely, in fact they are thriving in a manner far beyond the expectations of those interested in the work. Already there are 100 young birds. An unusually excellent percentage of the eggs are hatched out and at the Waren Davis ranch last week a setting of eighteen eggs showed 100 per cent. John Caltoft, who has the greatest number and the largest-sized birds in charge, states that one hen last week hatched every egg of a total of fifteen and another hatched seventeen out of nineteen eggs. He has now several nests of eggs in process of incubation.

White Topaz.

Beautiful stones to be seen at THE DIAMOND PALACE. Every day in the week and every hour in the day, one can see crowds around the show windows of "The Chicago Diamond Palace." The cause of it all is the now widely known White Topaz. White Topaz or carbonated diamonds have come to be recognized as the nearest thing on earth to Genuine Diamonds; so near indeed is it that the proprietors of THE DIAMOND PALACE do not hesitate to place real diamonds in their windows amidst their display of White Topaz and allow the public to pick them out at the selling price of the Topaz.

The latter stones have all the lovely brilliancy of the diamonds, sparkling steadily and with wonderful fire. The thousands of these stones in the windows form one of the most gorgeous displays, and has proven an attraction which is one of the features of Chicago.

In order to find out the advertising medium best suited to their business, this enterprising concern offers to send a genuine White Topaz to all those who will cut out and send them their advertisement which appears elsewhere in this paper, together with 25 cents in stamps.

THE DIAMOND PALACE, like all successful institutions, has many imitators who endeavor to sell cheap rhinestones and other pastes, claiming they are Topaz. We caution the public to be careful, as THE DIAMOND PALACE, American Express Bldg., Chicago, are the sole importers of this stone.

At the meeting of Ottawa, Ill., last week, the distance flag was operated by electricity by the starter from the judges' stand. The experiment was a success. The operation still requires the services of a man at the distance post, in order that the horses finishing behind the flag might be correctly reported. The plan did away with any question as to the flag dropping at the proper time. It is a step in the right direction; is a simple contrivance that other associations can adopt readily to advantage.

We acknowledge receipt of the monthly edition of Chicago Racing Form, published by Frank H. Brunell. It contains charts of the racing at all the principal points in America, and the foot-notes are elaborate and of incalculable benefit to followers of the flyers. The price of the volume is 75 cents, and Racing Form has as agents here the well-known firm of Foster & Orear.

BUTTE (MONT.) RACES.

MONDAY, AUGUST 2.

There were several big surprises in the running events at the race track to-day. One of the greatest of the day was the performance of Benham in beating Pat Morrissey and Jim Blackburn. Benham was overlooked in the pools and mutuels and paid his few backers handsome dividends. W. G. Benham backed his namesake liberally and was well rewarded.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 3.

Searchlight paced a mile this afternoon in the remarkably fast time of 2:09¼ on the Butte track. This performance is equal to 2:07 on any of the fast tracks of the country, and also equals the world's record for three-year-old pacers. Equally sensational was the fact that Searchlight, after pacing the first heat in 2:09¼, came back in the second heat in 2:10½. It was a day of "long shots," and the patrons of the race track who like to dally with the short-enders came home happy. There were hot tips out on many of the favorites, and the wise bit like gudgeons. The talent had many hard falls during day, but the race that completely upset all calculations was the last one on the official programme when Alicia, in a really exciting run among a job lot of old skates, came under the wire a winner, and brought small fortunes to her three backers. Straight mutuels paid $429.05 only three being sold.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 4.

The last heat of the race was not favorably received by the spectators, and it is understood that a protest has been filed against the decision of the judges in awarding the deciding heat to Ratatat. Apparently the race was won through the inexcuseable stupidity or negligence of Wall, Mildred Mayo's driver. Coming into the stretch Mildred Mayo had 10 to 12 lengths to spare; and the race looked hopeless for Ratatat. Wall was evidently waiting for a close finish, and pulled up until Ratatat had decreased the gap by two lengths forty yards from the wire. Wall looked back, cracked his whip, and apparently woke up, but Jefferies was driving hard and and came under the wire a winner by a scant nose. It was some time before the judges gave their decision, and when they announced Ratatat the winner, there were hoots and hisses from all sides. It looked like a job to the people who had money up on Mildred Mayo, and no amount of argument can convince them to the contrary.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 15.

This afternoon's racing was the most interesting of the meeting and even the fellow who lost his last bean on the sport was forced to admit that everything was conducted on the square. There were several close and exciting finishes, notably the pacing race between Ruby Messenger and Anaconda, and the splendid feature of Salmera in landing the Silver Bow stake for two-year-olds against imp. Missioner, the talent's favorite. Mutuels paid (straight) on the various running races: Salmera, $54.90; Latah, $39; I Don't Know, $31.50; Oak Leaf, $39 05, and Lulu Horton, $22 10.

CHICAGO, Ill., August 2.—A bill for a receiver for the Chicago Racing Association, owners of the Hawthorn Race Track, was filed in the Superior Court to-day by John Brenock, a stockholder having 2,238 shares. The corporation was organized with capital of $500,000 in 1891, the principal stockholders besides the complainant being Edward Corrigan, 2,475 shares; James C. Burke, 1,237 shares; Richard Fitzgerald, 50 shares; Brenock says the association owes $100,000, secured by a trust deed on its quarter section of land. Among the sums outside the amount which the concern owes, he says, is $25,000 to him. He alleges that interest and taxes are accumulating, and that the association has done little business for two years. The complainant asks that a receiver be appointed and that the property be either sold or rented.

L. C. RUBLES, of Rio Vista, bred the great Diablo th ee-year-old Hijo del Diablo, 2:16½, and owns his dam, Lizzie R., by Bonner Jr. Mr. Hansen traded with Mr. Rubles for this colt when it was a yearling. Lizzie R. has a handsome colt by her side by a son of Guy Wilkes.

THE four-year-old colt, Anaconda, which was bred at Rancho del Paso, and leased to Thos. Keating, last June, got a pacing record of 2:19 at Butte, Montana. Anaconda is by Knight, 2:22, out of a mare by Algona.

ARCHDUKE, half-brother to Clifford, in receipt of twelve pounds, beat Hamburg a head for the Grand Union Hotel stakes, the latter colt being badly handled by Withite. Taral rode Archduke beautifully.

CALIFORNIA'S BANNER MEETING!

Los Angeles! Los Angeles! Los Angeles!

BIG MONEY! LIBERAL CONDITIONS! FAST TRACK!

EVEN BREAK FOR ALL!

The coming Annual Fair of District Agricultural Association No. 6 will cover a period of nine (9) days this year, and should prove to be the greatest mixed meeting ever held in the West

Los Angeles has a population of 105,000, and the Race Track is splendidly equipped. Hotel accommodations are first-class. The money inducement offered is a record-breaker, while the conditions governing entries are unusually liberal. The Association will put forth every effort to make the 1897 meeting a memorable one in the history of racing in California.

ENTRIES CLOSE MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6TH.

Horsemen are reminded that entries for the following events close on Monday, September 6th. (Records made that day no bar).

CONDITIONS.

Entries in races Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 closed July 1, 1897, and in races 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 to close Monday, September 6, 1897. Horses are to be named with the entries. Records made September 6th no bar.

Entrance fees are due when the entry is made.

The right is reserved to declare off purses not filling satisfactory to the Board of Directors, but persons who have made entries in races 6 to 15, inclusive, so declared off, may transfer at any time up to and including September 20, 1897, such entries to other classes to which they are eligible.

Purses will be divided into four moneys—50, 25, 15 and 10 per cent.

Five per cent of the amount of the purse will be deducted from each money won.

The Board of Directors reserves the right to declare two starters a walk-over. When only two start they may contest for the entrance money paid in, to be divided 66 2/3 per cent to the first and 33 1/3 per cent to the second. A horse distancing the field shall be entitled to first money only.

The Board of Directors reserves the right to change the hour or date of any race, and the right is reserved to declare off or postpone any or all races on account of the weather or other sufficient cause.

Entries not declared out at 5 o'clock P.M. on the day preceeding the race shall be required to start, and declarations must be made in writing and made at the office of the Secretary at the track.

When there is more than one entry to any purse by one person or in which he is interest, the horse to be started must be named by 5 P. M. on the day preceding the race.

Trotting and racing colors must be named by 5 o'clock P. M. on the day preceding the race and must be worn upon the track.

Colors will be registered in the order in which they are received.

Conditional entries will be treated the same as regular entries and nominators held under the rules.

Any race that may be started and unfinished on last day of the meeting may be declared ended and money divided according to rank of horses in the summary.

Otherwise than is specified in these conditions American Trotting Association rules, except Rule II., to govern.

OFFICIAL POOL-SELLERS

900 MARKET STREET, S. F.

We are prepared to sell pools at all race meetings in California, and will be pleased to furnish bids at any time.

We defy the Experts

We have demonstrated, experts admit, and every one is convinced that Genuine White Topaz cannot be detected from real diamonds. White Topaz is the stone you have read so much about. The one that has fooled the pawnbrokers. Place them side by side with genuine diamonds and no one can tell the difference. We have sold thousands of these stones at from one to ten dollars, but in order to introduce them quickly as well as to find out the advertising medium best suited to our business, we make this

GIGANTIC OFFER. 25c

We will send you a beautiful, brilliant, genuine White Topaz, which can be mounted in a ring, scarf or necktie pin, stud, cuff buttons, locket or pair earrings, like any article in this border on receipt of.....

These stones are exactly the same as those we have advertised at one dollar.

This Offer for a Few Days Only

Cut out this advertisement and send it to us together with 25c. in coin or stamps and we will send you a White Topaz by return mail; a stone that you can be justly proud of and one that positively cannot be detected from a real diamond. In ordering, be sure and state whether small, medium or large stone is desired. NO ORDER FILLED UNLESS ACCOMPANIED BY THIS ADVERTISEMENT.

GENUINE WHITE TOPAZ

bears no relation to other so-called imitation diamonds no matter under what name they are advertised. They are the hardest of semi-precious stones, impossible to detect from real diamonds and warranted to retain their brilliancy. All others pale to insignificance when compared with White Topaz.

OUR GUARANTEE:

We warrant each and every Topaz to retain its brilliancy and the mountings to give perfect satisfaction.

We will give you One Thousand Dollars if you can show that we have ever refused to replace a White Topaz that was returned as unsatisfactory.

DIAMONDS DUPLICATED IN WHITE TOPAZ.

Royalty and the four hundred who own celebrated and costly diamonds set in necklaces, tiaras, brooches, bracelets and girdles, keep them in burglar proof vault, while they wear in public the exact duplicates in White Topaz and no one ever detects the difference.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME..... Don't Miss It.

Send us Twenty-five Cents in coin or stamps and you will be delighted with the White Topaz that you receive.

MONEY REFUNDED IF GOODS ARE NOT SATISFACTORY.

VIVA LA

BY WHIPS, SIRE OF AZOTE, 2:04 3-4, COBWEBS, 2:12, AND SEVERAL OTHERS IN THE LIST

FIRST DAM—JOE VIVA, by Joe Hooker.

SECOND DAM—LADY VIVA, by Three Cheers (dam of Electioneer Rex, showed when a two-year-old quarters in 36 seconds.)

FOURTH DAM—LADY LANCASTER, by imp. Monarch. The dam of Malcolm Regent, Ontario and several other winners. Marion, the dam of Emperor of Norfolk, El Rio Rey, Yo Tambien, and several other high-class race horses, is by Malcolm, and the breeding of Viva La-Electioneer, combined with strains of thoroughbred which have shown adaptability to acquire trotting action, is now greatly fancied by intelligent breeders.

VIVA LA is sixteen hands high, a rich seal brown in color and more than usually handsome, combining muscular power and quality in an eminent degree. He was trained a little in his yearling form and showed a 2:40 gait and was improving rapidly when his training was suspended. He can scarcely fail on the right sort of mares to get fast trotters, and with nearly a certainty of securing good-sized, fine-looking horses which are in demand in these times.

The Trotting Horse.

BY CHARLES MARVIN.

This great practical horse book is a handsome, three hundred page octavo, bound in cloth, elegantly printed superbly illustrated, and explains in every detail the remarkable success of CHARLES MARVIN and the whole plans and methods pursued at Palo Alto as to breaking, training, shoeing, gaiting, driving, keeping, racing and breeding trotters.

Read what J. C. Silby, the owner of St. Bel, says of this book: "In this work Marvin has let out all the mysteries of the craft, and it is so simple and plain that any breeder, owner, trainer or rubber who has any relish for his business can take a colt as a yearling and develope to the highest and fullest extent that colt's capacity as a trotter. The work impressed me so strongly that I have ordered twenty copies, and shall place one in the hands of every rubber on our farm.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 12.

This was ladies' day at the race track. As early as 1 o'clock the grand stand took on the appearance of a living bouquet, the invitation being generally accepted by the fair ones. Of course this meant a corresponding increase in the attendance by the sterner sex, one result being a lively trade at the pool stands. The ride to the track continues a pleasure, as the management keep B street from Fourth to the gate of Agricultural Park well sprinkled.

Appreciating the turn-out by the ladies to-day, the management has decided to admit them again to-morrow free.

The first event of the day was the trotting race for two-year-olds, purse $200, best 2 in 3. The entries were as follows: Dr. Frasse, of the Vendome Stock Farm, driven by C. F. Bunch; Prince Ansel, of Walnut Grove Stock Farm, C. Bigelow driver; Lynwood, owned by D. E. Knight, W. Hogoboom driver; Corinne Dillman, of River View Stock Farm, E. J. Bennett driver. By the request of the drivers and with consent of the judges, distance was waived. Prince Ansel sold as favorite in the pools at $10; Dr. Frasse, second choice, at $5; field at $2.

First heat—Prince Ansel took the lead and led Corinne the entire distance by a length. Dr. Frasse behaved very badly, breaking shortly after leaving the wire and again in the backstretch, the penalty for which was fourth place. In the homestretch Lynhood made a good race for second place, but was too late. Prince won the heat by a length; Corinne was second, Lynhood third. Time: ¼, 0:38½; ½, 1:15; ¾, 1:52¾; wire 2:30½, second horse, 2:31½.

Second heat—The favorite again took the lead and was ten lengths ahead of his competitors at the quarter. He virtually walked away from the others, coming under the wire in a jog, so much time did he have to spare. Dr. Frasse broke repeatedly, being slashed by his driver all the way round. Corinne Dillman finished second, Lynhood was third. Time: ¼, 0:36¾; ½, 1:10½; ¾, 1:46¼; wire, 2:27½; second horse, 2:34.

Prince Ansel won first money; Corinne Dillman, second money; Lynhood, third money; Dr. Frasse, fourth money.

The 2:15 trot.—There were five entries for this race, as follows: Lady O, by O. Marchand, J. A. Perkins driver; Galette by W. S. Maben, himself driver; Margaret Worth by Jordan & Franklin, H. Franklin, driver; Conn, by J H. Kelly, himself driver.

First heat—Margaret Worth and Humboldt Maid forged to the front, but at the stables the latter broke, giving Galette, the favorite, second place. The heat was then between Margaret W. and Galette, the latter closing the gap as the stretch was neared. At the finish the horses were too close together for the comfort of the favorite buyers, but their anxiety was relieved when Galette quit a head in front. Humboldt Maid was third, Conn fourth, Lady O. last. Time: ¼, 0:34¼; ½, 1:07; ¾, 1:41; wire, 2:14½.

Second heat—Galette broke at the word, Conn at the 1-8 post. Margaret Worth led to the stables, where Humboldt took the lead and led to ½ pole, Maagaret Worth taking a turn at breaking, falling to fourth place, to the chagrin of tho buvers, who bought her as favorite in the mutuals. Coming down the stretch the horses were bunched, Margaret W. making a hard try against Humboldt Maid for second place. Galette finished first, the Maid second, Margaret W. a very close third. Conn was retired to fifth place by the judges for breaking. Time: ¼, 0:33¾; ½, 1:06; ¾, 1:40; wire, 2:15½.

Third heat—The track record for trotting was again lowered, Galette being an easy winner in 2:12½. Lady O. was second, Conn third; Margaret Worth, fourth; Humboldt Maid fifth. Galette got first money, Lady O. and Humboldt Maid divided second and third monies and Margaret W. got fourth money.

The final event for the day was a trot for the 2:40 class, the entries being as follows: Richmond Chief by J. A. Perkins, himself driver; Etta Wilkes by W. S. Maben, himself driver; Sable France by Walnut Grove Stock Farm, C. Bigelow, driver; Dr. Leek by Mrs. J. V. Deek, J. W. Donathan driver; Billups by C. L. Davis, driver C. Davis. The driver of Dr. Leek, the favorite, was 32 pounds overweight.

First heat—Dr. Leek took the lead and won easily, the other animals stringing out behind. Otto Wilkes broke in the stretch and Richmond Chief imitated, losing a good opportunity for second place. Sable Frances was fourth, Billups last. Time: ¼, 0:35; ½, 1:10½; ¾, 1:47½; wire, 2:23 Second horse, 2:24.

Second heat—Dr. Leek led to the quarter post, Richmond breaking near the stables, falling to third place in favor of Sable Frances. At the half the positions were unchanged. Nearing the stretch Richmond Chief closed the gap and gained second place, being only a length behind Dr. Leek under the wire. The judges retired him to third place, however, for running. Etta Wilkes was fourth, Billups fifth. Time: ¼, 0:36¼; ½, 1:09¾; ¾, 1:45; wire, 2:20.

Third heat—Dr. Leek won the heat after a hard struggle, Etta Wilkes second and Richmond Chief third. Time, ¼, 0:35½; ½, 1:09½; ¾, 1:44½; wire, 2:18½.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 13.

There were divers kinds of excitement at the Marysville track this afternoon, and there was more food for Dame Gossip to chew on than anything that occurred during the meeting. The excitement occurred in the last event and grew out of a supposed conspiracy of drivers, the object of which was to make Challenger Chief win. They failed to deliver the goods, and Chico was the next selection, and then the fur began to fly. The judges saw what was in the wind and brought matters with a sharp turn. Before the affair was finally decided there were six heats, and Conn was driven by three different reinsmen. If there was no jobbery circumstances were unfortunately against some of the participants, but the outcome was satisfactory to the big crowd, and it went its way rejoicing. It was the hardest blow the talent has received during the circuit and their pockets at nightfall were in the condition of last year's birds' nests.

The event that caused people to stick to the track until dusk certainly looked tame and innocent enough on paper, as the only one of the quartet that was at all seasoned was Conn. Challenger Chief, however, was favorite, Stimson being confident of victory, and money poured in on him at the rate of $20 against $7 for Chico and $4 for the field. When the favorite won the first heat in the ridiculously slow time of 2:23 the judges went for the drivers and cautioned them against any further exhibitions of the hippodrome order. Betting then took a decided switch. Chico bringing $20 against $8 for the field, in which was the heat winner.

In the second heat Chico led all the way after Chief had fanned the air on the first turn and subsequently in the stretch. The judges apparently did not think Kelly, owner and driver of Conn, could do justice to the horse, and Billy Donathan was substituted. He took the son of Inca out in front and, only making one trivial wobble, tripped to the wire in 2:16.

Conn and Chico now sold even, and money went into the strong-box as freely as though another gold-laden ship had arrived from Dawson City. Conn had a rough passage in the fourth heat, Challenger Chief nearly carrying him into the ditch. He left his feet four times, and in consequence Chico reached the wire first.

Another sensation was sprung. Ed Bennett, of Riverview Stock Farm, fancied that he could drive Conn better than Donathan, and his request to be allowed to pilot the animal was granted by the judges. The change worked great improvement, for Bennett handled Conn with excellent judgment, and never allowed his opponents to get near him in the succeeding two heats. At the conclusion of the race the announcement was made that Donathan was awarded $20 of the purse for driving Conn, and $5 to Jack Dinue, in whose charge the horse was placed when the substitution was made. Before the last heat Mr. Stimson, the driver of Challenger Chief, informed the judges of his willingness to have anyone placed behind his horse should any desire be manifested for a change.

In comparison with the excitement afforded by the special trot other events seemed tame, although the opening race for pacing three-year-olds brought to the front a rattling good sidewheeler in Arthur W. Reports of his fast work or some other remarkable qualities must have got around, for he was made a favorite over Hijo del Diablo and De Bernardi Basler. The Hijo stumbled on the first turn and was distanced, and Basler choked on the backstretch and was brought to a standstill. Accordingly the Humboldt product had things all his own way and won off the reel.

F. W. followed suit in the 2:20 pace, and not having anything this time to bother him, Gordon landed his charge in front in every heat. Dave Ryan paced his race, but F. W. was a much faster animal than when the son of Antevolo beat him in a struggle at Oakland. Joe Wheeler showed improvement, and Floracita showed that she was fast shaping into form.

LAST DAY, SATURDAY, AUGUST 14.

The lack of attendance at this course can be attributed to three things. One is that this is the fruit-canning season and hundreds of laborers are working in the miles of heavily laden orchards surrounding this city and the canneries are running night and day handling the tons of fruit that are being hauled to them, some being hauled a distance of sixteen miles. Another reason is a large number of the most prominent and influential citizens with their wives and families are visiting the sea coast, and hence their absence is keenly felt by the race track management. Another reason is the scurrilous remarks made by the writers on the Marysville Appeal, the would-be rival of D. E. Knight's ably edited and extremely popular newspaper, the Democrat. For three weeks the Appeal kept up its warfare, but during the past three days a change in public opinion was noticeable regarding the meeting and the attendance increased daily.

As Starter Covey had been called to Sacramento to attend a meeting of the State Board of Agriculture, of which he is a member, his place was taken by Captain Ben E. Harris, of San Francisco. The card did not contain long lists of names for the three events, but what it lacked in quantity it more than made up for in quality.

The opening event to-day was a trotting race for the 2:30 class, purse $400, best 3 in 5. The following horses started: Jaspine, J. A. Perkins owner and driver; Osita, C. A. Durfee owner and driver; Diana of Rosedale Stock Farm, P. W. Hodges, driver; Joe, owned by L. J. Rose, Jr., W. S. Maben, driver; Fanandina, owned by Jordan & Franklin, H. Franklin, driver; Hobo, W. Mastin, owner and driver. Osita sold favorite at $10, against Hobo second choice $5, field $2. The driver of Jaspine was 21 pounds over-weight.

Hobo took the lead and was two lengths in front of the balance at the half in 1:06. Joe was second and Fanandma half a length further away. Osita, getting away on a break, did not act well and fell back to fifth place, where Durfee had all he could do to keep him steady. He came in sixth, behind the Santa Rosa mare, Diana, while Hobo landed the heat a winner by half a length from Joe in the good time of 2:14¼, remarkable time for 2:30 class horses.

Pools sold: Hobo $10, field $5. When the horses came out again Diana took the lead this time and went to the quarter in 35 seconds, with Joe at her sulky wheel and Hobo at his neck. Down the back stretch Jaspine, who had gotten away last, passed through the bunch and overtook the leaders at the half-mile post in 1:06. Down to the stretch it was anybody's race, but Jaspine out-trotted them all and came in a winner by a length in 2:14¾, Joe being second Fanandma third, Hobo fourth and Osita, who did not get settled, fifth, and Diana last.

Field was made favorite now at $10 to $5 on Hobo, with few takers. When Judge Harkey sent them away, Joe and Jaspine cut out the pace and to the end it was a struggle never to be forgotten by those who witnessed it. Jaspine forged ahead and won by a length and a half in 2:16¾, Hobo a head in front of Fanandma, Diana fifth, and Osita last Jaspine clearly showed that he was the best horse in the race, for he played with the field all the way to the seven-eighths pole, where he left his companions and won the heat and race in 2:18½, Joe four lengths further away.

The winner was sired by the Eros stallion, Iris, out of a mare by Bay Rose, 2:20½, and was bred, raised and trained by that sterling good reinsman, John Perkins. Hobo, who got a mark of 2:14½ to-day, was sired by L. A. McIntosh's stallion, Arthur Wilkes, 2:28, by Guy Wilkes, 2:15¼. The dam of Hobo is untraced. This horse belongs to J. C. Eichler of Oroville and is a very resolute-going horse.

The 2:13 class trotting event had the following entries: Jasper Ayers by J. A. Perkins, himself driver; Zombro, entered by G. T. Beckers, C. A. Durfee driver; Mamie Griffin by Park Henshaw, James Sullivan driver; Ethel Downs by Vendome Stock Farm, C. F. Bunch driver. Jasper Ayers sold favorite at $10, field $6.

The pools opened Jasper Ayers, $10; field $6, and many were sold at these figures, When the horses were given the word Zombro was sent away on a run behind the rest. Ethel Downs was in the lead and kept it to the quarter in 32½ seconds, Zombro three lengths behind, but coming fast as a whirlwind. He closed up the gap and at the half was at Ethel Downs' wheel in 1:04, he making this qarter in thirty seconds. Around to the three-quarter pole it was an exciting race, but Ethel Downs led by a head to the three-quarter pole, and down the stretch it was a drive for supremacy, but Zombro came in a winner by half a length in the remarkable time of 2:11¼ over this track, which is just three feet longer than a mile. Ethel Downs was ¼ of a second behind.

Pools sold after this exhibition at $20 on Zombro for $6 on the field. Zombro was himself again and got off better in the next heat, at once assuming charge of affairs. The Boodle mare hung to him gamely, with Jasper Ayers close up. Ethel dropped back on the far turn. Ayers gave chase to Zombro, and it looked like anybody's heat a sixteenth from the wire. Durfee shook up his charge, which responded gallantly, being a half-length to the good at the judges' line, which he passed in 2:12, Ethel Downs third and Mamie Griffin last.

In the next heat Zombro could have trotted in 2:08 if needed. He kept in front and won easily in 2:12, with Ethel Downs trying to keep close to the son of McKinney all the way, but in the homestretch Jasper Ayers let out a few links and passed her, getting the place two lengths behind Zombro; Mamie Griffin last.

Some claim this remarkable performance eclipsed the one made at Sacramento in the Ottinger-Iago race, but it is not so. They trotted four heats inside of 2:11. But when we take into considerstion the fact that these horses had only been raced once before this season, and the track having always been considered slow, such a performance is far more creditable than if it occurred over a perfect track later in the season.

The last race of the meeting was for pacers of the 2:10 class, purse $500, best 3 in 5. The following horses started: Col. Benton, J. W. Donathan driver; Sophia R., W. Stimson driver; Birdroe, John Baker, driver; Our Boy, C. F. Bunch driver. Our Boy sold favorite.

At the start Col. Benton took the pole and led past the quarter pole, where he broke badly and retired to fourth place. Our Boy, who left the wire in fourth position, took advantage and forged to the front, winning the heat easily by eight lengths. Birdroe was second, Sophia R. third, Col. Benton away behind. Time, 2:14

Our Boy won the second heat easily, taking the lead at the start and finishing three lengths ahead of Sophia R., who was a length ahead of Birdroe. Col. Benton broke repeatedly and was saved from being distanced owing to the fact that distance was waived. Time, 2:14½.

In the third heat Our Boy won without trouble, Sophia R. and Birdroe fighting hard for second place. Coming into the stretch Birdroe got the advantage and finished a length ahead of Sophia R. Time, 2 12¼.

At Harlem Barney Schreiber's Sorrow won at five furlongs in 1:01½, little Woods up. Kamsin was victorious at Kansas City in a six-furlong race. Midian (two-year-old brother to Midlo and Midlight) ran second to Spencer at Saratoga.

THE CHICO RACE MEETING.

Track Record of Twenty Years' Standing Broken by F. W.—Bay Rum and Arthur W. Win.

MONDAY, AUGUST 16.

"Fast? Why, what will be done on this track before the end of the meeting? This must be a short mile. By George, we'll have to knock out some of those other districts down south next year, and give it to Chico. Some of these horses will go a mile in two minutes on this track." Such were the words of horsemen, who know every track in the State, after they saw F. W., W. A. Warren's great pacer, take the first heat of Chico's race meeting in 2:12½, and thus opening up the meeting by breaking the track record which had stood untouched for 20 years. The announcement had hardly been completed when the spectators burst into applause and looked at the painted board on the judges' stand which had for so many years told the story of Goldsmith Maid's great race in 1877, when she trotted in front of a high-wheeled sulky in 2:14¼, says the Chico Record.

Thus opened the what is assured to be the greatest race meeting ever held in Northern California, and if the judgment of horsemen is worth anything the meeting is to be on the fastest track in the State—a track one mile and three feet in length by actual measurement made by a recognized surveyor.

The attendance was not large, but it was all that could be expected for the first day.

The judges of the races were D. E. Knight, A. L. Nichols and L. H. McIntosh, and there was not one criticism of their decisions. Starter Covey came in for praise from all quarters, and he deserves all of it. The spectators praise him, and the horsemen say he is all right. He is all business and no "monkey-business." He is king of the track, rules everyone upon it, whether driver or owner, and rules them with an iron hand.

The heats of different races were sandwiched, so that there was no unnecessary delay.

The first event was the 2:25 class, pacing, purse $400, best three in five. F. W. was a sure winner, and was barred in the pools. Floracita was played favorite for second place at $10 to $6. The fact that no betting could be obtained against him did not interfere with his speed, for getting away four lengths behind, he trailed in fourth position until he struck the stretch, where he overhauled the leaders one at a time, and was in front at the eighth pole. Floracita here came with a great burst of speed and Gordon had to shake up F. W. in order to save his bacon. He won by a head in 2:12¼, reducing his previous mark of 2:13½ made at Marysville. The enthusiasm that greeted the announcement of the record-breaking feat was intense. In the next two heats F. W. sailed out in the lead and had things all his own way, the game and consistent Floracita again being second on each occasion.

The 2:19 trot turned out to be a conundrum that was only solved after six heats had been trotted. Bay Rum was the choice of the wiseacres at $10 against $5 for the field before the first heat,and short-end players were as scarce as buttercups in January.

The closing event developed into a horse race. Pools sold: Arthur W., $10; field, $5. After being in front to the last quarter, Teddy the Roan moved up to him and succeeded in passing the three-year-old in the last sixteenth. Quinn, who was driving Arthur W., made more of an effort in the next heat and was in front of his field by ten lengths on the backstretch. Blue Bells gave chase to the Humboldt product down the stretch and was fast closing on him at the end, Arthur W. being driven out to beat the daughter of San Diego.

The next heat was almost a repetition of the second. Arthur W. stepped the first half in 1:04.

The closing heat was won by the favorite from end to end, and without being pushed.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 17.

It was fortunate for the talent to-day that there was no short-end money in sight, or they would have fallen, to a man, on Iora. After her decisive victory at Oakland and again at Marysville, where she trotted in 2:14, she was regarded as a moral for the 2:24 trot. Accordingly, she was barred from the betting and Hobo sold for $10, Peko $5, and the field for $1. The Humboldt phenomenon could not untrack herself, nd made such a bad break in the first heat that she was distanced. Hobo was also in poor shape, and after the heat had corded up so badly that he required the services of a veterinary, and did not start again. Dollican, who was sold in the field, won the heat with ease and annexed the next two without being extended.

The race of the day was the closing event, which had nine starters, and Dr. Leek carried the bulk of the coin, pools selling Dr. Leek $10, Eureka $5, field $8. The favorite broke near the water tank and Donathan did not drive for the heat, which was won by Eureka, who led all the way.

Eureka was now first choice in the pools, but Leek tickets were in good demand. The heat was hotly contested from the wire. The Doctor and Eureka set a hot clip to the half in 1:06½, and both were on even terms. Leaving the backstretch Eureka broke, and Leek had a six lengths' lead half way down the stretch. Donathan thought he had the heat won, and a broad smile on his face could be seen from the judges' stand. Suddenly Eureka came up with a rush, and, catching Donathan napping, nipped him at the post by a nose, amid great excitement. It was so close that only the judges' verdict determined the winner. Those two stiff heats put a crimp in Eureka, and he was so tired that thereafter he was not a contending factor, Dr. Leek winning the next three with speed to spare.

Pasonte paced a good race and was close up in all but the second heat. In the fifth heat Dennis Gannon was removed from behind Don Marvin for insubordination, Hogoboom being substituted by order of the judges.

The 2:13 pace went to Colonel Benton in straight heats. He was conceded to be the speediest of the quartet, but he has been such a notoriously bad actor that no one wants to risk any coin on him. He was driven by Nash, his owner, to-day, and surprised everybody by never making a skip throughout the race. Plunket was a good second in each heat and Frank L. a fagged-out third.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 18.

Prince Ansel distinguished himself this afternoon and incidentally delighted a large crowd by trotting the fastest mile made by a two-year.old this year in the United States. When he covered the first mile in 2:22½ it was thought that he had made the banner performance of the year, but when he stepped the second heat in 2:20½ there was no question of its superiority. Outside of Ansel the best colt was John A. McKerron, who made his debut to-day. He was separately timed the first heat in 2:24, and will be a better youngster in the next start.

The two-year-old pace had four starters, and it was their maiden attempt. The talent's judgment was right in selecting Diawood to land the money, the pools selling Diawood $10, field $5. The favorite and I Direct had the race all to themselves, the former winning both heats without much difficulty.

The 2:16 trot resulted in a downfall for the talent. They started out right by picking Margaret Worth as the winner of second money, Galette being barred in the betting. Galette won the race in straight heats, the last being made in 2:12½, but her companions mixed up matters considerably in their attempt to gain the second section of the purse. Faro Bank was second in the first heat and Lady O. third, while Margaret was fourth, through making a disastrous break. Then a wild tip got out on Lady O., and she was played by the knowing ones as though the race was over. Lady O. brought $10, field $8, while those who hardly know a horse from a mule religiously picked up Margaret Worth tickets at $2.

The fates were against Lady O., as Margaret Worth and Galette went out in front, and when Perkins tried to take his mare to the front Faro Bank broke,and, swerving across the track, shut off Lady O. When Perkins finally got her going Humboldt Maid crowded the mare into the ditch, and thereafter she refused to trot. Hitherto Margaret has quit after the second heat, but this afternoon she trotted the best mile of her life, forcing out Galette in 2:12½ in the final heat. Perkins and his friends lost heavily on his mare,their coin being gathered in by farmers, merchants and clerks of Chico.

State Senator S. N. Androus has gone East, the object of his trip being to secure if possible the big Eastern crack stables to visit the Coast for the coming fall meets in Southern California He will first stop at Saratoga, N. Y., where racing is now in progress. Then he will go to Sheepshead and all the other noted tracks. He will be back by September 21st. He is President of the Pacific Coast Jockey Club and also a director of the Sixth District Agricultural Association. Should he be successful in his mission, the horses coming will reach Los Angeles by the Santa Fe, racing here first and then in San Francisco.—Los Angeles Record.

Javelin, 2:08¼, is going right on winning in the 2:14 class pace at Fort Wayne, Ind., August 10. She was second to Passing Belle in 2:09¼, beaten a length in 2:08¾ in the second heat, and then won the next three heats in 2:09¼, 2:10¼ and 2:10¼. She is full of Flaxtail blood and the croakers about its softnesss should stop and do a little thinking. In California there were some of Dr. Hicks' horses which were never properly fed or trained for a race that "quit,"but give them a fair show and they are as game as any of the famous families. Welcome, 2:09, the gamest Wilkes that ever was raced west of the Rocky Mountains, had a grandam by Flaxtail.

BUTTE (MONT.) RACES.

Exciting Contests, Lively Betting and Fast Time Made.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 6.

The surprises at the Butte race track were many. Altoka, a horse which had scarcely been considered in the betting, walked away from Chris Petersen and Caryle Carne. I Don't Know surprised the talent by winning again to-day. Fortunate, one of By. Holly's string, won the five-furlong dash from Dif and Joe Cotton. One of the biggest surprises of the day, however, was the performance of Sweet Briar, in the last race. Only a few days ago she sulked so badly that everybody lost confidence in her. She ran well to-day, however, and gathered in the money.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 7.

The Butte track never before presented a more animated appearance than it did this afternoon. By 4 o'clock there were fully 10,000 persons present. The representative people of Silver Bow County crowded the capacious grand stand, and the scene from the infield was a very picturesque one.

The sport was of a high type. Chehalis started off by winning the free-for-all pace in the three fastest heats ever recorded in the Northwest. The black son of Altamont paced the third mile in 2:07½, which is by two seconds the fastest mile ever made by a harness horse in Montana, and is within a quarter of a second of the best mile ever made in a race on any track west of Chicago. It was the sensational 3-year-old pacer Searchlight that drove out Chehalis in the third heat, and the son of Darknight was separately timed in 2:07½, which is beyond a doubt the fastest mile ever paced by any three-year-old living or dead. The fast time made in the free-for-all pace brought forth considerable enthusiasm and Frazier and his great pacer were accorded an ovation at the conclusion of the race. The West Side handicap resulted in a brilliant finish between Senator Bland and imp. Devil's Dream. The son of Inverness beat out the English filly after a desperate drive for the last furlong by a neck. The one and one-eighth miles was run in the good time of 1:55.

Ray Heath, a rank outsider, and selling for $10 in pools of $150, captured the five furlong dash for 2-year-olds. She rushed out in the lead, and although closely pressed throughout by Salmera, won cleverly by a head from the Salvator filly.

MONDAY, AUGUST 9.

The hurdle race was perhaps the most interesting feature of the races to-day, although in all the other events of the day the betting was as lively as it could be. The attendance was larger than it usually is on the first day of the week. There were a number of good contests, notably the one between Vintringa and Cherry Leaf and another between Zeune and Mike Rice. Joe Cotton and Blue Sign were not in it at all to-day.

In the hurdle race Sylvester was favorite at $75, St. Jacob $60, J. O. C. $40 and Mestor and J. M. B. $30. The betting was lively. They got off well bunched, and Sylvester got over the first hurdly. At the third hurdle Mestor dumped his rider. Sylvester was first over the last hurdle, and opened up a lead of two lengths, which he maintained to the finish. St. Jacob and J. O. C. battled for second choice, and it was anybody's place up to the wire, the animals touching noses as they passed by the judges' stand. The judges decided in favor of J. O. C. for place.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 10.

Flashlight and Ostler Joe battled for supremacy again on the Butte track this afternoon. It was a seven-furlong event, and it proved one of the prettiest finishes yet seen on the Butte track. Shaw, who had the mount on Flashlight, made a great turn, for at the head of the stretch Ostler Joe looked like a winner. Shaw's riding, however, saved the day in the last few strides, and landed Flashlight a winner by half a length. Ostler Joe was a big favorite at $50 to $25 for Flashlight, $10 on Dorah Wood, $7 on Montallade and $5 on Mollie R. There was a long delay at the post, the horses being recalled several times, owing to the bad behavior of Dorah Wood and Mollie R. Dorah Wood set the pace for the first four furlongs, but Ostler Joe rapidly overhauled her and apparently had things all his own way. Coming down the stretch, however, Flashlight under the urging of Shaw forged, ahead and came under the wire a winner by half a length in 1:28.

Anaconda was a red hot favorite in the 2:40 pace. He had an easy victory, winning in two straight heats.

I Don't Know scored another victory yesterday in the five-furlong dash. Bill Howard was made the favorite in this race at $40. Plumeria and I Don't Know bringing $25 each. Lulu Horton had a few backers, while Leora and Omah Wood also found a few takers. Leora ran well for three furlongs, but faltered in the last one. I Don't Know beat Plumeria out at the finish, winning from the latter by a head.

Sallie Goodwin took the maiden race, pools selling as follows: Sallie Goodwin, $35; Tiger Cat, $9; Judge Smith, $10; Helois, $20; Fairchild, $5; Three O., $15; Brown Biddy, $15.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 11.

This was a warm day for the favorites at the race track. Chehalis won the mixed race in three straight heats. Klamath was not in the race at any time, Edith W. taking second place in the first two heats.

Imp. Missioner was a big favorite in the race for two-year-olds, bringing $40 to $15 for Carness, $6 for Highland Ball and the field $6. Highland Ball beat Carness for place.

Cavallo beat Dixie Land by a neck. Cherry Leaf and Fortunate were the favorites in the mile event. Fortunate had the best of it to the stretch when Cherry Leaf cut loose and won handily, Benham beating Fortunate by a head for the place.

Jim Blackburn was the favorite in the four and a half furlong dash, with Susie F. second choice, Pat Morrissey and Tammany had a few admirers. Tammany took the lead at the start, but Steptoe had the edge at the stretch. Susie F. developed her speed at this point and won from Tammany by a neck.

Viking and Hymn were favorites in the five and a half furlongs. Viking and Blue Sign led the bunch to the wire, the former winning easily. Red S. had a cinch in the last race. It was neck and neck between Joe Cotton and Easter Lily for place, but the judges decided in favor of the latter.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 12.

The West Side Racing Association to-day decided to cancel the programme of the races Saturday owing to the fact that Mr. Bryan will be a guest of the people of Anaconda and many Butte people will take advantage of the occasion to hear him at the place. Saturday's card will be run on Monday next.

There were a number of exciting finishes. In the fourth race Oak Leaf, Howard and Lady Hurst came under the wire noses apart. In this race Hymn was left at the post. Oak Leaf was first out, but Howard and Hurst crowded him to the stretch. Oak Leaf won by a nose and Howard was given second place.

Jim Blackburn won the third race in easy fashion by two lengths from Gussie. Mike Rice made an effort to get place money, but the Morehouse mare was too fast for him.

Rattler in a field of five captured the three-furlong event by a nose from Red S.

TURF AND TRACK.

THE SULKY.

Zombro, 2:11¼, 2:12, 2:12!

Von Bokkelen is now training Wayland W.

Pack horses are selling for $300 a head at Dyea, Alaska.

C. J. Hamlin thinks the Village Farm Stable will win $60,000 this year.

Derby Princess, 2:10¼, is showing improving form and will score a win before long.

Mosul, by Sultan, has a mark of 2:09¼, third heat, pretty good time even in these days of speed.

Thos. Keating has commenced working Stam B. again. The horse's recovery was almost miraculous.

Erastus C. and W. Wood, 2:07, of the Salisbury-Griffith stable have been turned out at the Forest City Farm.

Remember the sale of the Shippee horses takes place next Tuesday, in this city. Killip & Co. are the auctioneers.

J. W. Tilden is winning all kinds of money through the Central New York Circuit with Ella T., the gray ghost.

Frank W. Covey will start the trotters and pacers at the State Fair. His work at Marysville could not be excelled.

Who is the best liked man among horsemen and their friends in California? Answer—David E. Knight, of Marysville.

Walter Q. 2:18¾, made at Butte, last week, is the first performer for Del Norte, 2:08, which gives Altamont another producing son.

Del Norte, 2:08, is at the Salem track. He is the John R. Gentry of Oregon, and is training to beat his record at the coming State Fair.

H. A. Hunter, of Antioch, has the grandly-bred Hermes horse Reverisco, and has a number of colts and fillies by him that are very creditable.

Hobo that got a record of 2:14½, at Marysville, is by L. A. McIntosh's Guy Wilkes stallion Arthur Wilkes, 2:28. He is a very smooth going trotter.

Tuna, by Ethan Allen Jr., W. S. Hobart's good mare won a fine race at Columbus, O. the last three heats being trotted by her in 2:12¼, 2:13¼ and 2:16.

Jaspine, 2:14¾, is by Iris (san of Eros) out of a mare by Bay Rose, 2:20½, second dam the dam of Jasper Ayres, who will get a mark of 2:10 this winter.

We are informed that Silkwood was never better in his life than at present. Under his new trainer's care he is moving well and improving every day.

Wow, the La Siesta trotting pony, has been transferred into a sidewheeler. He was given his first lesson at the latest gait by Ed Lafferty one day last week.

The steamer Elder has returned from Dyea and reports a smooth voyage for both passengers and live stock. Those having horses were offered $600 a piece for them.

There will be an immense gathering at Willows, next week during the races, for the harvest is ended and hundreds of harvest hands are waiting for the race meeting to begin.

There is a pacer, by Knight, 2:22, at Sacramento, that is destined to be among the 2:05 performers. She is out of the old pacing mare Pocahontas that Vet Tryon won so many races with.

Jimmy Dstin, owing to bad health, will probably withdraw from the Winship Stable, and John Dickerson takes his place. In fact, Dickerson was already been driving for the stable.

Allie Cresco had only been up from pasture two weeks when she raced on the opening day of the circuit. In the first heat she led to opposite the paddock, where lack of condition began to tell.

The Abbott, 2:11¾, holds two championship records, viz.: the fastest four-year-old gelding, the fastest new performer, and divides with Ottinger the honors of the fastest mile by a gelding for 1897.

Foreigners continue to pay good prices for trotting stallions. It is announced that the black stallion, Tom Medium, 2:16½, by Riley Medium, 2:10½, has just been sold to Vienna parties for $5,000.

Waukeen, by Sphinx, won her maiden race at Jackson, Mich., August 5th, getting a mark of 2:24½, in the second heat. Abscota, 2:30, by the same sire cut off three quarters of a second in his race at the same place.

Bet Madison, 2:30, was examined by the veterinarian, Dr. Stimpson, at the Oakland Track, and pronounced unable to stand work. She was accordingly shipped home to Los Angeles in the same car with McKinney, 2:11¼, and El Diablo, by Diablo.

At the Marysville meeting there were nineteen heats paced, the average being 2:16 2 5, and thirty-seven heats trottedthe average, 2:18½. A most wonderful showing as the track is of a peculiar shape, has heretofore been considered slow and is three feet over a mile.

She, 2:14¾, is by Abbottsford, out of a mare by Woodwards's Ethan Allen (brother to Daniel Lambert); second dam by Ethan Allen. This pedigree is vouched for by Dr. H. Latham, of this city.

Dorsey's Nephew is by Nephew, out of a mare by a son of Jack Hawkins; second dam by Lummox (Oregon Charley); third dam a fast pacing mare. Dorsey's Nephew is the sire of Ottinger, 2:11, and F. W., 2:12½.

Albert W., 2.20, died at Rancho del Paso, last winter, but the news of his death was not made known outside of the farm before. This splendid son of Electioneer became ruptured and it was deemed advisable to perform an operation. He only lived a short time after.

Tom Keating, who, while a member of the firm of Winship & Keating, stood at the head of winning stables on the Pacific Coast, has a good chance of leading all winners in the far West this year, while Winship has a string of losers in the Grand Circuit. Keating won the most money at the Anaconda meeting, his string having earned $4,545.

At Willows, where the race meeting will commence next Monday, the principal hotel there, known as the Crawford House, is owned by F. G. Crawford, an old time trotting horse trainer and driver. He is a sterling good boniface and no doubt his place will be well filled during the meeting.

The meeting at Marysville closed with three rousing cheers for the management. A happier lot of horsemen or a more enthusiastic audience never left a race track than was noticed last Saturday. The races were well contested, wonderful time was made and the management was a credit to California.

Marcus Daly, of Montana, has shipped his three-year-old trotting filly, China Silk, 2:15½, and the colt Limerick, both by Prodigal, to Goshen. They will be trained at that track until August 26th, when they will take part in the Daly-Hariman sweepstakes of $15,000. The youngsters are in charge of Ben Kenney, who handled Nancy Hanks for some time.

The Woodland directors met Saturday evening to consider the bids offered for the different privileges at the Fair Grounds, with the following result: Exclusive betting privileges, Joseph S. Harlan, San Francisco; bar, Otto Schluer; ice cream and candy, H. Siebe; programmes, Marshall Lee. The bids for the other privileges were rejected and will be considered at a later date.—Woodland Mail.

The Sonoma and Marin Agricultural Fair grounds were a short time ago under foreclosure of mortgage. The indebtedness was something over $11,000. All that is left to the association is the equity of redemption, and this will soon expire. The stockholders held a meeting last Saturday and decided to sell the property. Fred A. Wickersham, President of the Wickersham Banking Co., was given an option at $12,000. At this price the dividend to the stockholders will be light.

C. W. Welby received a fine yearling stallion last Saturday from the Haggin ranch, near Sacramento. The animal is a handsome bay without a mark except that his two hind feet are white. He is of fine, strong form and Mr. Welby has named him Klondike. He is by Bay Bird, he by Jay Bird, he by George Wilkes. His dam is by Algona, second dam Mabel, full sister to beautiful Bells. The colt's sire belonged to the Larrabee Bros., of Deer Lodge, Montana, but was sold to J. B. Haggin.

There is at Readville Park, Boston, Mass., in the stable of A. J. Hawes, of Johnstown, Pa., the midget pacer, Daisy Wilson, probably the smallest pacer that has ever been campaigned. Daisy is only 55½ inches in height and weighs 720 pounds. For her dimensions she is a solid little miss and beautifully proportioned. She is now seven years old and has a record of 2:12½, made at Louisville, October 2, 1896, defeating a field of thirteen pacers. The time of her winning heats was 2:12¼, 2:12¼, 2:12½.

The stallion Dudley 2:13, was badly doped with morphine in his race at Oakland, which accounted for his being distanced. Dr. Stimpson was called to attend him and it required the most skillful attention to pull him through, as the horse nearly collapsed from the effect of the deadly drug. The Dr. said it was a miracle that he did not fall dead on the track. Knox, the driver, said he had all he could do to steady him in. It was four days before he was able to be sent home, so it is doubtful if he is seen on the circuit again before the Woodland meeting.

Although several of the stables which have been training at the Salinas race track this season have departed to meet their engagements on the grand circuit, enough good horses remain to make an interesting exhibition of speed almost any morning. A very pretty heat was witnessed yesterday with J. B. Iverson's two-year old Dictatus pacing filly and the fast trotter Uncle Johnnie, as performers. L. P. Brown's two-year-old trotter Lu B. did a fast quarter, and Dwain gave Laura H. a little fast work. Sim Harris was showing some fast spurts with the pacing stallion Guidon.

There is a gray mare at Rancho del Paso called Grayling, she is by The Moor out of Gray Dale (dam of Longworth, 2:19), by Hollenbeck's American Boy Jr. This mare has been bred to Albert W., Algona, Echo and Knight, and every one of her foals have been gray in color. Bay Bird, the son of Jay Bird, the roan son of Geo. Wilkes, was bred to her and her four gray daughters, and every one of the produce is bay in color. Bred to white mares he produces bays and a finer lot of handsome colts and fillies would be difficult to find on any farm outside of those sired by him on the Rancho del Paso.

The racing stable of Charles Griffith, of California, was attached at Columbus, O., on Aug. 6. It includes Directly, Flying Jib, Savelin, Boodle, Rect, Jib, Albert, Miss Margaret and Rectina. John Kelly, the well-known driver, under whose reins most of the horses have made a mark, is plaintiff. He claims that he made a contract last April to work for Griffith under the direction of Monroe Salisbury for six months at $150 per month and expenses. Without any reason Griffith has summarily discharged him. Kelly sues for $900 damages. Javelin won $1,500 in Thursday's races at Columbus and the racing association is made a party defendant so as to hold this.

In this city the price of hay has more than doubled within the past few days, the price demanded being from $11.50 to $16 a ton, and farmers are holding their crops with the expectation that the price will advance beyond the $20 mark. Livery stable keepers have advanced the rates for boarding horses and will not contract to board them during the winter unless they have the privilege of advancing rates if the price of hay advances further. The hay crop in California has been light and this is the principal reason assigned for the advance in prices, though there is much of last year's crop unsold. The consumption of hay in this city amounts to over 150,000 tons annually.

Mr. C. X. Larrabee informs us that he has received word from his Brook Nook Farm in Montana that Commodore Belmont died there the first of the month after a game struggle with death for three days. Commodore Belmont was bred by Benj. M. Gratz, Spring Station, Ky., foaled in 1872, sired by Belmont 64, out of Miss Gratz, by Commodore; second dam by Blackburn's Whip. He was a horse of great individuality, substance, quality and the highest type of beauty. He is the sire of six trotters in the list and the sire of the dams of thirteen in the list, including Fellfare, 2:10¾, Iago, 2:11, and Monterey, 2:13¾. He was a great broodmare sire and a great loss to Mr. Larrabee and the breeding public.

One of the best known drivers in California is Walter Maben. In an interview last week regarding sulkies, he said: "I purchased this Toomey sulky model, of 1897, from J. O'Kane and I am in love with it. I have ridden in sulkies of every make but this is the strongest, lightest, safest and nicest balanced one I ever used. If I could not get another I would not part with it for any money. I know this sulky is perfection." An endorsement like this should be worth something to the sulky manufacturers of Dover, Ohio, who are not afraid to manufacture a good article for a good price and advertise it. We understand the local agent here has sent for two large consignments during the past month.

Star Pointer weighs, in condition, 1,250 pounds. He wears such light shoes that he has to be shod after every workout. His feet are so delicate that bags have to be placed on the floor for him to stand on when his shoes are removed. It takes six hours to make, fit and put on a set of shoes. When Star Pointer first began to work in the early spring he wore 5½ ounce steel shoes on his hind feet. The weight was gradually reduced until is was brought down to four ounces. The last were made of aluminum. Upon them was riveted a steel grab toe and across the heel a steel bar to prevent the shoe from spreading. On his front feet he wears seven-ounce shoes. Between the shoes and the feet are placed soft white leather, as elastic as rubber and about one-sixth of an inch thick.

At the Fort Erie track, Buffalo, August 14, Star Pointer paced a mile in 2:01¾, breaking his record, 2:02½. Star Pointer first came on at 4:30 and was given a warming-up mile, which was made in 2:04¾. At 6 o'clock the great pacer again made his appearance, accompanied by a runner. On the second break McClary nodded for the word and the record-breaking trial began. The quarter was reached in 0:32½, and the half in 1:01½. Then the runner moved up a bit and Pointer let out a link. The time at three-quarters was 1:31 and down the stretch the pair flew. McClary sat as quiet as a mouse, while his horse continued to increase its speed every second. When the announcement was made that the mile had been covered in 2:01¾ the spectators broke forth in repeated cheers both for horse and driver.

Van B. DeLashmutt is to bring the cream of his blooded horse stud from Witch Hazel Farm, near Portland, and will establish training and breeding quarters at a point south of Spokane and within easy access, says the Spokane Review. Sixty horses in all will be shipped here, headed by Mambrino, sire of six 2:20 trotters, a record not approached by any other stallion on the Pacific coast. Fancy broodmares and young fillies will be among the rest of the stock. They include Kitty Lynch, an old-time race mare, with a record of 2:26½; Althene, 2:26¾; Lady Beach, 2:26½; Nautilla Jr., 2:30, mother of Vanquish, with a record of 2:19 as a three-year-old; Almonette, 2:29½, dam of Nettie Ham, 2:19½; Mattie, dam of Stanwix, with a record of 2:21½; Lady Gray, dam of Caryle Carne, 2:15½; also a number of others of lesser speed. The stud will be permanently established here, as Mr. DeLashmutt believes this is a good place for fast horses.

A. C. Dietz, of the Ferndale Ranch, writes: "I claim the name, Mahomet, for a colt foaled June 23, 1897, first dam, Sonoma Girl; second dam by Whipple's Hambletonian. Sonoma Girl's sire was said to be an Arabian horse, owned in Napa City. The sire of Mahomet is Longworth, by Sidney. He is now about six weeks old and I have had an offer of $500 for him and refused. I have been endeavoring for ten years to breed an off-colored colt from a standard trotting or pacing sire, and this it the first time I have succeeded. He is most beautifully formed and in color pure white, with the exception of bay ears and a cap over head; bay spots running along back to rump; white mane and tail, and a natural pacer. His dam is similarly marked and a pacer; Longworth and Sidney are pacers also. This colt is a natural pacer and can at present time show a four-minute gait. Should he live he will establish a family of a new style of pacers and trotters."

The Chicago Horseman has quite an article on in-breeding, and gives some examples where thoroughbreds have been inbred, but I question very much if you will find a stronger in-bred fellow than a yearling bred by E. Knell, says Clement in "Colman's Rural World." He is by Nutgregor, 2:29¾, dam Maud, dam of Nutgregor and Miss Delmarch, 2:23½. Maud is by Ben McGregor, by Robert McGregor, whose dam is by Romulus, son of Hambletonian. Maud's dam is Maggie McGregor, by Robert McGregor; she is the dam of Algregor, 2:11, and W. W. Foote, 2:15½, and others that have shown their ability to enter the 2:20 list. Maggie McGregor is at the Oakwood Park Stock Farm, California. Maud was first bred to Delmarch and produced Miss Delmarch, 2:23½, then was bred to Preceptor, son of Nutwood, and produced Nutgregor, 2:29¾, then to Shadeland and Onward, and produced E. K., a very fast colt that has never been started, then to her own son, and has a yearling colt by him; then to a pacer out of Miss Wilson, by Blue Bull, dam of Jim Wilson, 2:24, and she is now in foal to her sire, Ben McGregor.

THE SADDLE.

CONCORD, a good winner this season at the far East, is an own brother to Ed Corrigan's long-distance horse, G. B. Morris.

BUCKWA, a 1 to 3 favorite, ridden by Clawson, was beaten by Sun Up on the 13th inst. at Brighton Beach, these being the only starters.

CHARLEY SANDERS' Algerine gelding, Ransom, won at St. Louis August 12th, and Basquil was second. The distance was a mile and a furlong.

SENATOR BLAND last Monday at Butte won the Silver Handicap, $1,500, running the mile and three furlongs in 2:23¼. He carried 120 lbs.

FIRST BORN, Barney Schreiber's highly-prized Morello—Pennyroyal filly, ran second again on the 13th inst., this time to J. Cochran's Bonnie Ione.

LAWYER "ABE" HUMMELL is authority for the statement that Mrs. Langtry bettered her bank account by $100,000 through winning the Liverpool Cup.

TENT PIN is the name of a good winner by the crack Tournament from Dart Maiden. She is owned by J. R. Keene and "Skeets" Martin rides her.

LITTLE MINCH is turning out a good sire. At Harlem, August 12th, the first and second races were won by Little Ocean and Globe II., sons of the Glenelg horse.

AT Harlem, August 12th, little Woods, the California lad, rode Byron McClelland and Botanic to victory, their prices being 4 to 5 and 6 to 1. He had but three mounts.

HAMBURG won the Rising Generation stakes at Brighton Beach last Tuesday, and in a gallop by three lengths. The great colt carried 127 lbs. and was ridden by Sims.

IMP. CHERRY PICKER, by Kilwarlin (sire of Ogden), won the Speculative Stakes $2,000 guaranteed, at Brighton Beach on August 13th, beating Nosey and other fair ones.

SIDNEY BENDER is a pretty good three-year-old. August 6th, at Windsor, he ran five-furlong heats in 1:01¾, 1:02, and won it very easily, too. He was by Leonatus—Jennie A.

PAT DUNNE'S bay colt, Green Jacket, by imp. Whistle Jacket—Zuhlan, won a six-furlong race at Saratoga on the 13th inst. Bernardillo won for Baldwin on the same date.

The gray filly Reel, ridden by Stevens, won a six-furlong race at St. Louis on Tuesday. Montgomery and Earl Cochran ran third in races at six and eight furlongs respectively.

PHŒBUS, winner of a two-mile steeplechase at Saratoga, August 11th, is by the California bred horse, Argyle, from imp. Phœbe Marks, a mare bought by Capt. T. B. Merry for L. J. Rose.

A MEDDLER colt that won at Brighton Beach August 10th, is named Squire Abingdon. It was Squire Abingdon that owned Meddler, who was a crack racer, up to the time of his (Abingdon's) death.

MARY BLACK, by imp. Islington-Songstress, and owned by Eastin & Larabie, won a five furlong race for two-year-olds at Saratoga on the 13th inst., beating another Californian, La Ventura, a head.

W. B. SANBORN and a force of men are building a half-mile training track at Windsor, near Santa Rosa. Sanborn is a well known turfman who raced Inkerman, Mamie C. and others with considerable success.

MICHAEL III, giving weight to everything in the race, won a six-furlong handicap at Brighton Beach August 13th, time 1:15. Green Morris' Lobengula ran second to Campania at a mile, run in 1:41½, on the same date.

THE starting gate is being given a trial in England by trainers, who have been teaching their charges to break away from it. About the quickest breaker was an American-bred filly brought over by Enoch Wishard.

B. C. HOLLY, the old Flosden turfman, sent two winners to the post at Butte, Mont., last Tuesday in Cavallo and Fortunate. Other winners were Argoreat, Molly Nurse, Highland Ball, Sallie Goodwin and Sinner.

CLAUDE BURLINGAME, the clever rider, has returned to Pleasanton after a sojourn of several weeks in Sonoma. He will probably take up and train a number of gallopers he had turned out near that well-known "horse town," Pleasanton.

CZAROWITZ, by the dead Martenhurst from Mabel F., won a seven-furlong dash in 1:27½ at Newport, Ky., August 9th, he running the first six furlongs in 1:14 flat. Osmon, by imp. Order—Virginia B., won the same day at seven furlongs; time 1:28¾.

SALLIE CLICQUOT, at 20 to 1, won a mile race for Green Morris at Brighton Beach last Tuesday, defeating Belmar, Tom Cromwell and two others and running the distance in 1:40½. Rey del Tierra, trained by W. M. Murry, was victorious the same day at a mile and a sixteenth, run in 1:47¾. Both carried 100 lbs.

BROWN RED (formerly Red Cloud) beat Baby Bill four lengths at Brighton Beach August 11th in a mile and three-quarter handle race. However, Bill was giving the Red Iron horse seventeen pounds. The King Bros., of Woodland, own Baby Bill.

GLORIAN, a brown two-year-old colt by imp. Sir Modred from Glorianne, and owned by Marcus Daly, won at Saratoga, August 9th, defeating the 1 to 3 shot, Handball, and Nabob. The favorite finished last, but there was less than a length separating him from the winner.

SOME big "killings" were made at Saratoga on the 12th of August. On that date State Senator McCarren wagered $10,000 on Blew Away, which won at odds of 12 to 1. Riley Grannan and Henry Harris are credited with winning $26,000 on one race on the day previous.

HORSEMEN will please observe the change in the Fresno dates from the 12th to the 15th of October, to the 5th and 9th inclusive. Entries close Sept 15th. Those taking horses to Los Angeles can stop over at Fresno, arrangements to that effect having been made by Secretary Rockman.

A FRESH draft from the noble establishment of that noble turfman, Marcus Daly, is in the East. There are six two-year-olds in the band. They are Tammany Hall II., Shalback, Open Door, Close the Door, Amazonian and Grand Sachem. Most of the half dozen have won in Montana.

THE Chicago Racing Form calls little Johnny Woods "a riding jewel." This was the day after the honest and clever featherweight had ridden Greyhurst and Sorrow to victory and finished second on Ursula. Barney Schreiber recently wrote us that he was greatly pleased with the little Californian.

WALTER J., the well-known thoroughbred, was to-day sold at a Sheriff's sale upon an execution against Hennessy and McDermott. He was bought by G. Harrison of this city for $328.26, the amount of the judgment.—Stockton Mail, Aug. 13. The report that Tommy Murphy had secured the colt must have been incorrect, then.

CLIFFORD and Hastings (with 122 lbs apiece on their backs) ran a dead heat at Saratoga last Saturday for the Kearney Stakes, six furlongs. Willie Martin rode three winners and one of the dead-heaters (Clifford). Martin is riding on probation, and if he keeps on with his good work will probably be granted a permanent license.

COUSIN JEEMS, a twelve-year-old horse, won a seven-furlong race at Detroit on the 13th inst., time 1:28½. "Pop" Weaver used to ride the old son of Ten Broeck. Geyser ran a mile in 1:40¾ the same day that Cousin Jeems won, making such a good one as Timemaker look very cheap. The California colt was as good as 2½ to 1 in the books.

THE date for the holding of the Fresno Fair Association meeting has been changed from Oct. 12th to 16th to Oct. 5th to 9th inclusive, so as not to conflict with Los Angeles. Secretary L. Rockman has made arrangements with the S. P. R. R. so that horsemen, in getting transportation to Los Angeles, will be enabled to stop over in Fresno. Entries to the Fresno races close Sept. 15th.

FOUR more speedy racers have arrived in this city and are quartered at the track. They are runners and are owned by Thomas Hazlett and Chas. V. Tupper, two men well known on the turf. The horses of the stable are Louise Hooker, a promising two-year-old, who was formerly the property of Harry Smith of this city; El Puerta of the same age, and two other well-bred colts, who have not, as yet, been honored with a title.—Woodland Mail.

THE BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN desires to compliment the State Agricultural Society directors for their action in abolishing book-making at the State Fair meeting and substituting auction pools and Paris mutuals. We have fought hard for this very thing, and now if the buyer of the privilege will sell every horse out in running races, straight and place, and throw the safeguards around the betting that we have proposed, permanent popularity is sure to follow.

THE early and continuous racing of colts is giving us a very heavy crop of cripples. There is hardly a four-year-old on the track that is perfectly sound. They either have a leg or a bad foot or some internal trouble, generally of the heart, and drop dead when being pushed hard. Such animals, if they live to go into the breeding stud, can never have sound progeny. Two-year-old racing should be done away with. The great two-year-olds are the has-beens of the next season.—Denver Field and Farm.

WHILE at Baker City recently B. F. Hogue, who loves a good race horse, purchased an animal which he thinks will prove a "crackajack" with proper training. He is Red Bird, six years old, sired by Chesapeake. Red Bird's best mile was only 1:44, but it is thought that with good handling he can hold a place among the speediest. It is the intention of Mr. Hogue to take him to San Francisco this fall for the Bay District (?) meeting, if a plan on foot can be arranged to make up a community stable with a number of horsemen in this section.—Pendleton East Oregonian.

A ST. LOUIS paper states that "Barney Schrieber is $10,000 loser. He won $10,000 in his book, but lost $20,000 playing on the outside. Johnny Coleman is credited with being $3,000 winner. Elie Perles $5,000, Hughey Jones $10,000, and Joe Rose $8,000. Jack Newman, a St. Louis boy, is the biggest plunger at the track. Since the fair ground meeting opened he has won about $40,000." Newman was known as a heavy bettor here last winter and spring, and held his own very well. Elie Perles knows more of the vicissitudes of a speculator's life than any man in the bookmaking or betting business, and has a barrel or two of choice, exceedingly entertaining hard-luck stories continually on tap—after the racing is over. Johnny Coleman and Hughey Jones know what it is to "go to the wall," financially, while good, jolly Barney Schreiber has been successful in running a shoestring into a tannery. However, he knows what it is to lose $5,000 or more in a day, so that $10,000 is a mere bagatelle that he can recover in a few days, if lucky. Joe Rose & Co. quit $70,000 winner here last season, it is claimed, but Joe's many friends here will be glad to hear that Dame Fortune still bestows her sunny smiles upon him. Later—An evening paper states that Schreiber is in such a bad way financially that he has been forced to mortgage his grand stock farm.

ANYONE desiring to purchase a very fast pony (14 hands in height), a runner bred in the most fashionable lines, sound as a dollar, a grand weight-carrier and of admirable disposition, can secure such a one for $225. For further particulars, apply at this office. It is a rare bargain. The attention of Burlingame, San Rafael and Santa Monica club men is especially called to this notice.

THE remains of Domino, the "Black Whirlwind," were laid to rest at Havilla, Fayette county, Kentucky, recently. The celebrity's grave was dug by the side of his renowned grandam, Hira, the mother of Himyar, Domino's sire. Major Foxhall A. Dangerfield, Superintendent of Castleton, Major Thomas and about forty employees of the Messrs. Keene attended the game thoroughbred to his last resting place. The slab which will cover the grave will be six feet wide, ten feet long and ten inches thick, bearing this inscription: "Here lies the fleetest runner the American turf has ever seen and one of the gamest and most generous of horses ever seen."

MIKE DWYER has been meeting with severe financial reverses of late. At Saratoga last week the well-known turfman hadn't enough ready money to meet all his obligations. His losses are variously estimated at from $60,000 to $100,000. He met with a long series of misfortunes at the Saratoga track last week, and when he plunged in an endeavor to recoup he got even deeper in the mire. He backed Crackette heavily to win, when the horse was left at the post; he put up a lot of money on a jumper that he regarded as invincible, but that proved a loser; others that he picked to win were beaten by scant heads. His run of ill-luck crippled him, and he was compelled to ask for accommodation from the bookmakers.

W. "SAM" LEAKE has taken Charles M. Shortridge's place as manager of the Call, having entire charge of the paper. Mr. Leake is a young man of great executive ability, having made a success of everything he has undertaken, and while he has had no experience as manager of a big daily, it must also be remembered that he was a new hand as a racing secretary, too; yet he made one of the best we have ever seen, quickly mastering the never-ending details of that responsible office. He was pronounced the most thoroughly capable postmaster Sacramento ever boasted of. And so it goes. Though the great daily is a big enterprise to manage, we predict that W. S. Leake will successfully handle it. He deserves success, and we wish him a full measure of it.

AFTER saying "Curly Brown has succeeded very well with the flag, especially when it is borne in mind that he has to deal with a lot of comparatively inexperienced boys," "Broad Church" remarks in the N. Y. Spirit of the Times: "Some little friction and bad feeling was developed after the races on Friday in connection with the closing event that day. Clara Van, trained by Rome Respess, won the race, but as the trainer was not satisfied with the start accorded the filly, he used some sharp language to Starter Brown, which the latter returned in kind. It was only a wordy war, but at one time appeared likely to develop into something more serious. The trainer's kick was entirely out of line, for the start was a pretty equitable one, with Clara Van off in the bunch. The filly is controlled by Sol. Sharp, one of the principal owners of the Newport track, but it is understood that Respess has an interest in Clara. Well, in view of a pronounced kick coming from the source it did, Brown tendered his resignation shortly afterwards, but it was not accepted. To-day, after a hearing being given to all parties interested, the judges exacted a written apology from both Brown and Respess for creating a disturbance on the race track. The officials did this in the interest of discipline and good order, and they are to be commended for the same. Brown had reason to feel aggrieved, however, at the original wordy attack of Respess, albeit a disturbance should have been averted. Mr. Sharp, I am satisfied, does not want to shade the best of it in the starting way, and, even if he did, Brown would not be influenced thereby, for he is no respecter of persons in handling the flag. The judges seem to be very strict and very vigilant, particularly in enforcing good order and the proprieties of life within the race track limits." This speaks pretty well for "Curly" Brown, whom we years ago pronounced about the best flag-wielder in the country. He has forced his way to the front on the other side of the Rockies, putting aside the many obstacles that were thrust in his path. Brown has unquestioned ability as well as more than a fair share of determination.

WOODARD & SHANKLIN, of Lexington, Ky., sold the McClelland estate's and Ruddy Bros.' horses in the Harlem paddock Aug. 14. The twenty-one brought $6,445, an average of $369 each. The Cushing purchases were for James Ruddy, who will race them in the old colors. Here is a list of the sales, buyers and prices: Property of the McClelland Estate—Sirdar, b c, 2, by Order—Miss Saxon, T. Declared for Mutuels and Aution Pools.

At the meeting of the Board of Directors of the State Agricultural Society last Saturday that body declared in favor of Paris mutuels and auction pools. We believe that the benefits will be far-reaching, that is, if the safeguards suggested be thrown about the betting, i. e.: First, the appointment of a capable, determined betting-ring superintendent who commands the utmost respect and whose word will be law in the part of the grounds put in his charge. Second, allow no "scalping" of tickets, no interference by a lot of hired bullies who might be engaged by a pack of wolfish money-grabbers termed "scalpers." Ticket-scalping has disgusted people wherever allowed. Again, in running races at least, tickets should be offered for sale on every horse in a race, straight and place. On heats, trotting or pacing, there could be four choices and a field before the first heat, after that two choices and a field or only the favorite and the field, as the case might call for. There could be a button pressed by the ring superintendent when the horses were at the post, causing the ringing of a "warning bell," then another button pressed when the horses were off. This would ring a bell and at the same time release a light screen, which would come down over the mutuel boxes, thus making the "ringing up" of tickets by any operator utterly impossible. It is asserted by an electrician that this arrangement will be a very easy matter, with but little expense attached. With these few simple matters attended to, Paris mutuel betting would undoubtedly become immensely popular with the speculating public. Why shouldn't it, if complete fairness is assured?

By the way reports from the far East (where the horses appear to be "running to form") are to the effect that "Pittsburg Phil" has put several bookmakers "out of the business" and many more are shortly to follow in their wake. It is pretty well understood that whenever the penciler hasn't "a shade" he is wrecked on the shoals of finance, expenses so depleting his bank-roll that he cannot weather the gale. The Jockey Club officials around New York must be extremely watchful and be feared by those who would do evil, otherwise horses would not be running in a manner so satisfactory to "form students" like "Pittsburg Phil," Eddie Burke, Riley Grannan and others, resulting in wholesale desertions from the pencilers' ranks, some being "stone broke," others afflicted with the worse sort of "buck ague."

While on the subject of judicial alertness it might not be amiss to call attention to the wonderful riding of Willie Martin since The Jockey Club officials have allowed him to pilot horses on probation. It is nothing unusual to read of the cute Canadian putting three or four winners over the plate during an afternoon's racing. Compare his riding at the far East at the present time with his work in the saddle here last season, and it goes far to show what Willie can do when he wants to and what he can do when he might not want to. The BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN called attention many times to the clever pilot's pigskin work here, and while he might pull the wool over the eyes of one or two turf writers, who painted him as an abused angel, he did not succeed in endearing himself to the race-goers of this vicinity to any great extent, and no hats were draped in mourning when he departed for the East or when it was announced that he would not return to the Coast next winter.

The Marysville Meeting.

Following the week after the Breeders' great meeting at Oakland many thought that the wonderful time made over that great track would not be equalled on the course at Marysville, but this is a progressive age and the light harness horse of California is one of the improving kind, for he has shown that the more practice he has the more perfect he becomes, and the meeting which ended at Marysville will never be forgotten in the history of that thriving city.

To David E. Knight, President of the Association, too much praise cannot be bestowed. Whether in the stand or out of it, he has endeared himself to every devotee of the light harness horse of California. A cordial welcome was extended to all, and the way the horsemen strived to win races that would be creditable to them as well as to Marysville can be attributed in a measure to their desire to show the world that nothing they could do would in any way show one-hundreth part of their appreciation of the efforts of this gentleman and his chosen associates.

The races were well contested, as the summaries show. Not a fine was levied nor did an accident occur. Every afternoon's racing was worth witnessing and the cheers which greeted the winners showed that good racing is appreciated in old Yuba county. With a resolve to return to Marysville should another race meeting be given, all horsemen and their friends reluctantly bade good-bye to those who made their visit so pleasantly, and notably the President, Mr. Knight, the Secretary, T. J. Sherwood, and the presiding judges.

UNDER the heading, "A Wise Decision," the Sacramento Record-Union of August 16th says: "The action of the State Board of Agriculture on Saturday in ruling the bookmakers off the track was wise. This year there will be at the track only auction pools and Paris mutuels. This will give great satisfaction to breeders of fine horses, as they have felt that the bookmakers are reducing the race track to a simple gambling proposition, which would in the end ruin their business. Under the pool system the bettors make the odds, instead of the bookmakers. The premiums hung up at the State Fair for races are intended to encourage the breeding of good horses, and the speed contests must be conducted in such a manner as to be above suspicion. The people have little confidence in bookmakers, and there is no question but that their advent upon the track has been a distinct disadvantage to the interests of the breeders. The State Fair this year promises to be the best ever held here. The entry list at the track is the largest ever known, there is every prospect of a fine display of blooded stock, while the pavilion will present a much more attractive appearance and contain a finer display of the products of the State than we have had for many years." As we have for months, yea, years, been advocating the abolition of bookmaking at race meetings, and especially at the State Fair, it is almost unnecessary to state that we are in full accord with the Record-Union in everything it states above and are greatly pleased at the action of the Directors of the State Board of Agriculture in this relation."

LOS ANGELES will have the best race meeting in her history next fall, which is saying a great deal. This will be brought about through liberality. Never has the association offered as much money for gallopers or light harness racers, and those events for the latter which have closed demonstrate that all the races will be filled to overflowing with the best horses on the Pacific Slope. A number of races for trotters and pacers are open, as well as the stakes for runners. Entries will close Monday, September 6th, and when Secretary Lewis Thorne opens all the letters he receives by that date he will find a list of prospective starters unprecedented in the annals of California. There are no less than five stakes for gallopers that will be worth fully $1,000, while seven others will range from $500 to $800. Besides there will be fifteen over-night events for runners, the purses ranging from $300 to $400. The purses for light harness horses now open vary from $400 to $1,200. Read the Los Angeles Association's advertisement in this issue and send your entries without delay to Lewis Thorne, Secretary, 226 S. Spring street, Los Angeles, Cal. He will furnish you with entry blanks.

A HOST of friends of the Coast's cleverest pool-seller, Samuel B. Whitehead, are urging him to return to the ranks, now that his former partner, Jasper N. Killip, has passed away. Although Mr. Whitehead announced his retirement a few weeks ago, the chances are that the clarion-voiced auctioneer will accede to their wishes and again grasp his baton and be heard ere long shouting: "How much for first choice?" Mr. Whitehead sold out his business to the late Mr. Killip, but the latter's death leaves him free to re-enter the circle wherein he spent a lifetime and which he graced by his presence. The gentleman amassed a comfortable fortune during the course of his work and (through his honest dealings and excellent system of carrying on the business) made friends wherever he went. Should he see his way clear to go into business again (we understand he has had several excellent business propositions made to him this week) thousands will grasp his hand and wish him all his old-time success.

THOSE intending to embark upon the good ship, Thoroughbred Breeding, and who desire to sail across the broad waters of the ocean of Pleasure into the beautiful haven, Success, should buy some of the tried-and-not-found-wanting animals to be sold at Morris Park, Oct. 21st, 22d and 23d by The Easton Company. At that time the entire Brookdale Stud, property of the estate of the late Col. Wm. P. Thompson, will be disposed of at auction, Wm. Easton, auctioneer. The Brookdale racers of the Thompson estate will also be sold. August 24th and 25th the Easton Company sell at Sheepshead Bay a number of royally-bred yearlings from some of the most noted breeding establishments of America. During the last week in November The Easton Company will hold a combination sale of stallions, mares, horses in training and yearlings at Lexington, Ky. Send for catalogues to The Easton Company, 1122 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

HUMBOLDT COUNTY people, owing to the successes of Jack W., Iora, Eureka and Arthur W., are greatly enthused over horses and racing, and, beginning Sept. 7th, there will be a meeting at Eureka which bids fair to become a most excellent one. The programme includes a quarter mile and repeat run, two of half-mile heats (running) and a mile and a furlong run, purse $250. There is a 3:00 trot, one for 2:30 class trotters and pacers, a free-for-all for both trotters and pacers, two specials, one for bicyclists against a horse, ladies' bloomer race, races for district horses and several other novelties. Entries close Sept. 4th. See the advertisement in this issue.

THOSE in need of Clydesdale horses or mares grandly bred, fine-looking trotters, either for the road, the race track or for the stock farm, should attend the closing-out sale of horses from the L. U. Shippee farms next Tuesday at Killip & Co.'s salesyard. The stock will arrive Sunday and should attract the attention of all seekers after first-class stock. The late Mr. Shippee was a great student of form, and few better judges of horses ever came to California than he. Be sure and attend this sale. You may never have an opportunity again to get horses as reasonable as you will at this sale.

THE Fresno County Agricultural Fair meeting will take place October 5th to 9th inclusive, instead of from October 12th to 16th, as originally intended. Secretary Rockman has made arrangements with the S. P. R. R. Co., so that horsemen intending to go to Los Angeles can stop off at Fresno and have their horses take part in that meeting, ample time being allowed for making the trip to the City of Angels and having a rest-up. Read the advertisement in this issue and send in your entries at once.

GREAT preparations are being made for the horsemen at Willows next week. Mr. Crawford lessee of the Crawford House, is confident that there will be faster time made on this course than on any other in California. The fact that large crops of grain have been harvested in the vicinity of Willows and that hundreds of people have been actively engaged in the harvest fields all summer are now taking it easy insures a splendid attendance and the success of the meeting.

THE Santa Ana speed programme is printed in this issue in the shape of an advertisement, and the purses are good enough to attract all of our light-harness horses and not a few of the gallopers. Entries close September 4th. Send for entry blanks, containing conditions, to Charles A. Riggs, Secretary, Santa Ana, Cal.

The Chico races have been fully up to the standard. The citizens and all true friends of the light harness horse have responded liberally to the notices issued regarding this meeting, and the attendance has been increasing every day. Several of our writers have gone t all will have their reports ready for the next issue.

Read the advertisement of the Santa Clara Agricultural Society in this issue. The 2:24 class trot and three-year-old pace have been declared off and several races added to the programme, entries which close Sept. 6th. Bids for the various privileges are now open too.

Prince Ansel, by Dexter Prince, out of Woodflower, by Ansel (son of Electioneer), is the fastest two-year-old colt, 2:20½, and Janie T., by Bow Bells (son of Electioneer), out of Monon, is the fastest two-year-old trotting filly of the year, 2:25¼.

Klamath will be here in time to meet all free-for-all trotters at Stockton and also at all meetings to follow on the California Circuit.

Bids for privileges at State Fair must be at Secretary Edwin F. Smith's office, Sacramento, next Monday afternoon at three o'clock.

Entry blanks for the Los Angeles meeting may be obtained at the office of the Breeder and Sportsman.

We desire to call attention to the closing of entries for the fast classes, State Fair. See advertisement.

The State Fair exhibit, both at the track and pavilion, this year will surpass any heretofore held there.

GLENBROOK PARK RACES.

Excellent Sport Witnessed by Good-Sized Assemblages.

Grass Valley, August 16.—This was the opening day of the race meet at Glenbrook Park. Ladies were admitted free and a goodly number availed themselves of the privilege. For the first time in the history of Nevada county there were some ninety horses entered at the track, which was in excellent condition, with the exception of the rise of several feet in the homestretch, which considerably bothered the youngsters. The weather was all that could be desired and although no records were broken it was a very successful first day's meet. Next Wednesday it is expected will be the gala day, when the miners in and around Grass Valley will turn out en masse. Summaries:

One mile selling—S. F. Capps' Rapido (McNichols) won, Dr. Ruggles' Nevere (Narvaez) second, Defender (Watson) third. Time, 1:44½.

Ladies' purse, two-year-olds, five-eighths of a mile—Dr. Ruggles' Glen Ann (McNichols) won, Magnus (Powell) second, Miss Remsen (Macklin) third. Time, 1:03½.

Holbrook Hotel purse, three-quarters of a mile, selling—C. W. Richards' Emma D. (Snider) won, Two Cheers (McNichols) second, Roadwarmer (Narvaez) third. Time, 1:15½.

Union Livery Stable purse, half-mile heats—B. F. Hobart's Durango (Hobart) won; Jessie O. (Powell) second.

Narvaez was disbarred for pulling Nevere in the first race, but rode the favorite again in the third race.

Grass Valley, Aug. 17.—There was a good attendance at the races to-day, and betting on the different events was quite spirited. To-morrow the Miners' Union of this place and Nevada City hold a joint picnic at the park, in conjunction with the races, and there promises to be a very large crowd present, as all business places will close and mines shut down, making a general holiday. Summary:

Four and one-half furlongs—Juan del Rio won, Magnus second, Castake third. Time, 0:57.

Six furlongs—Grady won, Bueno second, San Tuzza, third. Time, 1:15½.

Five and one-half furlongs—Free Will won, Cardwell second, La France third. Time, 1:09½.

Grass Valley, Cal., August 18.—To-day's attendance at the races at Glenbrook was larger than usual. This was due in part to the fact that the miner's unions of Nevada City and Grass Valley held a picnic there. The speed programme was an interesting one, consisting of five running races, all of which had from five to eight starters. The betting was lively.

Three quarters of a mile—Cheridah won, The Gossip second, Modestia third. Time—1:16¾.

Five and a half furlongs—Decision won, Senator Mahoney second, McFarlane third. Time—1:09.

In the one-mile dash William O'B came in first, San Tuzza second, Bueno third. Time—1:43½.

Five and half furlongs—Elmer F. won, Woodchopper second, Don Gara third. Time—1:10½.

Captain W. H. Shafer, one the best known racing men of the South, committed suicide by shooting himself through the left temple in his room in the Trousdale House early this morning. No cause is known. He was wealthy and seemingly happily situated in all his relations. He is worth in the neighborhood of $150,000.—Gallatin (Tenn.) dispatch, Aug. 14.

"Pittsburg Phil" to the Front.

New York, August 16.—George E. Smith "Pittsburg Phil" is credited, up to to-day, with having won $300,000 this season. To-dav he went down the line. In the first race at Brighton he fixed his affections on an outsider, Alarum, and against him got 10 to 1 straight and 4 to 1 a place. Alarum was beaten a nose in a whirlwind finish, but the 4 to 1 was landed.

After that it was all plain selling. The astute plunger saw everything clear before him. Fonsavannah opened at 8 to 1 and went to the post at 4 to 1. Tripping, a three-year-old filly that "Phil's" brother, Bill Smith, trains for James R. Reene, opened at 4 to 1 and the late market showed her at 5 to 1. Of this Phil took advantage. Then came the fast filly Sunny Slope, and against her in the Sea Gull handicap the price was shorter, but to a man who can bet tens of thousands, even money, the opening price, or even 4 to 5, at which figure Sunny Slope closed, is a good price. The last of the volley of good things with which the ring was assaulted was Isabey. Isabey opened at 6 to 1 and closed at 5 to 1. This was Pittsburg Phil's last winner of the day, but what a day it was!

The comparative cornering of the turf market by men such as "Pittsburg Phil," and the increase of knowledge on the part of the public have wrought dire destruction among men who make a business laying odds. Many of them, including such an old-timer as Ike Thompson, are said to be "broke," and others who still have capital are talking seriously of retiring before it is too late.

Cannot Do Without It.

Mr. H. H. Clork of Fredonia, N. Y. writes: "The bottle of Quinn's Ointment I purchased from you about two years ago removed a curb and thoroughpin end did it for good. My horses leg is as good as ever." For curbs, splints, spavins, windpuffs and all bunches, Quinn's Ointment has no equal. For sale by druggists and dealers or sent by mail or express on receipt of prices. Regular size $1 50, smaller size 50 cents. Address W. B. Eddy & Co., Whitehall, N. Y.

HOOF-BEATS.

Fantasia, by Ranchero, has a record of 2:19¼, earned at Butte last week.

Imogene, by Norval, won a race for the 2:50 class trotters at Jackson, Mich., August 6th in 2:26¼, 2:25¼ and 2:26.

Strathmont, by Strathway, 2:19, lowered his record to 2:13½ at Butte. When he strikes F. W. at Woodland there will be a horse race.

Creeping Flower, by Piedmont, out of Floweret, by Electioneer, second dam, Mayflower, lowered her record of 2:30½ to 2:22½ at the Columbus meeting.

Pittsburg Phil made another big winning last Wednesday at Brighton Beach when Salabar beat a good field at five five furlongs. "Phil" backed the brown son of Salvaror from 6 down to 2 to 1. Several of the bookies were hard-hit.

Imp. Disparity, a black mare brought from Australia and trained by Dan Halliday (who formerly handled the crack, Stromboli), died recently at Oakland track. She was by Frying Pan out of Contessa, by Vagabond; second dam Countess, by Warlock; third dam Duchess, by Young Gustavus, etc.

The grand Pirate of Penzance–Harebell colt, McIvor, property of J. D. Smith, died of catarrhal fever, at Oakley on the 11th of August. His last start was in the Diamond stakes, which he won in a desperate drive in 1:15 with 118 lbs up. His record was: 10 starts, 6 wins, 3 seconds, once unplaced (his first start.)

Eddie Jones was expected to arrive at Oakland fro St. Louis last night. The one time idol of our race-goers is still under the ban, we believe, and it is really a sad thing to see a good rider like little Jones in such a plight. What his chances of being reinstated are we cannot say. These are probably not very rosy, or the boy would not be coming home.

Thursday Notes.—Geyser ran second to Simon W. for the Street Railway Stakes, six furlongs, at Detroit last Thursday. Don Fulano won at the same distance. The track was heavy. Presbyterian, by imp. Prestonpans, captured a five-furlong race in 1:01¾ at Harlem. Good Times beat Ulysses and others at Saratoga, distance of the race one mile and a sixteenth. Addie Buchanan was victorious at St. Louis in a six-furlong dash. The Cheat landed first in a five-furlong race at Kansas City and Kamsin ran second to Lulu Fry. The winners at Butte were Searchlight, Ida Sultan, Omah Wood, 'Ostler Joe, Fortunate, Zeune and March.

James B. Iverson shipped his stable of trotters to Sacramento yesterday, in charge of his trainer, Vet Kent. There are only three animals in the stable, but it is an aggregation of good ones, and consists of the four-year-old Prince Gift, 3-year-old record 2:20; Dictatress, a two-year-old pacing filly by Dictatus—Salinas Belle, as fast as a bullet; and the two-year old Benton Boy Trotting gelding Uncle Johnny, the property of George E. Shaw, of Hollister. Uncle Johnny is a level headed horse, with plenty of speed, and will make a great campaigner. Mr. Iverson did not propose to take any chances of crowding, and so took a whole car for the three animals and the outfit of sulkies and other racing paraphernalia. Under Mr. Kent's careful handling and conditioning we feel sure the stable will give a good account of itself.—Salinas Daily Journal, Aug. 19.

The Chicago Tournament.

The open to all tournoment of the Chicago Fly Casting Club held at Garfield Park, Ohicago, August 13th and 14th, brought out a good entry, the attendance was very large and the weather all that could be desired.

On Friday three of the six championship contests were fought out, the winners being H. A. Wemkerk and F. N. Peet of Chicago and W. D. Mansfield of this city.

The first event was for fixed distance and accuracy at buoys placed at fifty, fifty-five and sixty feet, with rods not to exceed eight and a half ounces, five casts to be made at each buoy. H. A. Wemkerk of the Chicago club was the winner, his record being 91½ per cent. The place prize winners were—Second, F. N. Peet of the Chicago club, 87 per cent; third, W. D. Mansfield of San Francisco, 85 2-3 per cent; fourth, C. A. Lippincott and B. W. Goodsell, tied, 79 2 3 per cent; fifth, J. A. Bellows, 76 1-3 per cent; sixth, W. N. Babcock, 83 per cent; seventh, J. E. Strong, 63 per cent.

The second event was for accuracy in bait casting at buoys sixty, seventy, eighty, ninety and 100 feet, one cast to be made at each buoy with half-ounce rubber frog. F. N. Peet and C. H. Chadwick tied in the event, Peet winning the deciding cast.

In fly casting for accuracy and delicacy at buoys thirty-five, forty and forty-five feet, five casts at each buoy, the following results were attained: First, W. D. Mansfield of San Francisco, 85 1-6 per cent; second, F. B. Davidson, 84 5-12 per cent; third, B. W. Goodsell, 83¾ per cent; fourth, F. N. Peet, 82½ per cent; fifth, C. A. Lippincott, 82 1 6 per cent; sixth, W. H. Babcock, 81 1-3 per cent; seventh, J. E. Strong, 79 1-6 per cent.

On Saturday the winners were: W. H. Babcock, F. B. Davidson and W. D. Mansfield.

The first event of the day was the roll fly casting for accuraco, at buoys, 50, 45 and 40 feet, five casts made for each buoy, which was won by W. H. Babcock, with a record of 90 1-3 per cent. The place winners were: Second, W. D. Mansfield, 90 per cent; third, C. A. Lippincott, 89 2-3; fourth, I. H. Bellows, 89 1-3 per cent; fifth, B. W. Goodsell, 87 2 3 per cent; sixth, G. A. Murrell, 82 1-3 per cent; seventh, H. A. Newkirk, 79 per cent.

The next event was bait casting, for distance and accuracy combined, casting on the lawn within a court thirty feet wide, a tape line extending down the center. Won by F. B. Davidson with a record of ninety-eight feet and four-fifths of an inch, four casts. The last contest of the tournament was long distance casting, ten minutes allowed each contestant to extend his line to the greatest possible distance, won by W. D. Mansfield of San Francisco, who cast 111¼ feet, beating the world's record of 102½ feet, which has stood seven years.

Mansfield was not in good form during the day and did not expect to win the contest. He was the last man to cast, and when he made his appearance on the pier, the spectators gave three cheers for the California champion. The place winners were: Second, F. N. Peet, 92 feet; third, I. H. Bellows, 87 feet; fourth, B. W. Goodsell, 82 feet; fifth, W. H. Babcock, 81 feet; sixth, C. G. Ludlow, 78 feet; seventh, G. A. Murrell, 77 feet.

The local champion will return in a week or so and will be given a banquet by the club that he has honored by his magnificent casting. We predicted that he would win the long distance event and knew that he would be to the front in some of the others, but two championship medals, a second and a third is a little more than we expected.

Mr. Mansfield is deserving of all he has won, he has practiced faithfully. A year ago he determined to break the world's record. The last cast of 111¼ feet was made in open competition and stands all over the world as the record. Mr. Mansfield is capable of making a still better record. He has cast 116 feet in practice and is liable to make a new mark at any time.

Fly Casting at Stow Lake.

The tenth regular semi-monthly fly casting contests of the San Francisco Fly Casting Club were held at Stow Lake, Golden Gate Park on Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning last. The wind was quite strong on Saturday but on Sunday it did not bother nearly as much. Dr. Lowry was the principle winner on Saturday, winning the long distance and delicacy and accuracy events and on Sunday he won all three events. C. G. Young won the distance and accuracy event on Saturday and on Sunday H. F. Muller tied Dr. Lowry for the distance and accuracy event with the excellent score of 93, Lowry winning the tie.

A. E. Lovett, C. G. Young and Dr. E. N. Lowry judged the events on Saturday and Sunday, H. C. Golcher officiating as referee on Sunday.

The scores were as follows:

Fly Casting.

"California leads the world in fly casting." This is the headline of an article in one of the San Francisco daily payers this week. Moreover it is true! The San Francisco Fly Casting Club, though only two years old, is the largest club of its kind in the world. It began by copying the rules and regulations of the Chicago Fly Casting Club. If we are not mistaken it even copied its constitution and by laws to start with, and now it is progressive enough to copy any clubs rules of casting that are proven superior to those now in vogue here.

At present writing, the Chicago Club is copying our rules of delicacy judging and our members are breaking world's records continually. H. C. Golcher first brought the club into prominence by breaking Mr. Leonard's world's record at long distance casting; for bringing this honor to the club he was handicapped eleven feet. W. D. Mansfield and Dr. E. N. Lowry went hunting for medals this year. Mansfield made 108½ feet early in the season and Lowry has frequently passed the 100 mark in practice and occasionally in the contests. They have proven that handicapping is not practical in fly casting and in another year Mr. Golcher will have the opportunity of meeting his opponents on level ground.

Last week Mr. Mansfield competed at the world's tournament of the Chicago Fly Casting Club at Chicago and the local club is very naturally proud of its champion, for he brings back to San Francisco the championship diamond medal for long distance casting, which he won by breaking his own world's record and all other records with 111¼ feet to his credit. He also brings back the championship diamond medal for delicacy and accuracy, and won second in roll casting and third in distance and accuracy casting; a record that any man and any club might well be proud of. At this contest he met the picked men of the East and defeated them all. In distance casting his nearest competitor cast 92 feet. Considering the fact that we have four men besides Mansfield who frequently cast that distance, we think the Chronicle came pretty near the truth when it stated that "California leads the world in fly casting."

The attendance at the contest is not proportionate to the the club's membership (nearly 100), but now that it is practically settled that the membership will be classified next year there is a better attendance at the meetings, members are showing more interest in the casting and are preparing to enter the contests more regularly hereafter.

As it is at present, a few of the members, by constant study and practice, have attained such a degree of perfection that they completely outclass their competitors. No man cares to see his name always at the bottom of the list and consequently the majority either only cast occasionally or stay away altogether. These men should be placed in a champion class next season, and they will have much more pleasure in fighting it out among themselves than they get now. We have heard men say this season, "Oh, I have won enough. I am going to give some one else a chance." The state of affairs that causes a man to lose his desire to win is not advantageous to the club's best interests. We greatly favor three classes, viz: a champion class and a first and second class. In the long distance casting this can easily be done. Golcher, Mansfield and Lowry have all frequently cast over 100 feet and are distinctly the club's champions in that event. Bacheller, Lovett, Reed, Young, Skinner, Huyck and Edwards average from 75 to 94 feet and are easily first-class men. Of the balance there are none that average 75 feet. Let these comprise the second class, and should one of them improve he is entitled to the medal. Classify the balance of the events by the records of this year's casting, and we will have just twice as many contestants next season. Any man would rather win a second-class medal than cast the whole season knowing that he hasn't the ghost of a show of winning anything.

We are frequently asked questions like the following: "What does the club do?" "What is the object of this casting?" "How do you cast for accuracy?" "What constitutes a delicate cast?" etc. We will attempt to answer these questions.

Long distance casting consists of casting a single fly on the end of a six or nine-foot gut leader and double-tapered braided silk line as far as possible with a rod unlimited as to weight, but which must not exceed eleven feet in length. The manner of casting is exactly as one would cast were he fishing any large river and wished to reach some likely looking spot behind some big boulder in mid-stream.

We have read many rules for casting this event, but none of them apply to all alike. Mr. Mansfield casts with a whole arm movement and when he gets down to business he is casting from his feet up. Dr. Lowry uses a very neat wrist and forearm movement and a side cast. Mr. Golcher's cast is purely a whole arm movement and over head cast; he moves his body but very little. The secret in distance casting is to retrieve properly. A slow retrieve means a low-back cast and that means a leader doubled back. A high-back cast means a good, straight, forward cast. If the back cast be too low the forward cast spends its force in the air and the fly flutters and then falls back.

In the forward cast the rod should be held perfectly level to allow the line to run through the the guides with as little friction as possible. In the back cast the rod tip should never go lower than an angle of forty-five degrees. These are the principle points to bear in mind, the balance "comes" to a man by practice.

Casting for distance and accuracy is done with the same tackle, with the exception that heavy leaders and level lines are preferred and the rod must not weigh over 8½ ounces. The casting is at buoys placed 50, 55 and 60 feet from the casting platform and the sole object is to make the fly strike as near the buoys as possible. In our estimation there is nothing in this event that aids a man in actual fishing unless it be that it accustoms him to control his rod Accuracy is certainly valuable to the angler but in the events as cast, at fly-casting contests, a man may whip his fly down on the water as he would thrash a refractory mule and it does not count against him, in fact the more force he puts into his cast the more accurate he will be, especially on a windy day. If a man can cast 60 feet easily he can score high in this event with very little practice, provided he has a medium stiff rod and heavy tackle.

Dry fly-casting for delicacy and accuracy is the prettiest, most artistic and most practical event of the three. There is not a point in it that is not of value to the angler. The casting is done with a 5½ ounce rod, light tapered lines and light six foot or nine foot leaders. The buoys are placed 35, 40 and 45 feet from the casting platform. The accuracy percentage is figured as in the distance and accuracy event.

The judges of delicacy mark each cast for fly, line, style and retreive. The fly must alight on the water as a leaf would fall on the bosom of a lake; if it splashes the caster is penalized for each time it does so. The fly and leader must strike the water before the line. If the line strikes first the caster gets a demerit mark for each time that it does so. The back cast must be good and the general style must not be "sloppy." The line must be retrieved from the water gently, if the line, leader or fly disturbs the surface of the water and makes a "swish," the judges make another demerit mark for each time it occurs. The line must be extended to the first buoy and from one buoy to another by dry fly casting. Should the fly strike the water while the contestant is extending his line the score commences with that cast. The only quality requisite is absolute command of rod, reel and line. The hardest fault to overcome, in the estimation of the writer, is letting the line strike the water before the leader and fly. Any man that can cast sufficiently well to catch trout can make his fly alight gently. All that is needed to do so, is to aim at an imaginary object two feet above the buoy and let the fly drop of its own weight. A quick retreive is nearly always a bad retrieve, a comparatively slow retrieve with a gentle lifting of the rod tip will draw the fly out of the water in such a manner that you can scarcely tell when it leaves the surface. To make the leader drop before the line one must lift the tip of the rod just as the fly is about to alight. If this is done too sharply it will cause the fly to splash, but if done at the proper moment and in the proper manner the line will not touch the water first.

It has been thought for years that delicacy could not be described and consequently could not be properly judged. Doubtless the present rules of the club will be modified and improved from time to time, but one thing is certain, the San Francisco Fly Casting Club has adopted the best system of judging ever in vogue and any man that can make 75 per cent. under the rules as quoted above can catch trout in any stream on earth if he has the fly that they are taking.

Fly casting certainly improves an angler's casting ability and if the reader will not take the writer's word for it, let him or her go out to Stow Lake and watch the club cast in the delicacy and accuracy event on August 28th or 29th or September 11 or 12th.

C. G. Young, one of the most enthusiastic members of the San Francisco Fly Casting Club, returned on Thursday of last week from an outing at Point Arena. He fished the Garcia three days and a half. On Sunday he caught 168 fish, on Monday 169, on Tuesday 187 and Wednesday morning 95. He saved them all by packing them in his preservative. The fish were from 6 to 12 inches long and were caught mainly with flies.

"What's that?"

"Went fishing and didn't catch anything. Ordered half a dozen bass to be sent to the house, so that his wife would think he'd caught 'em. When the basket was opened they turned out to be bottled bass."—Asian.

Wilfred Watterson claims the belt as champion fisherman of the season. On the Twin Lakes, Mammoth, he caught 165 trout in three hours. He and Ed. Clarke together caught 840 fish in twelve hours' fishing, including delays on the lake the time being carefully kept each day. This was all done with flies.

Rev. Damon—I am informed, Brother Jones, that you are in the habit of fishing on the Sabbath.

Jones—I do, a little, but always wait until Monday to begin lying about the fish.

Andrew Ferguson, the Fresno county game warden is doing good work in stocking the streams of that county with trout.

Salmon, yellowtail, tom cod and mackerel are unusually plentiful at Monterey and Santa Cruz.

The use of salmon roe for trout bait is prohibited in British Columbia. It should be here.

NOTICE TO SECRETARIES.

If secretaries of gun clubs will send us the full scores of their regular monthly shoots we will be pleased to publish them; but we must receive the copy on Wednesday to insure its insertion that week.

The Game Law.

The open season for shooting quail, doves, deer and wild duck as fixed by the State law is as follows: Doves, 15th July to 15th February. Mountain quail and grouse, 1st September to 15th February. Valley quail, wild duck and rail, 1st October to 1st March. Male deer, 15th July to 15th October.

The clerks of all the Boards of Supervisors have advised us that no changes have been made this year, but the ordinances passed last year hold good if they do not conflict with the State law. The following counties have not passed any ordinances that alter the open season as provided by State law: Alameda, Amador, Butte, Inyo, Los Angeles, Modoc, Mono, Mendocino, Mariposa, Nevada, Napa, Plumas, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Joaquin, Santa Clara, Sacramento, Solano, Sonoma, Santa Cruz, Siskiyou, Tehama, Yolo and Yuba.

Alpine—Deer. Sept. 2 to Oct. 15.
Colusa—Deer, Aug. 15 to Oct. 15.
Calaveras—Deer, Sept. 1 to Oct. 15.
Contra Costa—Deer, July 20 to Sept. 2. (Use of dogs prohibited).
El Dorado—Doves, July 20 to Feb. 1.
Lake—Deer, Aug. 1 to Oct. 1.
Marin—Deer, July 15 to Sept. 15.
Madera—Market hunting prohibited.
Monterey—Deer, July 15th to Sept. 1st.
Orange—Doves, Aug. 1 to Feb. 1. Deer, Aug. 15 to Oct. 1. (Market hunting prohibited).
San Benito—Deer, Aug. 1 to Sept. 15. (Market hunting prohibited).
Santa Barbara—Deer, Aug. 1 to Sept. 14. (Market hunting prohibited).

San Mateo—Deer, July 15 to Sept. 1. (Use of dogs prohibited).
Shasta—Deer, July 15 to Sept. 1.
Sierra—Deer, Sept. 1 to Oct. 15.
Sutter—Deer, Sept. 1 to Oct. 15. Doves, July 15 to Jan. 1.
Trinity—Deer, Sept. 1 to Oct. 15.
Tulare—Deer, Sept. 1 to Oct. 15.
Ventura—Deer, July 15 to Sept. 1. (Market hunting prohibited).

The Lincoln Gun Club.

The final shoot of the season of the Lincoln Gun Club held at the club grounds at Alameda Point, last Sunday, was well attended. The members were divided in five classes and the purse—$150, was won as follows:

First class, Nauman, Webb and Bruns divided $40; second class, Edgar Forster and Haight divided $35; third class, Fisher and Potter divided $30; fourth class, Klevesahl and Alderton divided $25; fifth class, Merguire, Lewis and Ostrander divided $20. The scores were as follows:

The San Joaquin Ordinance.

The ordinance of the county board of San Soaquin county relative to shooting along public highways went into effect on August 1, and it is now a misdemeanor punishable by a fine not to exceed $500 or imprisonment not to exceed six months for any person to discharge a shotgun larger than No. 10 loaded with shot larger than No. 7, or a rifle or pistol larger than 22, upon any public street, road or place in the county. Firearms that may be discharged in accordance with the above must not be discharged within 200 yards of any house, barn, conveyance or stock running loose, except that permission be first obtained by the owner thereof.

The Lincoln Picnic.

The annual picnic and live-bird shoot of the Lincoln Gun Club will be held on the 20th at San Bruno. All sportsmen are invited and the attendance will undoubtedly be very large. Everyone who expects to attend is requested to drop a line to Edgar Forster, 538 Market street, that he may know how many birds to order for the shoot.

CARTRIDGE AND SHELL.

The South End Gun Club will shoot at Colma to-morrow

The Empire Gun Club will shoot at Alameda Point to-morrow.

Ed Rodden, of Oakdale, has ten deer to his credit so far this season.

The Reliance Gun Club will shoot at Webster street, Alameda, to-morrow.

Sol Sharp is having great sport at Trospers, near Cazadero. He killed four bucks last week and two big bucks on Wednesday last.

The natives, whites and Indians are killing grouse galore at Boca and vicinity. The season does not open until September.

Deer are so plentiful on the La Mesa road and in Mission Valley near San Diego that they are seriously damaging the peach orchards.

Don't forget the picnic and live bird shoot of the Lincoln Gun Club at San Bruno on the 29th. All are invited without further invitation.

Policeman Harris, Bob Harris and E. Fletcher, of Orange county, killed seven black and cinnamon bears near Tehachepi in ten days recently.

The inhabitants of Paradise near Oroville think the game law a nuisance. On the Conrad place the quail roost in flocks in the old barn and the deer are eating up the corn. This would be a good place to go on October 1st.

The following advertisement appears in the San Diego Tribune of August 7th: Sportsmen, attention! Deer are destroying my prune orchard. Will pay $5 per head for their slaughter. Stopping place in close proximity. F. B. Walker, foot of Viejas mountain, Alpine.

On Tuesday evening three Gridley gentlemen went out hunting. A dove was shot and fell into the Feather. R. A. Norman's dog tried to get it but was caught by a whirlpool and to save him A. M. Whitaker swam in to the rescue. He was caught in the rapid current and could not pull ashore, so Dick Norman jumped in and swam to his rescue, bringing him ashore. The dog got out at last but the dove was lost.—Oroville Register.

State Game-Warden Loveday, of Illinois, has interviewed all the express companies passing through that State on the subject of carrying game killed out of season. The heads of departments have unanimously agreed to throw no obstacles in the way of the deputies stationed at the various depots seeking information that would lead to arrest, conviction and seizure of illicitly killed game. The deputies will also be allowed to open all suspicious packages, barrels, or boxes.—Game and Shooting.

Salvater Pattocchi was arrested at Novato on the 6th on the complaint sworn to by Joseph Taylor, owner of the famous El Tovo Springs charging him with malicious mischief. Pattocchi was taken before Justice of the Peace Rodden and pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $37.50, which he paid. The defendant is the keeper in charge of the Miremonte Club at Novato and on last Sunday morning as six horses belonging to Taylor were on the marsh near the club grounds Pattocchi went to the house and procuring a shot gun, emptied two heavy charges of shot into the band of horses, wounding all of them, and one, a thoroughbred colt, is liable to die of the injuries received.

Chas. D. Dietz and R. P. Boyer were enjoying great sport at the Ferndale Ranch Santa Pala last week, shooting and fishing. The first day they bagged three dozen doves and a dozen cotton tails in two hours shoot. The following morning they caught 40 fine brook trout averaging ten inches in Santa Paula creek. Seven fine bucks have been killed near this ranch this season.

The members of the Salinas Gun Club are somewhat worked up over a report coming from the Jolon country Tuesday. A party of hunters from Hollister are alleged to have been found with nine doves and four fawns in their wagon. They were arrested and let off with the mild fine of $35 for the lot. Considering that the law imposes a penalty of $250 for each animal thus slaughtered the fine said to have been imposed by the local magistrate looks like a traversity of justice.—Salinas Index. [The fine is no less than $20 nor more than $500 for each offense. Ed]

One of the biggest hunting parties of the year left San Diego Saturday night on the schooner yacht Halycon. The party, which consists of Messrs Frank L. Sargent, Roscoe Howard, Chas. Gordon and Chas. Emery, is bound for San Quentin bay, 250 miles down the lower California coast. Upon their arrival there the men will outfit for a month's hunt after big horn sheep and deer. Complete arrangements for burros, guides and necessary material not obtainable in this country have been made with Col. O. J. Crewe-Reade of the Lower California Development company at Ensenada, and the party expect to have the biggest kind of a time.

Unless the police courts can be taught that game laws must be respected the same as other laws, the game warden and the fish commissioners, as far as their game work is concerned, might as well go out of business. Even when the strongest possible evidence is introduced the verdict is nine times out of ten, not guilty. The tenth time the guilty party is fined $5, costs of court or such nominal amounts. The city consumes the greater portion of the game killed in Central California and if it is allowed to enter the market out of season, the game law is practically a dead letter. We can see but one way out of this difficulty and that is for the sportsmen of this city to band together and engage an able attorney, one whose standing is sufficiently high to bring the police court judges to their senses. Let this attorney prosecute the cases at the sportsmen's expense and a few convictions will stop the traffic.

The Pacific Advisory Board.

The called meeting of the Pacific Advisory Board held at the Occidental Hotel on Wednesday evening last brought out seven members of the Board and about twenty interested dog owners. The delegates present were: Chairman F. W. D'Evelyn, Pacific Fox Terrier Club; vice-Chairman W. M Gibson, Stockton Kennel Club; Secretary R. K. Gardner Southern California Kennel Club; Dr. W. R. Cluness Jr.' St. Bernard Club of California; J. W. Keen, Portland Kennel Club; G. B. M. Gray, Oakland Kennel Club and J. E. de Ruyter, San Francisco Kennel Club. Among the representative dog lovers present were Thos. H. Browne, C. A. Haight, J. B. Martin, Dr. I. W. Terry, Wm. Greenbaum, Phil. Wand, J. E. Cutten, H. McCracken, H. Lange, J. G. Barker, S. F. Hughes, M. C. Allen, J. R. Dickson and A. Russell Crowell. These, with the reporters, filled the small room to suffocation, and it is to be hoped that the succeeding meetings will be held in a much larger room.

Dr. D'Evelyn opened the meeting by introducing the Secretary of the A. K. C., Mr. A. P. Vredenburg, after which he read a letter from Mr. Vredenburg ordering the annual election.

Mr. Vredenburg quoted ex-Secretary Payne's notice to the members of the Board that there would be no meeting of the Board in July last and stated, as the Breeder and Sportsman did at the time, that no officer had the power to postpone an annual meeting or any other one, and that in his opinion the present officers were not legally elected.

Payne stated that he could prove the necessity of postponing the meeting [but he would have a hard job to do it.] He gave his opinion that the present officers were regularly elected and considerable discussion on the question followed.

On motion of de Ruyter the election was confirmed unanimously, after which D'Evelyn stated that he alone was responsible for the postponement, and the Board proceeded with the business of the meeting.

Secretary Gardiner read the charges brought against H. T. Payne by the St. Bernard Club of California, which are as follows:

San Francisco, Aug. 9, 1897.

To the Pacific Advisory Board of the American Kennel Club:

Gentlemen: You are hereby advised that on the 22nd day of June, 1897, the St. Bernard Club of California filed with the American Kennel Club, of New York, the following resolutions:

Resolved: "That the St. Bernard Club of California, in meeting assembled, this 10th day of June, 1897, deem it necessary to call the attention of your honorable body to the malicious attack against the honesty and integrity of Mr. James Mortimer, Judge of the late Bench Show of the Oakland Kennel Club, by H. T. Payne, Secretary of the Pacific Advisory Board of the American Kennel Club, and editor of a publication entitled "Field Sports."

Be it further resolved: That this cowardly and malicious attack cannot be overlooked by the St. Bernard Club of California, which organization most respectfully petitions the American Kennel Club to investigate the dishonorable conduct of H. T. Payne in connection with the facts herewith presented, and to mete out such punishment as your honorable body may see fit.

In conclusion, we further state that it is the sense of this club that it is not to the best interests of the St. Bernard Club of California, nor of its members individually, as breeders of St. Bernard dogs, to have a man of H. T. Payne's peculiar character as Secretary of the Pacific Advisory Board, his whole and only idea in kennel matters seeming to be one antagonistic to the better element of dog fanciers."

The St. Bernard Club of California, is advised that in pursuance of the above resolutions, the American Kennel Club of New York has directed that an investigation of H. T. Payne's conduct be had before your honorable body. Secretary A. P. Vredenburgh is now on his way here from New York to assist in such investigation. By letter, the American Kennel Club asks, through its Secretary, Mr. A. P. Vredenburgh, the St. Bernard Club of California to prepare formal charges, a copy of which he requests, shall be filed with your honorable body, and also a copy with H. T. Payne.

As to basis of this complaint, and for the resolutions hereinabove quoted, the St Bernard Club of California refers specially to an article entitled "The Oakland Show" published in "Field Sports" under date of May 22, 1897. The authorship of said article is admitted by H. T. Payne, and a copy of the article will be found attached to and made a part of this communication.

The St. Bernard Club of California denounce the article above referred to as unsportsmanlike, malicious, cowardly and untrue. Written in a spirit of pique and disappointment, it assails, without color of reason, the character and reputation of honorable men, impugns their motives, questions their honesty and seeks to present them in a false light before the readers of H. T. Payne's paper.

The said H. T. Payne, in his imfamous writing, proposes willingness to prove his serious charges The St. Bernard Club challenges said H. T. Payne to his proofs. While alleging our information and belief that said proofs cannot be produced, for the reason that said H. T. Payne well knew at the time of writing that his charges, were false from beginning to end.

H. T. Payne has attacked James Mortimer, as a corrupt and dishonest judge, he has named officers and members of the St. Bernard Club of California as conspirators with said James Mortimer in the making of fraudulent and unmerited awards in the Oakland Show; he has pictured James Mortimer and said St. Bernard Club members as objects of public loathing and disgust.

Because of each and all of the above statements, the St. Bernard Club of California denounces said H. T. Payne as the author of falsehood and libel.

We charge that he has been guilty of conduct unbecoming a gentleman and a sportsman, and by unwarranted and scandalous use of his pen, has brought dog men, and dog interests of California into disrepute, To the unreason of public scold he has added the intemperance of personal anger and chagrin. He has perverted truth, knowingly penned absolute falsehood, and by his own words established that he deserves nothing more than the loathing and contempt of honorable men.

The St. Bernard Club of California, through your honorable body, again demands of H. T. Payne his boasted proofs. This club avers that such proofs do not exist. It prays for the fullest investigation, to the end that H. T. Payne may be convicted of falsehood and libel and punished in such a manner as the American Kennel Club, or your honorable body, may deem just and proper.

The St. Bernard Club of California prays that the investigation of the matters herein alleged be held with open doors, that witnesses be examined, and that both the accusers and accused be permitted to appear in the proceedings, either in person or by counsel.

Respectfully submitted, this 9th day of August, 1897.

[SIGNED] J. E. Cutten, Recording Secretary.

Mr. Vredenburg asked if Mr. Payne had received a copy of the charges and he replied that he had—from the St. Bernard Club. Secretary Gardner having stated that he had not notified Payne, the question arose as to whether he had received legal notice. Delegate Gibson stated that the fact of Mr. Payne being present was evidence of notification.

Secretary Vredenburg stated that he was not ready to proceed with the investigation as he wished all of the evidence—questions and answers—in the case of Mortimer vs. Payne, taken verbatim, and would arrange for an official stenographer to be present at the next meeting.. He expressed surprise that the past meetings of the Board had been held with closed doors, and stated that in his opinion all of the meetings of the Board should be open meetings and not "star chamber proceedings." [This is only one of the surprises that our Eastern friend will meet before he leaves the Golden Gate.] Acting on his suggestion Mr. Gibson moved that in future all meetings of the Board be open meetings, and it was carried unanimously.

On motion of Mr. de Ruyter the Board voted to adjourn the meeting to Monday evening, August 23d.

M. C. Allen then asked to be recognized as Jas. Mortimer's representative, and after discussion Mr. Gibson moved, Dr. Cluness seconded the motion and it was carried, that M. C. Allen, C. A. Haight and Thos. H. Browne be permitted to represent Mr. Mortimer, but that only one of them should be permitted to question witnesses.

In speaking of the case in question Mr. Vredenburg stated that he would take back East with him all the testimony obtained, that he would request each witness to sign his name to the evidence given and that he would submit all such evidence to the Executive committee of the A. K. C. and that Mr. Mortimer would then be requested to refute the charges made against him by Payne. [This is all very well as far as it goes, but the only question brought before the Board up to date, is the charges of the St. Bernard Club of California against Mr. Payne. These charges have been ordered filed with the Pacific Advisory Board by the parent body. The P. A. B. is advisory to the A. K. C., it cannot act independent of the A. K. C., all of its rulings being subject to revision by the A. K. C., but these charges must be investigated by the Advisory Board. Secretary Vredenburgh may assist in the investigation but he cannot try the case. We insist that the Board must try the case, must collect the evidence Payne has to offer and the evidence offered in refutation of the same, name its verdict and hand the same to Secretary Vredenburg for revision by the A. K. C. Re the case of Jas. Martimer vs. Payne, though virtually one and the same thing, the A. K. C. has seen fit to give separate orders. The P. A. B. has been ordered "to call upon H. T. Payne to supply the evidence to substantiate the public statements made by him regarding Jas. Mortimer as judge of the late Oakland Show, and said Board is hereby directed to investigate the same and report thereon to the American Kennel Club." We insist that Mr. Vredenburg has no power to investigate this matter, that he cannot usurp the power given to the Advisory Board but can only assist them. Such are his orders as printed in the American Kennel Gazette and as reported by the kennel press at the last meeting of the A. K. C. His statement that the Executive Committee of the A. K. C. would handle the case is not in accordance with his instructions, they can only revise the work of the Advisory Board, and any other version of the matter is an insult to the Board, as it implies a doubt as to their capability and integrity.]

Mr. de Ruyter was of the opinion that the A. K. C. had no jurisdiction in the matter and asked Mr. Vredenburg if the American Kennel Club had the power to investigate the charges. He replied that as an editor they could not consider the charges, but as an afflcial of the A. K. C. he certainly could be charged [Payne is no longer an official of the A. K. C. nor a member of the Board, but was at the time the charges were made. He may be appointed a delegate at some future time, and even if not a member of any club that is a member of the A. K. C. he is still liable. Any person guilty of misconduct of any kind in connection with dogs, dog shows or field trials may be brought before the Advisory Board for investigation. If an editor sells a dog with a faked pedigree, is he exempt from investigation? Yet here is a man who has kept the kennel world at sword's points for years with his slanderous mischief-loving pen and tongue, lastly he has accused Jas. Mortimer and the St. Bernard Club of collusion, fraud, dishonesty, etc, etc. If people believe his lies, then the kennel world is irreparably injured by his vapid utterings, and he should be punished.]

Mr. Vredenburg will leave for the East on Friday, Aug. 27th. Any matters brought before the Board on or before Thursday evening next at 8 P. M. will be considered by the Board during Mr. Vredenburg's visit.

The meeting adjourned at a late hour to meet again on Monday evening next.

Stockton Kennel Club.

The long delayed annual meeting of the Stockton Kennel Club was held last evening at the office of W. M. Gibson, with a quorum present. The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, W. M. Gibson; First Vice-President, Henry Lonjers; Second Vice-President, S. B. Huskins; Secretary, F. L. Jackson; Financial Secretary and Treasurer, A. E. Mapes; Corresponding Secretary, F. C. Gifford.

There was no report of the committee having charge of the last bench show, and when the subject was called a committee was appointed to see that a report was brought in at the next meeting of the club, which will be held on the first Wednesday of next month.—Stockton Independent.

DOINGS IN DOGDOM.

Major J. M. Taylor has joined the staff of the Sportsman's Review of Chicago.

Five thousand people attended the coursing meeting at Ingleside last Sunday.

Mrs. Alfred Roncovieri has lost the well known Great Dane dog Rex R. Strayed or stolen.

The present Advisory Board promises much. Open meetings of the Board mean that in the future the Board will not meet solely for the benefit of H. T. Payne and his paper.

We are very pleased to state that A. J. Salazar's Bianka II. has been found. The Sheriff found her in the keeping of a peddler and arrested the man and recovered the bitch.

Now that it is positively known that the meetings of the Advisory Board are open meetings, the investigations on Monday and following evenings at the Occidental will be well attended.

We were very pleased to see the manly, straight-forward manner in which Mr. Gibson gets at matters. A. K. C. affairs will not suffer when the P. A. B. can secure full meetings of the Board.

During Mr. Vredenburg's talk at the meeting, Wednesday night, he stated that charges would be brought before the Board by J. P. Norman and that there were charges pending against the Oakland Kennel Club.

J. E. Cutten, of the Humboldt Kennels, is again in hard luck. The well known St. Bernard bitch Florence got away from his boy the first of the week and has not been seen since and his Princess Alice litter have all died.

Just as we are going to press we learn that J. E. Cuttens R. C. St. Bernard bitch Florence, the well-known winner, was shot on Sunday A. M. in the Presidio grounds. The body was found on Thursday. Further particulars next week.

Dr. D'Evelyn rightly called Merton C. Allen to order on Wednesday night, but the many friends of Jas. Mortimer that were present will not forget the eloquent tribute to his absent friend that escaped his lips before he was called to order.

E. M. Beck, the owner of the St. Bernard bitch, Montana Queen, has joined the army of gold seekers in Alaska. He takes with him the St. Bernard Duke of San Francisco. Montana Queen will remain here as she is in whelp to Eboracum.

A Newfoundland dog recently rescued a man from drowning in the Pajaro river at Sargents. The man was drunk and fell from the bank into the stream. The dog plunged in after him, mouthed his clothing and swam to shallow water from where he was dragged by friends.

Secretary Vredenburgh has shown by his actions that he considers the statements printed in the Breeder and Sportsman, falsehoods. Before he leaves San Francisco he will doubtless be convinced that the other fellow is the one. He will find that the Breeder has 96 friends to the other fellows 4. He will be treated royally by the other four but the 96 will treat him with the silent contempt he deserves.

Allen H. Norton, of Winsted, Conn., is the owner of a farm over the State line in Massachusetts. For many years Mr Norton has had on the farm a dog of cocker spaniel and hound breed, which has been of considerable use about the place, and also a good hunter of coons and other game. But the dog is now twelve years old, minus some of his teeth, and getting feeble; so it was thought best to shoot it. Consequently about two weeks ago the man in charge of the farm took the dog out in the lots to dispose of it. He laid the gun on the ground and proceeded to dig a grave for the dog, while the faithful animal lay beside the implement intended soon to end his life, and watched the hole in the ground gradually grow deeper. The man had nearly finished his excavation when the dog suddenly sprang to its feet and rushed from the place. For the first time on record it refused to respond to man's call, but hurried to the river brink, swam to the opposite shore, disappeared in the woods and is still absent.—American Stock Keeper.

Betting on Heats.—Were I to deny that I have advocated, for several years past, betting on heats, the falsity of the denial could readily be proved. And now if proper care is taken that every heat shall be honestly contested and the rule enforced, there would be no change in my views. This is the "rub," however, and becoming aware that the rule will not be rigidantly carried out on a large majority of tracks, the betting on heats must be confined to "out-of-hand" speculators. And especially in place-betting on heats I became an innocent confederate, if confederacy in any case can be called innocent,so I will change innocent into simple, as no one will question the simplicity of the act when the story is told.

There were several complaints because place-betting was discontinued in the mutuel boxes and I requested the pool-sellers to comply with the apparently reasonable demands.

Very little of my time was spent in the vicinity of the boxes, and hence the disclosure of schemes by the betting thermometer was not known. No complaints were made that I heard until after the close of the meeting, and then the relator told it as having been disclosed by a participant in the job on the ferry boat, and could witnesses be secured who heard the recital, the criminal, according to his own story, would yet be amenable to the penalty.

Two heats had been trotted in a race,the winner of which was assured, unless accident intervened. The winner of the previous race, and that the fastest of the meeting, and with two heats to her credit the third was a "moral certainty."

The second place in the first and second heats was won by the same animal, so that the place in the race was also virtually settled. Therefore the chance for "making a killing," or more properly speaking the opportunity to rob, was place betting on the third heat.

Placing in the heats, No. 1	1	1	1
" " " " " 2	2	2	4
" " " " " 3	3	3	3
" " " " " 4	5	5	2

It seemed that if No. 2 were "pulled" to allow No. 3 to come in second the job would be consummated, and it was extremely safe betting to copper No. 2 and play No. 3 to win. No. 4 broke up this well-laid scheme. She had been 5, 5, and had No. 2 got second place, fourth money would have been the best she could get. But time and space were lost in pulling No. 2 behind No. 3, and No. 4, coming with a well directed drive, gained the place. No. 3 lost third money, pools, owing to the rush to bet on No. 3 and the "sucker money" on No. 2, paid $19 55—$17.55 for every $2 invested.

The ferry-boat tale, told by the driver of No. 2, as my informant stated, was a mournful recital, as the raconteur claimed to have lost $50 on No. 3. Section 2 of rule 48 provides for the punishment of a driver who publicly states that he purposely lost a race, and also of an owner who openly tells that he gave orders to the driver not to win, though section 1 of the same rule covers such a transgression as the one mentioned, and now if enforced good would result. "Any misconduct during or in respect to a race, fraudulent in its nature or injurious to the character of the turf, although not specified in this rule, is forbidden, and is punishable by a fine not to exceed $100, suspension or expulsion."

A wide scope, though none too broad, and a few examples would have a tendency to correct the evil of telling stories that are "injurious to the character of the turf," whether true or false.

No more heat-betting unless due care is taken to compel an honest contest, and then it will be equally as proper as betting on the race.

"Keep Up With the Procession."—Better to follow than adhere, with stubborn persistence, to a route, with no better reason than it has been traveled for many years. Notwithstanding it has the advantage of being well-known, every turn familiar to one who has traveled it from end to end, time and time again, a later-discovered course may present features that are greatly superior.

The usages that still prevail on the tracks have been discarded by those in control of race courses, and we have what may be termed the new system of conducting race meetings found to be so great an improvement over old methods that one who would propose a return to antiquated notions would be answered, if a reply were vouchsafed, by expressions not at all complimentary to his understanding.

Harness-racing meetings are now conducted in the way that prevailed on the turf a good many years ago, and which could be relegated to the realm of obsolete usages with decided benefit.

Not a great deal of difference, in many respects, from the practices when Lady Suffolk was the recognized queen of the tracks. A bell has taken the place of a club or piece of board in the hands of the presiding officer, and the clang of the clapper against the sides is pleasanter to the ear than the pounding on the judges' stand. But the bawling continues and the human voice, raised to a pitch thought necessary to reach the outskirts of the assemblage, is not apt to be melodious. As a rule, harsh,grating, raucous sounds, for however pleasant the tones may be in ordinary speech, or even when elevated in an oratorical flight, the repetition of names of horses, and the places won, do not afford scope for modulations of the voice, and hence it is a tiresome recital, though the chances are that few listeners understand the announcement.

An Eastern writer, commenting upon "announcements from the stand," advised professional starters to master the orthœpy of the names of horses, and good as the suggestions were the task is a hard one. A starter may be at the head of the class in the performance of the most important part of his duties, and when classical names are encountered profoundly ignorant, and in place of the proper pronunciation offends the cultured ear with his jargon. Thus when Endymion participated in a race at the Bay District the starter rendered the name in four syllables correctly, but placing the accent on the third with the i drawn out in prolonged fortissimo A college-bred listener criticised in hearing of a reporter, and the paper, of course, roasted the offender. In these days of mammoth dictionaries the true pronunciation of Greek and Latin names can be acquired,and a part of the paraphernalia of the starter should be a huge lexicon, when with programme before him, he can "burn midnight oil" and endeavor to fasten on his memory the authoritative sound. And then his auditors, a large majority of them, would not recognize the name on the bill, and what with Spanish, Australian and Italian names, a learned professor would have to be the incumbent of the office were correct orthœpy an indispensable requirement.

The blackboard does not transgress if the marker follows copy, but the most potent argument in favor of following the example of racing folk is that it is by far the most decorous, the announcements the clearest, more satisfactory to the spectators than the noisy method.

Draw a comparison. Twelve or more horses in a race, half that number of heats, perhaps, before the race is ended,and for five heats all of them starters. The numbers are noted as they come in, the clerk of the course prepares the list and gives it to the starter. He clears his throat and delivers the rigmarole in stentorian tones. Now that judges' stands are on the outside of the course, with occupants of the grand stand on either side, and carriages, in the infield, unless there is a duplicate oration of that delivered on one side, a portion of the people will be left in ignorance. Should the heat be close a jam of eager expectants crowd around the stand, noisy and demonstrative, shouting for the horse that "carries their money."

Mark the difference! The 1-2-3 of the racing announciator will not do in heat racing, and a board large enough to contain the names of the horses, arranged as they are on the programme, names of the drivers, then a column to show positions drawn before the start, and a succession of columns for the places won in the heats.

Thus: At the top of the board,programme numbers,horses, drivers, starting positions, 1st heat, 2d heat, 3d heat, etc., a space left at the bottom on which to mark the time. Capt. Ben E. Harris has patented an announciator combining several improvements, one of which is revolving on pivots. If an infringement, some other plan would have to be adopted to secure like advantages, the simplest, however, being that of the man who has given time and thought, as well as inventive genius, to improve race course appliances. One side of the board bears the race in progress, the other side that to follow, so that if races are "sandwiched," the reversal of the board tells the story. When the race is started the board is turned so as to present the edge, therefore the view is not intercepted, and when the heat is finished, and the horses placed, a few seconds thereafter it is chalked on the board.

Held in position long enough for the spectators on the outside of the track to obtain the information, when reversed the infielders are provided for.

If racing usages are strictly followed, the names of the horses would be omitted, numbers corresponding to those on the programme designating the horse, though in heat racing it will be well to give all the necessary information on the board.

A still better example to follow is the method of starting on race courses proper. In place of that official occupying the judges' stand he is placed on the inside of the track, a platform the height of the inner fence being his rostrum and that erected a short distance in advance of the starting point. When the race is one circuit of the track or any number of even miles, the start proper is from the judges' stand, the word given, or rather the flag dropped from the starter's position, about thirty feet from the racing score. The argument that horses may break between the two points is of little force, as that would be no worse than if the mishap occurred a few feet beyond the winning score.

The advantages are: First, the starter is in a better position to see what the horses are doing than if elevated several feet higher. Second, he is alone on the platform, no one to annoy him, to offer suggestions or reproaches for giving the word or not giving it. Third, without a bell he cannot keep up the incessant clanging or inadvertently sound a recall after he has ordered a start. Fourth, starting is his only business, and to do that well he should not be disturbed with other cares. In my opinion the flag is superior to the "word of mouth," bell or drum, though the word and flag can be used in conjunction, the dropping of the flag the signal for the assistant starter to drop his, the GO to guard against the claim that the flags were not seen to drop. No excuse, however, as the assistant starter is stationed so far in advance of his chief, and being directly in front of the drivers the signal cannot be overlooked, and a driver who claims that he thought it was still elevated too blind or too stupid for his business. But should there be an instance when the signal has been disobeyed the big bell in the judges' stand can be brought into service, though when large fields of race horses contend a majority of the riders of light weight, and consequently inferior in strength to drivers, the horses are, as a rule, much more difficult to restrain, can be governed without the "tintinnabulation of the bells," trotters and pacers can surely be handled satisfactory.

There are other points in the management of race meetings that can be adopted in harness horse contests with great advantage. The most important, more so by far than those already mentioned, are the guards and obstacles in the way of making frauds successful. A more difficult task,it is true, than keeping trotting-horse men within bounds,as the pirates of the turf would not seek an easier job to hoodwink than is usually met in track officials.

Eternal vigilance is said to be the price of liberty; constant watchfulness, and an effective posse, president, judges stand, paddock and patrol, in fact everyone connected with the club active, acute and untiring in their efforts to secure "clean sport."

The importance I attach to harness-racing officials following a like course forbids anything but full consideration and this will be given in a future article.

The Sequence of Full Hands.—The story of the wonderful poker hands, which were dealt on an ocean steamer not long ago, is again going the rounds of the press.

Not very marvelous, however, that the tale should be repeated when so fully verified by by the solemn attestations of players and lookers on.

An editor of a California paper gave his testimony that the hands were as represented, and there is not the least doubt of the authenticity of the description. A sequence of five "full hands," the best that of the dealer. He was so magnanimous as to refuse the pot, and this another cue to lead to an explanation.

"A cold deck!" only in this instance there was no necessity for taking the chill off, as the pack displaced had not been used.

One chance in so many millions, billions or trillions for the cards to come in the rotation mentioned that centuries would be required to make the trial, but an easy task to adjust the cards, and not a very hard job for an expert to deceive an ordinary set of players to change the pack brought by the steward for the one that was "stocked."

The Cleveland Meeting.—A letter received from the popular president of the Cleveland Association, Col. William Edwards, contains the following sentences: "I have read with great pleasure your article on the 'Revival of Harness Racing.' Endorse what you say. I am a strong believer in contests and a great believer in the harness horse. Have done all in my power for many years, as you know, to encourage their breeding.

"We had a great meeting this year—the finest one I ever saw. Our people gave us their endorsement and the ladies were with us.

"That, you know, warrants success. * * * Shall hope to meet you at the next congress."

The endorsement of the views in the article mentioned by Colonel Edwards is extremely gratifying. There is not another person who has had more experience in all pertaining to harness-racing, not one who has occupied the position he holds for one-half so many years, not another meeting which has attained as high a rank or been as universally popular as the one he founded and has so wisely conducted. Under his presidency Mr. Wm. B. Fasig acquired the reputation of being the foremost secretary of a harness-racing association in the whole country, and to-day, were I compelled to make a selection of two men the best fitted for the positions named, Messrs. Edwards and Fasig would be chosen without any hesitancy.

In coming to this decision the claims of Ed. A. Tipton are not overlooked, and it is greatly to the credit of the man who did so much for the Kentucky Association, and has shown such a high talent for organizing and conducting successful meetings, as those he has built up amid the mountains, that he has profited by the Cleveland example.

When a full history of harness-racing is written and published there is but a single track that will be more prominent than the one that has been under the charge of our esteemed friend for so many years. Others that have been more sensational in their efforts to attract attention, not a single one that has shown equal determination that "contests" shall be the aim, "hippodromes" discouraged.

Greatly in hopes that the next congress of the N. T. A. will be held in San Francisco. In that case I can assure Col. Edwards that he will be heartily welcomed, and that every delegate will have no cause to underrate California hospitality.

Universal Approval.—Winners and losers unite in the praises of the Hon. D. E. Knight for the kind treatment awarded them during the meeting at Marysville. Not only liberal to an extent seldom shown by managers of trotting meetings, but also demonstrating that there would be no favoritism, everyone accorded the same fair field; and while no favors were shown in the races, nothing but hospitality and generosity in all other places.

An amendment to the constitution will be offered at the Breeders' annual meeting that all the officers shall be elected by the vote of members,and should that be carried it is safe to say that the election of Mr. Knight, for President, if he accepts, will be a foregone conclusion. Equally as certain that a vote of the directors would show the same result, but as a popular ballot is more in accordance with American principles of government, republican and democratic, the proposed amendment should not fail of adoption.

The State Fair Meeting.

The State Board of Agriculture held their August meeting last Saturday, with the following-named members present: Directors Boggs, Mathews, Wilson, Covey, Gird, Cox, Fox, Mackey, Land and President Chase.

The meeting was for arranging the various details relating to the coming fair.

The programme privilege was let to J. C. Langenderfer, of San Francisco.

F. W. Covey was elected starter of the trotting and pacing races, and R. J. Havey of the running races. J. W. Wilson was selected as presiding judge of the running races.

A communication was received from the San Francisco Farmers' Club asking the State Board of Agriculture to take in hand the matter of field trials of sugar beet planting, so that they may be conducted in a systematic way under competent direction in order that the result may be available for the public benefit.

Upon motion, the board directed the Secretary to notify the San Francisco Farmers' Club that the board would cooperate with them, and selected a committee consisting of Richard Gird, W. P. Mathews and John Boggs to confer with the committee from the Farmers' Club.

Upon motion it was ordered that the betting on races at the coming State Fair be confined to auction and Paris mutuels only, and the Secretary was directed to advertise for bids, to be received on August 23d, for the privilege.

Reports from the various standing committees were received on matters appertaining to the coming fair, after which the board adjourned to meet August 23d.

The Woodland Fair.

Woodland will have a fair, notwithstanding Governor Budd vetoed the usual appropriation made by the State—Colusa Gazette.

That's correct, and it will be one of the most successful ever given here.

The directors are figuring on hanging up a purse for Allen Jones and some other speedy bicyclists to contest for,and they may also arrange to have a relay race for local wheelmen. Both wonld be excellent features and ought to draw well.

A large number of the speediest horses on the coast have been entered for the races and Tom Keating, in Montana, has his famous string on the list. Some very speedy and sensational races may be expected, as nearly all the horses that will be at the State Fair will appear on the track here.

The Directors of the Woodland Fair Association have a great reputation among the horsemen. They have no trouble whatever in getting a fine list of entries, for all their races and their relations with the horsemen are of the most friendly nature. This can be accounted for in a great measure by their fair and honest manner of dealing with all. While other districts have a great deal of trouble filling their lists, the horsemen send in their entries practically without solicitation. The local directors are to be congratulated on their able management.—Woodland Mail.

The Santa Ana Meeting.

Interest in the fall meet of the Orange County Fair Association is on the increase. In no previous season have the directors met with such success in formulating their programme for the races as in this. Delinquent assessments which have been pending for a year or so have been paid up, and from all parts of the country, as well as from the outside, there has been no active interest manifested in the October races.

The latest stroke of enterprise on the part of the directors is the provision made for a special race and purse for horses owned in San Diego county. Some time ago they received a communication from a number of prominent horsemen in San Diego county asking that such a race be arranged and assuring them of a large list of entries on the Orange county track. This arrangement has been made and San Diego county horses will be entered in a race of the 2:40 class, for a purse of $250. This will be for the special benefit of San Diego county horsemen, who have fast horses, but no track on which to train or test them.

Since the race has been assured a number of the San Diego owners have engaged stable room at the track and will bring their trotters here at once for training. There is said to be some very promising material in this string.

The Fresno Fair.

There is every promise that the Fresno County Agricultural Fair for 1897 will excel any exposition held there in many a year. The management is earnest, active and enthusiastic, and merchants and others are responding liberally in contributions to the premium moneys and purses.

The fair will open on Tuesday, October 15th, and continue to the end of the week, up to and including October 19th.

A canvass of the business houses of the city is now being made and they are responding generously and are all showing a lively interest in the matter. Every one seems to be entering into the affair with energy and spirit, and that is what assures success.

The speed programms have been arranged and the cards will be the finest probably ever seen on the local track. There are a large number of fine horses on the ground now and the purses will be large enough to attract horses from all over the valley. There will be trotting as well as running events and large numbers of people will be drawn hither by the races.

Ferndale Fair Speed Programme.

Following is the speed program of the fair to be held at Ferndale on September 22d, 23d and 24th:

Wednesday, Sept. 22—Running, ½ mile and repeat, $50. Danish buggy race, $25. Trotting, 3-minute class, 2 in 3 $100. Trotting and pacing, 2:30 class, 3 in 5, $150.

Thursday, Sept 23—Running, 3 8 dash, $50. Free-for-all foot race, 100 yards, $25. Free-all-for 5-mile bicycle race, $25. Trotting, 2:40 class, 2 in 3, $125.

Friday, Sept. 24—Running, mile dash, $75. Named race, $150. Trotting, 2:35 class, 3 in 5, $125. Trotting and pacing, free-for-all, 3 in 5, $200.

Jockey Club Rulings.

The following information is from the Racing Calendar:

The Secretary reported that the registration of the chestnut colt, Double Quick, four years old, by Buckra—Wanda, has been accepted in accordance with rule 38 of the Racing Rules, and under penalty prescribed therefor, which action, on motion, duly seconded, was approved.

A communication was read from the stewards of the Fort Erie Jockey Club meeting, reporting the suspension indefinitely of Jockey M. Sheedy for a suspicious ride on the horse Deanwood. It was ordered that such suspension be enforced on Jockey Club courses until removed by the stewards of the Fort Erie meeting.

Upon the recommendation of Mr. John Hunter, who was presiding steward at the Coney Island Jockey Club meeting at the time the entries of M. J. Daly were ordered refused at all courses running under the Jockey Club rules, a license heretofore withheld by the stewards of the Jockey Club was granted to Daly.

In the matter of the application of Jockey Wm. Martin, whose license was suspended in 1896 for violation of rule 150 of the Racing Rules, the assistant secretary was authorized to issue a license to him on probation.

The applications of Geo. McCloskey, Barney Ransom and Wm. King were denied.

The assistant secretary was instructed to communicate with J. A. Murphy in the matter of the application for reinstatement lodged by Jockeys J. Harrington and C. Murphy, that the stewards of the Jockey Club will remove the disability which prevents their obtaining a license from the American Turf Congress, and, if in good standing with such organization, when an application is made to the Jockey Club, licenses will be granted.

The Vancouver (B. C.) meeting, Sept. 2d, 3d and 4th, bids fair to be the best ever given in that city. James A. Fullerton, a veteran of the turf, is President and presiding judge, assisted by Messrs. Jonathan Miller and ex-President J. G. Woods. Charles Ferguson is to be Clerk of the Scales, Mr. Roselli, Clerk of the Course. Treasurer J. C. Woodrow owns a half interest in the California horse, Catalogue, rated as the best galloper in that section. The Secretary, Robert Leighton, has been interested in racing for many years, while Vice-President J. M. Bowell is an expert timer. There will be a hurdle race as a novelty and also a gentlemen's driving race. Let us hope the latter will not be anything like the recent one at Oakland. The inhabitants of British Columbia are great lovers of sport, and it will not be long ere California-bred horses compete in most of their racing events.

Horsemen at Marysville Condemn the Appeal.

We, the undersigned, owners, drivers, trainers and visitors, now in Marysville participating in the race meeting now being held on the Marysville race track, do most seriously condemn the action of the Marysville Daily Appeal for publishing articles daily, derogatory to the management. We say that there has never been a meeting held in our State where there has been less friction. The generosity of the management has never been equaled before and is thoroughly appreciated by the horseman. The sport has been of a high class and derogatory articles written against the management is a direct insult to horsemen and visitors, who heartily indorse the management as thoroughly competent and honest.

HART BOSWELL

No. 13,699. This splendidly-formed trotting stallion was sired by ONWARD, 2:25 1-4 (son of GEO. WILKES, 2:22, and DOLLY, dam of DIRECTOR, 2:17, THORNDALE, 2:21, etc.), sire of 113 in 2:30 list; dam NANCY LEE (dam of NANCY HANKS, 2:04, and DICTATOR WILKES, sire of six in 2:30 list), by Dictator; second dam SOPHY (grandam of Mike Wilkes, 2:15¾, Ira Wilkes, 2:22¾, and the sires Adrian Wilkes and Ira Wilkes) by Edwin Forrest 49; third dam Sophronia, by Brown Pilot; fourth dam by Bertrand; fifth dam by Lance, son of American Eclipse; sixth dam by Gray Dungannon. This is the acme of fashionable breeding. In conformation, disposition, color and pure trotting action, HART BOSWELL is perfect. He has never been worked for speed. His progeny are strong-limbed, level-headed and very promising, and are conceded by competent judges to be the finest-formed youngsters in California. Terms $50 for the season. Address K. O'GRADY, Laurel Creek Farm, San Mateo. Splendid pasturage, and mares kept in any manner owners may desire.

CALIFORNIA'S BANNER MEETING!

Los Angeles! Los Angeles! Los Angeles!

OCTOBER 14th to 23d Inclusive.

BIG MONEY! LIBERAL CONDITIONS! FAST TRACK!

EVEN BREAK FOR ALL!

The coming Annual Fair of District Agricultural Association No. 6 will cover a period of nine (9) days this year, and should prove to be the greatest mixed meeting ever held in the West.

Los Angeles has a population of 105,000, and the Race Track is splendidly equipped. Hotel accommodations are first-class. The money inducement offered is a record-breaker, while the conditions governing entries are unusually liberal. The Association will put forth every effort to make the 1897 meeting a memorable one in the history of racing in California.

ENTRIES CLOSE MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6TH.

Horsemen are reminded that entries for the following events close on Monday, September 6th. (Records made that day no bar).

Entrance—5 per cent.

CONDITIONS.

Entries in races Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4 closed July 1, 1897, and in races 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 to close Monday, September 6, 1897. Horses are to be named with the entries. Records made September 6th no bar.

Entrance fees are due when the entry is made.

The right is reserved to declare off purses not filling satisfactory to the Board of Directors, but persons who have made entries in races 6 to 15, inclusive, so declared off, may transfer at any time up to and including September 20, 1897, such entries to other classes to which they are eligible.

Purses will be divided into four moneys—50, 25, 15 and 10 per cent.

Five per cent of the amount of the purse will be deducted from each money won.

The Board of Directors reserves the right to declare two starters a walk-over. When only two start they may contest for the entrance money paid in, to be divided 66 2-3 per cent to the first and 33 1-3 per cent to the second. A horse distancing the field shall be entitled to first money only.

The Board of Directors reserves the right to change the hour or date of any race, and the right is reserved to declare off or postpone any or all races on account of the weather or other sufficient cause.

Entries not declared out at 5 o'clock P. M. on the day preceeding the race shall be required to start, and declarations must be made in writing and made at the office of the Secretary at the track.

When there is more than one entry to any purse by one person or in one interest, the horse to be started must be named by 5 P. M. on the day preceding the race.

Trotting and racing colors must be named by 5 o'clock P. M. on the day preceding the race and must be worn upon the track.

Colors will be registered in the order in which they are received.

Conditional entries will be treated the same as regular entries and nominators held under the rules.

Any race that may be started and unfinished on last day of the meeting may be declared ended and money divided according to rank of horses in the summary.

Otherwise than is specified in these conditions American Trotting Association rules, except Rule II., to govern.

VIVA LA

BY WHIPS, SIRE OF AZOTE, 2:04 3-4, COBWEBS, 2:12, AND SEVERAL OTHERS IN THE LIST

FIRST DAM—JOE VIVA, by Joe Hooker.

SECOND DAM—LADY VIVA, by Three Cheers (dam of Electioneer Rex, showed when a two-year-old quarters in 36 seconds.)

VIVA LA is sixteen hands high, a rich seal brown in color and more than usually handsome, combining muscular power and quality in an eminent degree. He was trained a little in his yearling form and showed a 2:40 gait and was improving rapidly when his training was suspended. He can scarcely fail on the right sort of mares to get fast trotters, and with nearly a certainty of securing good-sized, fine-looking horses which even in these times are in demand.

CURINE! CURINE! CURINE!

I WILL GUARANTEE MY CURINE

To be the most powerful paint that medical science can formulate. It will reach deeper-seated troubles and produce better effects for lameness and unhealthy sores than any other preparation in the world, for which local medication is indicated, such as

Spavins, Curbs, Ringbones, Sprung Knees, Capped Hocks and Knees, Saddle Galls, Rheumatism, Shoulder Lameness, Wind Puffs, Navicular Disease, Joint Lameness, Fistulae, Shoe Boils, Quittor, Tumors, Muscle Soreness, Splints, Thoroughpins, Sprung Tendons, Enlarged and Suppurated Glands, Soft Bunches, Bony Growths, Etc., Etc.

W. A. W. TURNBULL, V. M. D.,

CURINE is the most powerful paint known, and supersedes all cautery or firing. It contains no grease and will not blemish or remove the hair.

Its effects are absorbent, alterative, penetrative and antiseptic, and is the only preparation capable of reaching the deepest seated troubles.

Horses can be worked as usual while using this marvelous paint.

It is used with phenomenal success in Europe, and in the leading trotting and running stables in the United States and Canada. Any person who purchases a bottle, and after using half of it according to explicit directions, and finds it will not do what we claim, can return the bottle and money will be refunded. Reference:—First National or Citizens National Bank, Latrobe, Pa. WE WILL WAGER $100 that one bottle of CURINE if used according to explicit directions will reach deeper seated troubles, produce better effects for the same curatives than any other compound in the world.

CHICO RACE MEETING.

The Greatest Series of Races Ever Trotted or Paced in California Take Place on This Famous Track During the Last Three Days of the Meeting—Everyone Enthusiastic Over the Results of the Meeting—Chico's Claims as a Racing Center Sustained.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 19.

CHICO, August 19.—No longer is Dr. J. king of the season's three-year-old trotters, for Anselor took his measure this afternoon, and even Lynall and Cordray finished ahead of the Colusa colt in a couple of heats. The extreme heat, the thermometer registering 110 degrees in the shade, must have had a baneful effect on the quondam crack colt, for he was as unsteady as a lumber wagon, and could not negotiate the first turn without fanning the air. It was the only event that created any speculation,the remainder of the card being uninteresting and one-sided. Dr. J. sold for $10, Anselor $5 and the field $3, and there were plenty of buyers for every ticket.

Dick Havey was so sweet on Anselor's chances that he arose from a sick bed to drive the colt, who for the initial race of his life gave a remarkable exhibition of speed and gameness. In the fir t heat he went to the front after the favorite broke, and led Central Girl by a length to the half, where the latter's line snapped and the filly swung into the fence. Lynall moved up to Anselor on the far turn, and hung gamely to the Palo Alto colt down the stretch. Havey had speed in reserve, but drew a fine finish, beating the Marysville colt only by a head in 2:22½, equaling the mark of Dr. J., who was a bad third. When the rein of Central Girl snapped, the filly commenced to run away, and Driver Cecil displayed commendable coolness by springing from the sulky to her back and grasping the bridle.

The next heat was taken handily by Anselor, although Lynall forced him out a second faster than the preceding mile. Dr. J. looked dangerous down the stretch and was coming like a whirlwind when he went up in the air. The Doctor was steadier in the concluding spin, though he made his customary break at the water tank, and in the last furlong came so fast that he caught Anselsor twenty yards from the wire. The colt had some speed in reserve and when Havey called on him he responded gamely and and landed the purse by an eyelash. Cordray showed lots of speed in the last two heats and was liberally backed, but was unfortunate in being pocketed.

Numerous scratches reduced the starters in the 2:40 trot down to Billups and Fandama. The latter wanted a record and Fandama graciously afforded an opportunity in the first heat and then won the next three heats easily.

The roadster race did not produce the excitement anticipated, as Wapples was distanced the first heat and Harry J won the next two, it being a two in three affair. Wapples was a favorite on the strength of some performance ten years ago, but proved to be a rainbow expectation.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 20.

The weather was cooler to-day and the attendance at the track much larger than on any preceding day of the week. There were three races on the card and they were all well contested. The judges, Messrs. D. E. Knight, Major Nichols and L. A. McIntosh, found plenty to interest them during the races. The timers' stand, beneath the place where the judges stood, was thronged all the afternoon.

The first race was for the 2:30 class trotters; the entries were Joe, Jaspine, Osito and Geo. W. McKinney, the last-named two being by the great McKinney, 2:11¼. In the betting Jaspine was favorite at $10 to $5 on the rest in the rest in the field. The Paris mutuel boxes did most of the business of taking in the money, however. Starter Covey got the quartette away on even terms. Jaspine, splendidly handled by Jack Perkins, of Visalia, won the first two heats in 2:15½ and 2:15, the game little Osito being beaten only a nose in the second heat. When they came out for the third heat it was noticed that the Visalia mare's efforts had been too much for her, and when Joe and Osita started ahead of her and trotted like a team toward the three-quarter pole she was contented to remain near Geo. McKinney to keep him company. It was a game battle between the leaders, but when within twenty yards of the wire Osito, who was leading, suddenly ceased to keep on trying, Joe shot to the front and won. Osito was apparently much distressed. Jaspine was third and Geo. W. Kinney last. Time, 2:16½.

In the next heat George W. McKinney took the place of the tired Jaspine and Osito, and gave Joe a little tussle to the seven-eighths pole, but it was in vain, for the game and peculiar-gaited son of Pilot Prince won easily in 2:18½, Jaspine third and Osito a tired last.

When the horses came out for the last heat Judges Nichols and McIntosh, noticing the condition of Osito, called upon Mr. Durfee, the driver, and pointed out how the horse was suffering from the thumps, and that they,the judges,would give Mr. Durfee permission to withdraw the horse. This Mr. Durfee would not agree to unless he received his entrance back, as he believed he could save it by remaining in. The judges replied that it would be contrary to the rule, so Mr. Durfee started the little horse up to score. On reaching the 100-yard mark the horse fell, and for a time it was thought he would never recover, but Mr. Durfee soon had him on his feet and led him back to the stable, and to night the game little horse was fast recovering, and will be ready to start at Sacramento. The heat, and the fact that he was hardly in condition for such a bruising race were a little too much for him. The horse has only been out of the stud about four weeks.

The three horses were sent away and Joe led his two companions to the wire in 2:19, Geo. W. McKinney second and Jaspine third. The winner is by Prof. E. P. Heald's Dexter Prince stallion, Pilot Prince, out of a mare by Nephew, and will get a record of 2:12 this year. He is getting to be more used to company and will be a hard horse to beat hereafter.

Jaspine, who got a mark of 2:15 in the second heat, is by Iris (son of Eros, 2:29), out of a mare by Bay Rose, 2:20½; second dam Babe (dam of Jasper Avers, 2:11¾), by Altimont, son of Almont.

Everybody was on the tip toe of excitement when the three year-old pacers were called for the next heat. Hijo del Diablo was favorite in the betting, selling for $10; De Bernardini Basler, ornamented with a new Raymond check, sold for $5, and the other three, Irvington Belle, Primrose and Majella B., were in the field at $3.

There was no time lost in scoring, Hijo taking the lead and going to the half in 1:03 with Primrose at his flanks. The others were bunched three lengths behind. The wonderful time made was known to everyone and the vast audience kept still as the two pacers swept on to the three-quarter pole head and head. As they neared the seven-eighths pole Murray,the driver of Hijo, called upon the game colt and he shot away from his companion as if the latter was standing still. Looking back, Murray held his good colt well in hand as he passed under the wire two lengths in advance of Primrose in the remarkable time of 2:11½. This is the fastest record made in California by a three-year-old pacer, with one exception, Agitato, who paced in 2:09¼ at the State Fair. Agitato was by Steinway, 2:25½, and Diablo, the sire of this great three-year old, is also by Steinway. It was claimed by many who watched this colt that he could have paced this mile in 2:08, if necessary.

No pools were sold,as Hijo was plainly the best one in the race. Irvington Belle took the place held by Primrose in the next heat and was only a length and a half behind Hijo as the latter came under the wire in 2:14. He paced to the half in 1:04. Majella was fourth and running well.

After the horses got away in the next heat Hijo was in the lead at the quarter pole, and as something seemed to frighten him, he jumped in the air, one of his hobbles broke and the favorite colt was pulled to a standstill while all the others passed on, Irvington Belle and Primrose fighting for the lead, but the former won by two lengths in 2:18½. Majella B. was third, Basler fourth. When Hijo del Diablo was brought back to his stall the cause of his failure to pace was soon discovered, for by some accident one of the light hobbles used by Visalia was used instead of the heavy ones made for him It was a serious loss to his driver, Wm. Murray, as he had wagered considerable on his winning this race.

Irvington Belle, handled by the artist, Wm. Cecil, captured the remaining two heats and race in 2:24 and 2:25. Previous to the last heat Mr. Nason was taken from behind Primrose and Walter Maben substituted, but it made no material change in the result.

Twice the "talent" got left this afternoon but again were the representatives of this all-wise division ready to wager their money on the sure thing, Sophia R., who had defeated Meridian at Marysville in the 2:17 class pace. The other two starters did not figure very closely, they were Visalia with hobbles on, and Juliet D. quite lame.

Sophia R. won the first heat in 2:14½, with Visalia at her throat latch, and Meridian, who was unsteady, was third. Juliet D. fourth. Mr. Moorhead, the driver of Meridian, asked permission of the judges to let Wm. Donathan drive his horse, the request was granted, and the judges announced the fact, adding that this reinsman was thirty-five pounds overweight. Juliet D. was withdrawn on account of lameness.

The race was a picnic for Meridian, for he won the next heat in 2:13½ with Visalia a length behind fighting for the best of it with Sophia R.

In the next heat Sophia R. made the son of Simmocolon pace in 2:12½ to beat her, and in the last heat he had to go in 2:14 to win the heat and race, for Sophia R. was ready to step in and win should Meridian make an error. Visalia proved in this race that she is improving fast and will be a dangerous mare in the 2:17 class events hereafter.

LAST DAY, AUGUST 21.

The attendance to-day was excellent. The principal business houses were closed so that the owners and employees might attend the races; that they were well repaid for their afternoon's entry was admitted by all. It was Chico day from start to finish, and when the crowds started from the gates of the track the universal opinion was that next year there will be a race meeting there that will be much better attended than this, for the owners and drivers of light harness horses had done their best to please them. Nothing occurred which left a wrong impression in the minds of those in attendance. Everybody was satisfied with the way the racing was managed, and great credit is due the citizens of Chico, and especially those who were instrumental in having the P. C. T. H. B. Association hold this meeting here.

The programme to-day looked as if the veriest novice could select the winners, and especially the winner of the 2:13 class trot, but results proved different and the 2,000 people who remained until the sun disappeared will have a race to describe long after the circuit ends.

The beautiful little mare, Nelly Bly, owned by G. L. Barham, of Chico, started to beat 2:30. She trotted well, and with S. H. Hoy as driver, passed under the wire in 2:26 Nelly Bly is by Signal Wilkes (son of Guy Wilkes) out of a mare by Ophir.

The next race, which was for the 2:20 class pacers, brought out a field of nine, viz: Adjutant, Prince H., Adele, Butcher Boy, Cora S., Floracita, Dave Ryan, Octoroon and F. W. The last-named gelding was barred in the betting. The field sold for $10 against $5 on Octoroon. It was an easy race for Octoroon in 2:14½. F. W. then went on and won the next three heats easily. Baker was taken from behind Floracita in the fourth heat and Walter Maben substituted, but it made no difference in the result. Floracita and Dave Ryan were the only two that showed any license to drive the fleet son of Nephew Jr. around in 2:15.

The 2:13 class trot, which was next called, proved to be sensational from beginning to end. The entries were Mamie Griffin, Zombro, Jasper Ayres, Ethel Downs, Margaret Worth and Helena. Zombro's remarkably good performance at Marysville, where he trotted in 2:11½, kept his name from the betting, for no one would bet against him. The horses scored for the word, and at the first turn Zombro broke and fell back to last position. Before he got settled the rest of the horses were forty lengths in advance and all going in a bunch. Helena, the game old Palo Alto mare, came to the wire first and won the heat in the splendid time of 2:11½, Jasper Ayres being only a neck behind, Ethel Downs at his shoulder and all the rest within six lengths of the leader with the exception of Zombro, who had to come like a quarter-horse to get inside the distance flag. He trotted the back quarter in thirty seconds.

There was a rush to the pool-box, and when the time was announced everyone indulged in cheering, for the track record was broken. Zombro had backers at $10 against $5 on the field, and the Paris mutuel tickets on him sold like hot cakes. Zombro cut out the pace at the first quarter by cutting across from the extreme outside at the first turn and taking the pole from Helena, the other horses having to pull up a little. It was a daring drive, but Durfee is a reinsman from the ground up. Zombro led all the way, with Jasper Ayers at his neck. It was one of the prettiest heats ever seen on the track, Zombro winning by a neck from the good son of Iris in 2:11½, Ethel Downs a length behind, with Mamie Griffin at her shoulder, Margaret Worth fifth and Helena, who was lame, sixth.

It was Zombro's race now, nearly everyone thought, but Jasper Ayres is one of the do-or die kind of trotters, and his driver, smarting under the way Durfee cut him off with Zombro in the preceding heat, set sail for the son of McKinney and outtrotted him to the wire in 2:11¾, Ethel Downs a good third. Mamie Griffin, who was ahead of her at the distance post, breaking, fell back to fourth position, Margaret Worth fifth and Helena sixth. The excitement became intense as Starter Covey announced the time and added: "These are the fastest three heats trotted this year in California."

Chas. Durfee and Jack Perkins were as determined as two men possibly could be that whoever won this race would have to work for it, and when the horses started away Zombro, who was the quickest to do so, broke and fell back. His place was taken by Jasper Ayers. Ethel Downs kept alongside of him and like a team they rounded into the stretch. Coming on the outside was Durfee with Zombro, and as Ethel Downs gave the race up, he moved up to Jasper. To the wire, both drivers did their best. Inch by inch Zombro passed up to Jasper, and as the latter was "tiptoeing" Zombro forged ahead. Jasper broke and ran, resuming his trotting just as he reached the wire a nose in front of Zombro, but the judges awarded the heat to the latter in the splendid time for a fourth heat in 2:11. Mamie Griffin, moving as steady as a piece of machinery, was a length behind the leaders. Ethel Downs fourth, and Margaret Worth, who never made a break in the four heats, fifth, and Helena sixth.

Zombro had two heats, Helena one and Jasper one. Betting cessed and an air of stillness pervaded the vast crowd when the horses came out for the next heat.

Zombro took the lead, as he had in the previous heats, but the game black Chico mare, Mamie Griffin, came alongside of him at the seven-eighths pole and passed him. A shout was heard and the yells "Drive, Jimmie, drive!" became deafening as they saw this silent reinsman lean forward in the sulky and lift his game mare to the front, a length in advance of Zombro. Jasper Ayers was at his throat-latch. Time, 2:12¾.

Those living in Chico who had contemplated leaving, changed their ideas and remained to see if game Mamie Griffin would defeat the great horses in this race. They were not disappointed, for despite Durfee's efforts and J. Perkins' good work she managed to pass to the front at the head of the homestretch in the two last heats and trot in 2:13 and 2:16. The cheering that followed this popular victory will never be forgotten, and Col Park Henshaw and James Sullivan were kept busy handshaking long after dark.

The district three-year-old race was won by the Alexander Button colt, Dr. J., after he had lost the first heat to D. E Knight's handsome colt, Daymont, by Lynmont, in 2:22¾. This colt was at Dr. J.'s neck in the next heat, which was won by the latter in 2:21¾. The time made in the succeeding heats by this colt was 2:26½ and 2:31.

THE WILLOWS RACES.

MONDAY, AUGUST 23.

Considering that this was the first day of the meeting, there was a more than fair crowd present. The programme, too, consisted of but two events of none too interesting a character. Plenty of money was in sight, but it found its way into the rondo game, the wheel of fortune and other seductive schemes instead of into the pool-box.

The horses scored for the word in the 2:40 trot, Dr. Leek being favorite at $10 against $4 for the field. The Doctor was gallant enough to let Jaspine take the first heat in the slow time of 2:19½, after which he won the next three as he pleased. Eureka was not as good a horse as at Chico, acting as though he was stiff and sore, and was unable to give Leek the faintest kind of an argument. Mabel McKinney and Sable Frances are rounding into shape, their performances being considerably better than previous exhibitions.

The 2:24 trot was not so one-sided as the opening event. Daisy Wood took the first heat in 2:19½, she and Iora breaking near the wire The Humboldt mare unlimbered herself and beat Daisy Wood a head in the second heat in 2:14¼, thus establishing a new track record for trotters. The performance was exceptionally good, as the Willows track is regarded as being four seconds slower than the Chico course. Daisy was unable to repeat, and Iora won the next two heats without exerting herself in 2:19¼ and 2:19.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 24.

While the races were well attended this afternoon, speculation was "corky"—light. Poolseller Sprague had the pleasure selling in a few pools, those that desired to speculate being content to wager their money in the Paris mutuel box. No one experienced any difficulty in picking the winners in the three events.

The first race was a three-year-old district trot, and as Dr. J. had won so handily in the three-year-old trots at Marysville and Chico, no one would bet against him. He would not trot in the first heat, and finished fifth, G. W. W. winning in 2:23¾. He broke badly in the second heat, but managed to finish second to G. W. W. in 2:24. By finishing second in the heat he secured a good scoring position, and that it helped him was proven by the fact that he secured the pole at the quarter and won handily in 2:25. With the advantage of the pole he won the next two heats and race in 2:24½ and 2:24.

The next two races were easy for the favorites, Galette and F. W. Galette scored her fifth victory this season by easily defeating Margaret Worth, Lady O. Conn and Stella in the 2:16 trot, in straight heats. Her best time was 2:14¾.

The 2:25 pace proved a sort of a cake walk for F. W. Lizzie. E was the only one who could make him stretch his hobbles a bit, otherwise he would not have had to pace any of his three heats in better time than 2:18; his best time was 2:16.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 25.

With a decided change for the better in the weather conditions came a vastly increased attendance and livelier speculation. As two of the three favorites were beaten, the talent probably wished that betting had been suspended before the first race began and stopped during the entire afternoon.

Jack W., who easily trotted a mile in 2:12¾, at Oakland, was sore as the proverbial boil, and the best he could do was to make a dead heat with Bay Rum in the first heat in 2:16¾. He sold in the opening pools at $10, Bay Rum $3, and field $1. The short-enders held a continuous jubilee throughout the race, for three of the field horses were contenders for the money. Even after the first heat Jack W. sold for $10 against $5 for the field. Faro Bank took the second heat easily from Jack W., and the judges, thinking that the Humboldt horse's lack of speed might be due to too much pressure on the reins, substituted Det. Biglow for Haas. Jack W. had no speed to speak of and Clay S. won by two lengths from Faro Bank. Haas, being thus vindicated, resumed his place behind Jack W., and thereafter saved his distance by a narrow margin in each heat. Clay S. repeated in the fourth heat, but he was unsteady thereafter and Columbus S. won the next three heats. Clay S. kept his feet in the seventh heat and looked to be a winner at the drawgate, but he broke near the wire and Columbus S. won by two lengths.

Eureka could not find his speed this afternoon, yet after losing the first heat through continuous breaks there were plenty willing to risk $10 on him against $5. Billups won the first heat in a fierce drive, and Fanadma annexed the next three without making a skip. Eureka has evidently suffered from his races in a hot climate. He won a heat in Chico in 2:15½, but separately timed, his best mile to-day was 2:25.

The vastly-improved Meridian was an overwhelming favorite for the 2:17 pace, but as usual danced a jig on the first turn and finished last. Sophia R. was not obliged to go fast enough to keep herself warm, the mile being covered in the slow time of 2:21. Meridian never made a skip in the next heat, but Sophia R. forced him out in 2:15½, and the next heat in 2:14¾. The favorite led his field all the way in the fourth heat by ten lengths and walked home in 2:17¾.

THE sensational manner in which the circuit horses have been burning up the tracks at Marysville and Chico has aroused the pride of the directors of the Woodland course, and it is reported that they have been working the oval night and day for the past two weeks, with such good effect that it is now as smooth as glass. The Woodland track has always been considered a fast course, but this year the management has put it into such prime condition for the purpose of securing such records as will give it undisputed honors. It was at Woodland last year that Agitato made the world's record of 2:09½ for three-year-old pacers, and it is probable that the phenomenon, Searchlight, will hang up a mark this year that will stand for years to come. If he can pace in 2:07½ in Montana over a rough track, the question is, what sensational time can he make at Woodland?

WHENEVER a sulky breaks down, J. O. Kane, of San Francisco, is telegraphed as follows: "Send a Toomey model of 1897 at once." At Chico, four new ones arrived in one day and the owners are delighted with them. It pays to advertise in the only paper taken by horsemen on the Pacific Coast: The BREEDER AND SPORTSMAN, especially when such a good article as this is offered.

IT is a pleasure to go on the circuit and hear the hopeful expressions of those who have horses of every breed.

THE BUTTE RACES.

Interest Still Kept Up in Turf Affairs in Montana—How the Events Were Run.

MONDAY, AUGUST 16.

This was a good day for favorites at the Butte track. Only two long shots won. They were J. O. C. in the last race and Vitringa in the fifth. The event of the day was the Silver City handicap at a mile and three-eighths. Ostler Joe was a bigger favorite with the talent than Senator Bland at the close of the betting, but the Daly colt won with the greatest ease. Bland took the lead from the start and was never headed.

Four furlongs—Sinner, Dif, Easter Lily. Time, 0:49½.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 18.

The race for two-year-olds was the feature of the day at the race track yesterday. Tom Butler's Negligence galloped in an easy winner and the Standard staff celebrated the victory with becoming enthusiasm at night.

Salmera was made the favorite at $25, with Ternary second chance at $20 and the field including Negligence at $8. They all went out on equal terms except Palfurni of the Copper City stables, who became entangled in the gate and was out of the race. Negligence opened up a gap of two lengths before the first quarter had been reached and increased it to six lengths before the stretch was entered. May Boy was second and Carness third. Mutuels on Negligence paid $51.05. Salmera and Ternary were away in the rear.

Golden Star won the first trotting race in two straight heats and May B. captured the second trot in the same easy fashion.

Lena, the favorite in the seven-furlong event, won easily by two lengths. Daylight beat out Allahabad for second place.

Howard, the favorite in the six-furlong dash, also won easily by a length and a half from Jim Bozeman, with Polish third. Time, 1:16½.

Three O. was another favorite that won the last running race of the day. Hannah B. was second choice. Three O. assumed the lead at the start and won by three-quarters of a length. Hannah beat Fairchilds for second place by a length. Llewellyn and Gladys also ran.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 19.

The five and a half furlong race yesterday was a record-breaker, By Holly's Fortunate winning the race in the fast time of 1:08¼.

Matinee Races at Spokane.

SPOKANE, Wash., August 12, 1897.

The matinee of the Gentlemen's Driving Club at the Fair Grounds came off yesterday, and furnished a card of sport of more than usual interest. The crowd was not large, but enthusiasm was marked during the close and exciting trials of speed. The first race was a mixed trotting and pacing event, and had for starters Reflector, Allan S. and Vanquish. The latter won both heats by a very close and exciting finish. The second race furnished the feature of the day's sport. The entries were Almota, Little Billie, Almora and Nettie Ham. The first heat was an exciting speed contest. Nettie Ham, under the skillful driving of her owner, Van De Lashmutt, won the first heat in 2:22. In the second heat Nettie Ham maintained the lead well into the stretch, when Almota passed her and won in a close finish in 2:19¾. In the third heat a collision occurred, and the tire was torn off Almota's sulky wheel. Nettie Ham won easily in 2:22. The judges called it no heat. The fourth heat settled the race, as Nettie Ham had an easy victory, taking it in 2.23½.

SPOKANE.

Important News From Butte, Mont.

BUTTE, August 26.—There will not be a harness race on the Montana circuit in 1898. The next meeting is to be exclusively for the gallopers, and will be held after the California and Pacific Coast Jockey Club meetings. There has been considerable pressure brought to bear to bring this new deal about. Ed Tipton, manager of the Montana circuit, is one of the strongest adherents of light harness racing in America. He was the Secretary of the famous Lexington meet for many years, and despite his extensive acquaintance and influence has been unable to secure enough fast pacers and trotters for his Montana meetings. With few exceptions the light harness races have proved very one-sided, and there was no chance for much speculation, a "skate" running race carrying more money than half a dozen harness events. Tipton, after two seasons, is thoroughly convinced that the Montana public hankers after the runners, and has admitted to a reporter that next year's programme will not contain a harness race of any description.

Tom Keating is on his way to Woodland with Searchlight, Anaconda, Alto Genoa and Storm B. He sold Strathmont before leaving and also leased Antrima for the 2:17 class in California.

Van Bokkelen left to-day for California with Wayland W., Sola, May B., Winnella, Letter B. and three others. The Harry Wise string of trotters and pacers went on the same car with Keating's. Klamath, Carvle Carne, Billy Baker, Dan Ford, Chris Petersen, Ida Sultan and four or five other light harness horses start for Sacramento on Sunday.

Frank Farrar yesterday sold Encino and Benham and will ship Ray Heath and Flashlight to California in the course of a few days. The latter horse won six races and was never outside the money in twelve starts.

By. Holly is about $5,000 ahead of the season. He ships Fortunate, Cavallo, Devil's Dream, Daylight and Montallade to Sacramento on Thursday.

The Silver Stable of Butte will campaign a small string in California. Negligence is the star of the stable. Lee Shaner and Frank Van Ness will doubtless stay out the meeting.

THE Diablos are coming to the front. There is one at the Santa Rosa Stock Farm, out of Biscara, by Director, 2:17 ; second dam, Bicara, by Harold ; third dam, Belle, by Mambrino Chief II., all great broodmares, that is the best-made, strongest limbed and finest-looking horse ever foaled on that farm. There are two at Dublin (the birthplace of Directum, 2:05¼). One is out of Stemwinder, the dam of the Trotting King, and the other, a two-year-old, out of Electrina, 2:20, by Richard's Elector—Stemwinder, that cannot be excelled anywhere, and they are all pure trotters.

THERE never was such a demand for horses in any portion of the globe as there in Alaska at present. It is predicted that 10,000 will be sent there and used inside of a year. They will not live long and their places must be supplied by other importations. It would be a poor place to start breeding farms.

GLENBROOK PARK RACES.

GRASS VALLEY, August 19.—Compared with yesterday the attendance at the Glenbrook Park race meet to-day was small. It was unusually warm weather and the dust was terrible. The track was slow, but the betting was lively. The first race was mixed pacing and trotting, one-mile heats, 3 in 5. The purse was given by citizens of Nevada City. The event was won by Munyon, Bonnie Bell second, Gray Dick third. Time, 2:28.

The second race 3-8 mile heats, was for the Champion Mine Father Lode purse, and was won by Buckhorn, Iron Jacket second and Venus third. Time, 36 seconds.

The third race, 5-8 mile, for a purse donated by the Hon. John F. Kidder, won by Macqueda, Glen Ann second, Uncle True third. Time, 1:03¼.

TURF AND TRACK.

THE SULKY.

Dr Leek, 2:18, lowered his record to 2:16½ at Chico last week.

Billups, by Boydell, got a record of 2:20½, trotting, at Chico.

Do not overlook the new entries to the San Jose race meeting.

Javelin, 2:08¼, is the fastest pacing mare ever bred in California.

Horses are to be named for the fall meeting of the P. C. T. H. B. A., September 1st

Reliant, 2:17¾, is a new performer for the old California trotter Reliance, 2:22, by Alexander.

The San Jose meeting this year will be a good one. Everyone in the Garden City is excited about it.

Our 2:30 list of California-bred trotters is larger than we had any idea of; it will appear in our next issue.

Delwood, by Woodnut, got a record of 2:26¼ in the third heat of a race at Huntington, L. I., August 11th.

There is a strong probability that there will be a race meeting at Walla Walla, October 20th to 23d inclusive.

Abbess, the dam of Steinway, 2:25¾, was a black mare and many of this sire's progeny breed back to this color.

Dr. Leek, by Sidney, is out of a Buccaneer mare, not out of a mare by Prompter as many of the summaries have it.

Fanadma, by Eros, is a game little mare. She won the three last heats of her race at Chico in 2:22¼, 2:25½ and 2:24½.

Fanny Foley, by Redwood, won the 2:40 class trot for three-year-olds at Glens Falls August 18th in 2:19¼, 2:19½ and 2:21.

There is a strong probability that at the Los Angeles meeting there will be a match race between Mamie Griffin and Zombro.

St. Andre, by St. Bel, is a good trotter. He got a mark of 2:13½ in the third heat of a race at Fort Wayne, Ind., August 9th.

Just as the Breeder and Sportsman predicted, the race meetings in California this season are better than they have ever been.

Stam B., who has been laid up some time, is said to be rounding to, and will be able to start by the time he reaches California.

Geo. Starr, the famous reinsman, was married to Miss Grace Markle, of Terre Haute, Ind., last week. We wish the couple every joy.

Remember the 1st of September is the date set apart for the naming of entries to the nomination stakes of the P. C. T. H. B. Association.

Correct, by Direction, son of Director, 2:17, is a good pacer. He won a game race at Hedrick, Iowa, August 10th, in 2:13¼, 2:13¼ and 2:13½.

Refina, by Re-election, is well inside the 2:10 class for pacers, having won a good race at Old Orchard, Me., August 9th in 2:09½, 2:08½ and 2:10.

C. A. Winship with his stable of horses arrived from the East last Monday and are comfortably quartered at Agricultural Park, Los Angeles.
